THE SIGN OF THE THREE CROWNED

Hair Vigor

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of [illegible] has anything won so widely and so deeply [illegible] confidence of mankind, as this excellent [illegible] for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of [illegible] it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a remedy against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When soothing relief could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So prominently are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than to assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bitters, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance which, if it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts are literally beyond account, and we believe [illegible] is parallel in the history of Ague medicine. [illegible] is gratified by the acknowledgements we [illegible] of the radical cures effected in obstinate [illegible] and where other remedies had wholly failed. [illegible] persons, either resident in, or [illegible] through mis-matic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torridity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the [illegible] to healthy activity.

For Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, it is a [illegible] remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures. [illegible] Manufactured by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical [illegible] Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] everywhere.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

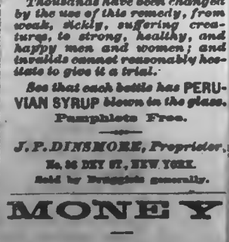
IRON IN THE BLOOD



MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Child and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because we never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Pumps Pumps.
To the Public in Generaly and Farmers in particular.

Henry Owens
Begs leave to bring to your notice once more his truly celebrated SWING and FORCE PUMPS, which have already received five Provincial First Prizes, and have hitherto met with unparalleled success. There can be no reasonable doubt now after a years trial of the superiority of this pump over all others. H. O. has purchased the sole right under four patents, for the counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and will keep a large stock on hand if possible, which he will sell at very cheap rate. He has together with facilities for making all kinds of pumps, having lately added to his machinery a new and first-class pump boring machine. Every thing in the pump line can be furnished on the shortest notice, and Repairs carefully and promptly attended to. Parties ordering Pumps must state depth of well and the exact necessary purchase lens.

Select Poetry.
Make Your Mother Happy.
Children, make your mother happy,
Make her sing instead of sigh,
For the mournful hour of parting
May be very, very nigh.

Children, make your mother happy,
Many griefs she has to bear,
And she wearies 'neath her burdens—
Can you not these burdens share?

Children, make your mother happy,
Prompt obedience cheers the heart,
While a wilful disobedience
Pierces like a poisoned dart.

Children, make your mother happy,
On her brow the lines of care
Deepen daily—don't you see them?—
While your own are smooth and fair.

Children, make your mother happy,
For beneath the coffin lid
All too soon, her lone ns mute lips,
Shall for evermore be hid.

Bitter tears and self upbraidings
Cannot bring her back again,
And remorseful memories
Are a legacy of pain.

Oh, begin to-day, dear children,
Lisen when your mother speaks,
Render quick and sweet obedience,
For your highest good she seeks.

Love you better than all others—
For your sake herself denies,
She is patient, prayerful, tender,
Gentle, thoughtful, true and wise.

Never, while you live, dear children,
Though you search the rounded earth,
Will you find a friend more faithful
Than the one that gave you birth.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.
The Parliament of Canada was opened at Ottawa on Wednesday last.
His Excellency Lord Dufferin delivered the following speech:
Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons—In addressing, for the first time, the Parliament of Canada, I desire to express the satisfaction I feel in resorting to your advice and assistance, as well as my deep sense of my own good fortune in being permitted to associate myself with you in your labors and aspirations for the welfare of this Dominion. I rejoice to think that my assumption of office should have taken place at a period when the prospects of the country appear so full of promise—when peace and amity prevail amongst neighboring nations, and when so many indications are afforded of the success with which Canada herself is consolidating her political unity, and developing her material resources.
In accordance with the decision of Parliament, and carrying into effect the legislation of last Session, I have caused a Charter to be granted to a body of Canadian capitalists for the construction of the Pacific Railway. The Company now formed has given assurance that this great work will be vigorously prosecuted, and the favorable state of the money market in England, affords every hope that satisfactory arrangements may be made for the required capital. The papers and correspondence relating to this subject will be laid before you.
During the past year, surveys for the improvement and extension of our system of Canals, for which appropriations were made last Session, have been in active preparation, and I am glad to inform you that the plans and specifications for the enlargement of the Welland Canal, and the construction of the Bay Verte Canal have been completed, and that the works can now be put under contract.
The surveys for the St. Lawrence Canals will, I am assured, be finished in time to commence the work at the beginning of next year. This will insure the completion of all those great undertakings at the same period. It is gratifying to know that the efforts made to encourage immigration have met with a great measure of success, and that the number seeking a home in Canada has been greatly augmented during the last year. I do not doubt your readiness to make ample provision for the steadily-increasing stream of settlers that may hereafter be annually expected to add to the population, wealth and strength of the Dominion.
The compilation of the first Census of the Dominion approaches completion This would, therefore, seem a fitting time to provide for the establishment of a proper system for the accurate collection of scientific and statistical information. I commend the subject to your attention.
It is important that provision should be made for the consolidation and amendment of the laws, now in force in the several Provinces, relating to the representation of the people in Parliament. A measure for this purpose, and one for the trial of Controverted Elections, will be submitted for your consideration.
Your attention will be directed to measures for the amendment of the Laws relating to Pilots, to Salvage, and to the Trinity Houses of Montreal and Quebec, as well as for the improvement of the laws generally affecting our merchant shipping.
Experience has shown that the duties now performed in the office of the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Provinces, may be readjusted with advantage to the public service. A Bill on the subject will be laid before you.
Among other measures, Bills will be presented related resting to the Criminal Law, to Weights and Measures, and for the amendment and consolidation of the Inspection Law.
Gentlemen of the House of Commons—I have given directions that the accounts of the past, and of the first six months of the present financial year shall be laid before you without delay.
You will be gratified to learn that the finances of the Dominion are in a prosperous condition, and that there is no reason to doubt that the revenue will be sufficient to meet all contemplated charges upon it. The estimates for the ensuing year, which will be submitted in you have been prepared with as much regard to economy as consistent with the efficiency of the public service. And I venture to hope that you will be of the opinion that the supplies which my Government will ask you to vote, will be granted without inconvenience to the public.
Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons—Many of the subjects I have enumerated are of the greatest importance. It is with full confidence in your patriotism and wisdom that I commend them to your consideration, and I trust that a gracious Providence may guide your counsels in whatever way may best promote the happiness of the people of Canada and the welfare of the Empire at large.

Latest Phase of the Canada Pacific Railway.
From the Monetary Times.
The ring that has got hold of the Canada Pacific Railway is a very close ring. Its success is at present measured by its having ousted all competitors. This, we regret to say, has been done, not by a fair contest where the terms were open to all, but by an act of favoritism. No stock books were open to the public, but instead, the stock was placed at the disposal of a few individuals, who are virtually guaranteed by the charter from being called upon to pay more than a million of dollars. The shareholders have been allowed to monopolise the whole stock, without the public being admitted to subscribe, and now, the advertisement tells us, willing to sell a part of their stock; a minority of course. If purchasers can be found, under these circumstances, they must be veritable descendants of Cobbett's "Grizzle Grenhorn."
Sr Hugh Allan being about to start for England to launch—not the ship, which he could do so well, but the railway scheme, there he will appear as an amateur, has been the recipient of a public dinner, at which Sir Francis Hincks remarked upon the absence of prominent persons whom he would have desired to have seen present; a gentle intimation that the demonstration, which was confessedly intended to aid the promoters, did not carry all the weight desired. Sir Hugh Allan, to guard against misrepresentation, to which he complained he had before been subjected—in reference to his Peterborough speech we presume—read from a printed paper a speech which contained scarcely any information about the road. It deals in such generalities as these; "It will bring the shores of the Pacific compartively near the tide waters of the Atlantic; it will consolidate the people, by making them better acquainted with each other; it will offer a carse to our young men; it will encourage and foster national feeling; it will give an immense impetus to immigration; and in a thousand other ways it will increase the general prosperity." We are advocates of the road, as a political and national necessity; but it is scarcely defensible on the grounds mentioned by Sir Hugh Allan. The people along the line to be consolidated, in Manitoba, the Territories, and the 72,000, exclusive of the Indians, in British Columbia. The climate through which the road is to pass, Sir Hugh Allan described, as less rigorous than Canada proper—whatever that may mean. Of the British Columbia section, the remark is true; of all east of the Rocky Mountains it is not.
Sir Francis Hincks paid a deserved tribute to Alfred Waddington, the projector of the road, now in his grave, and it was a graceful thing to remember the toils of a man that has passed beyond the reach of blame or censure, and who was the pioneer of the enterprise. Sir Francis went more into the marrow of the subject; and recounted some of the difficulties which had so far been met. He deprecated the idea of treating the Northern Pacific as a rival railway, and said he would have welcomed the aid of American capital in the enterprise. The cry got up against Americans being allowed to invest in the enterprise, was an interested cry; and if those who got it up succeeded in driving Americans from it—which is yet uncertain—they did not succeed in getting the scheme into their own hands. There are ugly stories afloat, that have reached us in great minuteness of detail, about americans playing a discreditable part to get a share of the contract; which, if true, cannot be too strongly deprecated. It has even been stated in the daily journals, that the advanced money to influence the late elections; and now insist, in positive language, on the fulfilment of the terms of the advance. If these stories be true, others besides themselves will have to bear the chief burden of the disgrace. A sectional, and anti-American cry was raised in Ontario; and those who raised it are left out, partly by their own acts, in the cold. To the speculative and contracting classes, the control of the enterprise was everything; if they could not get that, to invest in it was simply to throw away money that somebody else might get rich. Sir Hugh Allan having won, in the preliminary tussle, patriotically hopes "that laying aside all sectional, local or political jealousies, the whole people of the Dominion will give a hearty support to this undertaking." But is this not expecting too much of dispointed rivals, and of men to whom no fair opportunity was given, to contest honorably the prize with the favored and successful ring? As a matter of fact, we believe they will be found to be anything but contented.
It would matter very little who were contented or the reverse, if a fair field had been offered to all possible competitors. But the selection of a particular ring for favors cannot be justified, and it is not likely to be forgotten. There can be no pity for those who attempted to obtain similar favors; and as between the few, the public does not care a button which, won. But the public does object, this a matter of no small difficulty may become object of favoritism at all; because, we fear it is not fair and disinterested. Other motives have been some reason for acting in the dark; and that mode of acting in a matter to make those, out of whom profits the subsidy scarce, fear for the consequences.

The Better Situation of Farmers.
We are apt to take the result of a dollar and cent view of the question of agricultural education. In so many years a young man could earn so much money, will it pay him to give this up in order that he may get an education which will enable him in later life to make more money than he could without it? Will any education that can be gained at school make a better money getter of a boy than would the same amount of time and attention given to learning the practical operations of the farm?
Without stopping to answer these propositions—we desire to call attention to other considerations that must have weight with all thoughtful persons. The greatest prosperity of farmers, as a class and individually, must come from causes which will advance farming as an occupation. No permanent and satisfactory prosperity can attend any calling which is not held in good repute, and no calling in these modern days can be in good repute which is not represented by at least a fair proportion of men of education and intelligence. In the so-call "professions," in mechanics, and in trade, the tendency is toward better and better education and a more cultivated intelligence, and the degree of respect in which they are severally held is in all cases proportionate to the intelligence of its representative men.
In the future allotment of honor and influence, and consequently of prosperity, that calling will take the lead whose representative men are the most distinguished for education and cultivation, and that will fall to the rear in which there has been the least progress in these respects. The road of the future is an ascending one, and progress over it is to be secured much more by the aid of mind than by the aid of matter. Those who take care and keep the lead in the race will do so because of their brains rather than of their bodies, and their leadership will imply control over those who are behind (and therefore beneath) them. How far their rule will be merciful will depend on conditions which we cannot now forsee, but that they will rule is as certain as that mind has always ruled over brute force.
If farmers can take the lead, farming will be a favored and fortunate occupation. If they must fall to the rear, it will be a degraded and an unfortunate one. Whether it is one or the other, depends on the extent to which farmers are educated and enabled to stand a fair chance in the "struggle for the lead," and our successors will be the lords of the land or a trodden down peasantry, according as they are educated or not. We assume, of course, that prosperity and intelligence will go hand in hand, and that as we gain in education we shall gain in wealth. At the same time, we believe that the best chance for the future of our craft lies in the ability of its representatives to take a high stand for education and intelligence. Believing this, we long for the better general education of farmers, not of those of the farmers' sons who are destined for other occupations, but especially for those who are to stay on the farm, for as large advance of our work, and shed the light of cultivation and refinement over our hearthstones, and we may confidently look for a success which more wealth could not secure.

☞ We have sent several slips of accounts to parties, showing their state of indebtedness; their kind attention is invited, as money is needed to pay men's wages, paper and ink accounts, rent, taxes, &c. Our accounts are small, but 1,000 of them now scattered thro' the Country, if in our hands, would enable us to meet liabilities punctually and relieve us from uneasiness, while the payment of them would not materially affect our kind patrons. It only requires us to refer to these things to demonstrate their reasonableness, and ensure attention.

Died.

Mr. H. Ferguson of Snowden died on Monday week.

Railway Bonus.

The Bonus for the Township of Cavan was defeated by an overwhelmning majority.

Minden.

Mr. H. Workman of Minden, is about to re-build the Mills at that place in a substantial manner.

Haliburton.

The Receipt of wheat at the Haliburton Grist mills, during the month of February was 1400 bushels.

Pigs Feet.

A strange freak of nature, Mr. George Gregory of Lindsay has a young pig having five feet.

Ontario Legislature.

The business of the Ontario Legislature is so far advanced that it is expected the House will be prorogued in about two weeks.

The Opposition in the Ontario Assembly is so weak that M. C. Cameron has only 9 followers.

Member Seated.

Mr. Cockburn, member-elect for Muskoka, has obtained his seat in the Dominion Parliament. John A. fearing a vote on the matter.

Britain.

The Gladstone Ministry has been defeated on the Irish University question, and the Ministers are expected to resign. The majority against it was only three.

Not yet gone.

Mr. Cluxton, has not yet gone to Ottawa, an indication that he does not expect to go. Mr. Bertram's friends confidently expect that he will take his seat in a few days.

Firemen's Meeting.

A meeting of the Fire Brigade will be held in their Hall on Friday evening, 14th Inst., at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is requested as business of importance will be brought before the Brigade.

Fire.

On Sunday morning a fire was discovered in the engine room of Toole's planing mill, fortunately the fire had not got well started when discovered, it was put out with a few pails of water before the arrival of the fire brigade.

Well Disposed of.

Chief Constable Johnston, left for Ottawa on Monday with Peggy Oakley, to place her in some house of refuge provided for her by the Rev. Father Lynch. She is well disposed of, and to provide for her was an act of charity indeed.

Inished

The Break-water pier in the Otonabee River, at the bridge is completely repaired. Mr. Boyd, is the right kind of a man to get a contract, his work is always well and speedily done. Mr. Boyd had the job and did it in good time.

The Independent says :—

It is quite evident from the number of men who daily pass through the village on their way to Peterborough that the shanties are breaking up. All reports concur in representing the past season as having been favourable to lumbering operations.

Rowdyism.

According to the Bobcaygeon Independent, law and order are not fully respected in Rokeby. Our confrere records a brutal kicking, gouging, biting, scratching rough and tumble fight that took place lately in Rokeby. Do they imbibe up there? Guess they must.

West Durham.

The Reformers of West Durham have unanimously chosen E. B. Wood, of Brantford, as their candidate. They having agreed to allow Mr. Blake to sit for Bruce. Mr. Wood has accepted the nomination of the party, and is sure of election, it is believed by acclamation.

Sudden Death.

On Friday morning last, an old man named Jas. Burns, for several years a resident of the neighbourhood of Norwood, started to walk from the village to his shanty, distant about half a mile. When at the village limit he fell dead. The body was at once removed to Norwood. He had been feeble for a long time and his death was expected.

False Alarm.

A chimney on fire in the large stone house on the hill at the north end of Bethune St., last Saturday afternoon, was the cause of a false alarm being sounded, the fire brigade turned out promptly, and had their machines more than half way up when they learned that their services were not required.

Miss Kennedy's Concert.

The Complimentary Concert to Miss Kennedy, on Friday evening last, was very successful. The Hall was well filled, and the Ladies and Gentlemen who took part in the performance acquitted themselves admirably. Where all did so well it would appear invidious to refer to individual performers. "Teodlee" by the Members of the Maple Leaf Cricket Club, was remarkably well performed. At the close Mr. Quinsey announced that it is the intention of the Club to get up an Entertainment in aid of the Protestant Home. If this should be done, it is sure to be a success, as all entertainments got up by the Club hitherto have been.

How a Man came to Believe a Lie.

A story about lynching a man in a shanty in the north part of the County of Hastings turns out to be canard. A man told the story for fun, but having to continue telling it to several enquirers, he began to believe it himself, and stuck to it for a time, until brought before a J. P. when he remembered the truth of the affair and backed out of his former assertions.

Home Manufactures.

In another column we give an account of a short visit to Mr. Wm. Hamilton's foundry and machine shop. We regret that we had not a longer time and more space to devote to this establishment. It is a large concern and deserves more than a passing remark. As we find space and opportunity we will refer to other similar establishments round town until our readers are made aware of what is going on in the County and Town of Peterboro.

Increase.

The Town of Peterboro, according to its present limits, contains 1,388 acres; made up as follows:

Area before extension, 500 acres,
" taken from Smith, 225 "
" " Monaghna, 548 "
" " Douro, 55 "

Total, 1388.

The population according to the census of 1871 is 4,611, but by the census of the assessors of 1872 5806.

Tavern Accomodation.

Mr. Whyte, our worthy Tavern Inspector has been visiting those desiring tavern license. In one of them he found bedsteads minus the necessary bed-clothes. The room was about 10 by 12 feet, and anyone attempting to reach the bedsteads on the far side must get over the two in front. We once heard tell of an honest farseeing farmer who come home in the evening with vision somewhat dimmed and found his own waggon in the middle of his door yard of about an acre of land, and failing to see the way round the waggon thought it best to go right over it, rather than wait on ceremonies as to removing it. What would the tavern keeper refered to do with such men if the front bedsteads were occupied.

The Modoc.

The peace negotiations with Capt. Jack and his braves have fallen through. The Indians have rejected all the terms offered them, making a proposal for Commissioners Applegate and Meacham with six men to meet them in the Lava Beds—an offer which is put down as undoubtedly savoring of treachery. The main difficulty seems to be the insisting by the U. S. on the Modocs returning to the Klamath Reservation—their removal to which from their former hunting grounds was the original cause of the trouble—and this the Indians wont submit to, but will fight rather. They have had an accession to their numbers of 50 warriors of another tribe, and it now looks like as if nothing but fighting would end the quarrel. The U. S. Commanders say that henceforth they will listen to no terms short of unconditional surrender.

Lakefield School.

The above school held a Social on the evening of Friday, 7th of March. It was well attended. the school house being completely filled. After the tables were cleared, the Rev. H. McDowell was appointed Chairman. The greater part of the evening was taken up in spelling, by the pupils, who acquitted themselves creditably. The 1st prize, a Fruit Cake, was won by Hattie McDowell; the 2nd by Jamieson. After the presentations a vote of thanks was tendered to the Teachers, Mr. Robertson and Miss Ray, for the very efficient manner in which they were conducting the school. The evening's entertainment was much enlivened by choice music; Mrs. McDowell presiding at the organ. It must be gratifying to the teachers to find their labors thus duly appreciated. We learn that the daily average attendance of the school for the past month was over 100.

The Locks Bridge.

In the case of Westcott vs. the County of Peterborough to compel the County Council to rebuild the bridge at the Locks, the rule has been discharged. It appears therefore that the County is under no legal obligation to rebuild the bridge. If built the Town Council will have to do it. There can be no hesitation in saying that the bridge is a necessity to the ratepayers in the South of the Town and in North Monaghan, and would be an advantage to some ratepayers in Otonabee. The Town Council has appointed a committee to confer with the County Council in reference to the matter, so as to secure its re-erection, but what action the County Council may take cannot be known till June. It would have been wiser on the part of the Town Council at first to act with the County conjointly.—A resort to Courts of Law may please lawyers—may pay the legal fraternity, but the ratepayers receive no benefit therefrom.

Lecture in Ashburnham on Tuesday Evening.

The friends of the Bible Christian Church in Ashburnham had a tea in the Town Hall, proceeds to be applied to their church building fund. After the Tea the people all removed to the new Church building, where the Rev. J Kenner, of Oshawa, delivered his very popular lecture on "Man, considered physically, intellectually, morally and responsibly." The church was well filled, and the lecturer was listened to with devout attention. The Rev. gentleman is a fluent and forcible speaker. His lecture occupied about an hour and a half in delivery. He spoke of "Man as wondefully made, depicted the powers of mind with which he is endowed, his ability to comprendhe the almost hidden things of nature, and to measure the boundless and illimitable expanse of the firmament. He pointed out his relationship to his fellow, to his Creator, to the nation to which he belongs and concluded by demonstrating his responsibility and the consequent necessity of earnest and well directed action, asserting that sincerity without principles was of no avail, for 'man is what his principles make him.' The Lecture was one of the best delivered here this season.

Special to the Examiner.

(By Dominion Telegraph Line.)

LONDON, March 12, 3 p.m.—Gladstone tendered his resignation to Her Majesty to-day at two o'clock. Disraeli expected to be called upon.

Louis Riel was placed on the grand jury in Provencher lately, and a loyal Frenchman refused to sit with him.

Mr. Gladstone in the Commons, in reply to Mr. Goldsmid, said that the award of the Geneva Tribunal was only a little more than half what the Americans claimed.

THE WEST PETERBORO ELECTION CASE.

Mr. Bertram has returned from Ottawa where he went to claim his seat as the peoples' representative.

Mr. Blake on the opening of the House moved in the matter on a question of privilege of the House. John Hilliard Cameron, John A. MaDonald and others brought forward all their strength to oppose Mr. Blake's motion, and succeeded, by a very narrow majority, merely 16, in sending it to the committee on privileges, with instructions to report at once as to how the matter should be disposed of.

Mr. Bertram is confident that he will get his seat, but believes that John A. Macdonald will oppose it as long as he can, knowing that his own tenure of the Treasury benches depends on a vote or two.

The Muskoka election case was brought up on the second day. Mr. Blake in an able speech explained the case showing that the Returning officer should have returned Mr. Cockburn as he had a majority of votes, and that in not returning him, the Returning officer had acted in the most partisan manner.

John Hilliard Cameron again defended the Returning officer, while the Government hacks were going through the House testing the feelings of the members and finding that a majority would not follow them through the dirt of another vote, Mr. Cameron changed tactics and left it with the Premier to take his own course. This was a blind to hide defeat, as immediatly John A admitted that the Returning officer had acted wrong and should have returned Mr. Cockburn. Mr. Blake's motion was carried without opposition and Mr. Cockburn took his seat.

Mr. Blake then chafed the Premier on the rapid change that had taken place and boldly told him that it was but another instance of his disregard of principle for the retention of office.

It is confidently expected that a very few weeks will show such disorganization in the Ministerial ranks as is sure to bring defeat. Every hour proves the declining power of the Macdonald-Cartier Government.

MANITOBA UNDER JOHN A'S REGIME.

Lately that distracted province has been the scene of another outrage. The Speaker of the House of Assembly was decoyed a little from Winnipeg, and abused, tarred and feathered, and threatened on account of a decision given by him in the House. This is just what might be expected where murder goes unpunished, and the murderer is taken into the confidence of the Prime Minister of the Dominion. Riel murdered poor Scott, yet he is at large and actually in the country where he committed the deed, and ne one attempts to arrest him, knowing that the Minister of Justice, (shall we say injustice) is ready to defend him, and Sir George Cartier, who holds his seat thro' Riel's generosity, will do his utmost to shield him from the most righteous punishment.

This disregard of justice and of the rights of the people and of the lives of loyal citizens is now recoiling on themselves. A Mob rules in Manitoba.—Latest telegrams inform us that over 400 people lately appeared at the Assembly's Hall to compel the legislature to grant their requests. To secure a moderate share of safety a guard of militia has had to be placed on the House, and as a consequence of these things the whole province is in a state of disorder, and quasi rebellion. Is not this attributable to the manner in which the general Government at Ottawa have managed the affairs of Manitoba? And may not greater outrages be expected from time to time, until the management of the country be placed in the hands of men who respect law and order, and will ensure to every man in the Dominion regardless of party considerations.

COBOURG.

Mr. A. E. Munson has the contract for dredging 60,000 cubic yards from the Cobourg Harbor at 25 cents a yard, payment in Town Debentures at par.

A Cobourg Councillor last year got to the amount of between $2,000 and $3,000 for repairs of the harbor. The World thinks this highly improper, but who would be so likely to get the work as a man who could vote it to himself? "Man mind thyself," is no less the rule of Councillors than of other mortals.

The Cobourg World gives the following statement in reference to their town property:

The sources of income of the Commissioners are,—the Harbor, the Victoria Hall, the Market, the Port Hope and Rice Lake Road, and taxation. Last year, the Harbor tolls amounted to $10,850 22. But the expenses for repairing the Harbor, besides salaries, insurance, &c., amounted to $8,744 01. This was an extraordinary year for expenses, it is true, but the statement will show what large calls may be made in any year upon the revenue from tolls. The interest on the debt on Victoria Hall is $6,630 32—deducting a net revenue of $1,613, leaves still a yearly deficit of $5,018 32. The net revenue of the market is $456 50 a year. As to the Port Hope Road, the interest on debt, taxes and insurance amount to $1,236 41, while the revenue from rent is but $1,200. The total deficiency on this property since 1859 is $12,893 90. Thus we have, with our little properties, for the year 1872, net revenues to the amount of $470 15, and deficits to the amount of $6,053 72. We have the payment of interest, and of debentures as the fall due, to provide for, besides, together with all the necessary expenses of running the concern, and yet the Commissioners last year raised but a little over $10,000 from the Council to enable them to meet the liabilities of the year, and exhibit a clean sheet. And this is about their average demand.

After reading the above, most men would come to the conclusion that their public undertakings don't pay. Brighter prospects, however, are opening up for our sister town.

MUNICIPAL LOAN FUND.

The list given below shows the distribution of the Municipal Loan Fund according to the resolution given in another column.

In the apportionment to Peterboro County there is a Clerical error. The amount is $49,434, as the population outside the Town is 24,717. The population of the two Ridings is 30,473. The town contained 4,611 and South Monaghan 1,145, take these away and the remainder is 24,717, the population of the county, at $2 each gives $49,434, as the portion payable to the County.

The portion falling to each Municipality will be:

N. Monaghan	$2,958
Smith	6,856
Ennismore	2,203
Otonabee	7,984
Ashburnham	2,394
Douro	5,843
Asphodel	6,494
Dummer	3,902
Belmont & Methuen	3,150
Harvey	1,340
Galway & Cavendish	1,643
Burleigh, Chandos, &c.	1,443
Snowdon & Glamorgan	[illegible]
Minden	1,994
Stanhope & Stanhope	630
Dysart &c.	1,510

The Town of Peterboro receives an abatement of $72,430,46. The remaining responsibility on account of the Municipal Loan Fund is $72,436,46. But the Council has an Act of Parliament and arrangement from the Midland Railway Co'y for the payment of $20,000 and interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. Already under this agreement $13,200 has been paid, and interest to date. The unpaid balance of the $20,000 is therefore $66,800. As this is well secured and payment certain, it may be taken from the $72,436,46 leaves $5,636,46 as the real liability of the Town on the account. If the Council succeed in inducing the Government to take the security on the Railway for the balance of indebtedness, there would only be this small difference of $5,636,46, to be paid in cash, which could be easily arranged, no doubt, by paying the cash. By the division the Government has dealt very fairly with the Municipalities indebted, while the Municipalities not having to borrow, receive an equivalent in cash. The Towns of Port Hope and Cobourg have had their indebtedness almost wiped out, and are now able to begin in the new.

HOME INDUSTRIES.

Yesterday we paid a visit to the Foundry and Machine shops of Wm. Hamilton, Esq., in the West part of the Town.

Mr. Hamilton, kindly accompanied us through the different workshops, and explained the Machines, and their uses.

THE BOILER SHOP.

The first place we entered was the shop in which boilers and heavy work are made. We found men engaged on Sawgates, Chains, Turbine water wheels &c., In this room there is machinery for every use connected with the manufacture of Boilers, and these are indeed innumerable. There is also a large fire for flanging boiler heads; as well as numerous other articles not easily understood by the uninitiated.

THE MACHINE SHOP.

On entering this room one is struck with the size of the place for a Town like Peterborough. It is not less than 100 feet long by 40 feet broad, and contains an endless variety of lathes, planing machines, shaping machines, drilling machines, bolt cutters, &c., and Mr. Hamilton informed us that he was getting out a slotting machine from Great Britain for slotting heavy shafts and forgings, and key seats in wheels.

Some of the men were at work on an Edger for Smith, Boyd & Co., which is to be placed in the Nassau Mills now being repaired by that firm, and which is to surpass any saw mill in this vicinity. Mr. Hamilton has already shipped 9 of these edgers this season, to different parts of Canada. Other men were at work on saw mill gates. One of West's oscillating gates, for gang saw mills, was almost finished, and is intended for the Nassau Mills also. It is patented by Mr. West of this town, and is considered perfect in its way. Although but two years patented several of them are in use in this section of the country. Here too, men were at work on steam engines, water wheels, shafting, pulleys, and large screws for feeding stabber of gang saws. Two of these are 18 feet long, 6 inches in diameter and 2 inch pitch, and are made of solid wrought iron. Men were cutting, turning, making bolts, nuts, etc., The whole place appearing alive with moving wheels, pulleys, belts, men and machinery. There are no less than 9 turning lathes swinging from 6 feet to 2 feet in diameter, and the men are turning out work of an hour and patterns in use in saw mills, grist mills, and factories.

THE BLACKSMITH SHOP.

This is also a large shop. A large steam hammer is the most attractive article in this shop, with an 11 inch cylinder, and strikes with a force of 2½ tons. We saw the men take a peice of round iron, 6 inches in diameter, and form it into a forging 6 inches by 12 inches by 2 inches, the whole process not requiring more than two minutes. The men were engaged making chains for patent jacks and trucks for drawing logs into saw mills, as well as various other works. Mr. Hamilton informed us that this shop is fast becoming too small for his increasing business, and will have to be enlarged this season to twice if not three times its present size.

THE FOUNDRY.

In the foundry men were engaged in forming moulds for almost every description of castings. They cast every other day, and sometimes have had castings 5,000 lbs. weight.

This vast system of machinery is kept in motion by a very neat Engine of 25 horse power, and also by a Turbine water wheel which can be used when there is a supply. Both powers or one of them can be used at will.

In the room for making patterns, boxes &c., we found 6 men at work, who are continually engaged on this kind of work. Their wages daily amounting to $9, or about $2,808 a year, for pattern makers, independent of material used.

In the pattern rooms there are endless piles of patterns of every description, the amount and value of which may be judged from the fact that Mr. Hamilton is a long time in business. The wages of the pattern makers alone amount in 8 years to almost $28,000, and the material must add considerable to their cost.

The store rooms contain boiler plate tubing, castings, partly finished machines, &c., &c., and we saw a large rotary force pump, intended for the Auburn Mills, capable of throwing four streams at once

Mr. Hamilton employs at present 65 men to whom he pays weekly over $600, or an aggregate yearly of $26,000 for wages. These men in turn support 45 families, which at the usual computation number 225. The cost of material must be a large item in the way of iron, coal, wood insurance, taxes, and the thousand and one things of which we in our simplicity in reference to such an establishment know nothing.

Mr. Hamilton intends increasing his business to two or three times its present state, and to do so must extend his building southward. It really does appear a pity that an extension of Murray street intervenes so as to prevent his retaining all his offices and workshops compactly together, and in view of the immense industry that is carried on by him it would not be much to allow the use of the street. It would only affect himself we understand, as he owns almost all the land on both sides to Park street.

We had no idea until we visited this foundry, of the amount of work carried on at it, nor of the amount of [illegible] required to carry it on, of the [illegible] man employed, nor yet of the [illegible] dependent on the [illegible]

Mr Hamilton [illegible] pays these [illegible] Already work from his shops has been shipped to all parts on the Georgian Bay Muskoka, East and West, besides the large local business he does. There can be no surer way to benefit the Town than by encouraging such men, as all they make is soon returned in wages, improvements, taxes and progress around them.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday Evening, Present,—His worship Geo. A. Cox, in the chair, and Messr. Toole, Moore, Burritt, Sperry, Deane, Hopkins, Paterson, Helm, English, Lundy, Dixon, and Smith,

The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from John Wilson asking for a reduction of the sum paid by him for tavern license, from the clerk for an increase of salary; from S. Burnham asking for a resident auctioneers license; From P. Ryan and James Stevenson, recommending Michael Crowley to have a tavern licence; from John O'Brien and others asking for tavern licenses; from John Brown, Captain of the fire brigade, asking for new uniforms, referred to the Fire Committee. A petition from F. Calcutt and others asking the Council to reduce the price of shop license. A communication from Mr. Geo. Edmison, asking leave to occupy Brock and Stewart Streets while moving a house, granted on motion of Mr. Toole.

The annual statement of the Town Trust Commissioners was submitted and laid on the table.

Mr. Smith Chairman of the Finance Committee reported, recommending the payment of the following sums:

Boultbee, Fairbairn, & Pousette $6.10.
Dr. Kincaid, $8.00.

It was moved by Mr. Smith seconded by Mr. English, that in future no goods are to be ordered from any store without a written order from the Clerk, or where the Corporation keep a running account, the same to be ordered by a pass book, and the goods so ordered to be entered at once, and the pass book returned to the Clerk.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. English, that the union Committee be requested to meet with the Ashburnham Council to-morrow morning for the purpose of advising Mr. Fairbairn, as to the Bill now before the House, and that the Town Solicitor also meet with them.

Moved by Mr. Toole seconded by Mr. Helm, that Messrs. Smith, Lundy, Moore Deane, and the mover be a special Committee with authority to confer with the County Council relative to the Locks Bridge, and to do anything necessary to secure its reconstruction by the Town and County jointly and equally.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

Reform Meeting.

A large and influential meeting of Reformers was held in the Music Hall, last night. The Hall was filled, D. W. Dumble, Esq., occupied the Chair, and opened the meeting by referring to the history of the election contest, and the outrage of the returning officer in returning Mr. Cluxton, who was in the minority, and condemned the Government for appointing such a man, and now for endeavoring to condone the crime—as crime it was. He then called on Mr Bertram to address the meeting.

Mr. Bertram on coming forward was received with loud cheers. He gave a synopsis of the whole affair, showing that Dr. George Buchanan in his return had made statements contrary to facts, and had otherwise acted in a way deserving condign punishment. He further commented on the undignified and partisan action of ministers and followers at Ottawa, and wound up a telling speech by declaring that he believed he would get the seat, and was determined to contest it till the end was consummated. He took his seat amid loud cheers.

Geo. T. Leonard, Esq., then moved the first resolution. In a very neat speech he referred to the course the Government had taken in the matter, showed how they had violated the established usage of Britain and Canada, and asked the meeting to condemn the men, who, for party purposes, would rob the people of their rights in utter disregard of the spirit of the constitution, and the will of the people. It was then:

Moved by Mr. Leonard,

Seconded by Mr. W. Hamilton:

RESOLVED, That having watched the course of the Government of the Dominion of Canada in the debate on the Peterborough Election case, this meeting disapproves of the unfair course of that Government in denying to Mr. Bertram, an elected Candidate to the Dominion Parliament, an admitted and just claim to a seat therein, in violation of long established usuage of the Parliaments of both Britain and Canada. As British subjects we have been taught to expect that all rights given us by the laws of the land would be faithfully preserved. The highest duty of the Government is to administer the laws in their integrity, and particularly such laws as relate to the legislative rights of the people, the violation of which for party purposes, against their spirit and intent, is an usurpation of power deserving righteous and stern condemnation.

John Walton, Esq., moved the second resolution. As an old reformer who had battled for the rights of the people, he felt that the present Government at Ottawa was deserving of reprobation of honest men. Sir Francis Hincks had cast off all self respect. He was now in the House contrary to law. It was true that he represented some 17 people but even these he had never seen nor consulted. After refering to the general conduct of the tory pary and their usurpation of power, it was Moved by Mr. Walton,

Seconded by Mr. Edmison:

That this meeting views with deep concern, the fact that Sir Francis Hincks occupies a position as a Minister of the Crown, notwithstanding that he has been surreptitiously returned to Parliament, in open violation of law, and in violation of that just principle which requires, that one occupying a position enabling him to shape the legislation and government of the country should, at least, be known in the field as a true representative of the people. In the opinion of this meeting a Government that would encourage Hincks into Parliament as a part of Sir Hugh Allan's Pacific Scheme Co[illegible]

Mr. Blake's [illegible] reference to the returns of the Peterboro election, and fully explained the whole case and also the decisions on similar cases in England and Canada.

Hon. John Hilliard Cameron attempted a lame defence

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said the real point to be decided was whether the House had jurisdiction to deal with the case, not whether the returning officer had made a mistake. The question was simply whether the argument of the hon. member for Cardwell was well founded, and whether the House should interfere or not. If it was a fact that this House was a proper tribunal to try questions of undue returns, then they might set aside the hope of being able to address itself within any reasonable period to the real business of the country. For the very purpose of enabling Parliament to avoid such questions, and the high object of depriving such matters of the right to be decided by party votes, the law provided another and a specific tribunal—a tribunal surrounded by all that sanctifies the highest courts of law—a tribunal upon which rested all the obligations that were imposed upon the judges of the land, or a tribunal upon which the wisdom of Parliament, both in England and Canada, had cast the duty of trying these questions, and a tribunal, the members of which took a solemn oath to try the questions submitted to them with the impartiality of a judge. (Hear, hear) It would be a matter of double regret if the time of the House was to be occupied by trying all disputed elections. For if this motion were carried, and the precedent established that the House had jurisdiction to interfere, no member of the House would have any protection against his seat being disputed in the same way, not only at the present time, but at any time during the existing Parliament. Under the controverted election law if a petition was not presented against the sitting member within fourteen days after the meeting of Parliament, his right to the seat could not afterwards be impugned, but if the doctrine of the hon. gentleman was to be assumed as a correct doctrine there was no limit for Parliament could at any time during its existence exercise is jurisdiction, remove a member from his place, and declare his seat vacant, just as well as on the first day of meeting. It was in order to prevent this great wrong, and to give members an assurance that they had a right to vote and speak for their constituents without fear of being attacked, that the law had been passed, which declared that these questions should not be dealt with as party questions in Parliament, nor made the cause of party struggles. The unseemly spectacle ought not to be witnessed of parties dividing in the House, not on the rights and merits of the case, but according to their political views. This spectacle disgraced and degraded the Parliament of England, before there was a constitutional government in this country, and it was to put an end to it that the Grenville Act had been passed. All knew, who were acquainted with the constitutional history of England, that one of the greatest of its prime ministers, Sir Robert Walepole, regarded as a defeat the fact that his party had been out-voted in the House of Commons upon the question of the election for the borough of Cheltenham, and that in consequence of that defeat he resigned.—That was the unseemingly state of things that prevailed before the introduction of the Grenville Act by which the whole jurisdiction over the disposal of contested elections was removed from Parliament and handed over to be dealt with by a sworn tribunal. The hon. gentleman had quoted precedents from the proceedings of the old Parliament of Canada to justify his motion. They were not precedents which it would be well for this House to follow, but rocks to be avoided. (Hear Hear.) He [Sir John] was free to admit that the return in that case was a wrong return. (Oh, oh.) He was free to admit that the hon. member for Victoria had a right to that seat, but the decision of that House was, as he contended at the time, and he voted at the time contrary to the law and contrary to Parliamentary practice in England. It might be, as the hon. member for South Bruce said, that until the short period required for the committee to report upon the case, the constituency would be unrepresented or misrepresented. But so it might be, and so it was in every case in which a member of the House might eventually be unseated. If rumour was correct there would be a plentiful crop of petitions in other cases, and it might be assumed that in a number some would be unseated, and when they were unseated it would then be known and felt that every vote these members had given were votes that ought not to have given. It was true that that inconvenience might be felt and that a wrong to the constituencies might occur, but still these considerations could not enter into the legal and constitutional mode of dealing with those cases. If the argument of the hon gentleman was good for any thing, that the business of the country should not be proceeded with until these matters were dealth with, it could apply to every case of contested election as well as this case. It was wrong that every constituency was not represented in the House. One of the two constituencies which he represented must be greatly wronged.

Mr. BLAKE said that he had good authority for stating that Mr Harrison had never been consulted by the returning officer. (Hear, hear.)

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said if that might be true, but Mr. Harrison had given his opinion to Mr. Cluxton, and Mr. Cluxton had shown it to the returning officer who acted upon it. He (Sir John) had himself received a telegram asking his opinion in the matter, but in his answer he declined to give an opinion, only recommending that the returning officer should consult some lawyer of eminence, and be guided by his advice. He would only say this, that there was such a difference of opinion in regard to the return, that had already been exemplified in the House, that the whole case required to be more fully considered before it would be properly dealt with

It had been stated by the former speaker that he had endeavored imcroperly to seat himself in Parliament on that occasion as representative of the County of Oxford. There was not a member of that House who would for a moment insinuate that Mr. Bertram, who he understood to be standing outside the Bar of the House waiting for admission, was at all responsible for the proceedings that were being taken in the House. He (Sir Francis Hincks) in the same way was not in any degree responsible for the proceedings in 1848. At the time he was returned for the County of Oxford in 1848 he was in confidential correspondence with a very distinguished member of the Imperial Parliament, the late Mr. Charles Buller. The conduct of the returning officer, he is limited, caused him a great deal of irritation, because he considered himself extremely ill-used. He had inquired of Mr. Buller what his opinion was of the case. The gentleman replied that altho' he conceived that he (Sir Francis Hincks) was badly treated and should certainly have been declared duly returned, yet it was a fact that his case should have been referred to an Election Committee. He had left the matter in the hands of the House and was in no way responsible for the decision. The Minister of Justice had already stated that the then leader of the Reform party, although no doubt most anxious for his (Sir Francis Hincks) return to the House as speedily as possible, had on that occasion, voted against his party. His right hon. and learned friend, however, had forgot to mention the name of another very high legal authority, Mr. H. J Boulton, who had also voted on that occasion on the same side as Mr. Balawin. Among the gentlemen who voted on the other side were such men as Mr. Lafontaine, but it must be remembered that in the old Province of Lower Canada there was no such thing as a trial of contested elections by a committee, and proceedings to settle a dispute were taken in the House and by the members of the House, and they hesitated not to take the matter into their own hand, in consequence. The member for South Bruce had remarked that this discussion and these proceedings were rendered necessary by the action of the last Parliamrat of the Dominion, not having adopted the election law which had been proposed in order to have contested elections tried by a different tribunal, and yet he stated that he had also said that if such a law had been enacted, this case would not have come before the House, which he now asked to decide the question

Mr. BLAKE—No, no.

MR. BLAKE was pained to see the position taken up by the hon. member for Vancouver Island. That gentleman, if he did not say it in as many words, left the impression upon the House, when he said that he was not responsible for what the House had done in 1848, that he was opposed to the notice they had then taken in the matter. He had confessed to having felt irritated abut it, and had consulted a gentleman whom he cited as a witness, but who was now no longer in the land of the living, and was told that the matter could not be put right, according to English practice, except through the medium of an Election Committee. Was the House to understand that it was against his will and in spite of his remonstrances that he was forced by friends to accept the decision of the House upon the question of his right to take his seat in the House, or that he sacrificed his own feelings for the sake of his party and permitted them to remain in ignorance of the fact? He, (Mr. Blake) must be permitted in ignorance of the facts of the case to retain the impression that the hon. gentleman did not object to the course taken by his friends, but that he had assented to it throughout. He (Mr. Blake) had always heard that the affair was a feather in the cap of the hon. gentleman which had had no little influence in elevating him to a position on the Ministerial benches. Shortly afterwards the hon. gentleman was called upon to vote upon this same question himself, when the hon. gentleman was himself in the House. The proceeding which commenced upon the day upon which the House determined to deal with his case as a question of privilege were terminated, and the gentleman who had taken his seat declared guilty of a breach of privilege. The hon. gentleman had given his consent to the proceedings, and his name was recorded on the journals of the House as having voted upon the motion made upon the question.—(Cheers.) Yet he (Mr. Blake) gathered from what the hon. gentleman had said that, though 25 years after the event referred to, he rather thought the House had done wrong. (Laughter.) He requested to be allowed to state a fact which might not be known to all. Twenty-four years ago the hon. gentleman was on the opposite side of the House from that he now occupied, and another man illegally occupied his place. To day the hon. gentleman was himself illegally occupying a seat in the House. He was sitting for the constituency of Vancouver, and he trembled least the facts should be inquired into. It was well known that one of the legal requirements of the representative of Vancouver was a residence of one year in the island previous to the period of his election. It was also well known that not more than twelve days previous to his election, the hon. gentleman was doing yeoman service for the Government which he was now supporting. The resolution as well as the amendment called upon the House to decide whether or not the returning officer was wrong in taking upon himself to consider the qualification of a candidate or whether he should have confined himself to the question of who had the majority of votes. It was proposed by the hon. gentleman to adopt the most procrastinating course it was possible to adopt.—In the constitution of the Committees there was always a decisive majority of the supporters of the Government, and a proof of this would be found by reference to the composition of the former Committees. The hon. gentleman showed how the delay would be caused by referring the matter from one committee to another, and even then the question at issue would probably not be decided; as the mover of the amendment, had not directly put the question of whether the House had power or not to act in the matter. He showed that it was the practice in the English Parliament to decide similar questions without being petitioned. In alluding to the contention that the decisions of the old Parliament were of no real weight, he said in 1867 the rules and regulations which prevailed in the old Parliament were adopted, with few exceptions, as the rules and regulations of this Parliament. He quoted instances to show the Parliament of England had retained its inherent jurisdiction to deal with questions affecting the seats of members, and in the case in question the facts were apparent on the poll books. It was held that the case of O'Donovan Rossa was of a different and peculiar character, but he (Mr. Blake) failed to see the difference, and he maintained it was not considered on account of its peculiarities, but on account of its general principles. He maintained that the Returning officer had no right to return anyone except the one who had the majority of votes, and that the amendment called upon them to delay justice with a view to its ultimate denial. The House could, in accordance with precedents, give to the people of West Peterboro' their proper representative; if they did not they would tell returning-officers that they had a power they ought not to possess, and it would give them to understand that they could decide who might or might not sit in that House until the long and procrastinated procedure thus proposed was gone through. (Hear, hear.)

Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD deprecated the attack made by the hon. gentleman opposite upon his hon. friend from Vancouver, who after 21 years of political service was so highly esteemed throughout the country. The hon. gentleman opposite had complained of the delay which would be created, but a delay of a few days could make no difference whatever. It had also been argued that Standing and Special Committees reflected the opinions of the Government. This would always be so, for the opinions predominating in the House would predominate on the Committees. Mr. Bertram might have suffered a wrong, but they were not the tribunals to decide the matter. A proper tribunal had been established and it was their duty to refer the matter to that tribunal. The hon gentlemen opposite had complained that the people of West Peterboro would not be properly represented. He(Sir John Macdonald) called the attention of the house to the time when the late Mr. Sandfield Macdonald moved in the Ontario Legislature the adjournment of the house for a few weeks until the representatives were elected for a number of constituencies then unrepresented. The hon. gentlemen at that time opposed the motion, and, taking a vote before the election of those representatives, succeeded in defeating the Government. This was not in accordance with his present argument. He held they were not bound to act upon the precedents of the old Parliament. The reason they followed the precedents of England was because the law was the same here as there. The hon. gentleman referred to the action of the Nova Scotia Government, to show that Government in these particulars were acting constitutionally, and he also read a long article by Mr. Todd in support of the same. The course the House should pursue was to reject the motion and refer the matter to a committee for decision, and he was satisfied the committee would arrive at a right and just Conclusion.

The Pacific Railway.

Treachery to Canadian Interests—an Infamous Job.

The leading features of the Pacific Railway scheme, and of the recent legislation in the Dominion Parliament respecting it, are too well known to need detailed recapitulation. It will be readily remembered that by the Act of Union with British Columbia, the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald bound the Dominion to construct a Railway to the Pacific Coast, within ten years, the cost of the said road being variously estimated at from one hundred to one hundred and fifty million of dollars. Against the folly of incurring this oppressive burden, the Opposition protested and voted to a man. But the Government forced it through, and the country became bound to an undertaking which was by any means a political necessity, and which must prove a dead financial loss. Well, the next step was to pass the Act under which the Railway was to be built. Last session saw this second piece of stupendous folly consummated. Under this Act the Government took power to itself to hand over $30,000,000 of public money, and 50,000,000 acres of public lands as a bonus to any Company that would undertake to construct a road. It required from the Company, to which an immense grant of public property was made, a merely nominal guarantee deposit of $1 000,000, and it reserved to itself the authority to organise a Company, itself, if no independent one should be forthcomming. The whole legislation was of the lowest and most hurried character. It provided few or no safeguards for the public interest while it allowed the fullest scope for fraud and corruption. Again the Opposition exerted itself strenuously to get the crude and dangerous measure modified—to have some checks imposed which would keep this great national enterprise from proving a second Grand Trunk job, from becoming the prey of greedy and dishonest speculators, or the mere tool in the hands of unscrupulous politicans. But the Government would take no counsel, and it servile following seemed to have no sense of shame or duty, so that most absurd, if not infamous piece of Legislation ever done in Canada, was complete, and the Pacific Railway Act became law.

Now comes the third act in the drama, to wit, the formation of the Company and the letting of the contract. When it is remembered that up to the present there has never been any regular survey of the route—that it cannot even be safely asserted that there is a practicable route at all—that from what little is known of the country it is evident that the difficulties will be immense, and the cost far beyond the government estimate, or the means provided, it will not appear strange that offers to build the road were very slow in coming in. For a time indeed it seemed as if the whole scheme must fall through for want of honest contractors, enterprising or reckless enough to undertake it. At length the late Mr. Allred Waddington, brought the matter before certain wealthy American capitalists, many of whom were interested in the rival American Road, the Northern Pacific, and singular to relate, with their backing organized a Company, and offered to undertake the job. The Government were evidently glad of an offer from anybody, but knowing that to contract with an ostensibly American Company would arouse public indignation, they put Mr. Waddington off. But the matter did not end there. A member of the Government, quite accidentally of course, called the attention of Sir Hugh Allen to the fact that American capitalists were willing to engage to construct the road. Sir Hugh at at once opened negotiations with them, and the result was the formation of a company, with Sir Hugh Allen at its head, and several prominent Canadians as Directors, but the moving and controlling spirits of which were Americans connected with the rival American line. When it became known that Americans were seeking to get control of the Canadian road, Canadian public spirit was aroused—Canadian patriotism took alarm, and another, a purely British and Canadian Company was forthwith organized, called the Inter-Oceanic Company, with Senator Macpherson as President, and Hon. Wm. Howland, Fred. Cumberland and a host of other prominent Canadians as Directors. Both parties tendered for the road. The Government gave no decisive reply to either, but strongly urged them to amalganate, and become one company.—This the Allen-American Company seemed willing to do, but the Macpherson or Canadian Company, declined to have anything to do with the other organization, on account of its American character; and in a lengthy and elaborate document, pointed out to the Government the suicidal folly of allowing foreigners, interested in a rival road, to have a controlling influence in the management of the Canadian road. They warned the Government that it was the policy of these American capitalists, to make the Canadian road a mere branch and feeder to their own—to construct that portion first, which would serve this purpose, and to delay the rest as long as possible. For these and other strong reasons they refused to amalgamate. The Allen Company replied to these charges, generally denying them, but by no means substantiating their denial. The Macpherson Company replied with such effect, as to leave absolutely no doubt as the soundness of their view. But the Government, either blind or bound, as the price of political support to be given, or the pay for that already received, closed with the Allen-American Company. The Macpherson Company, feeling justly indignant—and believing that the country has been betrayed and sold, now publishes the whole correspondence from which the above facts are gleaned.

It is now pretended that the Allen Company is a bona fide British and and canadian one—that British capital only is to be sought for—that American Pacific Railway men have now nothing to do with the scheme, &c. But in the face of the declarations of Messrs. Macpherson, Howland and Cumberland, and in the light of the admissions recently made by Sir H. Allen, in his notorious Peterboro speech, it is very hard to credit these pretensions. At present the affair has a very ugly look. No doubt the Dominion Parliment, now sitting, will give the matter a searching investigation. The folly—nay the crime of handing over the Canadian road and the grant of Canadian money and land, to such a Company, and having such designs, as are declared in Mr. Macpherson's letter, is too infamous to be allowed to pass quietly. Depend upon it, when such staunch Conservatives as Macpherson and Cumberland make these grave charges, there is apt to be more truth than poetry in their story But that American influence—always hostile to Canada and Canadian undertaking—should directly or indirectly control the management of the Pacific Railway, that the immense grants of money and land given to build it, should perhaps pass into the hands of foreigners, and be used to build up arrival road in another country, is rather too much for even the staunchest of Conservatives to swallow. Political fealty has its limits, and it seems pretty clear that in this affair Sir John has gone farther, and sue klower, than the party dare follow.

OF THE DYING.

(From the New York Tribune).

The excitement which the loss of the Northfleet caused in England still continues to show itself in various characteristic ways. The steamer, which escaped like a conscious murderer, in the confusion and darkness, has been vindictively watched for in every port in Europe; the ineffectual [illegible] published on occasion ending in failure; the inadequate [illegible] Contributions for the few remaining victims pour in from every quarter, from the Queen to the half starved-miners. That three hundred souls should be thus lost in a calm sea, within sight of the English coast, surrounded by a dozen vessels, within hearings and reach of a crowded English rendezvous, would be enough to account for the thrill of universal horror, and the eagerness with which the whole nation has risen to repair the injury as far as practicable, were it not that catastrophes just as general and terrible have occured and died out of notice in a day.

But there was a single point of human interest in this ship as it went down which made all nations akin as they looked at it A multitude of deaths of unknown men and women is, after all, only a ghastly vague fact, unemotional as the sum total of a bill of mortality. But this Captain Knowles, wakened out of his sleep to find the open sea yawning beneath, and 400 souls dependent upon him, on the instant cool, steady, sagacious seeing that death was inevitable, and standing on its edge to choose out the weakest and most helpless to be saved—there is a real live man whom we would fain claim as the brother of us all. There is much said nowadays of the corruption of society; when our political leaders take bribes we are told that chicanery and money and love of sham show control the majority of lives; yet sometimes death, from among us, takes some commonplace fellow like this ship's captain by the throat and bids him justify his right to have lived; and the man takes his footing upon his plain daily duty; and doing that, chooses so to be lost in the eternal silence. But how the whole world is stirred as he goes out! How in every country in the last fort night men's hearts have beaten higher, and the tears come to women's eyes looking at the figure of this Knowles on the edge of his sinking ship; how we had listened to hear his last words before the sea covered him, to know something more of the man. Cleopatra puts on her crown to make strategic ending. "What's brave, what's noble, let's do it after the high Roman fashion, and make death proud to take us!" "The captain was the only quiet man aboard," said one of the survivors; "he was about thirty years old, and had been married six months. He kept the crew back with a pistol in one hand from the boats, and helped the woman and children in with the other. Some called to him to tie himself to a spar, but he went on lifting in the women. He gave his wife to the boatswain in one of the boats. 'Take care of her, boson,' he said; 'I will never see you again, dear girl.' Mrs. Knowles was a young thing, very much of a child. She wanted to go back on deck and die with her husband, but we held her.

While we look through the night at the ship going down with this man at his post on her, other remembrances come back to us. of Robert Shaw, "buried in a pit with his diggers;" of the engineer Kealey lying dead at the bottom of the river, and the train he had saved safe at the other side; and, dearer than all, of another ship that sank in the British Channel not many years ago. There was part of an infantry regiment on board, returning after a five years' absense from India. When it was found that the vessel was sinking, and that the boats were insufficient to hold the women and children, the Colonel, to prevent confusion, marshalled his men in rank on deck. They obeyed, and presented arms." And so, almost within sight of the home they had not seen for five years, foot to foot and shoulder to shoulder, silent and immovable, as though ready to charge upon the foe, they went down.

There are men whose lives are clad with great deeds or words as with a royal garment; but these were homly and commonplace, doing the task of every day after no high Roman fashion, but quietly and steadily. Attempting and achieving no more than this they passed through the great dark portal which never opens twice for any man, but when it has closed behind them it seems to us as though nothing had gone out from among us.

The Montreal Herald says Mr Chapleau is not to be allowed to walk the course when he returns to his county for re-election. Mr. Jules Prevost will probably be brought out in opposition.

NEW SEED STORE!

New Firm.

Giles & Mason

SEEDSMEN,

Nurserymen & Florists

PETERBORO, ONT.

Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—

1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.

3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.

4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing their vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale

5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

6th. That those who may be pleased to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.

In remembering all the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Bloom-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.

Seedling Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 634, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

Select Poetry.

Give me the Hand.

Give me the hand that is kind, warm and ready.
Give me the clasp that is calm, true and steady,
Give me the hand that will never deceive me,
Give me the grasp that I aye may believe thee.

Soft is the palm of the delicate woman,
Hard is the hand of the rough, sturdy yeoman,
Soft palm or hard hand, it matters not—never.
Give me the grasp that is friendly for ever.

Give me the hand that is true as a brother,
Give me the hand that has harmed not another,
Give me the hand that has never forswore it,
Give me the grasp that I may adore it.

Lovely the palm of the fair blue-veined maiden,
Horny the hand of the workman o'erladen,
Lovely or ugly, it matters not—never.
Give me the grasp that is friendly for ever.

Give me the hand that is honest and hearty,
Free as the breeze, and unshackled by party,
Let Friendship give me the grasp that becomes her,
Close as the twine as the vine of the summer.

Give me the hand that is true as a brother,
Give me the hand that has wronged not another,
Soft palm or hard hand, it matters not—never,
Give me the hand that is friendly for ever.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolutions to dispose of the Surplus, and settle the Municipal Loan Fund Indebtedness

1. That it is expedient to provide for the re-arrangement of the Municipal Loan Fund debts, so as to secure the due and regular payment of such of them, or such portions thereof, as are to be paid.

2. That it is expedient to distribute amongst the Municipalities of the Province for local purposes, the future produce of the said debts, and so much of the other funds of the Province as may, with the produce of the said debts, be equal to the allowances hereinafter mentioned.

3. That with respect to those debts to the Municipal Loan Fund, on which an assessment of five cents in the dollar on the assessed annual value of the property of the indebted municipality in 1858, was not sufficient to pay the interest, the practical effect of the Statute 22 Victoria, c. 15, (entitled An Act further to amend the Consolidated Municipal Loan Fund Acts), has been to reduce every such debt, on the first day of December, 1869 to the sum on which the said rate of five cents in the dollar would pay interest at five per cent., that it is expedient to accept this reduction as the basis of a new settlement with all municipalities which desire the benefit of a settlement on that basis, and to give to other municipalities some compensation in respect thereof by making to such other municipalities the allowance hereinafter provided.

4. That for many years it has been the policy of this country to give public aid to useful railway enterprises, that the late Province of Canada largely aided certain railways in Upper Canada, that other railways in Upper Canada were built without any aid from the Province of Canada, but with large aid from some of the municipalities in Upper Canada, by taking stock in the railway companies which were to construct the said railways, and by making loans to the said companies, which stock was taken and which loans were made on the mistaken representation to the said municipalities, and in the delusive expectation by them that their advances would be made good out of the profits of the railways, that the railways so respectively aided by the said Province and by the said municipalities have been greatly instrumental in developing the wealth and resources of this Province, and that, with respect to the said railways so built without any Provincial aid, it is expedient, in view of the said facts, to credit to such of the said municipalities as are not benefitted by the Statute 22 Vict., c. 15, a sum equal to $2,000 a mile of railway so aided, the said sum to be divided amongst the municipalities respectively, in proportion to the amount of their said contributions, and to be allowed to each as a payment at the date of its debt therefor being contracted.

5. That after the Confederation of the Provinces in 1867, and before passing of the Railway Aid Act of 1871, divers municipalities, which will not be benefitted by the said Statute, 22 Vic. c. 15, have given sums of money by way of gift or bonus to divers railways, or portions of railways, which, if not commenced prior to 7th of December, 1870, would have been entitled to aid under the said Act, that the sums so given were larger than might have been necessary if the said railways had received aid from the Province in the same way as the Act of 1871 provided with respect to railways commenced after the said date, that it is expedient to make to those municipalities an allowance as of the 1st January, 1873, at the rate of $1,000 per mile of the proportions of railways aid by the said municipalities respectively, such allowance to be divided amongst the said municipalities, in proportion to the amount of their said contributions to the railway, provided that this allowance shall not entitle any municipality to an allowance in respect of any railway which may receive aid from the Legislature during the present Session, or to any railway which, if commenced after the passing of the said Railway Aid Act, should not be entitled to aid under the provisions of that Act.

6. That it is expedient to give to municipalities in default, and not benefitted by 22 Vic. c 15, credit as of 1st January, 1873, as against their debts, for the share which would from time to time have been payable to them respectively, of the Clergy Reserve Fund, if they had not been in default to the said Municipal Loan Fund.

7. That it is expedient to allot to all municipalities not benefitted by the Statute, 22 Vic. Cap. 15, the sum of two dollars per head of the population, according to the census of 1871, which allotment shall be in addition to the railway allowances aforesaid shall be applied as follows:—

1. The amount going to a county, city, or separated town indebted to the Municipal Loan Fund, shall be applied first to pay the debt to the said Fund.

2. Where a balance remains of the allotment to a county, the share according to population of any local municipality therein which is indebted to the said Municipal Loan Fund shall be applied towards the payment of such debt.

3. The remaining sum going to a county (or in case the county was not indebted to the Municipal Loan Fund the whole sum going to the county), respect of the said allotment and railway allowance, shall be divided among the local municipalities therein (or the other municipalities therein, as the case may be), according to population, and shall be applied in aid of railways, of drainage of the building or improvement of the court house or gaol, of the building or improvement of an hospital, of priding for the use of the municipality an industrial farm, a house of industry or of refuge, or in building or improving schools, public halls, bridges, harbours, piers, or gravel roads, or shall be applied in making other permanent improvements affecting the municipalities, or shall be applied in or toward the reduction or payment of municipal obligations already contracted for permanent works; and proper provision should be made for the due application of the money to the objects specified.

4. The amount going to any city or local municipality after the payment of debts shall be applied to any of the said objects which may be determined by the council of the city or local municipality at any time after the first day of February next.

5. Where a portion of a county, or union of counties, indebted to the Municipal Loan Fund, has been separated from the indebted county or union, and has assumed part of the debt of the county or union, the allotment in respect of the railway allowance shall be divided in like manner.

8. That a like sum of $2 per head be allotted to those districts which have not yet been organized into municipalities, and shall be applied to permanent improvement affecting the localities, and approved of by the Legislature.

9. That, in view of the past history of the Municipal Loan Fund, it is essential that the new debentures to be obtained from municipalities indebted to the said fund shall not exceed an amount which shall constitute such debentures good and reliable investments to all holders; that by the Municipal Act of 1866 it was enacted that no Municipal Council shall assess or levy in any one year more than aggregate rate of two cents in the dollar (exclusive of school rates) on the value of the ratable property in the municipality; that it is expedient, in making final arrangement of the Municipal Loan Fund debts, to act upon the policy involved in this enactment, and to provide that in case a rate of two cents in the dollar would be insufficient to pay five per cent annually on the debt, or reduced debt, to the said Fund, after allowing for the ordinary and necessary expenses of the municipality (other than schools), the amount of the debt to the Municipal Loan Fund shall be placed at such a sum, that the interest thereon at five per cent shall not exceed what an assessment of two cent on the dollar on the assessed value of the property in the municipality would be sufficient to pay after meeting the ordinary it is expedient that the annual amount to be so paid should be fixed and not fluctuating; and that the amount of the assessment, and of the ordinary and necessary expenditure respectively of the year 1872, be therefore accepted as the basis of the said calculation and settlement.

10. That where injurious legislation, affecting the securities and position of a municipality indebted to the Municipal Loan Fund, has taken place without the knowledge or concurrence of the municipality, or against its active opposition, and in the interest, or supposed interest, of the public or other parties, and has resulted either in no railway being built, or in the building of a railway which has not advanced the local interests of the indebted municipality, it is expedient, in view of such injurious legislation, to cancel the balance still due by any such municipality to the Municipal Loan Fund after making the allowances hereinbefore provided for.

11 That the City of Hamilton took stock in the Berlin and Preston railway, and issued debentures therefor, amounting to $200,000, that $80,000 of these debentures were purchased by the late Province of Canada, and are now held by this Province, that no interest has been collected thereon since the same were purchased by the Province of Canada, shortly after the issuing of the said debentures, that in consequence of certain proceedings authorized by an Act of the Parliament of the said late Province of Canada, 27 Vic. cap. 56, the said railway has been destroyed, and that, having regard to these facts, and to the financial position of the said city, it is expedient to cancel the said debentures now held by the Province.

12. That where any municipality holds revenue producing investments, made with the money borrowed or obtained under the Municipal Loan Fund Acts, or with the produce of such money, such investments shall, at the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, be assigned in such way as he may appoint, as security for the balance due by the municipality to the said fund, or, where such investments are of greater amount and value than the balance so due, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may require the said investments to be assigned absolutely, in discharge of the said balance.

13. That new debentures be obtained from the indebted municipalities respectively, for the balances due by them, that the debentures shall be in such form and in such respective sums as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council shall direct, that the debentures shall provide for payment by the same sums per annum, as nearly as may be, as the municipalities are now liable to pay, provided that no more shall be payable annually for twenty years than two cents in the dollar on the assessment of 1872, would provide for as aforesaid, and that no debenture shall allow more than twenty years for payment of principal; that these debentures shall, so far as practicable, be equally distributed at par among the municipalities entitled thereto, in proportion to the sums to which the said municipalities are respectively entitled, that any balance going to a municipality after such distribution shall be paid in money, and that the debentures shall be delivered and the money paid to the municipalities or to their use at any time after the first day of February next, under proper statutory regulations fitted to secure the due application of the said debentures or the produce thereof, and of the said money, to the objects specified.

14. That for the purpose of giving effect to the said considerations the balances due to the Municipal Loan Fund by the municipalities named in schedule A are hereby cancelled; the balances due to the said Fund by the municipalities named in schedule B are to be deemed the sums mentioned in said schedule B; and the municipalities named in schedule C are to receive in manner aforesaid the sums mentioned in schedule C; which said sums mentioned in the said seventh schedule shall be subject to correction by the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in case of any errors of calculation appearing, but are not to be varied otherwise.

The Deacon's Swill-Barrel.

Just outside of the house stood father, the deacon, tugging away at a big lump of ice in the swill-barrel.

Bad business that, said I, resting my hands on my sides.

Not half so bad as it might 'a been, was the reply, as he lifted the cake of ice out by a stout stick that had frozen up in the swill. Many an' many a bar'l 'ma busted for ine that wouldn't if this knowledge had only come to me sooner, said he. You see when this cold snap come on suddenly, I thought of the swill-bar'l away in the night, and I said—Well, it can't be helped now. It happened, however, that the stick I stir with was left poked down in the swill, and that was all that saved it. A bar'l, or a tub, or a pail may freeze up solid, and if a stick has been put down in the water, the vessel can't burst. But it took me a good while to find it out—never knew it till last winter, lived seventy years before I knew it, and his eyes twinkled knowingly.

Why, that's on the same plan, said I, of putting a spoon into a glass jar when you are canning fruit, if you do that the jar won't break.

Same philosophy exactly, said he, as he gave the ball of ice a kick, and sent it rolling off down the hill.

The estimated expenditure for the English army for the financial year, 1873-4, is $66,167,000, being a reduction of $2,040,500 from the current year.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.—Bills have been brought in to introduce the municipal system, and enable Protestant congregations to hold lands in the Province through trustees. The legislation for the session is of an eminently practical character.

A prisoner in state shop of Auburn prison, by the nam of Michael Kerrigan, tired of work, deliberately chopped off his right hand, recently, to obtain immunity from work. He is a Sing Sing convict, transfered, under sentence for twenty years, two of which only he has served.—His offence was robbery in the first degree.

Last Friday week, the 14th ult., an accident occurred at the Blairton Mines. While the bucket containing ore was being drawn up out of the pit, and when at the height of about 30 feet a large piece of ore fell out, and striking J. McHang, one of the workmen below, shattered his left leg and bruised him severly Mortification set in and death resulted on sunday morning the 23rd inst.

PORT-GLASGOW BELL.—A bell having been presented to the town of Port-Glasgow, the wise men, to do it honor, had it painted, but were much surprised to find its tones much deadened. To cure its dumbness, they were obliged to boil, roast, and scrape it, and at last it recovered its natural powers.

THE GATE OF HEAVEN.—When Lunardi went up in a baloon from Edinburgh, and alighted near a clergyman's house in Fitesbire, he said to the clergyman, "We have been to the gate of heaven, since we went up." The clergyman replied, "Then it is a pity you did not go in; you may never be so near again."

FAT PIG.—Mr. Geo Skinner, of Schomberg, has presented us with a photograph of his large pig, which had killed a few days ago. Its living weight was 1140 pounds, and dressed weight 922 pounds. That is undoubtedly the largest pig that has been raised in Ontario. In the photo., the pig is laying in a common farmers sleigh, its nose touching the dashboard, while its hind quarters hang over the end board. The pig was one of the imported Berkshire breed, and was two years and seven months old when killed. It was bred by Mr. Coal Dean of Tecumseth, and purchased from that gentleman, by Mr. Skinner, when about Choice Poetry.

OLD TIME AND I.

BY MARK LEMON.

Old Time and I the other night
Had a confab together,
The wine was golden, warm, and bright—
Ay, just like summer weather.
Quoth I, There's Christmas come again,
And I've farthing richer;
Time answered, Ah, the old, old strain—
I prithee pass the pitcher.

Why measure all your goods in gold?
No rope of sand is weaker,
'Tis hard to get, 'tis hard to hold—
Come, lad, fill up your beaker.
Hast thou not found true friends more true,
And loving ones more loving?
I could but say A few...a few,
So keep the liquor moving.

Hast thou not seen the prospect blue
Come down a precious thumper?
His cheeks discolored? I have—I have,
Well, surely that's a bumper.
Nay, hold a while, I've seen the just Find all their hopes grow dimmer.
They will hope on, and strive, and trust,
And conquer. That's a brimmer.

'Tis not because to-day is dark,
No brighter day's before 'em,
There's rest for every storm tossed bark.
So be it. Pass the forum.
Yet I must own I should not mind
To be a little richer.
Labor and wait, and you may find
Hallo, an empty pitcher.

The Sweets of Science.

The sources of sugar in the vegetable kingdom are almost innumerable, but its productions for economic purposes is chiefly confined to four plants—namely, the sugar cane, beet root, some palms, and a species of maple. We may remind our readers, however, that most fruits afford sugar when in a ripe state, and that many starch-producing substances, as the beet and carrot, also afford saccharine matter; and that by chemical means the starch-like products of many plants may be converted into grape sugar. The palm tree of certain species afford saccharine matter, as the cocoa-nut, the Palmyra palm, and the wine palm of India, from each of which sugar and intoxicating liquors are produced.

The birch-tree possesses a sweet juice, which, on fermentation produces a kind of wine, resulting from the chemical changes of the sugar it contains; and the spruce beer of Norway is also a result of the presence of sugar in the sap of a species of fir.

The ash family also affords a sweet juice, from which manna is obtained in Sicily, Southern Italy, Greece, and other warm tempered countries. The juice is obtained by incisions in the bark; and on being evaporated and refined; the product much resembles the best loaf sugar of commerce.

The sugar cane, belonging to the grape order, is probably a native of Southern Asia. It was first cultivated in China, but is now largely grown in nearly every tropical climate, and ranks among the most important vegetable productions. Cane sugar contains eighteen per cent of saccharine matter; beet root ten per cent.; the latter is largely produced in France, and the grain of the sugar is much closer and finer than that from the sugar cane. One hundred pounds of brown, or fifty-five pounds of loaf sugar, are obtainable from one ton of the root. Maple sugar is obtained from the acer saccharinum by piercing the bark when the day rises in February, boiling and chrystallizing; it resembles common brown sugar, and may be refined in a similar manner. On an average, from two to four pounds of sugar is obtained from each tree, and a sugar camp is amongst the most desirable possessions of the settlers in the West.

It is somewhat singular that sugar should be derived from sources so utterly dissimilar, both with respect to the plants and the circumstances of their growth. The maple in North America; the beet of continental Europé, the palm of India, and the sugar cane of the tropics gennerally, are as unlike, in external and botanical characteristics, as any four plants can very well be; and yet they each afford the coveted juice in an almost ready state fo use, and identical in physical and chemical qualities. The curious nature of this is enhanced when we remember that, practically, there are not more than six sources of sugar yet discovered, despite the enormous variety existing in the vegetable kingdom, and the similarity of character which so many possess to the sugar-producing plants in every respect but tha of its actual production.

Compost Heaps.

It is often recommended that when manure is thrown into heaps in the field it should be covered with a layer of earth to prevent the escape of the ammonia. The experiments of Dr. Voelcker, at the Royal Agricultural College at Cirencester, in England, established the fact that the evaporation of ammonia from large heaps of manure goes on but slightly, for the reason that during the decomposition of the manure certain organic acids are formed at the same time the ammonia is envolved and then immediately unite with the ammonia, forming a non-volatile compound. There is an active escape of ammonia from the interior of the large heaps, where the heat is too great for the chemical changes above referred to, but as it approaches the exterior part of the heap, where the heat is very much less, the ammonia is completely taken up by the organic acids and retained. There will be but a trifling escape of ammonia, while there is sufficmoisture to retain it, for water absorbs and retains many hundred times its bulk of ammonia gas at ordinary temperatures. Non-volatile compounds, from being highly soluble in water, are liable to be washed away at every rain storm, thus giving the well known color to the drainings of manure heaps.

STOCK has been subscribed and a company formed for the manufacture of sugar from beets, at Cobourg. The company says the Star, is got up something on the same principal as cheese manufacturing companies; each stockholder growing a certain number of acres of beets, which will be collected at the factory. If properly managed we see no reason why the enterprise should not be successful. The soil hereabouts is favorable to the growth of the beet, and there is little or no waste, as after the juice is extracted, the pulp is excellent food for cattle, so that raising and feeding cattle for market is an element, and not by any means the least profitable, of the undertaking. We hope to see it go ahead.

THERE was once an old woman who, in answer to a visiting almoner,s enquires as to how she did, said: "Oh, sir, the Lord is very good to me; I've lost my husband and my eldest son, and youngest daughter, and I'm half blind, and I can,t sleep or move about for the rheumatics; but I've got two teeth left in my head, and praise and bless His holy name, they are opposit each other!" It has been said that this old woman was thankful for small

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Pilons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Deafness, Boils, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Scalden Head, Itch, Scald Head, Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. Several cases it has cured pulled out by the roots. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good for Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No wag to-worms, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting it in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Pilons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rub on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by S. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR THE BLOOD.

[illegible] this unsurpassed [illegible] cures, which are truly wonderful. Invet[illegible] scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with poison, have been purified and cured by it. Even [illegible] affections and complaints which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination [illegible] have been radically cured. In almost every neighborhood in the public scarcely need to be told [illegible] of the most distinctive [illegible] this, this success and unfeigned confidence [illegible] the constitution, [illegible] or fatal disease, [illegible] throughout the body, and [illegible] rapidly develop [illegible] In the latter, tubercles [illegible] commonly deposited in the lungs or [illegible] formed in the liver, or it shows [illegible] on the skin, or foul ulcers [illegible] of the body. Hence the [illegible] Sarsaparilla is advisable, even [illegible] no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints may expect a speedy and [illegible] relief, and, in [illegible] cases, a permanent cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Lips, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Tic, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing the obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are rendered soon relieved and ultimately cured by its prompt and long-lasting effect. Minute Directions [illegible] found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Dyspepsia and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Debility, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a great remedy for all taints of the system. Scrofula and Erysipelas [illegible] with Nervous Affections, Tetters, and any of the Affections of Blackness, will find immediate and conclusive evidence of its restorative

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before in such universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first cause of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself unwell, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their operation in removing offensive matter.

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.
Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—
1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed growers in Europe and in America.
2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.
3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.
4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing them vacuity as a Hot House before offering them for sale.
5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.
6th. That those who may be favored to favor them with their patronage will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.
In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds at the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)
The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.
Seeding Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.
All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.
Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 484, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

Before and After.
In the mist of the early morning,
While over the east still lay
Gleams where the crimson dawning
Had ushered in the day,
They stood in their brief gaiety
Like the famed in song or story,
In battles bright array.

And when the misty morn had past,
And the golden moon a help cast,
From far away we heard this sound—
The cannon's roar—that shook the ground,
And some could see from the neighboring height,
We saw the smoke and heard the roar
From far away that nothing more.

But when the pomp of coming fell,
And the cannon ceased its deep death knell,
When the dust and smoke had cleared away
In the lurid light of the closing day,
Shattered and dim and dead they lay,
Here with the fresh wound gaping wide,
There with the mangled bleeding side,
Calling for drink with pitiful moan,
Or dumb with white lips oozing foam.

Yet, each to some loving heart is dear,
Though they lie like the dust of the hillside here,
A mother's lips have pressed that brow,
Plowed with the ghastly death wound now,
A sister clasped that bleeding neck,
Or maybe somebody dearer yet,
Some one whom love will ne'er forget,
Though now he lies with his strong face
Darkly settling in death's embrace.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.
South Renfrew Contest.
SPEECH OF MR. BLAKE.

Hon. Mr. Blake rose to call the attention of the House, as a matter of privilege, to the South Renfrew election case. He reminded the House that the position taken by the gentlemen on his side of the House was that the House should not be made the theatre for the investigation of disputed facts, and he did not intend to depart from that position in this case. He proposed to proceed, as in the Essex and Lotbinier cases, and the Shefford election. In these cases, upon the allegations of improper conduct on the part of the returning officer, the House dealt with the matter by an investigation. He proceeded to state the facts of the Renfrew case. Anterior to Confederation, Renfrew had but one member, by the Confederation Act the county was divided and allowed two members, and the townships of Hagarty, Richards, Sherwood, Burns and Jones, formed part of the north riding. At the first election after Confederation the electors in those townships enjoyed the ordinary franchise. Last session an Act was passed to readjust the representation in Ontario. That measure passed the Commons, and was sent to the Senate. In the Senate this measure affecting the representation of the people and the distribution of political power in the Commons, was altered in the instance of the Government, by an amendment moved by the Postmaster General to transfer the townships of Hagarty, Richards, Sherwood, Burns and Jones from the North to the South Riding of Renfrew. The measure, with that addition, came back to the Commons in the last days of the session. They all knew that particularly in the last days of the session there was practically but one stage for the discussion of the amendments from the Senate. Under these circumstances the amendment was acceded to by the Commons. There was passing in the House at the time an Act to amend the Interim Elections Act, and the 4th section of that Act provided that these townships that were transferred to the South Riding should have the same franchise as the electoral district of Algoma, viz: every person entitled to vote should be of the age of 21 years, subjects of Her Majesty, and being at the time of voting owners or householders real estate to the value of $200, and should have been such six months preceding the election. Further, the Act was so changed that no oath was required from the voters in those townships, although there was not the protection of the voters' list. The next step anterior election was the appointment of the returning officer. He had excellent authority for saying—and he challenged contradiction of the allegation—that as a general rule the mode in which that patronage was exercised, at any rate in Ontario, was by communicating with the Ministerial candidate or some of his leading supporters, and ascertaining who would be a suitable person, in their view, for the returning officer: practically placing the appointment in the hands of the Ministerial candidate or his chief supporters. He could cite instances, if hon. gentlemen desired them, and could call on Ministerial supporters in the House to say whether he was correct in those instances. The gentleman who was nominated to the position of returning officer in in the county of Renfrew was John Queely. He happened to be one of the census commissioners for the district of Nipissing, which comprised those townships which been added to South Renfrew. He was therefore aware of the facts which had been disclosed by the census, with reference to the population in those townships, facts which he would now lay before the House. In the districts of East Madawaska and Bonnechere, which comprised besides these five townships, five or six other townships, and also a considerable portion of territory as yet unorganized, there were only 178 families, 194 male adults, and, a total population of 836. The returning officer in discharged of his duties was called upon to determine as to the polling divisions in each of the townships of Hagarty and Sherwood. He assumed to make two polling divisions. There was but one division for both Richards and Burns combined, and one for the township of Jones. In Hagarty and Sherwood, although there were professed polling divisions, there was no division of the territory indicated in any way by the returning officer, so that the deputy returning officer at any polling division could not reject any vote tendered in the whole townships of Hagarty or Sherwood. These facts appeared from the proclamation amongst the papers brought down to the House. The hon. gentleman went on to refer in detail to the polling of votes in the townships of Richards, Burns, Jones, Hagarty and Sherwood. The total number of votes polled was 414—406 for the sitting member and 8 for Mr. Macdougall—being more than twice the number of male adults. In this enormous territory the total number of male adults was 194. He proceeded to quote statistics, which showed that the votes polled in certain townships were very greatly in excess of the adult male population. He stated that he was able to lay before the House as a ground for investigation certain further facts. He need hardly inform the House that the electors had to be qualified six months before the election. The census was taken in April, 1871, and the electors would have the qualify themselves by the 1st of March, 1872, which left eleven months for the excrease in population. The census have been very carefully taken, and it was quite obvious that for all pratical purposes they might take the vote to have been that which was indicated by the census. He was able to lay before the House figures which would inevitable lead to that conclusion. Finding that a very large accession was being made to the population of these townships, the Government caused an investigation to be made in the month of June last. The result of this official oxamination was that in Hagarty the male and female population in actual occupation of lands were 71, non-residents, 11—total 82; but the votes were 267, or more than three times the number. These were the figures of the Crown Lands Agent; but there was another document, the result of which was similar to the one he had referred to. It was that of Mr. Allen, Provinvial Land Inspector. Now, he need hardly say that all the occupants and owners could not and did not vote. Such a thing was impossible and unprecedented. Even if they did vote, men, women, and children, it would be found that the number of votes that were recorded was three times greater than the number of the total population. He thought he had shown, with reference to the township of Hagarty, by the census they had before them, and by the papers he had referred to, that there was very strong ground for believing that very gross frands had been committed in the polling of that township. The Madawaska Division composed a good deal more territory. Through this section of country run the road called the Opeongo, which had been constructed for the purpose of inducing settlement. This had to a certain extent been achieved. The division consisted of the townships of Jones, Robinson, and several others. In the whole of the division, therewere, according to census returns, 98 families; total population 459; male adults 125; but there voted in Sherwood, three-quarters of which township were within the division, 124; in Jones, 17; the total, 141, being in excess of the total number of male adults of Madawaska. The official investigation made by the Crown Land Agent showed the occupants in Sherwood were 41, and non-residents 4, making a total of 45 voters, whilst the vote was 124. The investigations of Mr Allan produce a like result. So far, he (Mr. Blake) had given evidence enough to show that gross frauds had been committed and inasmuch as the returning officer acted as Census Commissioner, it appeared that a very strong case was made out against him. Some of the lands upon which votes had been given could not be found in the survey. He next pointed out the arithmetical progression noticeable in the record of voters, which led to the supposition that a fraud had been perpetrated. There was, however, another indication of the concoction of polling booths, which he desired to refer to. He read the names on the poll books, which he observed were absurd. It appeared to him that upon the petition of these individuals who complained of such results as he referred to, and which complaints he had supported by facts which he had said before the House, that there was reason to believe that the petition was founded on facts. There was ample ground for believing there had been very gross and flagrant violation of the privileges of the House and the rights and freedom of electors. That there had been a taking of false votes at the poll to an enormous extent he did not ask the House to say, but he did ask the House to investigate the matters he had brought forward as the interests of the people and the House required that such things should not occur without steps being taken to investigation in order that those guilty of the commission of the wrong might receive deserved punishment. If an investigation were not made, a premium would be held out to deputy returning-officers and poll clerks to neglect their duty and commit other irregularities. It was to the interest of the country that no such violation of duty should take place without an earnest investigation and summary punishment. The summoning of the returning-officer and deputy returning-officer to the bar of the House was a course that had certain advantages. In his motion he would not propose any course, but would be willing to adopt any mode that might be suggested as most convenient by the hon. gentlemen opposite. In his opinion, move advantages were to be obtained by bringing the officers before the House rather than the reference of of the matter to an Election Committee, and that the former course would more than counterbalance any inconvenience possible by stopping for the time of the public business. He not desire to infer that the hon. gentleman who was then sitting for the South Riding of Renfrew had been implicated in the frauds of which he had given evidence. He had not heard or seen any evidence which, up to that time, would justify him to come to the conclusion that the hon. gentleman was cognizant to the frauds. He did not, consequently, desire to insinuate a charge which he was not in position openly to make. He daresay that the notoriety this case had assumed, and the interest it had awakened in Ontario, induced the hon. gentleman to take his seat under the peculiar circumstances; but he (Mr. Blake) desired to make this observation, that although that consideration might have justified the hon. gentleman in taking his seat, as soon as he became cognizant of the facts developed that afternoon if he endeavored or assumed to retain his seat he proclaimed himself a participator in the guilt. (Hear, hear.) He begged to move the following motion:—"That the petition of John V. Macdougall, and others, complaining of the conduct of the Returning-officer and several deputy returning-officers concerned in the last election for South Renfrew, to be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, with instructions to report their opinions thereon, and the evidence taken by them.

Mr. J. H. Cameron said the terms of the petition made it such that it ought to be tried under the controverted elections law, and the returning officer was entitled under that law to be present at the striking of the Committee for the trying of such cases, and have his expenses paid. According to that petition there was not the slightest doubt in the world that the election was complaint of as undue, and must be set aside. He was glad that the hon. gentleman had made the observations he had seen fit to make in connection with the hon. gentleman who was the sitting member for South Renfrew. He (Mr, Cameron) was prepared to say on behalf of the hon. gentleman that he would not sit in this House for a single moment if he were not satisfied that he occupied it legally. The Controvted Elections Act, he said, declares that no petition shall be received which complains of any undue conduct on the part of the returning officer without having the recognizances attached and the nature of those recognizances declared. Hon. members must know that these recognizances provided not only the payment of the expenses which any person called upon to defend anything complained of in the petition may cause, not merely the witnesses in the case, but any person whos conduct may be necessary to defend and the returning-officer had also to be present and offer any valid objections he might have in the striking of the Committee for examining the case. Not merely was this the fact, but the recognizances had so be put in before the Select Committee, and certain protection had to be given to the returning-officer. The general Committee had no power to enten into an investigation. He contended that the petition was a petition against the returning-officer, not affecting the privileges of the House and could not therefore be sent before a Committee that was not sworn. In support of this, he quoted English precedent. If it were true that, as he held it was, the meaning which the hon. gentleman opposite had put upon the petition, the complaint was of an undue election. The returning-officer, as he had already said, had a right to be present at the striking of the Committee. He raised a question of order, and contended, there being an election petition, it should not be presented to the House before fourteen days have expired subsequent to a notice being served on the returning-officer to attend as provided by the statute.

Mr. Blake said the hon. gentleman had been referring to the reception of the petition, but this petition had been received.

Mr. Cameron—It cannot be by law.

Mr. Blake said that if it had been received improperly the proper course for the hon. gentlemen to take would be to move that the proceedings be rescinded; but the course taken by the hon. gentleman was extremely peculiar. It was entirely indifferent to him (Mr. Blake) whether he moved that this petition be referred to a committee, or that the poll-books be referred. Had the gentleman taken exception to the reception of the petition the other day, that question would have been properly discussed upon the motion for its reception; and had the House been pleased to reject the petition it would not in the slightest degree have interfered with the motion which he could make according to the practice of the House. He referred to the proceedings in the Essex and Lotbiniere case as an illustration of his remarks.

Mr. Cameron held that no election petition could, under the statue, be received by the House.

Mr. Edgar referred to the case in England in 1851, in connection with the Derby election. In this case a petition had been presented complaining of an undue return, but it was thrown out. Another petition, complaining of frauds on the part of the returning officer, was received and referred to a special committee for investigation. In the debate, Lord John Russell, and Mr. Walpole and others, took the ground that the jurisdiction of the House to act in such matters was not taken away by the Grenville Act. This petition was similar to the one now under consideration, as he showed by reading both and comparing them. He cited the opinions of Lord John Russell in favour of the reference to a Committee of such petition.

Mr. Cameron said the petition was referred in that case under a special statute, which did not exist here.

Mr. Blake—What of that?

Mr. Edgar said that in the debate in reference to the petition, the ground taken was that the House had an inherent and unalienable right to order the investigation of questions of this kind.

Mr. Bergin observed that in 1858 the Government had the power to appoint returning officers, and, in every case complained of, these returning officers had returned the candidates favorable to the Ministry. He referred to several of those cases, and expressed the hope that a law would be passed this session which would prevent such frauds in future.

Mr. Joly said the question was, had the House the right to deal with the conduct of its returning officers, and if so was this a case in which it should exercise it? He held the affirmative in both cases, The list of voters itself was evidence enough for the House to demand an investigation. He read over the list of names which were of Polish and Russian stamp, much to the amusement of the House.

Mr. Blain held that whether the petition was referred or not, the House had a right to order an investigation. There was evidence enough before the House to justify the investigation.

Sir John Macdonald said that gentlemen were wrong in discussing the merits of the question after the point of order was raised. That point alone should be discussed until it was decided by Mr. Speaker. He went on to argue that if the petition was received contrary to law, the House would at once rue that. In case of great importance that the practice of Parliament should be preserved, but in case of still greater importance that the law of the land should not be infringed upon. Under the law, as stated by the member for Cardwell, the motion of the gentleman opposite would not only be in direct contravention of the practice of Parliament, but it would be in direct opposition to the statutory law of the land. No Parliamentary practice could override the statute. He agreed with the opinion of the hon. member for Cardwell, such if the reception of the petition was contrary to practice, he thought the House must also coincide with that opinion. On the other hand he had no personal objection, nor did he suppose there was any objection on the score of Parliamentary practice, to the course which his hon. friend opposite had intimated he was to take. It would be a mere question of expenditure. There was a great deal to be said on both sides On one side his friend opposite could say that there was the precedent afforded the House by the Government in the Peterboro election case, and why he might ask, was not the same course to be taken in this also. On the other hand, it could be argued that the House was by the motion of the hon. gentleman opposite asked to pronounce judgment on the case of the returning officer, before he had been awarded an opportunity of stating his case. With regard to what had been said by an hon. gentleman to the effect that it was a clear case of fraud, he would like to point out the difficulty which would arise in the case if that same gentleman were appointed a member of the Committee for trying that case. How could the hon. gentleman try the merits of the case, when he had confessed himself already prejudiced concerning it? That was the very objection to bringing these matters before the House, whereby any injustice might be done any of the parties interested. Tuesday next was the fourteenth day of the meeting of this House, and before that date any election petition, at least as far as the provinces of Ontario and Quebec were concerned, could not be introduced. He could not say whether or not a petition was going to be presented concerning the South Renfrew case, but from what he had heard stated he supposed it at least likely. After the date referred to the enquiry into the conduct, not only of the returning officer, but of the deputies, pollclerks, and even the electors, could if necessary be fully enquired into, and it would be the duty of the Committee to bring these persons before them, reporting to this House their opinion of the conduct of the returning officer. The House would then be in a position to act judiciously and not upon mere ex parte statements. He thought it would be the duty of the Speaker to rule the motion out of order, and then it would be for his hon. friend to follow up that decision with the motion he had intimated he would move in such an event. He had himself not the slightest doubt the hon. member for South Renfrew conscientiously considered himself duly returned, but he (Sir John Macdonald) was equally certain that if there was any error, irregularity or fraud in the matter, that gentleman had no part in them. If the rules of the House would allow of it, he had no doubt his hon. friend, the member for South Renfrew would give his personal assurance

ADVERTISE IN THE "EXAMINER,"

The Largest, Cheapest, and the Best Paper in the County.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETERBORO', MARCH. 20th., 1873.

Editorial Items.

Peterborough Gas Co.

☞ Parties who have not paid their Gas Bills will please call and settle the same with the Secretary, Mr. Fred. E. Bell, at the office of D. W. Dumble, Esq., Solicitor.—March 19th, 1873.

☞ We have sent several slips of accounts to parties, showing their state of indebtedness; their kind attention is invited, as money is needed to pay men's wages, paper and ink accounts, rent, taxes, &c. Our accounts are small, but 1,000 of them now scattered thro' the Country, if in our hands, would enable us to meet liabilities punctually and relieve us from uneasiness, while the payment of them would not materially affect our kind patrons. It only requires us to refer to these things to demonstrate their reasonableness, and ensure attention.

Change of Business.

Messrs. William & John Dixon have succeeded to the business of Messrs. Johnston & Dixon, Mr. Johnston having retired. the business is still carried on in the same place.

Splendid Residence.

Mr. Ullyott of the Firm of Ullyott & Sadlier is preparing to erect a splendid residence, on the old Foley lot, this summer.

Annexation.

We have jurst learned the result of the proposed amendments to the Bill for uniting Ashburnham and Peterborough. The whole trouble was caused by the unwillingness of the Town Council to grant an extension of time to the Railway Company. The Council, however, aver that they are willing to grant any reasonable extension of time if the Company do not ask the $40,000 till the road is in running order.

Re-Baptised.

The Northern Light has changed hands and assumed a new name, that of the Times. It is now a 36 column paper and controlled by a Joint Stock Company.

Contested Seats.

The electors of Addington are dissatisfied with the action of Mr. Shibley in the vote on contested seats, especially in the West Peterboro case.

Changed Hands.

Messrs. Hall & Conner have purchased the stock in trade of Mr. Robt. Paterson, who retires on account of ill health. The business will still be conducted in the same place, where all who require them, can be furnished with good understandings for the sloppy weather now in fashion—Read their advertisement.

Prince Edward Island and Confederation.

The Parliament of this Island has appealed to the people to see whether they desire to join the Confederation or not.

Forgery.

The Globe of Friday charges Mr. Dodge of North York of forging letters of good character for himself. He, Mr. Dodge, having written letters, it is alleged, that purported to be signed by a Dr. Clark of Elizabeth, N.Y. and by Canon Ramsay of Newmarket. If true, Mr. Dodge proves himself to be a dodger—surely Collegiate Institute.

A master is engaged to teach the modern languages, as well as classics in the Collegiate Institute. He comes highly recommended by Mr. McLelland, Inspector of High Schools.

Railway Bonuses.

Both Cavan and Manvers have refused to vote the bonuses for the Ontario and Quebec Railway,

Suicide.

A man named Mark Scheele, aged 74, residing with Mr. Wm Calvert of Marposa committed suicide on Friday last, by hanging himself.

Saw Mill for Sale.

Mr. Boyd of Bobcaygeon, offers for sale, a Saw Mill and a site for a saw mill, at Bobcaygeon, and also timber limits of considerable extent.

Boiler Explosion at Coboconk.

At two o'clock on Saturday week, the boiler in Cook & Clarke's Mill exploded. John Leroy, postmaster. Jas. Bailey a farmer, just come for lumber, and Samuel a teamster who had just stepped into the mill, and a boy named Reese, were all killed. The boy was blown 60 feet from where he stood. Wm Hamilton and Philip Drobet were severely injured. The foreman was standing beside the boiler, and by standing still escaped injury.

Lumbering.

The shanties are breaking up. On Thursday evening last, the men almost took possession of the Music Hall, to the no small annoyance of the citizens of the town who foolishly imagined they had secured reserved seats. Some of the disappointed ones were seen looking two ways in consternation because of the unprecedented position they found themselves in. Why not get that New Hall built at once? that people might have an opportunity of enjoying themselves at Concerts, etc.

The Otonabee Mills.

Mr. Rogers can supply flour, oatmeal, groats, pollard, chop, Indian meal, etc., at the Otonabee Mills. See his advertisement.

New Water Works.

Mr. Calcutt, in the last Review, recommends Lannin's stove pipes for water pipes for water works, as he tested them somewhat when boring for salt. There is every reason to believe that Lannin's stove pipes would not hold water unless well stopped at both ends: indeed he never intended that they should, or he would have provided against the contingencies that at present exist. Lannin, however, is ready to supply pipes on short notice, whether for smoke pipes or water works.

Extension of Limits.

Mr. Peter Hamilton is preparing to enlarge his premises, this season, and to encrease his business, he has the material furnished for the foundation of a very large workshop. The proprietor of the Agricultural Foundry is not going to be behind in the race for public favor.

Improvements.

The Bridge Committee have erected two commodious sentry boxes, one on each end of the new iron bridge. There are two windows each for someone to look out both ways at once to trap those who forget the necessity of moderate driving over the bridge. Let all who go home with vision somewhat dimmed by infirmities, real or artificial, look out for the men in the watch towers.

Personal.

Mr. Donald Gillander of South Monaghan, left for British Columbia yesterday morning. He intends to see for himself, and if the climate, soil and other things suit him, his family will follow him, perhaps this season or next. Mr. Gillander was doing well in Canada, but thinks that the climate and soil of British Columbia may be better than even here.

Bond Macdonald & Elder's Advertisement.

This enterprising firm is again buying largely for the Spring and Summer trade. Yearly, since they commenced trade they have been increasing their business, and this year they are doing still more. Yesterday we noticed immense packages of new goods before their establishment.

West Durham.

Mr. E B. Wood has appeared before the electors of West Durham and has received the most cheering assurances of success. Mr. Glen of the Joseph Hall works, Oshawa, is reported as unwilling to allow himself to be made the tool of the John A. party in opposing Mr. Wood Opposition is useless, any way.

Dissatisfied.

The Brantford Courier is not satisfied with the settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund Debt. The Port Hope Times thinks better terms should have been given to that town, and the Cobourg Sentinel also complains These towns think that because they were so deeply in debt all should have been forgiven. They should rather be thankful that so much has been wiped out.

Threshing Machines.

Messrs Mowry & Forsyth of Ashburnham are this week reminding the farming community, that the excellent prospects for an abundant harvest, will necessitate an increased demand for good Threshing Machines, which it is well known those gentlemen make. They also do all kinds of repairing to machines, Reapers, Mowers &c. orders given early will be filled early—no doubt.

Furniture.

Mr. George Tanner has rebuilt his Furniture rooms and fitted up machinery for manufacturing furniture. Mr. Tanner has a large stock and intends to keep it continually renewed. As he is long and favourably known in the furniture, business, and now that he is enabled to announce the opening up again after the fire, he may expect all old friends and also a great many new ones to call and se him

Taverns, &c.

Already certificate have been granted, and money paid, for 4 saloons, 16 first class and 11 second class Taverns, and 7 Shop Licenses, in all 38, bringing a Revenue of $3,707. It is expected that there will be four more Licenses granted for the Town, perhaps more than four. That would be 42 in all, enough to pay the charities of the year.

Skating Carnival.

The great skating Carnival of the Season comes off to-night, on the Metropolitan Rink. All in Dress Costumes

Varitie Troupe.

Wheeler & Redmond's varitie troupe, will appear in Music Hall, to-morrow and Saturday Evening's. They have been before Toronto audiences and are favorably spoken of.

Building Already.

Mr. Cox, has men at work on the new Bank, corner of Brock and George Street. It is to be completed by the first of June we understand.

New Grocery Store.

Professor Armstrong has opened out a Grocery store in Henthorn's Block, in the shop lately occupied by Mr. Bucket, where he will carry on a large Grocery. business. Give him a call.

The Cobourg Railroad.

This road is progressing very favorably the grading of the road is completed, from Rice Lake to Mud Lake, or nearly so. The bridges (except Rice Lake) are also well nigh finished. The ties are scattered along the road and the iron from Mud Lake to Morgans in Otonabee. And also a considerable distance northward from Rice Lake Eleven piers 40 by 40 feet have been placed in the centre of the Lake, and 31 piers have been built on the north shore of the Lake. About 50,000 cubic feet of timber have been taken out in Harvey, we understand, for the bridging. and there is timber now lying on the banks of the Otonabee River for the same purpose. The company is forcing the work as fast as possible, and Mr. Barber, the superintendant of the works is doing all in his power to have the road in running order by June,—except as to Rice Lake—which will require almost another season to complete. Already, we are assured, $160,000 have been expended, since last October, on labour and material, and every effort is being made to push the work forward. Very wisely, the Company have determined to make the Rice Lake bridge a permanent structure this time. They found that it was impossible to drive piles in the old embankments they were so full of stones, and hence the delay in constructing a temporary bridge. In the end however the delay will prove a saving of money, and will secure a better and more permanent work, with less dangero of accidents. A month of delay or even three months will be nothing, if when built, the public feel secure when passing over it. The company's interests and the peoples are both secured by making the Rice Lake bridge safe. Nor will the people of Peterboro' ever regret dealing with the company in a liberal spirit.

THE INCORPORATION OF THE ORANGE SOCIETY.

This question is being raised to do duty in the political agitations consequent on the sittings of the Legislative of the Dominion and of ontario. The question is not one of vital importance to the order, as it could exist and flourish as well without, as it will by being incorporated. Those spirits who are instrumental in causing the agitation are more the tools of Toryism than the friends of Orangeism. The only property, orangemen require to hold is the ground on which their Lodge rooms are erected, and perhaps their regalia and Lodge room fixtures. These things they have had always hitherto, and it is much to be feared, that in the future their poverty, in this respect will be as manifest as it is this day. The object of the society is not to amass property or hoard up money. It being more or less a charitable Institution, will always find objects of charity on whom to expend both charity and sympathy.

Their progress does not depend on their being an Incorporated body, but on the righteousness of their cause and and the uprightness of their intention in advancing the principles of toleration, and peace and good will among men.

The cage of the law may protect a society, or a man whose object is not for the weal of our fellows, but it cannot ensure respect either to a man or an association, unless the man, or association, is worthy of respect, in a moral, religious or social point of view. An act of Parliament may shield an association of men, (who could not otherwise hold property, one and beyond the law) but they can never secure more than a mere legal standing.

The true way to establish orangeism in Canada, is to remove it as far as possible from all political influences and considerations. To induce the best men to join its ranks, men who by their sobriety, morality, and piety, will shed to the world that the object of the association is to promote holiness, truth, and peace, and to prove by the toleration of the members of the society everywere, that while by their union they seek to secure their own rights, the blessings of political and religious liberty, they are ready to concede to other men every privilege or right they would claim for themselves. The very men who are seeking the incorporation of the society, are using all the means in their power to make it a close conservative association, and thus constitute it a political institution. They seek not the advancement of the order but the advancement of a few designing demagogues who have crept into it, and who seek to make it the means of elevating themselves to positions where they can live at the public crib and laugh at the gullibility of those whom they have used as stepping stones to power and good living. The Book that orangeism profess to revenerate and whose teachings the profess to respect, unmistakeably inculcates living at peace with all men, but especially with those of the household of faith

Let us see how far those men respect the teachings of the Book they take with them on all occasions of public celebrations.

In a late number of the Patriot, professedly published in the interests of orangeism by a hypocritical canting Tory we find the following communication accompanied by this extract by the Editor.

To the Editor of the Patriot:

SIR AND BROTHER,—Enclosed you have a list of the County Officers for the County Lodge of Muskoka:

G. F. Gow, Esq., J. P., Master; Thos. Scott, D. C. Master; John Armstrong, Parry Sound, Chaplain; G. C. Hazlewood, Port Carling, Treasurer; T. M. Bowerman, Bracebridge, Secretary; W. F. Hanes, Huntsville, Director of Ceremonies; Thomas Hedley, Parry Sound, County Lecturer.

I am sorry to inform you that we have Grit Orangemen here as well as you have in Toronto, who turned out with all their might to defeat Bro. G. Gow, as County Master, a Brother who has done more for the cause of Orangeism in this part of the county than all the Grit Orangemen in the District, but they were defeated.

They took the advantage of Bro. Gow being in Toronto attending to our County business, and I must say, "that Grit Orangemen are a curse to our Institution, and the sooner we have it purged of such men the better it will be for the Order.

By inserting the above in your valuable Orange paper, you will oblige

A TRUE BLUE,
And no Grit.

Bracebridge, Feb. 8th, 1873.

We regret to learn that traitors have been admitted to Orange Lodges in Muskoka. Radicals are the natural enemies of our Order, and should not be received into any loyal and respectable institution. The great body of our people, everywhere are sound. Take the Dominion through and we have scarcely one Radical for every hundred Orangemen. In Toronto we have a very few Grits. Surely the leading Orangemen in the Dominion should interfere and make it impossible for Radicals to enter. Wherever they are found disorder and contention follow their footsteps. To effect any thing the Orangemen must be a united Conservative body.—[EDITOR OF THE PATRIOT.]

From the above letter and extract we learn that Tory Orangemen would be as intolerant as the greatest bigots of the dark ages, or of the Inquisition.

Mark the words: "Radicals are the natural enemies of our order." And again, "Surely the leading Orangemen in the "Dominion should interfere and make it "impossible for Radicals to enter."

In the early history of the Association, its object and the aim of the promoters, were self defence and the defence of the rights of all men, to secure to all men the right to worship God according to the dictates of their best judgement, without fear of molestation.

These things have been secured, and hence Orangeism now is, and ought to be a truly charitable institution, whose members would ever be ready to maintain the first principles of the order, if any body of men sought to infringe them. Would Tories maintain its charitable aspect? or are they the teachers of love, truth, and justice. as the mottoes of the order?

The above extract is sufficient to condemn them in this respect, and to prove that but for the intelligence and liberality of this 19th century, they would not be a whit behind the bigots of the inquisition.

What more could they say of Roman Catholics! Nor could they more pointedly call for the expulsion from the institution of Pio Nono himself. The narrow minded bigots who thus seek to control the institution deserve the execrations of all friends of the order. They can only be in it for the vilest mercenary motives. They would turn paradise itself into a Tory pandemonium if they could. And they appear rather to desire to be alone in misery than associate with even protestant reformers, last reason and moderation should be respected by the members, in which event the craft of the demagogues would be in danger.

We see no cause for alarm in the minds of the Roman Cathobe element of our population in the matter of the Incorporation of the society. The extract above given proves conclusively that the movement has sprung from Conservatism, and that Tory Orangemen, are as violently opposed to Reformers as to Roman Catholics. They seek to make the Order a Conservative clique to promote their own selfishness, and only dread the presence of Reformers in the Order, because they are obstacles in the way of those designing men who have obtained admittance into it, in the same manner, and with the same intent as the wolf enters the sheep fold—to kill and eat. All interested in the welfare of the Order would do well to consider who it is that advises, "before following the advice," for however plausible the counsel may seem, if the persons who give it be crafty knaves we may be assured that they intend to serve themselves in it, more than us, if not to erect something to their own advantage out of the ruin of the Order, and at the cost of eternal strife among the brethren.

WINNIPEG has closed the session of the Local Legislature of Manitoba with somewhat unusual honors, by administering a coat of tar to the Speaker. It is doubtful if that gentleman entirely appreciated the unusual honors with which he was invested.

CONTESTED ELECTIONS.

On Monday, John A. Macdonald succeeded with his Committee, to which was referred the Peterboro Election Outrage case to get them to report in favor of seating the sitter to the Macdonald Committee, and this was decided in the House by a majority of twenty-five.

This is what the party had determined on for some time. They have thus succeeded in depriving the people of their just rights, and have left the West Riding of Peterboro virtually without a representative until the case shall be decided by the Committee.

The injury thus inflicted on the people of this Riding and their representative is of small concern to men who are ready to sacrifice every principle of justice and of fair play to retain power.

Shall Mr. Clarton take his seat? has been again and again propounded to us during the last twenty-four hours. Until he has done so we are unable to hazard an opinion. Being disposed to give Mr Clarton credit for being a man of honor, a gentleman who would spurn to take advantage of the wrong doing of any man to obtain a temporary seat in the House of Commons or anywhere else, we must await the developement of results at Ottawa.

No new revelation will surprise us, and our readers may be prepared to accept reports as to his bowing before the Juggernaut of Conservatism in the person of John A. for the sake of the honor of attaching M.P. to his name for a few days, as justice cannot be long delayed.

Will he take the seat? Just imagine Mr. O'Riely sitting for Renfrew, altho' there by the most vile and almost unheard of proceedings. The votes polled for him exceed the whole male population of the Townships, where the names must have been copied from the directory of some Prussian City, and still Mr. O'Reily takes the seat. Mr. Clarton, it is true, knows that Mr. Bertram obtained the majority of votes, and he also knows that on the morning after the polling, he congratulated Mr. Bertram as the successful candidate, and yet in the face of all this he went to Ottawa to await orders, and, if by chance only, sit a few hours as M. P., for West Peterboro. It is true that Mr. Clarton did not appear before the Committee demanding the seat as his legal right, but he was there by counsel, and was outside waiting to slip in under the meanest pretence. In view of these things we shall not wonder to learn that he has taken the seat, not his seat.

In a late issue we referred to the course of our Contemporary, the Review, in condemning the present Ontario Government for paying John Carrol's expenses that he had incurred in carrying out the orders of the John Sandfield Government. We then referred also to the cause of Mr. Carrol's being dismissed, and a settlement refused by John Sandfield, viz:—because he (Carrol) refused to canvass for them in the then election. These are facts that were well understood by every man in the county then, and had Mr. Carrol worked for that Government he would still be feeding at the public Crib

In our remarks we contrasted the action of the Conservative Government in reference to men in their employ, with the action of the present government, asking that if Mr. Carrol was dismissed for non-interference in a Political Contest, what should be done with Crown Land Agents reported to have interfered actively against the Government employing them; and referred to the Crown Land Agent on the Bobcaygeon Road, whom a correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent accused of active interference during the last Election Contest.

Mr. Graham has since written us, denying that he took any part whatever in the last election, as he was in the extreme parts of the County till the polling day, and that even on that day he took no part whatever to seek to influence any man to vote for or against any candidate.

Not being desirous of injuring Mr. Graham, nor of placing him in a false light before our readers, we can only say that the accusation originated not with us, but through the correspondence in the Independent. We have made as diligent enquiry as in our power, as to the grounds for the charge against Mr. Graham, and are glad to be able to say that we have received no proof of his having in anyway canvassed during the late contest.

We know he is Conservative in politics, but we would be very sorry indeed if that should in any way cause the present Government to interfere with him as Agent, nor do we imagine that they will. We regretted the action of John Sandfield Macdonald in removing him once without any reasonable cause, and we would as strongly regret any injustice that should be done to him, under present circumstances.

The course of the Conservative press in bringing charges against the friends of the present Government is sure to have its counterpart in the Reform press, and in the mutual recriminations the innocent sometimes suffer alike with the guilty.

Mr. Graham is well spoken of by both parties, who do business with him, and we have no reason to believe anything unfavorable to him.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

During the late contest for the Dominion Parliament, we were again and again assured that the John A. Macdonald Government would be sustained by as large majorities as at previous periods of his political history. Their predictions have been found false. and the writers become false prophets. So weak indeed is the John A. Macdonald Government, that after the division on the West Peterboro Election Outrage, Ministers dare not count another division, as their followers showed signs of restiveness that threatened defeat. Even the address refers to the merest common place things and foreshadowed nothing indicating statement or such a hold on the new members as would warrant either boldness or confidence sufficient to shape a policy or control the Legislation of the Country.

Judging from the weakness already displayed, few would be surprised to find that they have been defeated on the first question of importance.

The signs of tremulousness manifested in the backing down of John A. Macdonald and his followers on the Muskoka Election Fraud, are premonitions of their dissolution, and the delays of the West Peterboro Election Case is only another symptom of the feeling of insecurity that prevails on the Ministerial benches. There is no mere boasting now. The debates that have taken place have been seriously damaging to the Government, and afford an opportunity of proving to the Country that the talent, the acumen, the intelligence of the House are all with the Opposition.

By cunning and an undue amount of caution, they may manage to hold on a little longer, but the Country will demand more than mere retention of office, or a weakly defence of their position. There is evidently no vigor or life in their leader. Hours has lost his influence. Hincks has ceased to be respected by any number of the members, and the sitting for some 17 or 18 constituents, robs him of the little respect hitherto paid him. Such creatures as the member for East Peterboro, will no doubt trade through any amount of dirt to aid in supporting them, but such men add no moral strength to a Government, but are rather an incubus on their party and serve as a stone around the neck, to sink them the deeper, rather than relieve them in the time of need.

In the words of a contemporary—

"The speech upon the whole is the "saddest confession of ministerial weak-"ness that we have heard for many a "day. There is a peculiar suggestion of "a fagged out administration conveyed "by every paragraph. To this it is that "the strong Government of the last Par-"liament has come."

The Country will hail with pleasure the overthrow of a party that has done so much to destroy the credit of Canada by sinking her in almost incredible debts, by selling her territory and her honor to her American neighbors, for the loan of a few paltry pounds, and who have, in their dying struggles, sought to hand over to their enemies 50,000,000 acres of the best soil of the Country. The entire area of England and Scotland is only a little more than 56,000,000 acres. This territory supports a population amounting to nearly the population of the whole United States, and yet Sir John A. Macdonald would hand over to Americans a territory equal in extent and fertility, and destined yet to be the homes of the people who will control the destinies of North America. Can anyone wonder then that their days are numbered, and that Canadians, loyal, patriotic Canadians, who would not sell their country for a mess of pottage, view with pleasure, the symptoms of weakness already manifested at Ottawa, and are hopeful that ere long the destinies of this great and expanding Dominion will be in the hands of men who will not fear to take an honorable and well defined course in steering the ship of state from the rocks and reefs to which she is at present, and has been for some time, drifting.

HOME MANUFACTURES.

MESSRS. WHYTE & DAVIS.

We yesterday paid a visit to the New Machine Shop and Foundry of Messrs. Whyte & Davis, corner of Brock and Aylmer Streets, of this Town and as we propose giving our readers an idea of the manufactures of our Town, we take this establishment this week.

THE BUILDINGS

occupied by the Messrs. Whyte & Davis are new, having been erected late last season. They are of Brick: the main building being a three story one, and is being fitted up with Machinery for an extensive business.

THE FIRST FLAT

is the Machine Shop, which is very large and when all the machinery is in place they will be prepared to push through a very large amount of work. Several men are now engaged on various machines, and portions of machinery, but especially on ploughs for the approaching season. In the

BLACKSMITH DEPARTMENT

there are four fires, two of which are used at present for finishing ploughs, one for repairing of all sorts: and one is used for preparing iron bolts &c. for the bridges on the Cobourg & Marmora Railway.

REAPERS AND MOWERS.

In the foundry we saw the first castings of their new reapers and mowers. The firm have gone to a considerable expense in enlarging and fitting up for the purpose of going into this branch of manufacture, and are now preparing to supply this section of the Country with those machines, which we have every reason to believe will equal those manufactured in any part of the Dominion.

The business at present is directed principally to the manufacture and repairing of agricultural implement, such as Reapers and Mowers, Sawing Machines, Grain Crushers, Seed Sowers, Ploughs, Gang Ploughs, Cultivators, Scufflers, Straw Cutters, Sulky and Revolving Rakes, &c., but their special attention will be given we understand to the manufacture of reapers and mowers

They employ 35 men in the Machine shop and foundry and have from 20 to 25 men engaged on on bridge building on the Cobourg railway: employing therefore about 55 to 60 men in all, but when their shops are in full blast there will be a larger number. The wages of these must be a considerable sum yearly, perhaps not less than $16,000 to $20,000, besides the other outlays for material. Such men as the Messrs. Whyte & Davis, are benefactors to the farming community and deserve their patronage and support, and we trust that the farmers of this county will not forget to patronize them, when they purchase implements as theirs are likely to be complete in every respect, while the fact that these men are at home with them, and purchasers can thus have any part replaced in case of accident, or repairs done any time they come to town, without necessity of sending to the uttermost ends of the earth for that purpose.

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER.

{ Anaheim, California,

Dear EXAMINER.—Owing to the state of the roads in the winter season, and the delays attending the delivery of mail matter on this coast, I refrained from writing you in Feb., as I intended to do when I wrote you last. Now however your paper is on time again, I conclude the main avenues are again open. When the new year dawned upon us it promised fair, we having a fine rain at that time, as I stated in my last. During the first part of the month all went well, and the faces of the tillers of the soil were bright in expectation. The weather very warm, and that great pest in this country, the housefly gives great annoyance. They remain the year round, and consequently, perpetual warfare is urged against them by the housewife. The latter part of the month was colder and no more rain, many of the farmers who were ploughing for the first time, had to quit, the ground getting too dry.

The faces of the people engaged then began to wear a forlorn appearance, and worse than all came on, one of those heavy wind storms which is a constant terror to farmers generally, and to not a few old women As this is one of the great drawbacks in this country, I must now endeavour to describe it to your readers. We got little warning of its approach, the day before was a nice warm day, the wind in the afternoon blew from ever point, remaining only a short time anywhere. Some time next morning, the wind commenced to blow through a gap in the mountainins. east of us. There being no rain the top soil was dry, and that portion of the earth's surface moves with the same velocity as the wind, [illegible] to office, but the Country will demand more than mere retention of office, or a weakly defence of their position. There is evidently no vigor or life in their leader. Hours has lost his influence. Hincks has ceased to be respected by any number of the members, and the sitting for some 17 or 18 constituents, robs him of the little respect hitherto paid him. Such creatures as the member for East Peterboro, will no doubt trade through any amount of dirt to aid in supporting them, but such men add no moral strength to a Government, but are rather an incubus on their party and serve as a stone around the neck, to sink them the deeper, rather than relieve them in the time of need.

In the words of a contemporary—

"The speech upon the whole is the "saddest confession of ministerial weak-"ness that we have heard for many a "day. There is a peculiar suggestion of "a fagged out administration conveyed "by every paragraph. To this it is that "the strong Government of the last Par-"liament has come."

The Country will hail with pleasure the overthrow of a party that has done so much to destroy the credit of Canada by sinking her in almost incredible debts, by selling her territory and her honor to her American neighbors, for the loans of a few paltry pounds, and who have, in their dying struggles, sought to hand over to their enemies 50,000,000 acres of the best soil of the Country. The entire area of England and Scotland is only a little more than 56,000,000 acres. This territory supports a population amounting to nearly the population of the whole United States, and yet Sir John A. Macdonald would hand over to Americans a territory equal in extent and fertility, and destined yet to be the homes of the people who will control the destinies of North America. Can anyone wonder then that their days are numbered, and that Canadians, loyal, patriotic Canadians, who would not sell their country for a mess of pottage, view with pleasure, the symptoms of weakness already manifested at Ottawa, and are hopeful that ere long the destinies of this great and expanding Dominion will be in the hands of men who will not fear to take an honorable and well defined course in steering the ship of state from the rocks and reefs to which she is at present, and has been for some time, drifting.

HOME MANUFACTURES.

MESSRS. WHYTE & DAVIS.

We yesterday paid a visit to the New Machine Shop and Foundry of Messrs. Whyte & Davis, corner of Brock and Aylmer Streets, of this Town and as we propose giving our readers an idea of the manufactures of our Town, we take this establishment this week.

THE BUILDINGS

occupied by the Messrs. Whyte & Davis are new, having been erected late last season. They are of Brick: the main building being a three story one, and is being fitted up with Machinery for an extensive business.

THE FIRST FLAT

is the Machine Shop, which is very large and when all the machinery is in place they will be prepared to push through a very large amount

CHICAGO AS IT IS

(From our own Correspondent.)

I have had a splendid time in this City since I came here, sight-seeing, &c. I have been all over the burnt district, and in fact all over the City and suburbs.—There has been an immense amount of building done during the past year. The City is nearly all rebuilt, and the, buildings are finer and larger than previous to the great fire. The new buildings are mostly built of a light free stone, something similar to the stone used in the Bank of Montreal, in Peterboro, only of a lighter color. There has been no wooden buildings put up in the business portion of the City, as it is contrary to the law. There are quite a number of iron, brick, and marble buildings, but the most of the business blocks and all of the new hotels are built of stone. In the Northern portion of the City the new buildings are made of whatever material the owner may choose, and there is now as good an opening for another conflagration as previous to the fire.

Nearly all of the streets are being raised several feet in the burnt district. At present the side walks are several feet higher than the street, as each builder built his sidewalk according to the new grade. The centre of the streets has not been filled in yet, and as every person is allowed to throw whatever he pleases into the streets to fill up, they are at present in a condition of filth and mud beyond my powers of description.

Any person wanting to build can take possession of as much of the street as he may require, without asking permission from any quarter; consequently, travelling for pleasure or on business is anything but agreeable. Owing to the City being built in a vast mud hole on the edge of a perfectly level prairie that extends for miles back from the lake shore, material for filling up the streets is very valuable, and has to be brought from a long distance. All of the mud dredged out of the river, and all of the refuse from the factories and workshops is used to fill in.

There are no stone pavements except the curbstones and the sidewalks. The centre of the streets are paved with wood, it is said to last nearly as long as stone, and it is far preferable for various reasons in a City like this, the wooden pavement is laid on a flooring that is first placed on the ground after having been painted with coal tar. The blocks are about 10 inches long and set on end in rows about an inch apart, the space being afterwards filled in with coal tar and gravel. I don't think it is so healthy as stone, but as there is no stone here they are obliged to use wood.

Previous to the fire there was some very handsome trees on the streets in front of private residences, as the they shared the fate of all that was combustible, they went skywards with the rest, leaving scarce a vestige behind. They are busy just now on some of the streets where the wealthy reside, transplanting large full grown trees from the forests of Wisconsin and Michigan. The favourites seem to be maples—handsomest of all,—and elms. Some of the trees are very large, and cost from $200 to $250, each, and are warranted to grow. They are taken from the woods with as much of the ground frozen around the roots as they can transport. Some of them are from 12 to 18 inches in diameter. The city parks and many of the private grounds are being planted in this manner.

There has not been very many fine residences erected yet, as in this part of the world business comes before pleasure. They are preparing their gardens with ornamental trees and shrubs, so that when they can build, they will have nice places.

Business of all kinds is rather dull owing to the stringency of the money market, but as navigation will soon open, they are looking forward to a revival in trade.

There is great dissatisfaction in the West with the transportation companies, on account of the high rates of freight, going east and coming west. Some of the extreme western farmers have been burning corn for fuel during the past winter, of course if they could have shipped it east they would have done so, but owing to the high rates it would not pay.

If the Canadian people were true to themselves and would quit their everlasting wrangle about nothing, and do something in earnest about enlarging the Canadian Canals, they would build up a trade and make times more prosperous than they have ever been before in the history of Canada. The people of the West are in favor of the Canadian route to the sea, and if they only could, they would send every bushel of grain that they have to ship via Montreal. But owing to the smallness of the locks on the Welland Canal, their large vessels are unable to go down or come up. The days of small vessels are past on these lakes, it is found more profitable to use large vessels. Some of their vessels if they could only get to sea, are large enough to circumnavigate the globe.

I have been intending ever since I came here to have written you a long letter concerning things that I know would have been interesting to you, but my time for remaining here has been so unexpectedly shortened that I must defer it until some future occasion.

Yours &c.,

RASKABOMAGOG.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

Monday, March 10, 1873.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment.

All the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

A circular from the excutive officers of the Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League enclosing petitions for the Governor, General, the Senate, House of Commons, the Lieutenant Governor, and House of Assembly of the Province of Ontario, which they hoped would be adopted, was, on the motion of Councillor Brownscombe, seconded by Councillor Howden—Received and read.

Messrs. Chas Braely and Geo Hoocy, Assessors, sent in their resignation, stating their reasons for doing so. Received and laid over for further consideration.

BY-LAWS.

Appointing Poundkeepers, Fenceviewers, Overseers of Highways, and Treasurer, were finally passed, and a By-lay to levy a certain sum of money for making a drain as petitioned for, in the township of Monaghan, was read a first time.

An order was given on the Treasurer in favor of Jas Stevenson for 85 cents for a new oil tin and a gallon of oil for the use of the Town Hall.

The Clerk was directed to see the County Clerk respecting the lands belonging to Mr. McMahon and Mrs. McNamara which they report have been sold for taxes, and report to the Council at next meeting of Council.

Council adjourned.—Com.

The Citizen of last evening says that, "A Conservative candidate to oppose E. "B. Wood in South Bruce has been "chosen. He is a gentleman well-known "throughout Ontario in connection with "manufacturing interests of the Province." It will be, no doubt, be an agreeable piece of news for Hon. Mr. Blake to learn that the seat which he represents in parliament here is to become a bone of contention between Mr. Wood and a "manufacturing" gentleman. Perhaps the Citizen mistook South Bruce for West Durham, in which County Mr. Wood will run as the nominee of the Reform Convention, and where, as such, no earthly manufacturer will be able to reach within 400 votes of the head of the polls. Ottawa Times Conservative.

THE CONTESTED ELECTIONS.

(From the Cornwall Freeholder, Conservative)

The first division of the House of Commons was seriously damaging to the Government, but the speaker as that it was not more so. One would think that when the duty of the returning officer was clearly defined and when the House was unanimous as to the correctness of the definition, there would be no difficulty in doing correctly what the Returning Officer had done wrongly. The case o the Peterboro' election was so clearly a question of right and wrong, and the unanimity of the House as to what was right and what was wrong, equally manifest that upon ordinary grounds only one course could present itself to common minds. But the Government were apprehensive of the judgment of the House, and every vote became a consideration of great moment. Hence they could not afford to allow Mr. Bertram to take his seat just yet. The precedents afforded by the practice of the Parliament of Canada were unanimously in favour of the House giving the contested seat to the candidate who was proven by the polling returns to have received a majority of the votes cast. There was no dispute as to the facts of the case; no evidence was required that was not furnished by the poll books before the House, and why a prompt and immediate judgement should not be given in a question that can be answered only by giving more weight to political influence than to conscientious scruples.

But if the vote on the Peterborough case was damaging to the Government, the action of the House upon the Muskoka return, taken on Monday was infinitely more so in its results. The work of demolishing the Government, begun on Friday, would have been completed on Monday but for the determination by the Premier that prudence was the better part of valor. It is clearly on the face of all reports from Ottawa, and the impression was universal in the House on Monday after the debate of that afternoon, that had the Government not backed down they would have been left in a minority. And the manner of their retreat was as ungraceful as that of Bull Run. They came to the House, they entered upon the debate with the full determination to fight the Muskoka as they did the Peterborough case, and the modus operendi by which they came to the acceptance of Mr. Blake's motion was so palpable, so we are informed, as to have excited the contempt of a majority of the House. From all we can learn the chances of Sir John again obtaining full and easy control of the House are not worth risking acceptance even against the heavy odds which the opposition are prepared to give. Even the ministerial organs strive, as strive they may, to conceal their sense of danger of the Government, and to appear jolly under all the circumstances; but the effort is a laboured one, the false exterior is too transparent to conceal the apprehension within.

It is, of course, possible that Sir John may rally his forces and again present a strong front to the House; but he will have to do it quickly or he is gone. Parliamentary support is exceedingly sensitive to a week leadership, and if there is irresoluteness and apparent loss of prestige on the front benches the force at the rear dissolves like snow flakes in Spring time. There is at present weakness and timidity—a loss of their latitude—on the part of ministers, and if they do not very shortly redeem themselves they must go to the other side of the House.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Ottawa Times says:—It is admitted on all sides that the second Parliament of the Dominion is by long odds superior in point of mental calibre to that which went out of existence last year. The new men are far beyond the rule of scarcely mediocre ability which characterized the majority of their predecessors, a proof that the people are advancing in intelligence, and that whereas wealth formerly weighed down the scales, intelligence is becoming more acknowledged to be standard of fitness for Parliamentary honors. We propose briefly from time to time to allude to the principal of the new acquisitions to the House. Among so many, it is difficult to know where to make a beginning. We allude, haphazard, to some of the more important.

Mr Edgar Dewdney, first by virtue of the esteem of his constituency and the distance from which he comes, is the successor of Capt. Houghton, who, as the representative of Yale-Cowteney, B. C., acquired such a favorable reputation during his stay in Ottawa last session. Mr. Dewdney, thought coming among us as a stranger, is making a most excellent impression. He is a man of good parts, well educated, a modest but forcible speaker, and full of that practical knowledge which the hardy pioneers of British Columbia seem to have all acquired. He is a Conservative and strong supporter of the present Government. If this gentleman represents the largest area of territory, the member for North Simcoe, Mr. Herman H. Cook, will contest with him the honor of representing the largest interest as the latter's constituency is the most populous Riding in the Dominion, numbering over 35,000 heads. Mr. Cook is of "Glengarry" stock, and belongs to a family who have given many public men to Canada, his uncle and grandfather having sat for many years in the old Parliament of Canada, and his brother now representing Dundas in the Legislature of Ontario. Mr. Cook, as his name might indicate, is an uncompromising Reformer, and though not possessed of that "resistless eloquence" which betimes occupies so much of the time of the House, is a forcible and practical speaker, and from long experience, thoroughly acquainted with the interests of the country and qualified to give an opinion of weight upon any question affecting them. He succeeds Mr. McCONKEY, as the member for Simcoe, and having known both from boyhood, we are of opinion that the country will be the gainer by the change.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of nature of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in combined preparations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

MY WISH.

BY THE LATE W. MORREGOR.

(By request.)

By the side of some burn at the foot of some glen,
If fortune would grant my desire,
Of a neat little cot, with a-foot and a ben,
From the towns busy throng I'd retire.

With a small plot of ground in the front of my cot,
As a garden myself to ensure,
With a well stocked pantry, my pipe and my pot,
And plenty of books to peruse.

And when the day answer'd with rod, hook and line,
Then up the same burn I would fish,
And if the trout them to take did incline,
No pleasure more fine could I wish.

And in the calm gloaming then home I'd return
To my neat little cot without pain,
And when lulled o'er to sleep by the slow murmuring burn,
I would dream o'er my pleasures again.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Why is love like Scotch plaid? Because it is all stuff and often crossed.

An exchange is talking about "the next world's fair," just as if we didn't have trouble enough with this world's fair

Go to strangers for charity, to acquaintances for advice, and to your relatives for nothing—and you will always have a supply.

"I can't drink liquor," said Bob, "it goes right to my head." "Well, "said Bob's friend, "where could it go with less danger of being crowded."

A man who bought one thousand thousand cigars, on being asked what he had, replied, that they were tickets to a course of lectures to be given by his wife.

A St. Louis editor, in speaking of a brother ink-slinger, says, "He is young yet, but he can sit at his desk and brush the cobwebs from the ceiling with his ears."

"Excuse this bit sarcasm," said Smith to Jones, "but I must say you are an infamous scoundrel." "Pardon this bit of iron—y," said Jones to Smith, as he knocked him down with a poker.

Five of the sweetest words in the English language begin with H, which is only a breath—heart, hope, home, happiness and heaven. Heart is a hope-place, and home is a heart-place.

An affectionate backwoodsman's wife, who looked on while her husband was struggling fiercely with a bear, said afterwards that it was the "only fight she ever saw in which she did not care who won."

A San Francisco widow keeps the skull of her husband in a glass case. She once remarked to a friend who was viewing the remains:—"Alas! how often have I banged those bones with a broomstick. I am sorry for it now."

Kitty, aged three years, was trying to think of a pleasant surprise for her father on his birthday. At last she cried, "I know, mamma, I know!" "What, my dear." "Buy me a little sister without saying anything to Papa.

The following letter, verbatim et literatim, was received by an undertaker, recently, from an afflicted widower:—"Sur—my Wief is ded and Wonts to be berried to-morrw At wŏner klok. M nose wair to dig the hole—by the side of my two Other wiefs—Let it be deep."

A physician, examining a student as to his progress, asked him, "Should a man fall into his well forty feet deep, and strike his head against one of his tools with which he had been digging, what would be your course if called in as a surgeon?" The student replied: "I should advise them to let the man be and fill up the well."

A Philadelphian had a quarrel with his wife. She sweetened her coffee with laudanum. The bereaved husband "realized" on an insurance policy on her life, then recovered heavy damages from the apothecary who sold her the laudanum, and now spends his evenings with a lonely widow who soothes him by singing, "Weep not! we may be happy yet!"

That clerical and lay functions were conjoind, the following old time advertisement will show: "Wanted, for a family who have had bad health, a sober, steady person in the capacity of docter, apothecary, surgeon and man midwife. He must occasionally act as butler and dress hair and wigs. He will be required to read prayers and to preach a sermon every Sunday. A good salary will be given."

An exchange notices a death caused by the accidental falling of a brick upon the head of a man, who was passing under a scaffolding, while a building was being erected. An inquest was held and the and the coroner brought in a verdict as follows: "Death caused by softening of the brain in consequence of the accidental falling of a brick upon the man's head."

A Detroit fellow tried to kiss a girl, when she turned upon him and bit his cheek. The doctor had to burn it with caustic, and otherwise treat it as if it had been bitten by a mad dog. We put this forth as warning to the young men who read this paper. But we suppose it will do little or no good. Probably each one thinks that the girls of his acquaintance won't bite.

A little Danbury boy ran away from school, Monday, to go chest-nuting. During the expedition he fell twice out of one tree to the imminent danger of breaking his neck, was licked by one of the other boys whose breath he materially lessened by stumbling against his stomach, ran a sliver into his knee, and was bitten violently on the neck by a new kind of bug. When he got home, his father anointed him with the boss end of a billiard cue, and the next day at school the teacher escorted him twice around the room by his poorest ear He says that chestnuts are so wormy this year that it don't pay to go after them.

A Matoon, Ill., girl presented her lover with a pair of pulse warmers. "Don't you think this is a little bit premature?" was the return question. "Why?" "Presenting me with a pair of baby stockings before I've got into that line of biz, as it were." The gentle young lady did'nt say one word more, but walked up stairs and told her brother that her lover had insulted her. The brother calmly walked down stairs, opened the front door took the lover by the back of the neck and the weakest part of his pants, and threw him out on the sidewalk, and then danced a breakdown on his head. And the lover doesn't know yet what he had done to arouse this anger. Young ladies should be careful not to make presents which their lovers don't understand the

A Prayer and its Answer.

Father, the way is dark,
Wildly the billows roar,
And my frail storm-tost barque
May never gain the shore.
The waves are in thy hand,
And though fierce tempests lower,
They own their sovereign Lord's command,
My child, fear not their power.

Fear not—I lead the way,
The path, now dark, shall shall shine
Brightly, with many a ray
Of glorious light divine.
Lean on my strong right arm—
My pow er to bless thee proves,
To shield thee from all earthly harm,
To guard thee by my love.

Father, the path is rough,
And weary are my feet,
With thee, not my strength,
Be now thy joy replete.
"Ah! no, not yet, faint one;
Wouldst thou to glory rise
Ere half thy life's short race is run,
Or thou hast won the prize?"

Labor still bravely on,
Trust in thy risen Lord,
So shalt thou gain a crown,
Thy patient toil's reward.
Labor, and watch, and pray,
Be bold, and firm, and strong,
Look for the promised coming day,
The night will pass ere long.

Father, thy will be done,
My heart doth rest in Thee,
Through the Eternal Son,
Who fought the fight for me.
I shall the victory gain
Shall conquer every sin,
And ne'er of earthly loss complain,
If I may Jesus win.

Then on the other side,
Beyond the pearly gate,
Safe from the swelling tide,
Where sainted loved ones wait.
I'll higher raise the song,
Of rapture glad and free,
Honor and praise and power belong
To Him who died for me.

LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

On Saturday last, Mr. Fairbairn gave notice that on Tuesday next, he will move the following resolutions:—

Whereas 369 petitions from upwards of 28,000 inhabitants of this Province have been presented to this Assembly, praying for the passage of an Act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as beverages within this Province.

And Whereas 39 similar petitions have been presented to this Assembly from Municipal Corporations within this Province.

And Whereas it has been held and ruled by the Speaker of this Assembly that this Assembly has not, under the provisions of the Confederation Act, power to grant the prayer of the said petitioners,

And Whereas it is the opinion of this Assembly that a prohibitory liquor law such as prayed for by the said petitioners would be most beneficial in its results to this Province.

And Whereas it is desireable to bring the matter under the notice of His Excellency the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada, and of the Houses of Parliament now at Ottawa assembled—Therefore

Resolved that memorials be prepared setting forth the facts above stated, and respectfully praying that such legislation may be had as will carry out the wishes of the said petitioners, and that one of the said memorials be addressed to His Excellency the Governor-General, and one to each of the Houses of Parliament of Canada now assembled.

That a Committee, consisting of the hon. Messrs. Parslee and Wood, Messrs. Farewell, Calvin, McDonald, Clarke (Norfolk), and the mover, be appointed to prepare such memorials, and that the same when prepared be forwarded in the proper manner of presentation.

Mr. Watterworth—That on the third reading of Bill (No. 19) respecting Municipal Institutions, he will move that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole House with instructions to so amend the section relating to the number of Deputy Reeves, and to require that there should be one for every 1,000 instead of one for every 500 qualified electors in each municipality.

Mr. Meredith—That when the House is in Committee on the Municipal Loan Fund Resolutions, he will move the following:—

Whereas, the Corporation of the City of London on the twenty-eighth day of June, A.D. 1871, passed a by-law granting a bonus of $100,000 to the London, Huron and Bruce Railway Company, and by said by-law a rate of 2 3 20 mills in the dollar upon the assessment of the said city was imposed in order to meet the interest and sinking fund required to pay the debentures to be issued under the authority of the said by-law.

And Whereas, In consequence of the financial basis of the said Company not having been completed in the year 1872, the rate imposed by the said by-law was not levied and raised in that year, but such financial basis having been completed the said Company is entitled to have the said debentures delivered to them, and the said city is therefore liable to pay the said debentures, and will be required hereafter to impose and levy the said rate during the currency of the said debentures.

Be it therefore Resolved, that in fixing the amount of the indebtedness of the said City of London to the said Fund, the said rate shall be estimated as and the amount required to e levied by reason thereof shall be taken to have formed and to be part of the ordinary and necessary expenditure of the said City for the year 1872, and the said debt reduced accordingly, and that the schedule of the said resolution be annexed in accordance with the foregoing statement

The World's Great Captains.

The four conquerors who occupy the most conspicuous places in the history of the world are—

Alexander, who after having climbed the dizzy hight of his ambition, wept that there was no other world for him to conquer, and died in a scence of debauch.

Hannibal, after having, to the astonishment and consternation of Rome, passed the Alps, died at last by poison administered by his own hand, unlamented and unwept, in foreign land.

Cesar after having conquered eight hundred cities, and dyeing his garments in the blood of one million of his foes, after having pursued to death the only rival he had on earth, was miserably assinated by those he thought his nearest friends, and in the very place, the attainment of which had been his great ambition.

Bonaparte, whose mandates kings and popes obeyed, after having filled the earth with the terror of his name, after having deluged Europe with tears and blood, and having clothed the world with sackcloth, closed his days in lonely banisment.

An Immense Country and People.

Taking the census in India is an undertaking of sufficient magnitude, to startle the most cool-headed official to be found in that dependency. The census was, nevertheless, taken last year, and the results are interesting. The population of India, which has commonly been stated at two hundred millions, is computed to reach two hundred and forty millions, or about one-forth of the entire population of the entire globe. Of this enormous total one hundred and eighty-six millions are under the direct sway of India, that is to say they pay revenue to the Supreme Government; while the remaining forty-four millions are either directly under the British administration or come more or less under British influence. These are figures which must at once strike the imagination when the total population of Canada, England's greatest colony, is under five millions, and the population of England herself is less by millions than that of the single presidency of Bengal. Another fact brought to light is that in in two years the people of India acknowledging British rule have increased by one-fifth, a fact which, unless given on good authority, would seem incredible.

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Deafness, Boils, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Itch, Scald Head, Tetthing, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Felons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this expectorant has upon that of pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, its cures have been many and wonderful. Innumerable instances of the relief and cure of apparently desperate cases of pulmonic disease, even when publicity has been given to them, are known to the inhabitants of every village in the land. Nor is this result to be wondered at, when the power of the remedy and the reliable character of the proprietor are considered. Having for many years devoted our attention exclusively to the preparation of medicines for pulmonary complaints, we are enabled to attain a perfection in the manufacture of this remedy which cannot be reached by those who make a variety of preparations. Our space here will not permit us to publish certificates of the cures this medicine has performed, even in the neighborhood where it is made. Its reputation is well established there, and its sale is unbounded. Many druggists in Lowell, Mass., have voluntarily borne testimony to the unparalleled success of this medicine in their practice, and to the entire confidence reposed in it by their customers. Such a remedy, against which the inroads of disease must recoil, cannot fail to be in general demand, now that its virtues are known. Throughout the New England States, the Canadas, and the Provinces, it has long been the people's favorite remedy for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, Hoarseness, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As it is pleasant to take, even children like it, and it is the safest medicine we can obtain for them, as it contains no opium in any form. Public speakers and singers find it the best relief for hoarseness, and safest protection against attacks of Croup. It should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

We generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, wherever it is used it does no injurious effects. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of new medicine. Our space will not permit us to publish the certificates of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and we refer to the remedies only when fully tried. Unprincipled persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be prudent to secure the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all the world.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It is wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

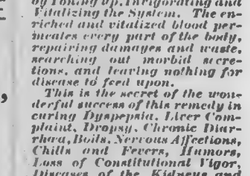
IRON IN THE BLOOD



MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

NEW SEED STORE!

New Firm.

Giles & Mason

SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.

Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—

1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.

3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.

4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing their vitality in a hot House before offering them for sale

5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

6th. That those who may be pleased to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.

In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantage of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Exotic Plants and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.

Seeding Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at one more than otherwise a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, or will be at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Garden Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 686, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

Choice Poetry.

I AM DYING.

The husband who can read the following without feeling the tears that gathering in his eyes, is simply heartless than we are.

Raise my pillow, husband dearest—
Faint and fainter comes my breath,
And those shadows stealing nearer,
Must, I know, by that of death.
Sit down close beside me, darling,
Let me clasp your warm strong hand,
Yours that ever has sustained me
To the borders of this land.

For your God and mine—our Father,
Thence shall ever lead me on,
Where, upon a throne eternal,
Sits His own and only Son.
I've had visions and hopes dreaming
O'er the past of joy and pain,
Year by year I've wandered backward
Till I was a child again.

Dreaming of girlhood and the moment
When I stood your wife and bride,
How my heart thrilled with love's triumph
In that hour of woman's pride.
Dreamed of then and all the earth-cords
Firmly twined around my heart—
Oh! the bitter, burning anguish,
When first I knew we must part.

It has passed—and God has promised
All thy footsteps to attend,
He that's more than friend or brother,
He'll be with you to the end.
There's no shadow o'er the portals
Leading to my heavenly home—
Christ has promised life immortal,
And 'tis He that bids me come.

When life's trials wait around thee,
And its chiming billows swell,
Thou'll thank heaven that I am spared them,
Thou'll then feel that "all is well."
Bring our boys unto my bedside,
My last blessing let them keep—
But they're sleeping—do not wake them—
They'll learn soon enough to weep.

Tell them often of their mother,
Kiss them for me when they wake,
Lead them gently, in life's pathway,
Love them doubly for my sake.
Clasp my hand still closer, darling,
This, the last day of my life,
For to-morrow I shall never Answer when you call me "wife."

Fare thee well, my noble husband,
Paint not 'neath the chastening rod,
Throw your strong arm round our children,
Keep them close to thee—and God.

Choice Literature.

Methods of Cure.

From the Science of Health.

During the third and fourth centuries of the Christian era, medical literature had sunk, in the language of Dunglison "to a very low pitch," and the treatment of diseases was as absurd as the incantations and rites of the Egyptians and even less successful. Almost the only medical literature of that age was the writings of the monks, whose prescriptions consisted mainly in directing certain ceremonies to be performed by the patient.

Dunglison says:

"During the first centuries of the Christian era, theosophy had considerable influence over the schools in which medicine was taught. In the first century the opinion generally received was, that the Apostles had obtained the faculty of curing all diseases by means of the simple apposition of the hands, or by inunction with holy oils and ointments, and it was believed that the disciples of Christ had transmitted the power, which they had received from their master, to the elders of each community. Thus, tradition unfolds to us the history of incredible cures performed by the shade of St. Peter, by St. Martin of Tours, etc.

In the fourth century medical schools were entirely neglected, except at Alexandria, and there Zeno gathered a few medical students. In this school was educated the celebrated Oribasius, physician to the Emperor Julian, who made a compendium, or synopsis, of all the works left by the ancients, besides publishing several works of his own.

Nemesius, first bishop of Emera, about this time wrote a work "De Natura Humana" as fanciful in physiological speculations as can well be conceived. The Greeks relinquished all medical instruction, and the oppression and intolerance of religious bigots, with the dismemberment of the Roman empire and the invasion of the northern barbarians, completed the ruin of medical schools.

At this time Persia was the only place where medicine could be studied under legal protection. The Nestorians established a school at Edessa, and some of these, who sought an asylum from persecution in the Mohammedan states, founded a school at Dschondisabour, where the Persians and Arabians studied the healing art, and where the Athenian philosophers, who were expelled from their country by Justinian resorted.

From the fourth to the sixteenth century we have almost nothing to record in the history of medical science, save a long array of distinguished names ever changing dogmas, repetitions of themes and practices which had been taught and refuted many times before, and the jargon of contending schools. No new system, or even principle, was advanced in these twelve centuries.

At the end of the fifteenth century Leonianus, of Venice, translated the works of Hippocrates into Latin, and explained them, in lectures, to medical students.

Thomas Linacre, the renowned physician to Henry VIII of England, founded at Oxford and Cambridge a chair of Hippocratic and Galenic medicine, and was chiefly instrumental in establishing the College of Physicians of London. In France, Jean Chretien translated Galen, and in Germany, Cornarus published a translation of Hippocrates, so that medical schools were again established throughout the civilized world, and essentially based on the teachings of the author of the scientific era.

But distractions again occurred. Fernelius, of the Parisian school, opposed the humoral pathology of Hippocrates and Galen, and considered the germ of "cachexias," or the "nervous pathology," which regards the solid structures as primarily affected by the causes of disease, the affections of the fluids being secondary. The doctrine of Sollidism was subsequently condemned, and elaborated by Hoffman, and it is easy to understand the important influence the humoral or the nervous pathology must have on the administration of drug remedies. The former theory necessarily implies that the leading measures of treatment should be evacuants, and the latter implies the leading employment of stimulants or sedatives, as the diathesis is stonic, or entonic.

About this time Botal chief physician to Charles IX and Henry II of France distinguished himself by advocating profuse bleeding, a practice revived by Broussais two and a half centuries later.

Meanwhile theosophy continued to influence the minds, and often to supersede the reasonings of medical men. Astrology was taught in the schools, and the celebrated Henry Cornelius Agrippa of Bologna, taught the demonology in its most revolting aspect. He considered demons to exist throughout the universe, some dwelling in one element some in another, others in human constitutions and all controllable by proper fumigations and other abracadabras—a very profitable creed for the physician, however it might have been for the patient, for it gave the medicine maker unlimited power over the medicine taker.

Dunglison says:

"The alchemists also now came to unite themselves with the adeptor of theosophy, but it was reserved for Paracelsus and Van Helmont to inundate the whole science with the mysticism of alchemical doctrines and language."

Paracelsus, who burned the writings of Hippocrates and Galen in solemn state, introduced chemical remedies. He was an impudent empiric and reckless adventurer, but succeeded in obtaining the chair of medicine and chemistry in Basle, Switzerland, in the middle of the sixteenth century. He taught that the human body is composed of salt, sulphur and mercury, and his principal specifics or chemical antidotes, were mercury, antimony and opium. At first the people were so frightened at the idea of taking these mineral poisons into their systems, that they were disguised in many ways, and administered under assumed names.

Chemical medicines were introduced into England in the reign of Charles I, and in 1664 Schroder published a Chemico Medical Pharmacopeia. It has been, and still is, a moot question, whether the introduction of chemical medication has been more a blessing or a curse to the world (as it has been the prevailing practice ever since), but it is certain that during the sixteenth century, many discoverier were made in anatomy, and great improvements achieved in surgery.

The most important medical event of the seventeenth century, was the discovery of the circulation of the blood by William Harvey, in 1610, and published in 1619. But the stupid bigotry which may influence the members of a "learned and liberal profession," is disgracefully illustrated in the manner Harvey was treated.

Dunglison remarks on this subject:

"This great discovery was for a long time contested and attacked from all sides with the greatest acrimony, and it was remarked by Hume, as an evidence of obstinate adherence to preconceived opinions, that no physician in Europe, who had reached forty years of age, ever to the end of his life adopted Harvey's doctrine of the circulation of the blood."

But the disciples of Paracelsus, like those of all the preceding promulgators of medical systems, soon divided and subdivided into sects and factions. One of these was the Rosicrucians, who added a rude and crude kind of "animal magnetism" to the materia medica. Another school took the name of Eclectic Conciliators, who blended the current vagaries of witchcraft, demonology and the transmutation of metals with medicine. Of this school was the notorious Sir Kenelm Digby, whose "Sympathetic Powder" is often quoted as one of the most remarkable instances of medical delusion and superstition. Digby pretended, that such was the sympathetic relation between a wound and the instrument which inflicted it, that the application of his powder to the instrument would cure the wound.

In the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," Sir Walter Scott alludes to this practice:

"But she has m'en the broken lance,
And wash'd it from the clotted gore,
And aln'd the splinter o'er and o'er.
William of Deloraine, in trance,
Whene'er she turned it round and round,
Twisted as if the gall'd his wound.
Then to her maiden she did say,
That he should be whole man and sound."

The school of Paris for a while rejected the theosophical and chemical pathology, but it eventually prevailed in all the schools of France, England and Italy.

At the end of the seventeenth century, Borelli, and his pupil Bellini, undertook to apply the motions which Newton and Kepler had explained with regard to the phenomena of vital actions hence arose the mathematical sect of physicians, who maintained a lively controversy with chemical school for nearly a century.

During the seventeenth century Galileo and Lord Bacon introduced mathematical reasoning into all branches of education, and to some extent diverted the minds of medical men from the prevalent chimeras to the methods of investigation introduced by Hippocrates Meanwhile surgery made steady progress. About 1665, Julian Clement of France, succeeded in having men employed instead of women in case of childbirth, an inovation on established usages whose utility has been discussed pro and con with considerable vigor for more than a quarter of a century.

The eighteenth century was distinguished by the introduction of several new and ingenius theories of medical science, each more or less modifying the prevailing practice, but all were destined to an evanescent existence. Stahl, Hoffman, and Boerhaeve each introduced a new plan of meditation, founded on a new and plausible hypothesis. The theory of Stahl was that the rational soul governed the organic economy, then changing the doctrine of the vis conservatrix naturæ, or vis medicatrix naturæ, from a vital power, as taught by Hippocrates, to a mental process. The treatment of Stahl, based on this theory, was mild and "expectant." His mistake was in confounding vitality with intelligence, overlooking the fact that plants as well as animals had vital organs and functions. The doctrine of Stahl had its advantages as well as disadvantages in practice, for, although it led to a weak and inefficient treatment, it rejected the harsh and dangerous measures of the "heroic" practitioners.

The opposition to chemical remedies finally became so intense, that the medical faculty of Paris proscribed antimony from their materia medica—a historical fact which has its parallel in the prohibition of calomel in the armies of the United States, by Surgeon General Hammond in 1862.

Hoffman's system was little else than a trifling modification of that of Stahl. He imputed disease to some vague nervous influence, which influence was a substitute for Stahl's rational soul In practice he did not differ greatly from Stahl, and was in high repute as a successful physician with the courts of Charles VI and Frederic I.

Herman Boerhaave (A.D. 1668—1738) was the contemporary of Stahl and Hoffman, and attained a greater celebrity than either of them. He undertook the difficulty of blending the doctrines of the chemical and mathematical schools into an original system. The basis of his doctrine was known as error loci, which regarded diseases as owing principally to the fluids and humors becoming too thick or too thin, getting into the wrong vessels, and causing obstructions, and calling for diluents or astringent remedies. The doctrines of Boerhaave prevailed but little outside of Germany.

The Cullenian system, a masterly systemization of all preceding theories and practices, except the preternatural, was introduced by William Cullen, Professor of the School in Edinburgh, Scotland, and has influenced the medical pretice of the world more or less ever since.

It was strictly antipathetic, and consisted essentially in counteracting the symptoms. Thus, in the cold stage of a fever, for example, warming drinks and stimulating remedies were considered to be indicated; in the hot stage, bleeding, refrigerants and other depletants, and in the stage of remission or intermission, nutritious diet, tonics, etc. It has been objected to this method of treatment, that it only relieves one stage of the fever and condition of the patient by aggravating the others, bleeding in the hot stage, by debilitating the patient, will aggravate the next cold stage, and that stimulating in the cold stage will aggravate the ensuing hot stage—in short, that it is doing with one hand, and undoing with the other. But no author has ever described the phenomenology of disease with more precision and discrimination than Cullen. His description of the symptoms which characterize the varous stages in a paroxism of fever are a model for all physicians in all times.

John Brown, a pupil and protege of Cullen, opposed the doctrines of Cullen simplified his theory, and introduced the system known as the Brunonian, which probably influences the practice of the present day even more than do the doctrines of Cullen. Brown imputed diseases to excessive or defective stimuli, the former exhausting the vital powers, and occasioning diseases of debility, and the latter allowing the vitality so to accumulate as to occasion dynamic or entonic diseases. The practice is as simple as the theory—stimulants in the one case, depletants in the other.

Brown taught that "life is a forced state," its machinery being kept in operation by stimulus, a doctrine which Samuel Thomson indicated half a century ago in the aphorism, "heat is life." Although the the theory of Dr. Brown is not now accepted in any medical school, nor advocated by any current text book, its influence on the administration of medicines, especially stimulants, has by no means been wholly discarded.

Erasmus Darwin, a poet and a metaphysician, undertook to construct a system of pathology and therapeutics, founded on the general laws of animated nature—certainly the right basis. But he erred, as all of his immediate predecessors had done, in confounding vitality with mentality. He attributed sensibility to the vegetable kingdom, and although, in his "Botanic Garden," he sang of the loves and emotions of the plants and flowers beautifully, the error was fatal to a scientific treatise on any subject pertaining to the kingdom of animals or human beings.

A British bard has cleverly satirized his eloquent but wordy speculations:

"Whose gilded cymbals, more alarmed than clear,
The eye delighted, but fatigued the ear.
In shine the simple lyre could once surpass,
But drew worn down, appear in native brass,
While all his train of hovering cylphs around,
Evaporate in smiles and sound.

Dunglison says:

"Darwin is one of the last writers who, during the eighteenth century, attempted any material revolution in the opinions of medical practitioners. As at the present day, various theoretical and practical innovations were indulged in, but they were confined to some particular disease or subject."

During the latter part of the eighteenth century, and thus far in the nineteenth century, the subjects of chemistry, pathological and microscopical anatomy, physiology, and surgery, have been most assiduously and successfully cultivated, but corresponding progress has not been made in the healing art, and the two great fundamental problems of all true medical science still remain unsolved—the nature of disease and the modus operandi of medicine. And whether any of the medical systems extent is likely to achieve this desirable result, will be better understood after we have considered their peculiar and distinctive theories and methods of practice.

THE HAZARD OF THE DIE.—Two lawyers in a country court—one of whom had grey hairs, and the other, though just as old a man as his learned friend, had hair which looked suspiciously black—had some altercation about the question of practice, in which the gentleman with the dark hair remarked to his opponent; "A person at your time of life, sir," (looking at the barrister's grey head), "Ought to have a long enough experience to know what is customary in such cases." "Yes, sir," was the reply: "You may stare at my hair if you like. My hair will be grey as long as I live, and yours will be black as long as you dye.

migration was, therefore, probably from the north. The aborigines of Acadia are comprised in two groups, containing several tribes; one of these occupies the sea coast, the other, the inland rivers and forests. It generally believed that the Indian is dwindling away on this continent; but this is not the case; for even at their best their numbers were sparse, and by a comparison of the statements of early travellers and of recent census returns, it is proved that they are still as numerous as ever. The Canadian year book for 1871 states that in six or eight preceding years that the Indian population had increased 2 per cent. The lecturer then proceeded to describe the characteristics of the Indians; their treatment of the fair sex, whom they condemned to servil labor; their marriage customs—the wooing and the wedding feast; the training of their children, and domestic habits. Besides the squaw, the dog was the only animal domesticated by them. The Abanakees were farmers as well as fishermen, and cultivated millet, beans, a kind of squash, and perhaps tobacco. Commerce was not quite neglected, and various articles were employed as a medium of exchange. The manufacture of canoes was of great importance and carried on with the simplest appliances; the "dug-outs" being hollowed from the trunk of a tree by means of stone axes and heated stones, and the birch bark for the lighter and safer ones sewn together with bone needles. Their weapons were the bow and arrows; the former made of white maple, the latter of cedar

LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

The greater portion of the time has been taken up by the opposition in petty quibbles and in endeavouring to foster extravagance on the government, but without effect. Some little things got to Mr. McKellar's ears were representations charged to the government, but it was found that Mr. McKellar had ordered them to be charges to himself.

THE PENELON RAILWAY BILL.

This Bill also came up for a third reading, on motion of Mr. Wood of Victoria.

Mr. FAIRBAIRN moved in amendment, that the Bill be re-committed to a Committee of the Whole House with instructions to add certain clauses exempting the county of Peterboro from liability In moving the amendment Mr. Fairbairn explained that the charter of this Railway Company and amendments contain grouping clauses similar to the provisions of the Municipal Institutions Act. Under these clauses application was made to the County Council of Peterboro to submit a by-law to be voted upon in the grouped section, and the County Council refused. Application was then made for a mandamus to compel the submission of the by-law, and the matter is now pending and not yet decided. That county is willing to abide by the decision of the Court, but this Bill, if it passed, will override the the decision if it is favorable to the county. In order to let the House understand the whole question he explained the character of the different parts of the county —the proposed railways, viz., the Grand Junction, Peterboro & Haliburton and Ontario & Quebec, of the by laws submitted in aid of each, and the present position of those by-laws, the position of the Penelon Falls Railway, its relation to the town of Lindsay and the County of Peterboro. He contended that the present case afforded a practical illustration of the unjust and unfair effect of the grouping system, which was wrong in principle. He thought the Bill was one which the Legislature should not allow to become law, because the large taxation would prevent settlement of Crown Lands in the grouped section, because it would interfere with pending litigation, and because it was wrong in principle that a portion of a county not interested in the railway should be compelled to assume and become responsible for the debt of another portion of the county incurred to aid that railway, when the County Council are of opinion that the grouped section will be unable to pay the amount.

It being six o'clock, the Speaker left the chair

After recess.

Mr. Wood (Victoria), who showed the benefits that would arise to the back country from the construction of the proposed railway. The Railway Aid Act —one of the best measures ever put forth by the former Government—expressly declared by its provisions that railways extending into or in the direction of the free grant districts should be aided. The Penelon Fall Railway was in every respect a road that came under the provisions of that Act. The southern portion of the county of Peterborough had good railway facilities, but the northern portion had not; and the only chance of the people resident in the latter for getting railway facilities was that afforded them by the Penelon Falls Company. The town of Lindsay had given $50,000 bonus in aid of the railway and $20,000 more was asked for from the county of Victoria, so that the Company wanted practically $140,000 from Victoria before Peterborough was touched, and yet it had been asserted that Victoria wanted the money of Peterborough for its own benefit. Whenever money would be given by the back townships of Peterborough, would be expended in that section. It had been said that all the by-laws in aid of the railway had been voted down in Victoria. The fact was, there was only one defeated, and that was because Fenelon was asked for a larger bonus than it could afford, and the by-law was lost, the Manvers and Somerville by-law being withdrawn. Mr. Carnegie, the ex-member for West Peterborough and editor of the Peterborough, Review stated lately in that paper that the back townships of the county were perfectly good for a bonus of $50,000, and the Council of the county would not run the slightest risk in issuing debentures to that amount under certain restrictions. The proper machinery asked for by the Review was now provided for in Bill. He referred to a few other points in the speech of the member for West Peterborough, whose amendment, he thought, was unjust in principal to the people of the back country, who had strong claims upon the House. There was nothing wrongin the "grouping clause" in the present measure, which was equitably framed, and he trusted the House would pass it.

Mr. BOULTBEE and Mr. READ supported the amendment of the member for West Peterborough.

The House then divided, and the amendment was lost.—Yeas 27, Nays 51.

YEAS—Messrs. Baxter, Sexton, Gow, Derochie, McCall, Webb, Boultbee, Fairbairn, MacMaster, Archdt, Rykert, Duncan, Williams (Durham), Sinclair, Pinkayson, Gifford, Haney, Harrington, Caldwell, Merrick, Code, Read, Meredith Calvin, Tooley, Monteith.—26.

NAYS—Messrs. McKellar, Pardee, Fraser Smith, Barber, Clarke (Wellington), Springer, Clemens, Williams (Hamilton), Hodgins, Cook, Gibbons, Gibson, Dawson, Scriver, Parton, Wood (Victoria), Crosby, Clarke, (Norfolk), Patterson, Cameron, Macdonald, Boulter, Leader, Snetsinger, Craig, (Glengarry, Grahame, Watterworth, Corby, Fitzsimmons, Grange.—31

The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

THE COBOCONK DISASTER.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

An inquiry,—nominally as to the death of Mr. John LeRoy, one of the victims of the explosion at Clark & Cook's mill on the 8th inst., but in reality for the purpose of ascertaining the cause or causes which led to that explosion,—was commenced by Coroner McLauchlin on Friday, the 14th, at Coboconk; and, after the jury had been sworn in, the body viewed, (the grave having been opened for the purpose,) the scene of the disaster inspected and one witness—whose evidence was but of little importance—examined, was adjourned until Wednesday the 19th inst. The following gentlemen constituted the jury;

Philip Cooper, George Andrews, William King, A. H. Carl, Edwin Glaspell, EH Feron, George Coatman, Geo Fotheringham, Thos McGeorm, Duncan Grham, John Watson, Levi Feron, James Campbell, Colin Sherman, Jas Humphrey and Donald Murray.

The inquest was resumed on Wednesday and was expected to last two days, but we have nothing positive up to the hour of going to press on Friday afternoon. A gentleman who was present during the whole of Wednesday, copied the evidence given that day, and handed it to us for publication, but we can only find room for the deposition of Mr. Wood, engineer, who, however, was by far the most important witness examined.

Alfred Wood, engineer, was sworn and said: Am an engineer by profession and served a time to learn the business, have since had fourteen years to practice, came here at the request of Captain Clark to run the engine and boiler. Mr. Clark had telegraphed to have me sent up. When I came I found the stuffing boxes leaking and requiring packing and screwing up. The boiler looked well so far as I could see, it looked in some places, it looked under the fire-box on both hand sides, and it leaked steam at several joints, even a new boiler will do so after being moved. Suction valve of the pump had been lost, and an indiarubber one put in the place of it. I did not consider the indiarubber valve sufficient, and called Mr Cook's attention to the fact. He said that the engineer who put up the boiler was to send a proper one, which did arrive while I was here and I put it in its place. The mill had been run with this improper valve while I was here two days. When I came here first, I supposed the boiler was capable of being run at a pressure of 90lbs. I arranged the safety valve to blow off at 60lbs by the steam gauge. I did not know whether the steam gauge was correct or not; suppose it should have been to-be properly to have I left the shop. The steam gauges sometimes get out of order, never have seen one get out of order in three or four weeks, have not seen one do so, but might in three or four months I caused figure a safety valve, from the weight of the ball, length of lever, length of fulcrum and size of valve, what steam I might be carrying, depend entirely on the gauge for the adjustment of the safety valve or non-com. only judged as to the appearance of the boiler that it would stand a strain of 60lbs., only made an examination of the boiler after it was in its place, have never seen a safety valve, lever and weight adjusted, have adjusted a safety valve from the steam gauge, steam gauges are not liable to get out of order in the summer time, I expected the steam gauge to be in order. can see no reason why this one should be out of order, I am no hesitation in adjusting a safety valve by a steam gauge. Fire was kept up all night so that front could not hurt the boiler. I thought the boiler better at first than I did afterwards, thought things looked tough and would rather be away, thought the engineer capable of taking care of an engine.

We made arrangements to have the verdict forwarded by telegraph at the earliest possible moment, but as it has not yet arrived, it seems probable that the inquest extended over to the third day.—Penelon Falls Gazette

MANITOBA.—The Legislature of Manitoba has passed a Registry Act and a Municipal Act, both based upon those of Ontario.—The Estimates of the Province for the year ending 31st Dec., 1873, are, fore the Legislative expenses, $13,465; Civil Government $17,760; Sundries, $41,500; total, $72,225. The Legislature was prorogued by His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, on the 8th inst.—Manitoban.

A WARNING.—Here is a warning for city daddies. An action was brought by the widow and executrix of the estate of the late John Hulten, of Windsor, against the Corporation of that town, for injuries received by the deceased in falling off a defective sidewalk, from the effects of which he died. The damages claimed were $10,000. The deceased left a widow and several children who were to a great extent dependent upon the charity of the world for a livelihood. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the infant children for $4,000. There are many places in the sidewalks in Hamilton ready to do the same service for our citizens that the Windsor sidewalk did for John Hulten. —Hamilton Spectator.

BRANTFORD.—On the 20th inst. a gang of labourers, while cutting away the ice above the dam, and below the iron bridge crossing Colborne street, Brantford, discovered the body of a young female. On dragging the corpse out a bracelet fell from her wrist, which bore the initials "C. K." Rings were found on the fingers with the same initials. The fingers of one hand were cramped and stiff from a burn. By these marks the body was recognized as that of Miss Cornelia Ketridge, of the east ward of this town. She was seventeen years old, and left home in November last, since which time no word has been heard of or from her. Tied closely around her head and neck was a heavy woollen shawl, an indication in the minds of many that she was strangled on the bridge and then thrown into the streams. The mother and brother of the deceased reside here. The authorities are on the track of suspected parties.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of nature of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diarrhœa, pains in the side, loins and back, sciatica, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for nausea, sore breasts, sparkes debilities, chronic nervous, bilious colic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

The Manliest Man.

The manliest man of all the race,
Whose heart is open as his face,
Puts forth his hand to help another.
'Tis not the blood of rich or low,
'Tis not the color of the skin,
'Tis the true heart that beats within,
Which makes the man a man and brother.

His words are warm upon his lips,
His heart beats to his finger tips,
He is a friend and loyal neighbor,
Scorn children him on the way,
And women trust him, for they may;
He owes no debt he cannot pay—
He earns his bread with honest labor.

He lifts the fallen from the ground,
And puts his foot upon the wound
Of drooning Jacob's starry ladder—
Which lifts him higher, day by day,
Towards the bright and heavenly way,
And further from the tempter's sway,
Which stingeth like the angry adder.

He strikes oppression to the dust,
He shares the blows aimed at the just—
He shrinks not from the post of danger
And in the thickest of the fight,
He battles bravely for the right—
For that is mightier than might,
Though cradled in an humble manger.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Why is the letter Y like a young lady! Because it makes pa pay.

A country editor reports money "close," but not close enough to be reached.

Punctuation first used in literature 1520. Before that timewodrsandsentenceswere puttogtherlikethis.

Ridiculous enough. A 200 pound poetess writing verses about what she would do "If she were a sunbeam."

Why should you distrust the opinion of a person who does not use common perfumes? Because he is wanting in common scents.

Columbus, Ga., wouldn't subscribe a red cent for a new church, but old John Robinson's circus took $2,000 out of the town.

An enthusiastic Nebraska editor says, "Nine months of the year in Nebraska is summer, and the rest is mighty late in the spring.

"How long did Adam remain in Paradise before he sinned?" said an amiable spouse to her husband. "Till he got a wife," was the calm reply.

"Our children have immense taxes on their hands," said a gentleman. "Oh, horrible," exclaimed an old lady. "What a blessing we have nails on ours!"

One day when Mrs. Partington heard the minister say that there would be a nave in the new church, she observed that she "knew who the party was."

Thin party (to street urchin). "Boy, what do you suppose that dog is following me for?" The youngest casts a knowing look at him and readily: "Guess he takes you for a bone."

A negro who had learned to read, wishing to give an idea of it to some of his acquaintances who had never seen a book, said, "Reading is the power of hearing with the eyes, instead of the ears."

"Do you think I am a fool," said a violent man one day to the late Rev. D. Bethune. "Really," replied the doctor, "I would not have ventured the assertion, but now you ask my opinion, I must say that I am not prepared to deny it."

This odd advertisement is from an English newspaper: "My husband is out on a strike. He prefers that to work. He ain't any use to me. I must work to keep the children and myself. His ten shillings goes in beer. I'll swap him while he's on a strike for a sewing machine."

A Neapolitan prefect found fault with a peasant for not paying his taxes. "What can I do?" replied the peasant. There is nothing doing on the high road—I am out on it every day with my gun, but no one passes. I promise, however, to go every evening, until I have picked up the 15 ducats you want."

A negro preacher at Atlanta preached one day from the text, "And the heavens were cleft in twain"—which he pronounced twine—and begun to expound in the following edifying manner: "Breden, dere's different kinds of twine. Dere's de cotton twine, and de tobacco twine, and dere's the packin' twine; but it ain't none o' dem kinds o' twine, breden." What kind he made it out to be is not reported.

When Nelson's famous signal was hoisted, "England expects every man to do his duty," two scotchmen were standing by. One pulled a long, sour face, and said: "Ech, Sandie, there's naething there about puir auld Scotland." "Hoot, mon," said Sandie, "puir Scotland kens well enough her bairns always do their duty: it's only a hint to those sluggish Englishers."

A country fellow, anxious to see the Queen, left his native village and came to London to gratify his curiosity. Upon his return his wife asked him what the Queen was like "Look!" cried Hodge, "why, I ne'er was so cheated in my loif. What doo't thing, Margaret! her arms are loike thcine and mine, although I have heard our excisemen say a score of times her arms were a 'lion and a unicorn.'"

DRIVING HENS—A MAN'S WAY AND A WOMAN'S WAY.—When a woman has a hen to drive into o coop she takes hold of her hoops with both hands, and shakes them quietly toward the delinquent, and says, 'Shew! there.' The hen takes one look at the object to convince herself that it's a woman, and then stalks majestically into the coop in perfect disgust of the sex. A man don't do that way. He goes out of doors and says, 'It is singular nobody in this house can drive a hen but myself,' and, picking up a stick of wood, he hurls it at the offending biped and observes, 'get in there, you thief.' The hen immediately loses her reason, and dashes to the opposite end of the yard. The man straightway dashes after her. She comes back again with her head down, her wings out, and followed by an assortment of stove wood, fruit cans, and coal clinkers, with much puffing and a very mad man in the rear. Then she skims up on the stoop, and under the barn, and over a fence or two, and around the house, and back again to the coop, all the while talking as only an excited hen can talk, and all the while followed by things convenient for handling, and by a man whose coat is on the saw buck; and whose hat is on the ground, and whose perspiration and profanity appear to have no limit. By this time the other hens have come out to take a hand in the debate, and help to dodge the missles—and then the man says every hen on the place shall be sold in the morning, and puts on his things and goes down street, and the woman dons her hoops, and has every one of these hens housed and contented in two minutes, and the only sound heard on the premises is the hammering by the oldest boy, as he mends the broken pickets.

MY CUTTY PIPE.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
The fairest mug lovely is,
But hadsh I'll mess my lucky and sing
A wee bit lilt to thesh.
For tho' mee whirligigums grace
Thy form o' cauty bess,
To mee thees silt hess bees a joy'
When other joys were few.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
When day's hard toil are done,
Nee bluid-red wine has I to quaff
To keep the heart in tune,
Na, na, the grape's inspiring juce
Mair gentle gabs means swill,
But, thanks to fate, I aye has thee
To whuff and lowt at will.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
Whem mark the o'caing fa's,
And kindly at a wee bit hold
Some cousharts cronie ca's,
I prime thee weel and sen' thee roon'
And syne, inspired by thee,
The crack begins, the sang is sung—
The moments blithely flee.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
Sometsmck as thees may gyne,
And my tts but a waste o' gear
To put thees in the mess',
But what are thee wi' a'thatr wealth?
Poor scrapin', yaussering tales—
They only get a shroud at last
To co'er them in the mools.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
I ken thou canna gie
A fadeless pleasure to the heart,
For sic we never see,
But when upon my luckless croon
The daunts o' poortith fa',
Thou help'st to cheer my dowie lot,
And sooth my cares awa'.

My cutty pipe, my cutty pipe,
Unlike John Barleycorn,
Nae deadly sting thou lea'st behind
To fash me on the morn,
Bot eye I rise wi' noddle clear,
And when the rifle I ripe,
My joys are a' renewed again
Wi' thee my cutty pipe.

Receipts.

GINGER SNAPS.—Two cups of molasses, one cup of butter, two tablespoonfuls of soda, one teaspoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of alum, and flour enough to roll out.

CORN STARCH CAKE.—One half cup butter, one cup pulverized sugar, one-half cup milk, one-half cup of corn starch, one cup flour, one-half teaspoonful soda, and whites of two eggs. Flavor with lemon.

MY SISTER'S CAKE.—One cupful of sugar; one-half cupful of warm water with butter the size of a small egg; melted in it; one-half teaspoonful of soda; spice to taste; flour enough to mix hard, put in while very warm; stir well, and bake in a hot oven.

BREAKFAST BISCUIT.—Two quarts of flour, one cup of yeast, one large tablespoonfull of butter, one egg, half a teaspoonful of salt, and enough milk to make a soft dough. Mix over night; in the morning roll out in thin cakes, and when light bake in a quick oven. Send to the table hot.

ICED APPLES.—Pare and core one dozen large apples; fill with sugar, very little butter and cinnamon; bake till nearly done; let them cool, and if you can without breaking, put on another dish; if not pour off the juice; have some icing prepared, lay on top and sides, and set into the oven a minute or two to brown slightly; serve with cream.

SPONGE CAKE WITH SWEET MILK.—Nice brown sugar one and one-half cups; three eggs; sweet milk, one cup; flour, three and one-half cups; cream of tarter and soda, of each, one teaspoonful; lemon essence, one teaspoonful. Thoroughly beat the sugar and eggs together; mix the cream of tarter and soda in the milk, stirring in the flavor also; then mix in the flour, remembering that all cakes ought to be baked soon after making.

PEA SOUP.—Soak a quart of peas in luke-warm water for three hours; pour off the water and boil in three and a half quarts of water well salted, until the peas are thoroughly soft. Then strain through a colander, and throw the peas away. This will keep for several days in cool weather. When used take out the needful quantity, boil it with a bit of pork partially cooked, an onion, a pinch of salt and peper, and serve hot, with squares of toasted bread floating on top.

A NEW USE FOR FERN.—Thousands of acres of land in Michigan are covered with a growth of sweet fern, which has hitherto been supposed to be worthless; but it has been found that for tanning purposes it is unequalled, and that it yields forty per cent extract, while hemlock yields but fourteen. It promises to be very valuable.

Interesting Facts.

The most ancient manuscripts are written without accents, stops, or separations between the words, nor was it until after the ninth century that copyists began to leave spaces between the words.

The first piece of artillery was invented by a German, soon after the invention of gunpowder, and artillery was first used by the Moors at Algesiras, in Spain, in the seige of 1341.

The first banks were established in Italy, in the year 808, by the Lombard Jews of whom some settled in Lombard street, London, where many bankers have ever since resided.

The oldest version of the Old and New Testament, belonging to the Christians, is that in the Vatican, which was written in the fourth or fifth century, and published in the year 597.

Ancient books were originally boards, or the inner bark of trees, and bark is still used by some nations, as are also skins, for which latter parchment was generally substituted.

Bowling is an old English game, and was very common as early as the thirteenth century. Charles I played at it, and it was a daily sport of Charles II.

Stones were first used for bullets, iron ones are first mentioned in 1550. Leaden bullets were made before the close of the sixteenth century. Stone cannon balls are still used in the East.

The most stupendous canal in the world is one in China, which passes over two thousand miles to forty-one cities, it was commenced in the tenth century. A monster work of man.

Our Father.

When Ruth was a little girl, her mother taught her the Lord's Prayer. She always used to say—

"Now I lay me down to sleep," after she had finished it.

When she got older, and could read, almost the first book she had was a little Testament. One day she was looking it over, when suddenly she sprang up, shouting, laughing and dancing round the room where her mother was at work.

Why, what is it Ruth? her mother asked.

O, I'm tickled clear through, was all the answer she could get for some time.

What is it that pleases you so?

Why, I've found Our Father, I've found Our Father!

For the first time she read the words which she had said so many times as she knelt by her mother's knee at night.

I've found Our Father. Do we all realize how much there is in these words? Little Ruth did not then know what beauty was in them, as she did in after life, when she indeed found her Father, and felt His loving presence in its fullest sense.

Do all the little boys and girls remember when they think of their parents, how much more precious their Heavenly Father is, who gives them so many good gifts! I hope they can all truly call him Father, for it is a sad thing to go through life and not accept and own him, who is so near each one of us.

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. It is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Scurvy, Itch, Dandruff, Boils, Ring-worm, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Itch, Scald Head, Tretbing, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured inflated limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Fevers. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Scalds, Scorches Burns and Sore Nipples. Salve very injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the side gently, once or twice a day. Cures dandruff by passing in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Felons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does not pain him, as I can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. Hoping you may find this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

They were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or cure.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this diseases end in death in spite of the organisms constitution, and in vain the skill of enlightened medical science, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, gathers to some one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, however case may be entirely dependent on the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the brain, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers; almost any part of the body is liable to be overwhelmed with a terrible variety of destructive disease. Persons afflicted with the following complaints, and, at length, sore, by the use of this REMEDY, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Fever, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for eradicating these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. In Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Nervous, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the symptoms symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does for them it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and renders them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor, loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic, one or two pills should be taken to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one pill dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, these Pills should be continued, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, they should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION
and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all
LUNG COMPLAINTS.
This well-known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season, seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaint, &c.
CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED
by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.
DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY
does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.
CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,
and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.
Beware of Counterfeits.
Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS" and the private name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.
Go take a Dose. Its Better for You than.

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.

Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Nichols & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—
1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.
2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.
3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.
4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing their vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale
5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.
6th. That those who may be blessed to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—of not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.
In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)
The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Greenhouse and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.
Seedling Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere. A supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.
All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.
Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 436, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,

have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dimness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

ROSEMARY.

"That's for remembrance."—OPHELIA.

It was summer time, and evening: still the tender sun shone
Flushed the broad, bee-haunted alley where she wandered to and fro.
Sweet the garden was with lilies, cool with promise of the dew,
Quaint, with mosses on olden lancy, trained ivy, clipped in yews.
And a fountain plashed its waters, near a vine-entangled wall
Stretching out to meet the gateway of the old baronial hall.
There the sparrows chirped and fluttered; there in drowsy summer noons,
Round its woodbine and clematis, hummed the bees their drowsing tunes.
And the fair and only daughter of the ancient house, one day,
In its trembling, sunlit shadow, gave her tender heart away.
For the coming of her lover she was waiting in the glow
Of the coming summer evening; and like sunrise over snow,
To her cheek the happy color in a rush of gladness came,
When she heard his step behind her, and he lightly breathed her name.
He was tall, dark-browed, and stalwart; she was slender, with a grace
All unconscious as a lily's, and with something in her face
That revealed the lily-nature, made you wonder as you paused,
How its delicate sweet innocence in such a world could last.
It was something rare to see her, with the ever-new surprise
Of her virgin passion shining in her shy, delighted eyes.
Every fibre of her spirit thrilled responsive to the sense
Of her loneliness adoration, and his vast munificence.
What was she that he should love her?—he so noble and so grand,
Who were would honor by his choice the proudest lady in the land!
And he—as the lordly manner of a man is—loved, indeed,
But accepted with complacence, as his manhood's simple meed,
Her up-looking veneration; never dreaming she could draw
Any line of separation 'twixt her duty and his law.
It was on this summer evening that the little cloud drew nigh
Which was doomed to spread, and darken all the sunshine of her sky.
From her chamber window called a voice, impatiently; she went
All in haste, and left her love to his jealous discontent.
He strode to and fro the garden, chafing fely till she came,
Met he coldly as returning, with averted looks of blame.
She, with tender, mute entreaty in her eyes, made quick excuse—
"That her brother wished her presence, and it was the homebuild one
"To observe his wishes always, and regard his lightest whim,
'Twas so little, after all, that one could ever do for him!"
But her lover answered, hotly: "Am I then to understand
That when you have condescended to bestow on me your hand,
"You will still, as now, consider his prerogative divine
And obey his whims, indifferent to any will of mine?
"Once for all, and once forever, let me say, if this be true,
I will take no second place where I conceive the first my due."
For a moment she stood silent, struck with wonder and with pain;
In her cheek the color wavered, flushed, and faded out again.
Low she answered then, and gently: "It will be my purpose still,
Neither to neglect my brother, nor to slight my husband's will."
"But the one compels the other," he returned, with stubborn pride,
"I decline my wife's devotion with her brother to divide."
"Do you mean," she asked him slowly, "that to be your wife implies
The necessity of breaking, and forsaking, older ties?"
"In a measure, yes," he answered, "it implies that, being wed,
You will leave your brother's household, be content with mine instead."
"But I will not leave my brother," in a steady voice and low:
"Where I go, as wife or maiden, I have promised he shall go."
"Then the promise must be broken, for he shall not go," said he,
"There shall no such cause for trouble come between my wife and me.
"Once for all, make choice between us"—with imperious demand,
And she, promptly, "I release you from the claiming of my hand.
"Since I may not break my promise, and I am compelled to choose,
With humility she honor you designed me, I refuse."
"This is final, then, conclusive? Here the story ends?" he said,
While the angry blood surged upward, staining cheek and forehead red.
"Nay," she answered, cheek and forehead whitening slowly: Evermore
While I live, for me the story goes on endless as before.
"Here's rosemary for a token," and she plucked the bit of bloom,
With a pleading glance—"hereafter you may give remembrance room."
But she crushed the flower she gave, crying, "What have I to do
With your rosemary? The garden grows no plant for me but rue.
"From this bitter hour forever in my heart its roots are set,
Give me nothing for remembrance, would to God I could forget."
Then he turned and left her, striding down the lily-scented path,
In a heat of pride and passion, all his heart aflame with wrath.
"If the pulling, selfish fancies of her idiot brother be Like and rule for her behaviour, she is not the wife for me.
"Who is wed with me shall answer only to her husband's call,
And my wife's mine entirely, or she is not mine at all."
Down the broad, box-bordered alley, past the old wall ivy-twined,
Out beyond the crested gateway, never looking once behind—
So he left her. She stood silent, pale with piteous surprise,
Gazing, mute with pain, long after he had vanished from her eyes.
On the gravel lay the flower—little worth, alas! as such,
In its bruised and faded sweetness. Stooping, she, with tender touch,
Smoothed the crumpled leaves, and laid it in the hollow of her hand,
Kissed it thrice, and murmured softly, "You shall never understand,
"Oh, my brother! God do so to me, and more, if I betray
What forlorness you have wrought me, unaware, this evil day."
And the vow was kept so duly that the brother never knew,
Never guessed the buried secret of her rosemary and rue.
When he questioned why her lover came no more, she smoothed and said
That she fitted her maiden freedom, and had yet no mind to wed.
It was such a curious matter, and beside, what need had she
Of a husband—with a brother dear as he?
So she kissed his pallid forehead, and content, he never guessed
How the little sprig of rosemary lay withered on her breast.
Year by year they twain together watched the summer lilies blow,
Watched the seed-time, and the harvest, and the coming of the snow.
Year by year her youth departed, faded slowly from her face
Bloom and roundness, but a finer beauty bloomed in their place.
Something like the shining signet on the pilgrim's furrowed cut
In the dream of old John Bunyan, overmere the gauze met;
And her brother's feeble spirit knew her, through his dying eyes,
For the angel who had led him to the gate of Paradise.
On his grave successive seasons shed their bloomiest one by one;
Twice the winter frosts had mantled, twice the Rhine to the sun
Had disclosed their golden centres, when a traveler
At the ancient gate dismounted, up the garden alley passed
She was sitting where he left her seven weary years ago,
And the sky was warm above her with the rosy afterglow.
In its basin splashed the fountain; on the ivy-covered wall
Chirped the sparrows, and the rosemary was growing green and tall.
Standing near, he heard her whispered, "It is seven long years to-day
Since my love was counted worthless, my summons thrown away.
"I would be content, God see it, with rosemary, if I knew
There was not to him remaining any single leaf of rue."
Listening, this he heard her whisper, in the summer stillness sweet,
Then his soul was shamed within him, and fell before her feet.
"Never surely yet from Heaven was so pure an angel sent,
And I am the chief of sinners, but behold me! I repent.
"Oh, my darling, can you pardon me the cruel wrong you bore?
Can you trust me?" he entreated. "Can you love me as before?"
In its moss grown, marble basin, with how musical a fall
Flashed the fountain! How the sparrows chirped and fluttered on the wall!
Seven weary years had vanished as a vision of the night,
And the garden seemed enchanted ground to echo her delight.
Did she hold herself too cheaply? Was it lack of maiden pride
That she came to him so easily, a fond and willing bride?
That I know not! but this once—in the kingdom far or near,
There was never wife so honored, never woman held so dear.
And her life flowed on henceforward to as sweet and glad a tune
As her blackbirds and her thrushes piped in leafy nooks of June.
Tall her lilies sprang, and greenly her rosemary spread and grew,
But in all the garden never was a single root of rue.

Canon Ramsay's Letter, and Dodge.

(From the Aurora Banner.)

The Canon has written a communication to the Era, (a proof of which the Editor has very kindly furnished us,) vindicating his position, with regard to those flysheets circulated last summer, during Mr. Dodges election campaign.

The Canon says he screened Mr. Dodge as long as he could, and also that Mr. Boultbee, as far as he knows had nothing to do with the affair. We have not space for the entire letter but we make the following selections, which bear more especially upon the origin of the documents, and the way in which the deception was brought to light. He says:

On Sunday evening, July 28th, after the conclusion of the service, on returning home, I found Mr. Dodge and three others in my house. I am ready to testify on oath as to the correctness of the following statement: Almost immediately after I was seated, Mr. Dodge observed, to the utter amazement of us all, that he had serious thoughts of commiting a forgery, but that he did not think there would be anything criminal about it, as he would proceed to explain. He deeply regretted he had not before asked his former pastor in the States to write a letter to him, as to his moral character and his charitable deeds during the period he sat under his ministry, and were this statement circulated throughout the Riding it might have the effect of counteracting the unjustifiable attacks made by the Globe on his moral character, but added, "as there is no time to obtain such a letter, I will therefore forge this letter to myself and telegraph to my clerical friend for his authority to append his name to this letter and then having obtained his authority my forgery will cease to be a forgery." Mr. Dodge then said to me "I think Canon you might write to the Globe and say that as they had been so severe on his character, Mr. Dodge hoped that in common fairness the Globe would insert the accompanying letter," which Mr. Dodge informed me he had just received. I replied I could certainly repeat what he might say, but I really supposed this was mere talk on his part and of this I felt satisfied the Globe would not insert such documents. He also observed, either at the time or on going away, that although he should speak in high terms of himself, his former pastor would have spoken in much more glowing terms, that as the Queen of Sheba said when she saw the glory of Solomon, "not the half had been told." I believe all throught he must surely be joking. Before retiring to rest I said to Mrs. Ramsay: whether joking or not I will go to Otillia to be out of the way in case of its being no joke, for I would cut off my right hand rather than send a document of such a dubious character, either to the Globe or any other paper. The following day, Monday the 29th I went to Orillia, it was, Ithink, the nomination day, on Tuesday, July 30, this letter of Dr. Clark's was published, not to himself, as stated on the 28th but addressed to myself, which you have all seen. I never saw or received such letter from Dr. Clark, I never wrote the letter to which was appended my name, neither was I applied to on the subject. On my return home I enquired of my second son Allan, if the forgery addressed to Mr. Dodge and written by himself, as he said it would be, had appeared. He said he had never heard anything about it, so I concluded Mr. Dodge had only been joking. However, on Saturday evening, August 3rd, I received a letter from Mr. Rogers, Eversley, P.O. King, stating that he had seen this "Extra" with my letter and Clark's asking me to send him a few copies. I never was taken so aback in my life, as at this two-fold forgery, but as the canvassing was about over, and nothing could result from it as to its bearing on the election, I would not expose Mr. Dodge, but that if positively charged with it, I should in self defence be obliged to speak out. I went to Toronto on the polling day August 5th, just to get out of the way. I do not recollect, but if any of Mr. Dodge's friends spoke to me of Dr. Clark's letter before Saturday evening, August 3rd, I supposed they referred to the letter which Mr. Dodge said he would get Dr. Clark's authority to address to himself, and of it, after the election was over, I determined to say as little as possible and spare Mr. Dodge if possible.

Now for the way the secret came out,—It was noted that I professed on July 30th, 1871, to write from my house at Newmarket, "I to day received the enclosed letter from my friend the Rev. S. A. Clarke, D. D. knowing his high position, &c., "and yet I was seen that very day at Orrillia, and seen there the day following. This appeared suspicious, they thought, but at the same time it was not conclusive. However they adopted a very adroit method of finding out the true state of the case It is well known I am always in abundance of time at the station. A respectable looking man accosted me there: said he knew the doctor when he resided in Cleveland; and asked if I had ever been in the States. and so on at last he said, "Pray your Reverence, is not the Rev. Dr. Clark, a clergeman of your church in the states, a particular friend of yours." I simply replied that I knew no such clergyman of that name, either in the States or elsewhere. He then left me: then these cunning fellows laid their heads together and they concluded that there was something "wrong in the State of Denmark;" something behind the scenes, and that the truth must be pumped out of me some way or other. It appears a statement of the forgery was sent to the Globe. I presume the Globe refers to this when he says, the leading facts of the case have been in their possession for months; Not long since—quite recently—this came to my knowledge, and it was placed before me in such a way that I was must either clear myself or plead guilty. I felt no time was to be lost; and as I was not personally acquainted with the Editor of the Globe, I asked Mr. Nelson Gorham to furnish me with an introduction. He gave me one. I went to the Globe office—explained all I knew of the matter, and placed in his hands the documents which I obtained at the Courier office, which, together with some others, would, I considered, completely exonerated myself of all participation in this vile forgery, contained in this letter attributed to myself.

Perihelion and Pestilence.

If there is anything in "astrological etiology," we are approaching one of the most pesilential periods in the earth's history. Since the commencement of the Christian era, the perihelia of the four great planets of the solar system—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune—have not been coincident. But this is about to occur, and, in the language of Dr. Knapp, who has traced the history of the greatest epidemics that ever afflicted the human race to the perihelia of these planets, there will soon be "lively times for doctors." The theory is that, when one or more of the large planets is nearest to the sun, the temperature and condition of our atmosphere are so disturbed as to cause injurious vicissitudes of weather, extreme heat, excessive cold, terrible rains, prolonged droughts, etc., resulting in the destruction of crops and pestilences among human beings and domestic animals.

Dr. Knapp has collated a mass of statistical data, all going to show that perihelion periods have always been marked by unusual mortality, and that sickness and death have invariably corresponded with the number of planets in perihelion at the same time. The revolution of Jupiter around the sun is accomplished in a little less than twelve years, of Saturn, in a little less than thirty years, of Uranus, in about eighty-four years, and of Neptune, in about one hundred and sixty-four years. If it be true, therefore, that the perihelia of these planets occasion atmospheric conditions unfavorable to life, pestilential periods should occur once in a dozen years, and aggravated and still more wide-spread epidemics at longer intervals. In tracing the history of epidemics for more than two thousand years, Dr. Knapp finds the facts in all cases to validate the theory. Thus, in the sixth, and again in the sixteenth century, three of these planets were coincidentally in perihelion, and those were the most pestilential times of the Christian era.

But soon we are to have, for the first time in two thousand years, all four of these planets against us. They will be at their nearest approach to the sun in or soon after 1880, so that, for a few years, say from 1880, to 1885, the vitality of every living thing on the earth will be put to a severe and trying ordeal. Some persons think they see, in the signs of the times, evidences of the greater disasters, in the immediate future. The excessive heat of last summer, the unexampled cold of last winter, the prevalence of floods and disasters at sea, the general failure of the potatoe crop, the wide-spread chill-fever among human beings, and the equal prevalence of epizooty among animals, are mentioned as among the premonitions of the rapidly approaching perihelion.

Well, "to be forewarned" is to be forearmed." Accidents excepted, we know very well that the persons of more vigorous constitutions and more hygienic habits will have the better chance to survive whatever adverse influences the extraordinary perihelia will occasion. It is wall known to physicians that, in all pestilences, plague, typhus, small-pox, cholera, influenza, pleuro-pneumonia, marrain, etc., the intemperate, the dissipated, and those whose sanitary conditions were bad, furnished the great majority of victims.

We do not write to alarm any one, nor to make a sensation. We state the facts which all history attests. The readers of THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH can judge for themselves what importance to attach to the subject. That the conjoint perihelion of all the large planets of the solar system, one of which Jupiter, is a thousand times as large as the earth, must disturb our atmosphere and temperature very considerably, is probable, that this disturbance must be injurious to health and life is certain, and that these periods have heretofore been pestilential, is matter of record. How much we shall suffer during the next dozen or fifteen years, depends very much on how nearly we live a life in accordance with the laws of life.

August 31st, 1873.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic woman, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is rare remedy.

I am yours truly.

Accident.

As Mrs. W. W. Nicholls of Lakefield was passing along the side walk opposite the Ontario Drug Store, on Monday, she slipped on an icy spot, and falling, broke her leg below the knee. She was immediately taken into Dr. Kincaid's office where the leg was set.

The Ontario Legislature

Was prorogued on Saturday at 3 o'clock when the Lieut.-Governor gave his assent to several Bills, which in future will be the law of the land.

Lieutenant Governor for Ontario.

The Ottawa Free Press hints that Sir John A. Macdonald is likely to appoint the Hon. George Brown Lieutenant Governor in the place of Mr. Howland whose term will soon close. It is not at all likely.

West Durham.

The nomination for this Riding is to be on the 9th of April. As yet only Mr. E. B. Wood is in the field. Mr. S. Wilmot has not yet acceded to the wishes of the Conservatives to become a candidate.

Forestalling.

A Grocer of this town was brought before the Police Magistrate on Monday and fined $1 and costs for buying the whole stock of eggs in a lady's basket on the market, before 12 o'clock, on Saturday, while a private citizen was endeavoring to effect a purchase. Private citizens have the first right to purchase articles offered for sale up to 12 o'clock

Midland Railway Disaster.

On Thursday last, about four or five miles from Port Hope, the passenger van got loose from the train and was capsized down an embankment some 12 or 15 feet and turned right side up over in a field. Several of the passengers received injuries, some only of a trivial nature. The most seriously injured are Mr. Ashford, Port Hope, severe scalp wound and also internal injuries, Dr. Dewar of the same place, severe injuries to head, face and spine; Mr. W. C. Ponton of Toronto, knee joint hurt; Mr. Davis of Ogdensburg, head and face bruised and cut; Porter Preston of Manvers, a scalp wound one leg cut and bruised about the back and shoulders; J. Preston, also of Manvers, escaped with slight injuries. The Railway Company did all in their power to obtain medical attendance. The breaking of a coupling is said to be the cause of the accident.

The "Witness" Libel Case.

The Grand Jury has brought "No Bill" in this case. Mr. McGibbons has not succeeded in getting damage for his supposed libel. The Witness deserves the sympathy and support of the people of Canada for its boldness in decrying the evil of using intoxicating liquors on festival occasions, or any occasion. It is well known that these influences are used to rob the people of reason so as to obtain the control of the sympathies of those who become dupes, and every news paper in America, as well as every citizen should unite to get rid of an evil that only works evil, and that continually.

Ballroads.

Mr. John Fowler, who has done so much to revive railroads, as will be seen in his communications, will attend the next meeting of the Otonabee Council in reference to a Bonus to the Ontario and Quebec Railway. While we would be glad to learn of his success in obtaining bonuses for any feasible scheme, we feel almost certain that he will not succeed in Otonabee this time.

Grand Junction.

It is said that the promoters of this road are now locating the road and securing right of way in Otonabee. This is only with the understanding that Sir Hugh Allan has given up his scheme to attend to the Pacific one which will pay better, no doubt.

Belmont.

Mr. Fowler has written to the Reeve and Council of Belmont in reference to a Bonus for the Ontario and Quebec Railway, but we understand that the answer returned was not favorable. The Reeve has informed us that he wrote to him stating that Belmont was desirous of encouraging the road by way of the Town of Peterboro, and if it did not go there, then that municipality had a better scheme in view. We suppose the Trent Valley Railway is meant.

Opening of Navigation.

By an advertisement in this issue it will be seen that the favorite steamer, Norseman, commences her trips to Charlotte this week. Captain Crawford having taken the place of Cadtain Carter.

A Matter of Fact.

As many persons who ought to know better, still persist that Mr. Bertram did not get his deed of qualification until after the election, the following will settle that matter in the minds of all who will receive the the truth. We made it our business to obtain an abstract from the Registry Office in reference to the property on which Mr. B. qualified; here it is,—"Deed from Mr. Treanum to John "Bertram of south part of Lot No. 17, "in 1st concession of Smith, 56 acres. "Dated 5th August, 1872. Registered "6th August 1872." The nomination for the Election of a Member for the House of Commons was held on the 10th day August, 1872, and the election on the 20th day of August 1872. Comment is unnecessary.

New Store.

Mr. H. LeBrun has just opened out a large stock of Fashionable Goods, in the store lately occupied by Mr. D. Lemay as a Confectionery Store, one door North of Menzie's Bookstore, and invites an inspection of his Goods. Give him a call.

Personal.

T. M. Fairbairn, Esq., M. P. P. our worthy representative for the West Riding has just returned from his parliamentary labour at the capital of Ontario. We are glad to be able to report that his health is very much improved of late.

Mr. Boultbee has also returned, nothing the worse of the worry of parliamentary duties.

New Goods.

Mr. Roseborough has received his Spring and Summer fashionable goods and invites attention and the inspection of Stock. Read his advertisement.

Young Canadian I.O.I.

The next regular meeting of Y.C.L.O.L No. 1316, will be held on next Tuesday evening.

Has Removed.

Mr. Lemay, Confectioner, has removed from his old stand to Cox's New Block, next door to McCullagh's shoe store,—Read his advertisement and give him a call.

Glasgow Warehouse.

Mr. Erskine has received his Spring and Summer Goods, and invites an inspection. We invite attention to his advertisement.

Union School.

The last Review contains an editorial which has been traced to Mr. Black, a dissatisfied teacher in the Institute. At last meeting of the Board it was agreed to engage a teacher of modern languages, Mr. Black not giving satisfaction to either the Principal, the Board, or parents. Mr. Black felt wounded that he was not accorded the highest place, and hence the article in the Review, during severe family afflictions of the editor, Mr. Carnegie. The result is, Mr. B. has been asked to resign his position

Want of space prevents us referring more fully to Union School matters this week. We may enter more into details next issue.

Bailieboro.

The Rev. Theophilus Gough has received and accepted the unanimous invitation to the Pastorate of the Baptist Church in this place, and enters on his pastoral duties the first Lord's Day in April, with the most cheering prospects. The blessing from the Lord which rested on his Evangelistic labors amongst us during the winter has secured for him the love and best wishes of all classes of the community, and earnest prayer that the present awakening may be extended and deepened to the salvation of many precious souls. By arrangement with the Baptist Church here, at the urgent solicitation of many of the Lord's people, Mr. Gough has consented to continue his labors in Peterborough, and, the Lord willing, will preach in the Good Templar's Hall, every alternate Lord's Day, and conduct the Bible Reading in the same place every Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock, as at present.—Com.

Creditable.

Master Edward Spilsbury, son of C. Spilsbury, Esq., of North Monaghan, who received the greater part of his education at our Collegiate Institute, and who was a pupil almost up to the time of his leaving town, has lately entered the Pennsylvania Military Academy. He passed with honors on the Senior Matriculation papers—something very creditable to himself, as well as to the Institution with which he was formerly connected.

THE ONTARIO PARLIAMENT.

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario was prorogued on Saturday, at 3 o'clock. The Lieut.-Governor gave his consent to no less than 166 Bills, the work of the Session. Some of them, it will be conceded, the most important statutes, that have engaged the attention of the Legislature of Ontario, perhaps of Canada.

The Municipal Loan Bill is one that required all the wisdom and strength of the Government to settle. The John Sandfield Government found themselves unable to cope with it, and left it as a legacy to their successors. Mr. Mowat has put the matter to rest forever. Some of the Municipalities will feel dissatisfied but strange to say, those to which most has been forgiven express their dissatisfaction strongest. St. Catharines through Mr. Rykert, expresses an intention to repudiate, the balance which they have to pay, regardless of the injustice that would be to other Municipalities. The settlement of this question by Sir John and the large majority by which it was carried, puts the question for ever at rest, and the people of the Province had been blotted out, the amount would have been very much greater, but by forgiving the whole, these Municipalities not having borrowed, would have received nothing.

Suppose that the debt of the Town of Peterboro had been completely wiped out and that the County of Peterboro in consequence had received none of the Surplus, who in the County would have considered that just? It might have received the approval of the Town, but never would have been accepted by the County. In the same way we can easily understand the injustice that must have followed the complete wiping out of the debt of the borrowing Municipalities.

It was reckless folly at first to permit Municipalities to borrow beyond their ability to repay. It was done, however, and the Government or Province, so to speak, by this settlement, compromises with the debtors, accepting what each Municipality is believed to be able to pay. The argument that the money was spent in opening up the Country is true in part, but the question arises out of this view of it, would the whole people have spent the money as it has been spent if they had had a voice in voting it? This may reasonably be answered in the negative. Conflicting interests would not have permitted such a result.

It is only fair, therefore, that Municipalities that had no voice in the sum heretofore borrowed should be placed as near as possible on the same footing as borrowing Municipalities, and this Mr. Mowat's Bill has done.

There is one peculiar feature in all the debates on the Bill; the opposition never proposed any othe mode of settlement of the Fund. Every possible obstacle to the passing of the bill was thrown in the way, but no proposed plan of any kind. This fact should forever shut the mouths of the croakers. The fact appears too evident that the only desire they had was to detain the settlement in order to use the question as an electioneering dodge for some time. All are aware what influence the Railway Fund, and this very Municipal Loan Fund had in the late contests. How often were we told that we would get nothing if we were found voting against the Sandfield Government. They were in power. Their policy was "help those who help us," and during the election campaign, this did yeoman's service in inducing weak supporters to the side of the then party in power. If on no other ground than this the matter is set at rest, and not permitted to be used for election purposes, Mr. Mowat deserves the thanks of the people.

The opposition brought in those bills known as the Orange Bills not with any desire to see them become law, but to get the apple of discord into the Reform camp, but in this also the obstructionists have been disapointed. Mr. H. S. McDonald left the defence of his bills to those who were not orangemen, thus showing a desire to let them go by default rather than lose the support of a certain class of the electors. The course pursued was neither manly nor honorable. As Grand Master of Eastern Ontario, he should have shown his attachment to his principles by an open defense of them which he did not do. These Bills have been reserved for the pleasure of the Governor General.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

January 20th, 1873.

The newly elected Council met, made the declaration of office and qualification.

The Reeve took the Chair and addressed the Council.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

The following monies were ordered to be paid by the Treasurer, viz—

R. Standly for plank	$10 58
Jas. Stratton for printing	16 70
John Lang for gravel	7 20
F. & R. Birdsall, statute labor tax remitted for work done	6 00
Wm O'Leary do do	1 50
Hugh McManus for relief	5 00

The following Township officers were appointed:—

Robert Weir, Assessor at salary of last year.

James Gallon, Colector, do

James Anderson and James Drummond, Auditors.

James Sinclair, Inspector of Licenses.

A By-law appointing certain Township Officers was read a first, second and third time, and passed.

Messrs. John Miller and John Lang were appointed commissioners tenover Allendale Bridge with Cedar, and sell old plank.

The Reeve, W. Lang, and Clerk were appointed a Committee for the purpose of deciding upon a plan and cost of a Town Hall to be built.

GEORGE READ, Township Clerk.

GOVERNMENT BONUS TO THE COBOURG ROAD Between Ashburnham and Chemong Lake.

The Ontario Government have agreed to grant a Bonus of $2,000 per mile to that portion of the road between Ashburnham and Mud Lake.

If the road had been extended to Bobcaygeon, no doubt $3,000 a mile would have been granted. If our citizens should unite with the Company, we might yet secure the road to Bobcaygeon, and perhaps to Haliburton. What are our public men about that they are not working to this end? The distance from the Mud Lake terminus to Bobcaygeon cannot be more than 14 miles. The cost of construction would be about $15,000 per mile.

The Town has voted $20,000 for that portion. If Verulam and Harvey should give $40,000 to $50,000 and the Government $3,000 per mile, this would be about $110,000 to $120,000. The Company might then give $5,000 per mile or $75,000, making nearly $260,000 or $14,000 per mile.

The same Rolling Stock would serve for the whole road, and the increased trade would fully repay the Company for the outlay. Suppose the Company should expend $75,000 to $100,000 on the road, the interest on this would only be, at the most, $8,000 a year, while the lumber shipped from Bobcaygeon alone would not be less than 30,000,000 ft and charges at a moderate rate would secure a traffic worth $50,000 for lumber alone, besides wheat, grain of various kinds, timber, passengers traffic and goods. Should not the manager of the Company, the people of Peterboro and Bobcaygeon get their heads together and see what can be done? And the sooner the better.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combination. Then in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

The south 10 acres will be sold in half-acre or acre Lots to suit purchasers. The other 10 acres to the north, on which there is a good barn 40 by 30 on a stone foundation, forming a cellar or stable 9 ft. high. There are also a good root-house and well, and a house partly built, on a stone foundation, will be sold in one parcel.

TERMS—One-third down and the remainder on time as may be agreed. Title indisputable.

If not sold by private sale by the 1st of May, it will be offered by public auction.

ALSO part of Lot No. 9, south of Simcoe and west of George streets, on which is a large stone-house. This is a very desirable site for a grain store-house or dwelling. Terms same as above.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A Minister, about to chastise a servant for lying, was asked, "Master, don't you precept that God ordains whatever comes to pass? Then how could I help doing what I did?" The master replies, "It was also ordained that I should chastise you for it, and how can I help doing it."

The following episode occurred at the seaside recently: Two ladies were chatting gaily, when the conversation turned upon the subject of dress. Lady No. 1, in reply to a facetious remark of No. 2, said: "I'm in no mood for trifling to-day, and I'm backed up in my good intentions by the presence of Dress Herald in my pannier." No. 2 remarked: "There's no use in your feeling so particularly good about that. I have the Christian at Work in mine!"

A man once went to a lawyer's office and told the legal gentleman that he had been insulted by a man who told him to go to——, and desired to know what he should do. The lawyer suavely said: "I wouldn't advise you to go; the law doesn't compel you."

Dr. Dio Lewis gives the following cure for dyspepsia: "Have a right good talk, with a funny anecdote or two, and half a dozen hearty laughs, with each meal. This eating alone at a restaurant and shovelling in the provender in solemn silence, will give dyspepsia to an ox-ford."

A celebrated physician having said to Lord Stowell, rather more flippantly than beseemed the gravity of his cloth, "Oh, you know, Sir William, after forty a man is always either a fool or a physician." "Mayn't he be both?" was the rejoinder, with an insinuating leer and half drawling voice.

The celebrated Henderson, the actor, was seldom known to be in a passion. When at Oxford he was one day debating with a fellow-student, who, not keeping his temper, threw a glass of wine in his face. Mr. Henderson took out his handkerchief, wiped his face, and coolly said, "That, sir, was a digression; now for the argument."

A countryman came to one of our hotels and wrote after his name, "P.O. P.S.F.C." Here was a title which none but himself understood.

"Pray, my dear sir," asked the barkeeper, "what do all these letters stand for?"

"Stand for! why, that's my title."

"Yes sir—but what's your title?"

"Why, Professor of Psalmody, and Schoolmaster from Connecticut."

A "NICE" DISTINCTION.—A young and beautiful lady explained to a printer the other day, the distinction between printing and publishing, and at the conclusion of her remarks, by way of illustration, she said, "You may print a kiss on my cheek, but you must not publish it." He didn't.

THE TRUTH.—A Yorkshireman went to consult one of the most conscientious lawyers, and after stating his case, said, "Now, sir, I know you're a lawyer, but I wish you would just please tell me the truth about this matter."

"Get out of my way—what are you good for?" said a cross old man to a little bright-eyed urchin who happened to stand in the way. The little fellow as he stepped one side, replied very gently; "They make men out of such things as we are."

SHORTENING A TELEGRAM.—A gentleman took the following telegram to a telegraph office:—"Mrs. Brown, Liverpool.—I announce with grief the death of uncle James. Come quickly to read will. I believe we are his heirs. John Black." The clerk, having counted the words, said, "there are two words too many, sir." "All right, cut out 'with grief,' was the reply.

An exchange tells of an editor who went soldering and was chosen captain. One day at parade, instead of giving the orders, "Front face, three paces forward," he exclaimed, "Cash, two dollars a year in advance."

"Sinner," said one of the brethren at a love feast, "are you happy?" "Yes, deacon, I feel as though I was in Beelzebub's bosom!" "Not in Beelzebub's bosom!" "Well, in some of the patriarchs', I don't care which."

The Detroit Tribune says: "A very common epitaph in Arkansas cemeteries is, "We will meet in heaven husband dear." This may explain why the men of Arkansas are generally conducting themselves so as to go to the other place."

"Oh, Mr. Butcher, what a quantity of bone there was in that last piece of meat we had from you," said a lady, very indignantly. "Was there, ma'm? But howsomever, the first fat bullock I kill without any bone, I'll let you have one joint for nothing."

A Jersey boarding-house keeper, who lives near a glue factory, makes a very lusty circle of jelly cake by taking cold buck wheat cakes and piling them up with alternate layers of glue. A neat top dressing of pulverized chalk sets them off, and the boarders' mouths water until they bite.

"Have you children?" demanded a house renter, "yes" replied the other solemnly, "six—all in the cemetery." "Better there than here," said the landlord, consolingly; and proceeded to execute the desired lease. In due time the children returned from the cemetery, whether they had been sent to play, but it was too late to annul the contract.

In commenting on a volume of essays on Ecclesiastical Reform, the Athenæum says: "It is worthy of note, as a sign of the times, how the question of disestablishment is mooted by all parties in their discussions as to the needs of the Church of England. One thing seems clear, that if the present Establishment is to be maintained, there must be greater unity among the members of the Church of England as to the the means of inaugurating them."

The Saturday Review is very sharp on the subject of the "Deceased Wife's Sister." It argues, virtually, that a man marries not only his wife but his wife's relations, and that to treat the wife's sister as "any other marriageable woman," is "tampering with the sacredness of marriage," "is revolutionizing the marriage law," is to "demand that the [illegible] and delicate of domestic institutions should be torn to pieces," and "selfish and shameless marriages" encouraged, and is in fact "a revival of Judaism."

The nature of Gladstone's Dublin University Bill may be understood by comparing it to a reorganization of Yale College by the erection of a University at New Haven, with examinations, prizes, fellowships, &c., equally open to students in any college in Connecticut, but cutting off the Divinity School, to stand as an institution by itself, and leaving out, as disputed subjects, from the University examinations, both modern history and moral and mental philosophy; thus confining high degrees to [illegible] reading, and making these equally open to all.

Profits of Hop-growing.

At the recent meeting of the New York Dairymen's Association, Mr. J. V. Scoville drew the following tempting picture of hop growing in connection with dairying:—

Said a hop grower to me the other day: "The present high prices of hops has turned our farmers crazy."

But let me suggest an old adage:—"Think twice before you leap." Don't embark in hop growing until you have firmly resolved to continue the business for a series of years, through sunshine and shadows. It's a perplexing business, but we are willing to endure almost anything to make money. It necessitates a large expense at the very outset. The usual system of planting makes 700 hills to an acre, which require, to be properly poled, 1,400 poles. Good selected Canada poles could scarcely be delivered on the ground for less than twenty cents, or at a cost of $280 per acre, and I know of many a yard where such poles have cost twenty-four cents a piece.

A good drying house with the proper equipments, could scarcely cost less than $1,000 at present, and then, with your hop yard planted the previous year, you are ready to realize, provided your crop is not blighted and the brewery men are willing to give you remunerative prices. I am unable to present the actual cost of cultivating an acre of hops, as the conditions of the ground vary so much but I have often heard reliable men say that they would as soon take care of an acre of hops as an acre of corn. But I can give you some idea of the cost of harvesting, by presenting the result of a single day's picking in my own yard. The names of 36 pickers appear on my list, though the actual number was scarcely less than 60, including large and small. The elder ones picked in regular boxes, and the younger ones in straw hats and baskets. Some families picked as high as seven and eight boxes, and the amount per box paid to those who boarded themselves was 45 cents and those who boarded 30 cents. The following table presents the matter in detail:

Number of boxes	92½
Amount of hops cried	1135 lbs.
Average weight per box	12¼ "
Paid pickers in box	$45 63
Paid pole pullers	11 00
Paid for boarding pickers	12 60
Paid for 33½ lbs sacking, including weight of hops above	4 65
Paid for drying 1,135 lbs. of hops at 2 cents	22 70
Total	$96 48

No allowance is made for individual time or labor. This makes the cost of harvesting alone 8½ cents per pound, or $85 per thousand pounds, equal to $170 per ton. Hops are a good paying crop at twenty cents a pound, but when we get fifty or sixty cents, as is sometimes the case, then we get a glimpse of the "golden fleece." From six to seven acres of hops the grower not unfrequently receives $1,000 or $5,000.

Use Full-Blood Rams.

A Correspondent of the Agricultural Commonwealth makes the following suggestions. Perhaps the most important step in securing and maintaining a good flock of sheep is the securing of males that are the perfect type of what you wish your flock to be. As to what a male should be, I would say, first, let them be thorough bred. No grade buck should ever be used when there is a desire to improve, or even keep up the quality of the flock, even though he may be the most desirable in appearance of the whole flock. The chances are against the transmission of his desirable qualities, it is probable he will transmit undesireable qualities of his ancestors that are concealed in him. A thorough bred male can be relied on to reproduce himself in his offspring, but such is not the case with a grade, however perfect he may be in form. Among the best of flocks there will be a difference. While all may be good, some may be better and others best. I would say get the best at any price. Be sure he has an eminent degree of all the essential points of breed in size, make, characteristics of wool, etc. Again let him be sound in constitution and limb. It is found that defects and disease are more easily communicated to offspring than more desireable qualities. Hence everything of this kind should be avoided with scrupulous care. The character of the female is of less importance. True if a man has a flock of thorough bred ewes to begin with, all the better, his work is done, but if he has a flock of grades or scrubs he need go to the expense of buying a full blooded stock to build up a flock with. With proper care in the selection of bucks, a flock can soon be built up to a high point of excellence with only common ewes to start with. With the facilities now offered for securing choice bucks, there is no excuse for the man who continues to propagate the scrub stock of the country. Let none but first class males be used, and soon all our flocks will become first class.

Action of Frost on Soil.

The most fertile and productive regions are those where the frost penetrates the earth deeply and exerts its influence during a considerable portion of the year. The action of the frost is a powerful stimulate of the soil, it disintegrates it, and unlocks the closely combined elements and thus sets free vast quantities of plant food. Its action also counteracts the compressive force of rains and the tread of teams and other animals and so each year lifts up and lightens the compact earth. With frost to aid, the farmer need not plough and cultivate so much, to put the soil in good condition, as when this element is not operative. In this aspect, then, winter is a blessing to the farmer, and he should wisely avail himself of all its advantages. If he cannot plough and harrow during half the year, let him expose his soil with judgment to the action of the frost which silently ploughs and harrows, subsoils and rolls for him. On heavy and naturally strong, rich lands, thorough fall plowing is advisable. If the surface is left rough it is perhaps better; if lumpy, the clods disintergate and crumble to dust under the icy fingers of the frost farmer. The addition of fertilizers to such soil in the fall is wise, because they become intimately mixed with it by the combined action of frost and water, add are immediately available for plants when growth begins in the spring. Farmers who complain that the long winter do not permit thorough culture, under-estimate the value of the action of frost. It is a note-worthy fact that their winter is most severe, within the temperate zones, the soil is prolific and certain to a degree much beyond that of lower latitudes. The soil seems stimulated to productiveness in proportion to the time and severity with which the frost acts upon it.

FEEDING HORSES.—The most natural feed for the horse is good pasture; the next is grass made into hay. But it must be grass made into hay after it is cut, not made or ripened while standing. On such grass or hay, when idle or at light work, a horse will keep in fair condition. If hard or fast work is desired, it will need, with such hay or grass, a suitable allowance of grain. If kept on dry feed a moderate allowance of carrots, in addition to other feed, will be a great help. Carrots not only promote the digestion of other feed, but they also tend to promote the general health and thrift of the animal. It is a question whether many farm horses are not grained too high—whether graining high and making them very fat in winter, brings them into the best condition for the summer. Nature provides no grain for the wild horse, but nature does not make that horse work men add grain to keep up the condition and strength while doing their hard work. Here it seems to me, is the key to the rule for keeping horses, to with sufficient grain to keep them in condition when at work: but when idle, plenty of pasture, or of good, early cut and well made hay, should be all that is needed. If the hay is not good, or was cut late, an allowance of grain will be needed to make up its lack of nutriment. Horses should always be fed [illegible] and [illegible] but not over fed, and the [illegible] should be guided by the rule "F" to County Gentlemen.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success, and the numerous certificates of the Lungs and Throat that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, as do those than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is perfectly harmless in its action. The immense and importance of its cures in the same districts, are literally beyond account, as witness a pamphlet in the history of Ague medicine. One prize is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from disturbance of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all the world.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved to usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as has this world renowned remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against these. While adapted to milder forms of diseases and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given, for the inclipent consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed in all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, is easily digested and assimilated with the blood in the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and we still cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Nervous Debility, Spermatorrhœa, Nocturnal Emissions, Weakness of the Generative Organs, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling, Sleeplessness, the effect of over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants and tobacco, &c. Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S Pills are the only effectual ones for the above diseases, and are never known to fail. They have already cured hundreds in this country. Robert Arthur, machinist, Hamilton, testifies to his recovery by their use. Safe, certain, and rapid in action, a short trial will prove their efficacy. No sufferer need despair of being relieved from the frightful effects of Self-Abuse. The Specific Pills are sold by Druggists at $1 00 a box, and the Tonic Pills at 50c. a box, or they will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, and securely wrapped from observation, on receipt of $1 00 for the Specific, and 50c. for the Tonic Pills, by

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.
Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Nichols & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—
1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.
2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or use, with inferior stock.
3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.
4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character, they will have them tested before selling them vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale
5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.
6th. That those who may be pleased to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.
In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)
The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.
Seedling Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.
All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting to an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Poor and Rich.

In a shattered old garret sorrow roofed from the sky,
Near a window that shakes as the wind worries by,
Without a curtain to hinder the golden sun's shine,
Which remind me of riches that never were mine
I recline on a chair that is broken and old,
And emerge my clothed limbs—now aged and cold,
'Neath the shabby old coat, with the button's old torn
While I think of my youth that Time's footprints have worn,
And remember the comrades who've one and all fled,
And the dreams and the hopes that are dead with the dead.

But the cracked plastered walls are emblazoned and bright
With the dear blessed beams of the day's welcome light.
My old-smiling king's robe, my old chair is a throne,
[illegible]
OUR,
For the truth that they tell, as they whisper to me,
Are the echoes of pleasure that once used to be
The glad throbbing of hearts that have now ceased to feel,
And the treasures of passions which time cannot steal.
So, although I know well that my life is near spent,
Though I'll die without sorrow, I live with content.

Though my children's soft voices no music now lend,
Without wife's sweet embraces, or glance of a friend,
Yet my soul sees them still, as it peoples the air
With the spirits who crowd round my broken old chair.
If no wealth I have hoarded to trouble mine ease,
I admit that I doted on gems rich as these,
And when death snatched the casket that held each fair prize,
It flew to my heart where it happily lies.
So, 'tis there that the ut'rings of love now are said
By those dear ones, whom all but myself fancy dead.

So, though fetid the air of my poor room may be,
It still has all the odors of Eden for me,
For my Eve wanders here, and my cherubs here sing,
As though tempting my spirit like theirs to take wing.
Though my pillow be hard, where so well could I rest
As on that on which Amy's fair head has been pressed?
So let riches and honors feed Mammon's vain heart,
From my shattered old lodging I'll not wish to part,
And no coat shall I need save the one I've long worn,
Till the last thread be snapped, and she last rent be torn.

Current Events.

The faction fight has commenced at Ottawa with "first blood" for the Government. So far the fortunes of the fray have corresponded to the expectation which we expressed that the Government would open with a majority of from fifteen to twenty, which would increase as the session went on.

The election returns have furnished the battle-ground for the first trial of strength, and the conduct of the combatants on this subject, so vital to constitutional government, reminds us of the order of the day frankly issued by Walpole at the beginning of a session, when divisions ran close, that "no quarter must be given in election petitions." The Prime Minister deprecated the reference of questions requiring judicial integrity for decision to a partisan assembly, rightly judging that party is dishonesty and iniquity, but apparently unconscious of the sentence which he was passing on the political system of which he is head. Nor are committees much more trustworthy than the whole House. The Grenville Act put an end to indecency but not to injustice.

In the Peterborough case deference is due to the opinion of Mr R. A. Harison, on which the returning officer professed to act. Otherwise we should have said without hesitation that the return of the candidate who had the minority of votes was, upon the face of it, a constitutional wrong requiring prompt redress at the hands of Parliament, not as a judicial tribunal but as the guardian of public right, a function which it is not at liberty to abdicate on any pretence whatever. Certain we are that no such discretionary power of reversing the vote of a constituency ought to be left in the hands of any returning officer for the future. It is not denied that in the Peterborough case the returning officer was a partisan of the candidate in whose favor he made the return, the legal opinion on which he professed to act, though highly respectable in itself, was tendered from a partisan quarter and by no stretch of charity can we persuade ourselves that the whole of the Ministerial majority in Parliament who trooped after a leader to support the return of a Ministerialist were judicially convinced of the propriety of that return.

In the absence of dividing principles and of the great questions to which dividing principles give birth, the game is entirely personal, and consists mainly in attempts to pick off "independents" and draw waverers over the line. To this state of things is due a scandal respecting which, though it greatly occupies the public mind, we do not propose to say much now, because, in spite of present appearances, we cannot abandon the belief that it will become the subject of investigation before a tribunal the sentence of which it is not our duty to anticipate.

The Prime Minister of Ontario was floating pleasantly on the summer sea of his political teapot, when a squall came on which nearly overturned his ship. The Orange Lodge incorporation question seems to have taken him by surprise. With a Roman Catholic in his Cabinet, and a Roman Catholic contingent, enlisted by a recruiting process of the most laborious description among his followers, he had nothing for it strategically but to make the question an open one, and allow his party to divide themselves between the two formidable interests, which it was alike impossible to reconcile and calamitous to offend. Even had he been under no such pressure we should, from our own point of view, have applauded a Minister who seemed disposed to confine his responsibility to administrative questions, and to leave legislative questions not affecting the administration to the free decision of the House. Probably the Premier has undergone tribulation in this matter, and not he alone. On the sheets of the Grit journal you could almost see the shadow of the pistols held to each side of the writer's head.

The question is, in truth, one of great difficulty, apart from the professional exigencies of politicians. Shall the State, the impartial parent of all citizens, incorporate a party association? It is hardly an answer to say that incorporation confers no additional strength It does confer additional strength, and it is solicited for that purpose On the other hand, to determine whether any given association is of a party character it would seem necessary to look into its statutes. If we were to take cognisance of unavowed and informal tendencies, many societies might be excluded from a privilege to which they are now admitted. The Christian Brothers, for instance, the Act for whose incorporation has just passed, though by their statutes a purely religious fraternity, would probably take as a body a Gedded line, at the bidding of the Catholic Bismarck, on any political question supposed to affect the interests of the Church.

The object of the Loyal Orange Association of British North America is declared by its statutes to be "to support, as far as in accordance with the principles and practices of the Christian religion, to maintain the laws and Constitution of the Country, afford assistance to the distressed members of the Order, and otherwise to promote such laudable and benevolent purposes as may tend to the due ordering of religion and Christian charity, and the supremacy of law, order and constitutional freedom.

There is evidently nothing here to which exception can be taken unless on the ground (which we over we ourselves think strong) that members are sometimes are pledged first to disobedience with the equal oath which no man and Christian we are to all our fellow men, and to all our fellow Christians, subject to the constitutional limits of fidelity and loyalty. It is hence argued that the recognition by the Crown of King William 12th, Prince of Orange, as the [illegible] of the Orange Association [illegible] sion in vain, that the candidate shall be deemed incapable of peace-seeking or injuring any one on account of his religious opinions, the duty of every Orangeman being to aid and defend all loyal subjects, of every religious persuasion, in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights." Thus far all is unobjectionable so far as the letter of the declaration is concerned, though aided by the light of history we may weed between the lines that only a staunch Protestant can be confidently regarded as a loyal subject. The list of "qualifications essential for a member" is merely a catalogue of moral and Christian virtues. But the "Obligation of an Orangeman," or to speak more plainly the Orange Oath, brings us to more debatable matter.

In the first place, we must say that it appears to us very doubtful whether any private association should be allowed to bind its members by oath at all. It is enough for a private association to make its rules, impose them as a condition of membership, and expel members refusing to conform to them. The power of superseding the freedom of the individual's judgement by the obligation of an oath ought to be seen and at all events [illegible] the judgment of the individual. The administration of oaths by private persons or societies now-a-days, if not of conspiracy, at least of an attempt to impose fetters on reason and conscience, by which, on grounds of public policy as well as of morality, the actions of citizens ought to be freely regulated in all cases not determined by the State. In the second place, there is a special objection to promissory oaths on subjects which are matters of opinion, and on which the mind of the person taking oath, however settled at the time, may possibly undergo a change. Had pledges and professions equivalent to an oath been always regarded as binding, Luther must have remained an Augustinian monk, and Protestantism itself could never have come into existence. In the third place, reading the oath by the light of history, and especially by the light of the portion of history comprising the proceedings of the Orange Lodges in the British Islands during the conflict respecting Catholic Emancipation, exception might be taken to the clause limiting the Orangeman's allegiance by the condition that the Sovereign shall maintain the Protestant religion, especially as in Canada the Protestant religion is not maintained by the Sovereign, while the Catholic religion is in a certain sense maintained in the Province of Quebec, where it still has much of the character of a establishment. In the fourth place, it may said that the Battle of the Boyne, which the Orangeman is bound to celebrate, is a party anniversary, provocative of ill-feeling among citizens of different religions, and therefore anti-national. In the fifth place, exception may be taken to the obligation not to marry a Roman Catholic, as contrary to the public policy of a commonwealth, in which religious equality is established, and which seeks to promote perfect harmony among its citizens of all denominations. Lastly, exception may be taken in some quarters to private signs, words and tokens, as constituting a secret society.

To all these objections, however, answers more or less satisfactory may be given. To the first it may be replied that the administration of oaths is already permitted in the case of other private societies, and notably in the case of the Freemasons. To the second objection it may be replied that the inexpediency of promissory oaths respecting matters of opinion, if evident, is not established as a principle of morality or of public policy. To the third objection it may be replied that the limitation is in conformity with the spirit at least of the Act of Settlement and of the Coronation oath. To the fourth objection it may be replied that the anniversary of the Boyne is not partisan but national, and that William's victory over James was till quite recently celebrated by a special service of the national Church. To the fifth objection it may be replied that the Roman Catholic Church is allowed the privileges of incorporation, notwithstanding that it regards mixed marriages To the last objection it may be replied that the Orange Association, though in a certain sense secret, is not so in a sense which is practically objectionable, since, in the language of its statutes, "the rules of the society are open not only to members of the Institution, but to the whole community, there is no reserve except the signs and symbols whereby Orangemen know each other, and these may not be revealed to the proper qualification of the Brotherhood or the recognition of the members, and the prevention of intrusion and imposture from strangers and enemies."

On the whole, if the statutes are to be the criterion, we lean to the conviction that the course taken by Mr. Mowat personally was right, and that there was not sufficient grounds for refusing the incorporation. At the same time there was abundant room for honest difference of opinion, and our cordial re-pect is due to those Protestant members of the Government and of the House generally who believing the incorporation of a partisan society to be contrary to the duty of the State, braved the resentment of a powerful interest rather than sacrifice their conviction The Orangemen would be unfaithful to the principal of liberty, which they are sworn to uphold, and guilty of the persecution from which they are sworn to abstain, if they visited with political vengeance a conscientious opposition to their demand. Next to corruption, the political vice which most besets us on this continent is cowardice, and the unmanly avowal of conviction, whether in friend or foe, will be honored and prised by all who are really loyal to the country.

We should hail, as a national event more important than the result of any of our political struggles, a favourable change in the disastrous fortune of the Grand Trunk Railway, the state of which has been not only a commercial evil of the first magnitude but the worst possible advertisement for the country. Since the communicated article with which this number opens was put to press, a scheme has been proposed, in London, to tide over the latest crises in the affairs of the Company Mr. Alexander McEwan, its author, attempted some years ago, with the aid of his friends, to obtain control of a majority of the stock; but after running up the price to nearly double the figure at which they found it, and losing an immense sum of money, they failed in their object. The same gentleman, at another time, ventured and lost a sum which could not have been much if at all short of half a million of dollars in petroleum oil lands, mainly suppositions, in Canada. But these failures have not destroyed his credit and influence with men who exercise great authority on the Stock Exchange. Mr. McEwan's latest proposal is to issue £10,000,000 of new ordinary Grand Trunk stock at twenty per cent., the produce of which would be £2,000,000 in cash The creation of this stock would transfer the controlling authority of the company to new hands; for the new proprietors, being able to outvote the old, would obtain that authority in the management of the company which Mr. McEwan and his friends once before sought in vain to secure. The charge would be equivalent to the sale of the road for one purpose but not for another: it would create a new depository of power, but it would not hand over the property at its present market value. The whole scheme is based on the assumption that, with some reduction of interest—the second preferences to 6 per cent., the third to 4½, and the fourth to 4, till the ordinary stock gets a three per cent. dividend—the company can carry the whole weight of the present capital, with two millions superadded, and prosper. The grounds on which this very hopeful estimate is based are: increased carrying capacity, stated to twenty per cent., to be derived from the substitution of steel for iron rails, which can be rapidly effected by means of the new capital; the reduction of the gauge to 4 feet 8½ inches, by which large supplies of rolling stock on corresponding American lines would be secured [illegible]; and [illegible] management.

If new capital is to be raised, without pledging the old to the present value of the property that represents it, there can be no more unobjectionable mode of doing so than by the issue of preference shares. British and Canadian [illegible] would be an advantage to a rapid change from iron to steel rails, and [illegible] the power of carrying [illegible] by means [illegible] of passengers.

Victoria Railway Bill.

The Lindsay papers are jubilant over the passing of the Victoria Railway Bill confirming the unjust grouping principle for bonuses. Injustice is a good cause for rejoicing.

Libel Suit.

It is understood that Mr. John H. Cameron has been retained by Mr. Dodge in his Libel suit against the Globe. Mr. C. will succeed better than Canon Ramsay in obtaining his fee.

West Durham.

Mr. E. B. Wood's election for West Durham is certain, and will add another to the array of talent on the Opposition of the House.

The Ontario Times.

We have received the first number of the above paper, commencing its career at the village of Cannington, in the county of Ontario. It has a very respectable appearance as to size and letter print. It is ultra in its leanings to the John A. Macdonald party. Notwithstanding this we can and do wish the Times that liberal patronage that will ensure success. There is room in Ontario for diverse opinions, without envy or illfeeling.

Canadians may look out for an additional $30,000,000 to our already large debt next year, and before ten years $60,000,000 more as a legacy to the country through the statesmanship (!) of Sir John, Sir Francis and S. The Witness Libel.

The Grand Jury brought in "True Bill" in this case. The whole affair had the appearance of a piece of persecution of the Witness for its boldness in dwell in question the policy of closing dram shops, Sunday, champagne, &c., &c., a stumpage of public opinion. The dealer who made the world of it.

Personal.

W. J. Armstrong, Esq., the present Treasurer and Commissioner of Agriculture in the Province of British Columbia is a native of the town of Peterborough, being born here about the year 1830. His father, Wm. Armstrong, Esq., kept store in this town in connection with the late John Brown, whose brother-in-law he was, not far, we believe, from where Messrs Nicholls & Hall now keep. Mrs. Armstrong dying, when the subject of this sketch was an infant, the family removed to the Township of Cavan, where Mr. Armstrong resided on his farm till the year 1858, when he emigrated to California, taking three sons with him, and leaving in Canada one son and three daughters, one of whom is at present a citizen of Peterborough. After some years residence in California, the gold excitement in British Columbia induced them to remove to New Westminister, but instead of digging for gold, the eldest of the three boys, now Minister of Agriculture, commenced business and prospered. After the formation of the territory into a Province, and on its union with Canada as a part of the Dominion, Mr. Armstrong became a candidate for election in the Liberal interests, but was defeated by a few votes. A new election taking place he contested the same County and was elected by a considerable majority, and is now as we learn Treasurer and Commissioner of Agriculture of the Province. We believe, however, that their Treasurer is styled Minister of Finance. Mr. Armstrong's numerous friends and relations in Cavan will be pleased to learn that he fills a place of so much honor and trust in the Province of his adoption. His third election was by acclamation.

Local Jottings.

Lost its voice.

The Episcopal Church Bell has been scarcely able to raise its voice loud enough to be heard during Lent.

Mr. Barber,

Superintendent of the Cobourg and Peterboro Railroad, is preparing to commence laying the rails from Mud Lake to Rice Lake. If the people of Verulam and Bobcaygeon take active steps, the road might be got to that village ere long. There can be no great difficulty in the way.

Three Jolly Orestares.

On Monday, three squaws, it might be added young squaws, one of them with a pappoose in her arms, were enjoying themselves, having imbibed as much fire water as they could easily carry without manifesting undue attraction for mother earth. The red woman does not appear to be much behind her liege lord in her fondness for strong drink. The pappoose took it quietly enough.

Non Est.

Mr. Keelehor doing business as Grocer and Liquor dealer in Henthorn's block, quietly removed his stock during Friday night, last, and was non est in the morning, leaving some of our merchants minus a portion of their accounts. Keelehor was reported as seen at Young's Point on Saturday morning, and a constable was sent in pursuit.

Maple Leaf Cricket Club.

A large meeting of this Cricket Club was held on Friday evening last, in Mr. Geo. Johnston's shop, Water street when the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:—

President—Thos. Quinsey.
Vice-President—Geo. J. Chalmers.
Captain—T. Rutherford.
Sec. & Treas.—E. Bradburn.
Committee—Messrs. Montgomery, G. Johnston, Martin, Walsh and Green.

Mr. Robert Patterson

Died on Friday last in the 34th year of his age. He was therefore comparatively a young man and was universally esteemed by all who knew him. His remains were followed to their last resting place on Monday by a large number of sorrowing relatives and an immense funeral cortege.

Mr. Robert McNabb

Son of the late Dr. McNabb, died on Thursday, at the residence of Mr. Thos. Mennie. He had been ailing for some time, but lately was considered somewhat improved in health. It is only about three years since Mrs. McNabb died. He leaves a son and two daughters to mourn their bereavement, although at present carefully provided for by their grandfather, R. D. Rogers, Esq. Rev. T. Gough will preach a funeral sermon on the occasion, Sabbath next, in the Good Templars Hall.

Mr. R. C. Hill

Complains that not many of the Town Fathers attend the performances in the Music Hall, and as a consequence, the peace loving citizens of the town who do attend, suffer from rowdies not kept in subjection by the police authorities. It is too bad that people who do attend cannot have peace and comfort while there. The Town Fathers should not a better example by their fellow citizens, and attend to their duties by their presence at the shows.

Clear the Corners.

The Chief Constable would do well to try if he can pass the corners of the streets these days. If he can he will find it will require more than common exertion on his part, and if a strong man can scarcely get along, what must become of the ladies. The corners should be cleared.

A Rumour

That the body of Mr. E. Chrowe lately drowned at Dickson's dam, had been often passing down the river on Monday evening turned out to be incorrect.

The Peterborough Bowling Club

At a meeting of the above named club, on the 2rd inst. the following gentlemen were appointed officers.—President, H. Calcut, Esq.; 1st Vice-president, T. R. Clementi, Esq.; 2nd Vice-president, G. A. Toker, Esq.; Secretary and Treasurer, G. A Farmer,—Committee, Messrs. C. Barlee, W. J. Nesbitt, H. T. Stoinkhest, D. MacDougall, A. H. Peck, L. R. Price, D. James and G. Rogers.

Intending members are requested to send in their names to the Secretary.

Independent Band Concert.

Remember the Independent Band concert on Friday evening. The programme is considered a good one. We hope for them a full house, as the proceeds of the concert are to be devoted to the laudable purpose of providing the Band with a new uniform.

From Mexico.

We have been requested to intimate that Miss Bates, late of Port Hope, has commenced dressmaking in this town, and is now prepared to do up pumps, Grand Street. Mexico is a region.

Millinery Knowledge will be opened on Tuesday, 15th Instant. They have bought largely of every novelty of the season, in hats, bonnets, ribbons, flowers, &c. They have greatly improved the premises and are now prepared to do business on a much larger scale than heretofore. The Ladies would do well to examine their New Styles.

Meeting with the Times.

Mr. Robert Graham of Lakefield, has received a large stock of fancy and staple dry goods, and groceries, &c., which he is offering at reasonable prices. Mr. Graham has also employed a first class Milliner, and is prepared to supply his customers with the most fashionable styles of goods now in the market. We believe too that Mr. Graham's is the only millinery establishment north of Peterborough, and he deserves the favor and patronage of the public for supplying a want that must have been felt in Lakefield.

Knox College.

Among the names of those who have obtained Scholarships at the closing examination of the 2nd theological year of the College, we find that of Mr. I. Campbell, of North Monaghan, obtained for Greek exegetics and general proficiency.

THE ASSIZES.

The Court of Assize and General Jail delivery opened here yesterday before Chief Justice Richards.

The Court House was densely crowded, owing to the general anxiety to hear the trial of Brenton for the murder of Mrs. Payne, and the boy Doughty.

After the calling of the Grand Jury, the Judge addressed them, referring to the class of cases likely to come before them, dwelling particularly on what constitutes murder, and the difference between what constitutes murder, and what manslaughter. He stated that they were to hear the evidence on behalf of the Crown and then form their verdict therefrom.

We understand that there are 7 criminal cases in all: 1 for murder, 1 for perjury, and the others for petty larceny.

THE GRAND JURY,—As. H. Campbell, Esq., Foreman, D. Baker, J. Baker, J. Barry, John Brown, Jas. Best E. D. Boyd, Peter Connal, Wm. Deyell, John Doherty, John Erskine, John Flood Jos. Grant, Garret Galvin, James Hogan, J. Ledgate, Jeremiah McCarthy, William Moher, Edward O'Donnell, Sidney Payne James Robb, W. E. Roxborough, Roland Strickland, Alex. Smith, Wm. Whitla.

The first case was O'NEILS vs. McILMOYLE.

This was a case of Replevin. McIlmoyle had agreed to take out ties for the Messrs J. & R. O'Neil of Port Hope, to be delivered at Lakefield, near the Railway track. McIlmoyle thought that if he let them remove the ties he might have difficulty in settling, and obtaining his pay. Part of the ties were delivered, and the O'Neils Replevied the remainder believing they were paid for.

Judgement for plf. $2. J. D. Armour, for plf.; W. H. Scott for deft.

BROWNLEE vs. SCOTT.—Verdict by consent, $10,261. Smith for plf., Poussette for Scott.

JOSEPH vs. WILSON.—Verdict by consent, $256.66. The civil cases are not likely to take up much time. The case of Brenton may not come off till Saturday or Monday, although it may come off sooner. We understand that Brenton refuses to have counsel, but it is understood that in that case the Judge will appoint counsel for him. Mr. Armour manages the Crown business.

THE ELGIN FRAUDS.

The opposition press industriously circulated the most infamous falshood in reference to the hon. Mr. McKeller, and his connection with what is known as the Elgin Association. The object was as diabolical as the promptera could fancy. In their frenzy they also implicated the Rev. Mr. King, so as if possible not only to injure the political leaders but also the cause of religion, by representing fraud on the part of Messrs. McKellar and King, while working under the garb of religion and liberty. Mr. McKellar added his time until he had secured all the papers connected with the association, and also letters from the parties in England represented as defrauded, when he in his place in Parliament proved conclusively that from the Mail down to the most petty bat of the way, chartered weekly the most unblushing falshoods had been circulated concerning his connection with the association and the mission.

Rykert, Leader & Co., attempted to clear themselves of false charges by asserting that they never accused him, but this was only adding falsehood to their already large list of shortcomings. We had intended to give a report of Mr. McKellar's speech in the House on the occasion and the ungentlemanly course pursued by his maligners, but want of space has hitherto prevented us. It is due to the hon. gentleman that all who have read the slanders should have an opportunity of reading his open, straightforward, and unanswerable defence of his character.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

No business of importance has yet been undertaken by the Ministry. Sir John A. Macdonald is not safe of the House on important matters. The vote on the petition against Mr. Wilkes taught him that he must not trifle too much with the members. He succeeded in defeating Mr. Huntingdon's resolution for a committee to enquire into the Pacific Railway charter and accepting of

A BRIBE OF $300,000

From American capitalists to influence Confederation, promising as an equivalent that those capitalists should have the contract. It is now affirmed that some of his own supporters have compelled him to grant the committee, as it was too much for them to swallow and return to their constituents again.

The House will adjourn over Friday, but will resume on Saturday, so that there will not be a long recess. Mr. Cleveland has been so ill since he went to Ottawa that his life has been despaired of. We are glad to learn that he is convalescing and is expected home soon.

The Peterboro Outrage will not be delayed we understand, as the Returning Officer has been notified to be in readiness to open up Queen on the 26th instant, or thereabouts. Full particulars have not been received however. It is understood that the Committee on the Petitions will be named on the 16th.

OUR SCHOOLS.

It is more than passing strange that persons elected in addresses to their school matters, should be commencing at this time. It is true that even in the best regulated establishments, unpleasantness may occur, arising out of the surroundings, rather than the management of the establishment itself perhaps.—

A strong desire not to injure a teacher's prospects gives occasion for the perorations that are now flowing so mellifluently from the pens of the Editors of our confrere.

Mr. Black, who originated this "tempest in a tea pot," has been unfortunate in thus bringing himself so prominently before the public. It is nothing uncommon for teachers to supply information to newspaper men, nor is there anything wrong in doing so, but it is very rare indeed, that they furnish information tending to the injury of their own schools. There is now no doubt as to Mr. Black being the writer of the article in the Review.

He acknowledges that his connection with the Review was such that he could not in honor tell whether he did or did not write it, but he did not deny having written it, nor does the responsible editor deny it. He says its nobody's business, and stands on his dignity.

THE CHARGES.

1st—The Board is increasing, unnecessarily, the Teachers in the Collegiate Institute to the detriment of the Public Schools.

Before the coming into force of the Amended Grammar School Act, Miss Hatton's, Miss Borrowman's and Mr. McFaul's Divisions were portions of the Common School department. It was thought that by engaging an additional Teacher or two, and by including those three divisions in the Grammar School department, more attention could be given to the pupils in those three divisions, in reference to a higher English education: that the Board would then be able to engage superior teachers, who could devote more time to these subjects, while they could also devote a portion of their time to teaching Latin, Greek, French or German, as required; and the Board engaged Miss Hatton for the highest department of girls, on the recommendation of Professor Young, so as to enable them to carry the scheme into effect, nor did Miss Hatton cease to teach English grammar, reading, penmanship, commercial arithmetic and drawing in her division during engagement.

Under the male teachers it was believed the same course would be pursued, and in all the examinations of Mr. McKenzie and Mr. McLellan, particular attention was paid to spelling, grammatical construction and commercial arithmetic, and success in these branches was held by both those gentlemen, of more vits importance than success in Greek, Latin, or the higher mathematics.

If therefore one teacher in the building neglected his duty and disregarded the remonstrances of the Principal, the whole school should not suffer on his account.

2nd—That the Public School Department is neglected.

There will be some difficulty in establishing this count.

The Teachers in the Public School are not inferior to those in any similar institution in the Province. The system pursued in the whole School is after the most approved plans of the best educators of the day, and the progress of the pupils will compare favorably with those of any equal number in any Public School in the Country, and we are not speaking at random in saying so. The permanency of the pupils will be found as good as can be expected from children of their age, and their spelling, not behind some who are writing for the Press.

The charge that the pupils leaving the School cannot write a decent English prose sentences, (why did they not say poetry?) is in keeping with the rest of the charges.

It is well known that only a few of the men who have completed their education, (even at the schools where the editors of the Review did), can write in decent English, either prose or poetry. For example:—

Selections from "A Cowardly Course."

"By the proceedings," &c., "our readers will observe" :—"Observe by proceedings."

"Members of the Board . . . have attempted to wreak their vengeance on Mr. Black "whom," they, in their all seeing wisdom, have made up their minds, "is" either the author or instigator of the same."

"Whom . . . is . . . . . the author" &c.—Decent English for a great writer.

"Such a publicity would . . . . be the means of curtailing . . . . newspapers of much valuable information and talent, which is of the greatest public service."

"Information and talent, which is" &c.

"Curtailing newspapers of information."

Where is Lindley Murray?

"Their business is to see that MR BLACK AND EVERY OTHER TEACHER in the School DISCHARGES properly the duties devolving upon THEM as teachers." (The capitals are ours.)

A plural subject, and a pronoun them agreeing therewith, but a verb in the singular: must be imitating the syntax of the dolts who have left the School.

"Confident that whichever horn of the dilemma they have got themselves into they may select."

Got themselves into the horn of a dilemma.

These selections speak for themselves as well as for the English education of the writer or writers thereof, and we venture the assertion that very few, if any of the boys of the school, would violate all the established grammatical rules so systematically if all set their minds to work with that object in view.

We have no desire to be over critical, and are lenient enough to believe that "A Cowardly Course" was written in haste. Perhaps bad temper had something to do with the grammatical combination.

3rd—That the peoples' money is being foolishly squandered on the High School.

Not a cent of the peoples' money that should go to support the Public Schools, is used for High School purposes.

Mr. O'Beirne has just completed his financial statement for the Education Department, and from it we select the following items:

Gov. Grants for year 1872	$2250 00
[illegible] Grant	[illegible]
	$4321 00

The Statute requires that one-half the amount granted by the Government must be raised by assessment for the High School purposes.

The Board's requisition asking for the High School purposes, was for $4,000, which is $954.50 more than the construction of the Act would permit.

The payment agrees like wooing the people's money on High School work.

It is well known that Grammar Schools are paid according "to results" and the amount per pupil ranges from $5 to $10.50

In view of this the Board noted wisely in engaging an additional teacher so as to secure the best results and consequently secure the largest possible grant.

For the last half of 1872, the grant was $1328. Suppose an equal amount be granted for the first half of 73, the entire High School grant would be $2,656.

Municipal grant,	1,328,
To Collegiate Institute,	750.
Total,	$4,734

The salaries for the year, according to the late increase, about $5,000. Leaving only to be provided for, $266.

But if Peterborough be placed among the first class of High Schools, the increased grant will fully meet this $266, and thus the board will secure the best results without increased rates on the people.

So much for this charge, and all the others are of a similar kind, without any foundation whatever, other than the heated imaginations of a dissapointed teacher.

THE POLITICAL CHARGE.

There is more gas than politics in this phase of it, as to insinuate political influences might gain sympathy, where other things fail.

Mr. McLelland appears to be a gentleman, (would that this could be said of his detractors,) and had no more idea of using his influence for Mr. Christie on political grounds, than his detractors have of telling the truth.

It would not surprise us to learn that Mr. Christie is a conservative, and what if he is, if he be a good teacher.

Both Mr. McFaul and Mr. Black, in turn, have shown their party leanings, and not always, in an honorable way. Yet not a word was raised against them on account of their political sympathies, but it is only a mean dodge of the writer in the Review to divert attention from the more important issues, his own incompetency.

CURIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

The Editor, Sub-Editor and other members of the Review Editorial Staff made a flying visit to the Public School and Collegiate Institute on Tuesday.

They never did so before in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. What's up?

CURIOUS; VERY!

The Review now Reports the proceedings of the School Board: Didn't do so until lately. Is there a black sheep in building who has sinned by not being born a Conservative? Can there be? Don't know. Who cares?

CURIOSITY NO. III.

There are three members of the Gas Company on the present School Board. Is that the cause of so much light getting into School matters these times? It is curious, indeed.

CURIOUS, VERY!

The Report in the Review of the last meeting of the School Board is not according to facts in important particulars. Why are these things so? Is it not curious that in the midst of so strong desires (?) for light there should be any darkness.

Mr. O'Beirne did not advise the suppression of the minutes referring to Mr. Black, only of the motion that was with drawn.

ASHBURNHAM.

The Council met on Monday evening. All the members were present.

The Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The detailed statement of the Treasurer for 1872 was submitted by the Auditors, and on motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Burnham—The Clerk was authorized to publish an Abstract of it, as provided by law.

An account of Mr. T. B. Clementi for furnishing a tracing of the Buchanan Property, known as Block "N," and amounting to $2.50, was presented to the Council and ordered to be paid.

A By-law appointing John Howden, Constable and Overseer of Highways for the Village for the year, was introduced and passed. His salary is to be $200.

On motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Peck—The whole Council were appointed a Committee on Streets and Bridges for the year.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Bennett—The Council agreed to furnish Shade Trees to be planted in the streets of the Village to all Ratepayers applying for them up to the 25th instant. They are to be planted under the direction of the Inspector of Streets and Bridges.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, it was agreed—That the Court of Revision be held on the 26th day of May, in the Council Chamber, at 7 o'clock, p.m. and the Clerk was instructed to give the necessary notice.

A letter was read from Messrs Robertson & Walsh, publishers of the Times, offering to do the Village advertising fifty per cent lower than usual rates, and urging the acceptance of their offer on the plea that they have the largest circulation in the County.

Shades of Faustus! is thy old reported associate still with thee?

The Council adjourned.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening.

Present, his Worship the Mayor in the chair, and Messrs. Smith, Helm, Landy, Hopkins, Deane, Sperry, Dixon, Burrit, Moore, Towle, and English.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Clerk submitted a return of the charities to the 1st of April amounting to $230.56.

A petition was received from Mr. R. C. Hill, in reference to rowdies in the Music Hall. The matter was referred to the Mayor.

A petition from Elizabeth Hogan, asking the Council to pay her passage to Hog Bay on one of the Island steamers, was received.

A communication from [illegible] was referred to the Committee on Streets and Bridges for the year.

Mr. [illegible] was appointed Pound Keeper for the Village for the year, at a salary of $[illegible] per annum.

Council adjourned to meet on the 5th day of May next.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

The Steamer [illegible] ran on Tuesday [illegible] and touched at Queenston this morning to receive mails and passengers, after which she started on her voyage across the ocean. She had a full cargo of general merchandize, and a very large number of passengers. Mr. Bradley could not give the precise number, but he thought there were more than 500 in the steerage and about 50 in the cabin. These, with her crew, would make a total number of not less than 1,000 souls. She was commanded by Captain James Agnew Williams. Rough weather was experienced, but nothing worthy of note occurred until Monday, the 31st, when the coals being short, Capt. Williams resolved to put into Halifax for a supply. The Captain and Mr. Bradley had the night watch up to midnight, when they were relieved by the chief and fourth officer. At that time they judged that the Sambro light then bore north-west 30 miles. The sea was rough and the night dark. The chief and fourth officer having taken charge Mr. Bradley went below and turned into his berth. The Captain at the same time went into his room to lie down. What occurred between midnight and two o'clock—the time at which the disaster occurred—Mr. Bradley can't tell, as he was sleeping. He was awakened by being thrown out of his berth by the shock when the steamer struck. She struck heavily.

Three or four times Mr. Bradley ran up to the deck, and found it full of passengers, he found an axe, and with it commenced to clear away the starboard life boat, and he observed that the captain and other officers were engaged in clearing other boats. Mr Bradley succeeded in getting his life preserver out, and a rush was made for the boat, this was the only boat launched, and it had no sooner touched the water than a crowd made a rush to get into it. Mr. Bradley had to use force to prevent them crowding in. He put two women in, and about a dozen men also got in. Just then the steamer fell over, and sank the boat with its living freight, and it was carried down, and all in it were drowned. There was a terrible scene, the hull of the steamer became almost totally submerged, and only the bow and the masts remained above the water. The greater part of the passengers were in their rooms below at the time, and were immediately drowned, locked in, as soon after striking did the vessel sink, that many of the passengers were no doubt sleeping peacefully, in blissful ignorance of all that was going on around them, and passed into eternity without a struggle. Of those on deck, numbering several hundred, many were washed overboard when the ship fell over, and their cries for help as they struggled in vain for life, were most heartrending. More, however, had taken refuge in the rigging and on the bow, and were still living, but with the prospect of almost certain death before them, for they knew not where they were, and were in momentary expectation of the ship sinking further and engulfing them all, even as they were clinging in despair to the rigging, with the sea washing them continuously. Their situation was most trying. Every few minutes some of them, benumbed by cold and exhausted from their struggles, loosed their hold and perished.

Two steamers left here at 1 a. m. to-day for the scene. Nothing further till they return.

THE WEST PETERBOROUGH ELECTION

The House of Commons, by a majority of twenty-five has expressed its approval of the conduct of the partizan returning officer in West Peterboro, who declared the minority candidate elected at the last election. No greater outrage upon the liberties of the people was ever perpetrated by any parliament. The obvious effect of this decision will be, that henceforth candidates will be altogether at the mercy of returning officer, who upon the most frivolous alleged legal informality, may prevent the candidate receiving the majority of votes from taking his seat until such time as he can prove himself entitled to it before a partizan committee in the House of Commons. As was forcibly pointed out by Mr. Wilkes, the member for Center Toronto, during the debate which occured in the House, fifty such cases might arise during a single general election—all arising from the determination of returning officers to return only those candidates to whom they were friendly. In that case, one third of the members in the House could be occupying seats to which they had no right whatever, and an unscrupulous Minister could retain himself in power for a session contrary to the votes of the people at the polls. The tactics resorted to by Sir John to secure the sanction of the House to such an outrage were, though temporarily successful, most disgraceful, and will be sure to recoil on himself and those whom he made use of, before the expiration of the present Parliament. If the maritime provinces persist in uniting with Sir John in thwarting the wishes of Ontario, right or wrong, there can be little doubt who will suffer most, eventually. The weaker provinces should be the strongest opponents of sectionalism in the House.—Ed.

A NEW MODE OF POISONING.—A girl about 18 years of age the daughter of honest parents in Perugia, has commited suicide through having been crossed in a love affair by her parents. The hotheaded girl told them as they would not consent to her marriage with the young man of her affection, she did not know what to do with her unhappy life, and that she must die. She was talking in the coolest manner possible whilst drinking a cup of coffee, in which she had previously boiled the lignin of a quantity of lucifer matches, and in two hours after she was a corpse, to the despair of her parents who, out of love for her hadnired to prevent a marriage which they knew could not exist on account of their child.

SELWYN TEMPLE, NO. 50.

At a regular meeting of Selwyn Temple No. 50, I. O. G. T held on the 7th inst., the following resolutions were carried unanimously:—

Moved by Bro. J. W. Moore, seconded by Bro. Robert Brodin,—Resolved, that the thanks of the members of this Temple are hereby tendered to Dr Clarke, M. P. P, for the Prohibition Bill recently brought into the Legislature of Ontario.

It was also moved by Bro. Jno. Graham seconded by Bro. Samuel McKee,—That the thanks of the members of this Temple are hereby most cordially given to T. M. Fairbairn, Esq., M. P. P., our excellent Member, and the Members of the Legislature of Ontario who assisted Dr. Clarke in the noble cause of Temperance.—COM.

THE WRECK OF THE ATLANTIC.

The following are the particulars of this fearful disaster causing the loss of 750 lives.

Halifax, April 1.—The loss of a steamer at Meagher's Island, near Prospect, has just been reported by a messenger from thence. She is said to be the Atlantic, of the White Star Line, from Liverpool, bound to New York, with a large number of emigrants and a considerable cargo.

The captain, first officer, and a large number of the passengers are said to be lost.

The vessel will become a total wreck.

The Government steamer, Lady Head goes to her at once. The Canards send the steamer Delta. The place is about thirty miles from Sambro.

The following is the Chronicle's report of the disaster: It is our painful duty this morning to record the most terrible marine disaster that has ever occurred on our coast. [illegible] Saturday afternoon a report became current that a steamer had been wrecked on the coast, and nearer two lives lost. The report was [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the result of Oils which they may contain.

August 31st, 1873.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic woman, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is your remedy.

I am yours truly.

Footsteps of Angels.

When the hours of day are numbered,
And the voices of the Night
Wake the better soul, that slumbered,
To a holy, calm delight;

Ere the evening lamps are lighted,
And, like phantoms grim and tall,
Shadows from the fitful fire-light
Dance upon the parlor wall:

Then the forms of the departed
Enter at the open door;
The beloved, the tender-hearted,
Come to visit me once more;

He, the young and strong, who cherished
Noble longings for the strife,
By the road-side fell and perished,
Weary with the march of life!

They, the holy ones and weakly,
Who the cares of suffering bore,
Folded their pale hands so meekly,
Spake with us on earth no more!

And with them the Being Beauteous,
Who unto my youth was given,
More than all things else to love me,
And is now a saint in heaven.

With a slow and solemn footstep
Comes the messenger divine,
Takes the vacant chair beside me,
Lays her gentle hand in mine.

And she sits and gazes at me
With those deep and tender eyes,
Like the stars, so still and saint-like,
Looking downward from the skies.

Uttered not, yet comprehended,
Is the spirit's voiceless prayer,
Soft rebukes, in blessings ended,
Breathing from her lips of air.

Oh, though oft depressed and lonely,
All my fears are laid aside,
If I but remember only
Such as these have lived and died!

—Longfellow's Poems.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Henry Ward Beecher enters an emphatic protest against capital punishment, in view of the execution of Foster, the Car Hook paper says:

The brutal custom of hanging, so far from effecting any good moral results, served only to harden the community, making worse and more reckless those already prone to crime, and reconciling the better classes callous and indifferent to human suffering. An all-wise Providence had undoubtedly given us the right to exact but this penalty should be demanded only when its payment will tend to the safety of the community. In the present state of society this result is not arrived at. Our past experience has shown that the death penalty, so far from checking crime, has produced a diametrically opposite effect.

A LIFE FOR A LIFE,

Men guilty of the highest offence known to the law should be placed under restraint; but unless absolute necessity demands it, the law should refrain from taking a life which it has no power to restore. The ancient Jews, abiding by the stern old law of Moses, which demands blood for blood, punished their criminals with death, and none can say that the penalties was not just; but their state of society was not ours, and at this date the horrible spectacle of a human being in all the vigor of health and strength dying on the gallows is one which can serve no purpose, save to revolt and disgust the more refined classes, and to harden and brutalize those of less delicate organization. For years in the State prison, without hope of escape, affords a far better and higher moral example than any number of executions.

Another motive should lead us to abolish this barbarous practice. Not that the reaction following the recent vindication of outraged law upon Foster has set in, it will be found almost, if not entirely, impossible to obtain a jury willing to convict a prisoner of a capital offence. This is clearly foretold by the efforts made to save the unhappy man from the ignominious death which he has suffered, and more than all by the strenuous exertions made by the jury who convicted him to undo their own work. Knowing that their verdict of guilty, which one given cannot be recalled, will consign to the scaffold, one who, however grievously he may have sinned against the laws of God and man, is still a fellow creature

It was much to be regretted, Mr. Beecher said, that such publicity had been given to the case of Foster. For two weeks many of the newspapers, during their time devoted to their duty, have been printing columns after columns daily upon the matter to be found of the crime for which Foster paid so dear a penalty, but commenting upon every portion of a life which at least was sadly misspent. Foster was never a good man nor a desirable citizen, but the crime for which he died was the only one with which the public had anything to do, and the detailed accounts again and again reiterated of his sinful career could only serve to render callous the minds of the readers.

THE DUTY OF THE PUBLIC.

In conclusion Mr Beecher spoke very impressively of the cry which had in many instances been raised against the doomed man. "Do you think," said he, "that when you have foreigned against the law for its delay, against judge and jury for allowing the pleadings of mercy to have part in their counsels; when you have exhausted every argument against pardoning the criminal, clamored for justice, and shouted yourselves hoarse with urging the necessity of vindicating the so called outraged majesty of law, and bringing the unfortunate man to condign punishment; when, finally you have seen him expiate his crime upon the gallows; when you have done all this, do you think you have done your whole duty? Had you no duty to perform before the deed was committed? Have you as patriotic citizens done all that lay in your power to prevent the crime which you were so eager to punish? Have you tried to abolish the squalid dens where men are maddened with liquor—the filthy streets, the disgraceful, demoralizing boarding-houses, and the unnumbered sinks of iniquity where crime is fostered and bred? And when represented to you that good schools and sound education were the great preventives of evil deeds, did you do all that lay in your power to make them universal? If you have done these, then, indeed, you have contributed your share to the safety of the community; but duty is ill spent which looks only to the punishment of crime, and gives no thought to the welfare of the soul.

The North Wind.

California Summers are rainless. The moisture for growth of crops falls in the Winter season—most of it between the 1st December, and 1st April. If the rain-fall of the entire season aggregates fifteen inches, and if it be well distributed in all the Winter months, a fair crop may be expected. The wheat crop of the State for 1872 was over 30,000,000 bushels: for the rain-fall of the previous Winter had been over thirty-five (35) inches. In 1870 and 1871, crops were light, in some places entire failures, for the rain-fall had been only from nine to thirteen inches. The prevalence of North winds militates against the farmers, and injures the crop prospects. These winds are not cold—even when they occur in the Winter, the air is warm—from 60° to 70° in the latitude of San Francisco; but very dry. The South wind brings rain; the West and North-west wind is balmy, and laden with moisture; but the North wind dries the ground—the grass withers—the flowers fade. Its breath blasts the growing crops, the earth is parched and dry, and cannot be ploughed. Such a wind has prevailed here now for three days, and I observe a peculiar electric, or magnetic, condition of the air, which renders men nervous and irritable.—Women scold on slight provocation, men quarrel and fight readily, and all complain of restlessness, and inability to sleep. The coal miners tell me, that even when burrowing thousands of feet in the base of Mount Diablo, they can know when the North wind blows; they can feel its peculiarities in the air which the steam engines force into their drifts and tunnels.

I cannot think this all fancy born of fear, that the "ill wind" will dry up all the moisture that has fallen: for even children and animals seem to feel its unpleasantness.

The contrast to-night is striking. A terrible spell—a presentiment of evil, seems lifted from all. The wind has changed to the South, and comes to us laden with moisture and promise of rain.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The many remarkable cures of scrofulous complaints effected by this alterative, many of which are truly marvellous, demonstrate the fact that the seeds of Scrofulous disease, whose the system is poisoned constitute with corruption, have been planted and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of maladies or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed in a throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the acknowledged use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, although, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Sores or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this will cure the complaint. Rheumatism or White Swellings, Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and followed by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the effects or symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purpose of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositon. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first cause of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well-known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season, seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaint, &c.

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY SEPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

Beware of Counterfeits.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

One Dollar a Bottle. Six Bottles for Five Dollars.

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.

Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of their Seed Store, next door to Mechanics Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro, and in so doing solicit a call and special attention to the following facts:—

1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by themselves direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business themselves, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.

3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.

4th. That should they or any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing their vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale.

5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may well safely be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which can grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which one at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.

Seedling Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Giles, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 484, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.
A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are. Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Nipples, Bunyon's Back, Pearliess Boils Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breast, Itch, Scald Head, Teething, Chapped Hands Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Crushed Lips, and Sores on Children

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Piles this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick
Brunswick, April 4, 1867.
MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you continued to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it now. It will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years and would be a cripple to-day if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It will it heals it, and takes out the inflammation, gives fresh and swelling, and does for him all that it claims. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything and consider it invaluable in a family. If you can use this testimony together, and it can be of any use to you, you are welcome.
Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

Home Again.

Home again! I spared the perils of years,
Spared of rough seas and rougher lands,
And I look in your eyes once, once again,
Hear your voices and grasp you hands;

Not changed the least, least bit in the world,
Not aged a day, as it seems to me,
The same dear faces, the same dear home—
All the same as it used to be!

Ah, here is the garden, here the limes
Still in their summer green and gold,
Ah, the level town with the spires in it
What a the grass has been new'ly rolled.

And here's come the rabbit a jumpin' along—
No, that's never the same white doe
With the pinky lops and the munching mouth,
Yet 'tis like her as snow to snow.

And here's Nep in his old bandit style,
Erect, chain-tight eating all he can,
With Topsy wagging that truth of tail—
What, you know me again, old man?

The good old folks [illegible] and bless,
The gold fish in the pond—the same,
Too fat and lazy to dive once—you rise
Shoot, and [illegible] come out like a flame.

And still in the meadow, daisy white,
Lie white as ever the new mown hay,
And the lilacs by the old cottage look,
Gillyflowers and pinks by the way.

And ponder in the room with the glistening face,
Sam, I now and then chase across the blue,
And she who sits by me, more long, here
Our fates a-weaving between me two.

No change, say, it only seems last night
I blundered back your long-lost boys,
As I hear the sweet lips from the waves
And fall into their arms on my knees.

Only [illegible] that poor Jim, the [illegible] wretch,
Knocked on the [illegible] not by,
And poor Nick Jim's white face stooped out,
Dimly seen while I stole away.

Poor Nick Jim, in his happy hour
His woe, white face our [illegible] recall,
And I [illegible] and voice, and see
The little cuddle beside the wall.

So all Nick's sunshine is flecked with the [illegible]
So all delight is touched with pain,
So turns of our sad [illegible] joy
Welcome he wander or home again.

Money Market.

The firmness in stocks in spite of the stringency in money is a peculiar feature of the financial situation. The explanation, we believe, will be found in the fact that the brokers have mostly all arranged for the loans necessary to carry them through June, and have therefore, for the time, control of the market. We may expect a heavy unloading of stocks on the eve of the next dividend, and it would not be at all surprising to find stocks much lower with ease in money in the months of July and August. So far there is no abatement in the demand for money, and this extends to requirements for commercial purposes. The very best customers of the strongest banks obtain money at 7 per cent, 8 however has been paid in a few cases by this class, and 9 to 10 has been charged where the necessity was involved of selling sterling exchange in New York at the present low price, since it is doubtful if the money can be reinvested in exchange three months hence at as favorable rates. The serious pressure for gold in New York and the rapid advance in the premium must exercise a perceptible influence here, and may extend to the Dominion reserves. Serious lodges will be suffered on gold drafts, and some uneasiness is felt in this connection. Nothing could be more detrimental to the interests of trade than such violent fluctuations as the past week has witnessed in the gold market. We hear that the Government propose to amend the bank statement in several important particulars, and we hope the rumor is correct. We have already indicated what some of these amendments ought to be. It is of great importance that the public should be able to measure the exact amount of trade discounts, and this they cannot do unless the return is so framed as to separate loans to bankers, stock speculators, &c. At present the amount under the head of "discounts" gives a very incorrect notion as to what the loans to traders really are. We know it will be difficult to meet the case fully. If a column were set apart to show the advances or loans on stocks the matter might be cloaked, as it sometimes is now. Instead of making the advance directly, the bank will take the stock as collateral, and issue a deposit receipt for the amount required for this one per cent is charged. Next the borrower takes the deposit receipt to another bank and get a loan on it, paying any stipulated rate. The heading "Due to other banks in Canada" does not correctly indicate the facts. Large loans are sometimes made by one bank to another, which the borrowing bank places under the head of special deposits, and a deposit receipt is issued, so that the effect is to swell the deposit item, and make a weak bank look strong. These instances indicate the importance of having our bank returns so framed as to set out all the facts it is possible to arrive at fully and clearly. Entire publicity is the best possible safeguard both of these institutions themselves and of the public.—Monetary Times.

Elder Knapp on Swearing.

Elder Knapp is not averse to having it understood that he may be regarded as a sort of consulting physician for sick souls, when the original family doctor finds that his pharmacy has lost its efficacy. In one of the recent raids on the arch enemy of souls, he selected, as being especially fit subjects for animadversion, the profane swearers and this is the way he "went" for them:—

I will give you, my dear friends, a picture from a scene in hell. The devil is sitting in his private office, receiving the souls as they are brought to him from the upper world. An infernal attendant comes in bringing a soul with him condemned to everlasting flames.

Who are you? asked the devil, as the culprit was brought to him.

Secretary Benjamin of the Confederate Cabinet, was the reply.

Oh, yes, I knew you were coming, said the devil, as he hunted the leaves of his ledger and made an entry of the Secretary's name. I always show consideration to those that have showed it to me. I've got to take you in but I'll try and make you as comfortable as possible.

Then turning to the attendant, he said:—

Show Mr. Benjamin to a place as near as you can get him to a current of air.

The next arrival was a man who had killed his mother-in-law. He was hung in Cincinnati.

Take him away, said the devil, but treat him kindly. The chances are two to one that he isn't much to blame. I remember his case. His mother-in-law came here three weeks ago. She looked as though she wanted killing. She is over in No. 63. Put him there and set the old woman in front of the furnace. Number 63 is too cool for her.

Pretty soon another victim arrives.

What has brought you here? asked the devil.

My case is a hard one, was the reply, I am here just because I swore.

Just because you swore? asked the devil, rising angrily from his chair.

Yes, that's all the sin I ever did.

All the sin, re-echoed the devil, all the sin! Why, you mean, despicable, contemptible, low-lived vagabond, said the devil, as he brought his fist down on the table, there isn't a corner here that is hot enough for you. Of all the sixty thousand preachers that opened their Sundays in blackguarding me, not one of them ever accused me of swearing. Blasphemed your maker, did you? Profaned the holy name of your Saviour, that forgave his enemies on the cross, and died to save you from here? You did this, did you?

The trembling culprit made no reply.

Why, continued the devil, whose voice arose as his wrath intensified—Why there's no excuse for you. A man by an unlucky blow may kill another one. In pressing temptation a man may steal; he may lie to save his neck or to cheat his neighbour. There is some excuse for him. The profane swearer has no excuse. Attendant, take this accursed scoundrel out of my sight. Put him up to his neck where the coals are hottest, and then put somebody to sit on his accursed head.

Spring Management of Bees

From the Rural New Yorker.

While there are a great many who give their bees little or no attention, only about the time they expect suplus honey, and depend altogether on luck for success, there are those who wish to handle their bees so as to secure the best results. To all such I would say, examine each hive as soon as the weather will permit, and note its condition as to honey, brood and bees, those with little or no honey should be fed at once. Where several hives are kept, there will be generally some with an abundance of honey and few bees, and others plenty of bees and food with but little honey. Where such is the case, both will be benefitted by changing combs, hives without broods should be united in other colonies, as being without a queen they will soon become a prey to the moth.

To promote early breeding, I give rye flour sprinkled on shavings on shallow boxes—fed over twenty pounds last spring. Bees will not work on it after the natural supply of pollen can be obtained from flowers. By carefully feeding some hives last spring I found them as strong in bees at the commencement of the honey harvest as others not fed were two weeks later, as on removing sides of hives about the first of May, to give them boxes, the side was covered with bees, and some of the outside combs filled with sealed brood—something I had never before observed so early in the season.

Feeding bees, to be successful, must be thoroughly understood, otherwise, it had better not be attempted, at least only on a small scale, by the beginner. In calling the attention of a friend to the bees working in boxes early, while the boxes on other hives were not yet occupied, he said it was no wonder, as they had been fed. To test whether he knew how the bees were benefitted by feeding, I asked, "Do you suppose there was more honey in the hives when the bees commenced gathering from the flowers than there would have been if they had not been fed?"

The emphatic reply was, "Of course, as your feeding has filled the combs so that there was only room for honey only in the boxes."

I soon convinced him that he was entirely mistaken, for if such had been the case, feeding would have been an injury, as there would have been much brood and few bees in the hive.

About the first of March I commenced feeding regularly (there being plenty of honey in the hives), but never more than three ounces in 24 hours. This stimulated the bees to greater activity, and the queen to laying a greater number of eggs, so that in a short time the small amount fed would fall far short of the extra amount needed to supply the bees; consequently there was less honey in the hives when the bees commenced gathering from flowers than if they had not been fed, but from one-third to double the amount of bees and brood. Right here lies the whole secret of feeding, which is to have the hive full of bees, and combs with brood when the honey harvest commences. I dont care how much honey there is in the hive, as if there are only few bees, there will be little or no surplus honey.

Our neighbours keep bees on both sides of us; they are also keeping others in the place. The seasons of '71 and '72 were poor for honey here, but we got a fair return, and last season I took 61 pounds in boxes, from two hives, and did not hear of any honey being taken in the place outside of our apiary. The reason was, 1st, we have the Italian bee; 2nd, we aim to have the stocks strong early; then the queen is cool above of the honey harvest, and the neighbours hurry their bees to shift for themselves; the result is, if the honey harvest is short, they dont get any; and if it is a good season, they get half or more as they would if the bees had proper care earlier in the spring.

In conclusion, I would repeat it, if the combs strong in bees and brood be

"Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, is without doubt, the safest, surest, and best remedy that has ever been invented for internal and external use. It is applicable to a great var sty of complaints, and is equally beneficial for man or beast.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided; as severe griping pains would be the only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are "Parson's Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills."

'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold however slight. Consumption may follow and though "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has frequently cured this much dreaded disease, it almost invariably cures the primary disease of the throat, lungs and chest, where other remedies fail.

If you are suffering from rheumatism, lame back, sprains or bruises; sick head-ache, toothache, bowel complaints, burns, frost bites, &c., decidedly the best thing to get is a bottle of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer." The cost is trifling, and its effects certain. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Horse dealers who are supposed to know what effects their interest, purchase 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Horse Remedy' by the dozen and feed it to their horses for the purpose of improving their condition, which it always does—others should profit by their example—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

After war, pestilence and intemperance—colds lead to the greatest destruction of human life, mainly, because it is considered by many to be of no consequence and hence systematically neglected, until a simple, curable disease is converted into a fatal pulmonary one. Everyone troubled with what is is called a slight cold or cough, should immediately use Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers—they allay irritation at once, and exert a most beneficial influence on all the Bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cts. per box.

REWARD OF MERIT.—We are happy to lay before our readers the following card, offered by the use of Mins Northrop's Salve.

Mr. Elias Bryant of Hamilton Mass. suffered for years with piles the greatest possible annoyance. He consulted the most skilful physicians in vain, and was finally induced to try Miss Northrop's Salve and now offers his thanks to the lady for the benefit he has received from its use. It is an undoubtedly efficacious and valuable package health.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 4th, 1871.
JAMES I. FRASER'S, Esq.—Dear Sir: Our sale of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has been very large, and never dissatisfactory in high prices, but for somewhat than of any other medicine. We have not known you a single week past, but the number of calls for your medicine has been very large, and in every case of the Pectoral, and general debility, we have found it to give satisfaction. Yours truly, [illegible]

I do hereby certify that I have used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and do believe them to be a valuable medicine for the diseases for which they are recommended. I have been troubled with Dyspepsia for a number of years, and have used a great many remedies, but never found any relief until I used the Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. I have used about two bottles, and am now entirely free from the disease. I have also used the Discovery for Liver Complaint, and found it to be a valuable medicine. I have also used it for Scrofula, and found it to be a valuable medicine. I have also used it for Rheumatism, and found it to be a valuable medicine. I have also used it for Neuralgia, and found it to be a valuable medicine. I have also used it for Headache, and found it to be a valuable medicine. I have also used it has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food which is the Phosphorous contained in the blood.

This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and the insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of neuralgic and rheumatic pains is deprived Nutrition, arising from Derangements of the Stomach. Malassimilation of food, and Poor Blood.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies Phosphorous for the nervous system, Lime as an excitant of nutrition, Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting strength. No preparation in existence is so reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

Dog Fighting.

On Thursday last there was a dog fight at Mitchell's corner, and for a time, about 100 men and boys occupied the whole side walk watching the revolting spectacle.

Port Hope.

The School Board of our sister Town has given notice to both the Principal and the Writing Master of the Public Schools that their services will not be required after the summer vacation.

Our Schools.

The Press of our sister Towns are taking notice of the foolish criticisms on our School. When they learn that the strictures are really from a teacher who feels disappointed that his services were not valued as highly by the Board up by himself, they will cease to wonder at our school troubles.

Struck by Lightning.

On the night of the late thunder storm here, the lightning struck the chimney of the dwelling of James Chalmers, Esq., of this Town, and knocking off the top of the chimney, passed down the flue, and along the stove pipes into the stove, breaking the end out of it, and exhausting itself in some way not detected. For a time the house appeared to be all on fire from the flares of the lightning, but no harm was done other than mentioned above.

The Scotch Horror.

An inquest has been held in Hamilton on the body of a man named L'Ordean, who had, it is believed, been thrown into a kettle of boiling lye in an Ashery, by one Dufton, who had been dismissed from the Ashery for neglect of duty.

Miss McPherson.

By last mail from England we learn that Miss McPherson intends leaving Liverpool with a party of children, April 24th, in SS Circassian, and is expected to arrive at the Marchmont Home, Belleville about the 7th of May.

Temperance League.

We understand that arrangements have been made for a large meeting in favor of the Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League, on the 23rd inst., in the Music Hall. The Rev. W. McDonagh, and T. McNaughton, Esq., will address the meeting and bring forward the claims of the great temperance movement in favor of Prohibition. We trust that all friends of temperance and morality will come forward and aid this noble work by their presence, as well as by giving pecuniary assistance to carry on the the work. Let there be a full meeting on the 23rd. The meeting will open at eight o'clock, sharp.

Local Jottings.

The River

Is rising fast, and all indications are, that the water will be very high this season.

Almost a Fire.

On Sunday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock, a fire alarm was rung, but on investigation it was only a barrel in the cellar of Mr. Lipsett, grocer, which had been on fire and the smoke coming out of the cellar found its way into Mr. Hall's store, next door, in such quantities as to wake the family who at once gave the alarm. Mr. Lipsett says that his boy had been in the cellar at a late hour the previous night, and must have set fire by accident to this barrel, but its being isolated saved the building and contents.

Drowned.

On Saturday afternoon a boy named —— Baker, son of Mr. —— Baker, living at the old Boswell brewery, was drowned, off the bridge at the brewery. It appears that the boy, who was about 12 years of age, was standing on the bridge catching at sticks floating by, and missing his footing, or over balancing, he fell in, and no one being near him but a child about 5 years old, he was lost. His mother was up town at the time and was only made aware of it by the little boy on her return.

Buckhorn Road.

The Government of Ontario are asking for Tenders for completing the Buckhorn Road to the Dysart boundary. There will then be a direct line of communication to Haliburton, about 24 miles shorter than by way of Minden and Bobcaygeon.

Brenton.

Whose real name is Fox, was born in the township of Sidney, county of Hastings. His father died when the present unfortunate son was comparatively young The boys were pretty well educated, and James, (now in jail) was clerk in Mr. N. Jones' store, in Belleville, for a year and seven months about sixteen years ago—and then was a promising boy. He was in the American war, but the particulars of his history during those years is not known.

Mrs. Mahony

Who got out of jail on Monday, about 2 o'clock, was in the Lock-Up in Ashburnham all that night, for being drunk. She had an associate whose name we did not learn, but who hails from Port Hope, in with her. Regan who got out of jail at the same time that Mrs. Mahony did, was able to get a nip in the evening also, and was boasting that even the Chief Justice had nothing to say against his character

The Greatest Disappointment Yet.

Not hearing the trial of Brenton, alias Fox, on Monday. Several hundred persons went home on Monday evening, quite disgusted with the turn affairs had taken in giving six months to the doctors to finger his bumps. Some were of opinion that rougher hands should be laid on him. An old gentleman, bordering on seventy years, who had come many miles to hear the trial, declared the whole thing a huge humbug. Never before in Fox's life were so many interested in his affairs.

Lecture—Wesleyan Church.

The Rev. Hugh Johnston, M. A., will deliver a Lecture in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, on Monday Evening. Subject—"Across the Continent. The Rev. gentleman is favourably spoken of as a Lecturer. He delivered this lecture in Belleville lately, and the Intelligencer says he possesses a happy delivery, secures the attention of audiences and speaks without notes. The lecture refers to a journey to the Pacific, and treats of scenery, climate, mode of travel, cities, curiosities, peculiarities of cities, in fact every thing likely to interest an audience desirous of becoming acquainted with the West and Pacific slope. All who can, should go on Monday evening and hear him.

THE $250.00 BY LAW.

Gentlemen interested in the defeat of the By Law, have gone over the Poll Books and the Assessment Rolls, with a view to finding how many bad or doubtful votes may have been cast for or against it.

The result of their search is unfavourto the By Law, but doubly so to the good name of the Village of Norwood. In that celebrated little Village no less than 36 bad votes have been polled, one of them dead nearly two years. Other places show a few bad votes, but Norwood carries off the palm from the whole County. Where the heart is sick the whole body cannot be in a healthy state. The capital of the East appears to be rotten to the core.

Next week will give the names of bad votes in other localities, to day we give the annexed list.

Our Schools.

NEW INSPECTORATE.

Failing, after examination, to establish their first charges, the Editors of the Review bring forward some new ones, to which, with their permission, we will refer:

No. 1—"That notwithstanding the provisions of the School law, and contrary to the instructions accompanying the High School programme of studies, pro-per text books are not prescribed for male pupils pursuing the 'English' course."

Boys on entering the Collegiate Institute are permitted to choose their own course. This, we might expect would be done by the advice of their parents.—After choosing the English course, they are not permitted to change, and vice versa, if any boy selects the classical course, he is compelled to continue it as "No departure from the prescribed programme is allowable."

Pupils admitted to the Collegiate Institute have been taught the subjects of the Public School programme. And in all the forms, English Grammar, Arithmetic, Spelling, Dictation, Geography and Book-keeping have been taught, up to the very last day of the last term, and the whole time of the teachers in the first two forms of the Collegiate Institute has been devoted to these subjects, with the exception of about half an hour each day on an average, which is devoted to the elements of Latin. Dictation is taken on slates, and Book-keeping on paper—(in proper books ruled for the purpose) then how can teachers avoid teaching penmanship under those circumstances? It is true, that there may not be a teacher of penmanship in the Institute, but the teacher in an elementary school who cannot teach penmanship, lacks in one of the very essentials of his profession, to put it as mildly as possible. All educationists agree that the study of Latin is one of the best means of teaching English Grammar; transcribing and translating are excellent exercises in spelling, and ought to be in penmanship, under a good teacher. Book-keeping and Commercial Arithmetic are taught in their turn. Now if all the subjects the of Public School course are taught, these allegations, Ossia non founded on facts.

No. 2—"That the instructions or the programme regarding that 'Pupils entering the High Schools must take either the English or classical course of studies' has been, in the male departments, set at naught and a 'mixed' programme adopted; for when pupils are hence not, further on in the history of the pupils, transferred as it professes the manner of branches of study."

The best answer to this allegation is: The writers do not understand what they are writing about.

There is not an Elementary Institution in America in which pupils are compelled to take a classical course only—that is give their whole time to classics.

Classics are taught in our Colleges and Universities as the best means to impress on students the construction of language, with a view to a proper use of it; and they are always taught in connection with Mathematics and the Natural Sciences—good Reading, Elocution and Composition.

A learned Linguist, ignorant of Mathematics, Natural History or Natural Philosophy, would graduate with difficulty in any of the Universities. There is no such thing as adopting a completely classical course in any elementary school. To do so would destroy the institution.

No. 3—"That in pursuance of the policy of making compulsory subjects of the branches of the College, the Examiners, pupils have been practically compelled contrary to law, to study classics against the express wishes of both their parents and themselves."

Of this allegation we know nothing, but believe it without foundation. It is just possible that the pupils referred to have not intended to take Latin, afterwards changed their minds, and then complained because not permitted to do as they planned. What well regulated establishment would allow boys to dictate terms to the teachers? There must be system, or we look for progress in vain.

No. 4—"That those parents who did not wish their sons to take the classical courses, have been put to serious difficulty and expense in providing books, and have been compelled to purchase books which they would otherwise have dispensed with, and which have been voted over Latin."

Buying books is always expensive, whether classical works or works for the English course, and the fewer changes of books the better. But it is well known that the changes have been occasioned by Dr. Eyerson and the Board of Public Instruction, Toronto, rather than by the Peterboro' Board or by the teachers in the Institute. As to wasting a portion of time in Latin, it has been found that the boys who take Latin progress as well and as fast in the English course as those who do not. Taking Latin therefore does not necessarily waste the time of a pupil, and all experience goes to prove that of two boys, one taking Latin and the other not, all things being equal, the one who takes Latin will surpass in English the one who does not; and translating and transcribing must improve the penmanship as well.—As to Book-keeping, the counting house is the best place to study it. Indeed no man will ever be found well versed in accounts who has not had an apprenticeship in an accountant's office. All that can be acquired of this useful branch of education in a school relates to the mere forms, books. Practice here if anywhere and makes perfect. Half an hour devoted to classics will be found of the greatest advantage in all the reading of the pupils after leaving school, and never does retard the progress in English. We know it will be said: What knowledge of Latin can a boy acquire in a few months? In reply, we say, what knowledge of English Grammar can a boy acquire in a few months? The answer to both questions may be: a very limited knowledge. Shall we then urge it as useless to study English Grammar at all, since a few months is all that can be devoted to it? Would we not be laughed at if we did? And it only provokes the risibilities of thinking men when "allegations" are set forth that indicate the entire absence of a knowledge of what should constitute the subjects of even a limited English education.

No. 5—"That the natural consequence of this course is, that the very meritorious pupils, a large majority, we might almost say the whole, attending the return of 1871 as a basis, of the pupils is either neglected, or taught in an indifferent manner, and as if of secondary importance, while the boys are kept grinding at subjects which they will never think of after they leave school, 'no more for ever,' and which will, as they know them, go but a very short way in enabling them 'to stand upright without charity or accident' on their way through this world."

There now; that one is clear enough; but what is it? To use a doubtful phrase "it's as clear as mud." But the brightest intellects will find difficulty in deciphering its meaning.

The whole of this "school question" is over boys. The girl side may come next. Does it not appear strange that the short comings of the Board were unheeded until after Mr. Christie was appointed over Mr. Black? As irregularities (if such there are) in the school could not, like Jonah's gourd, grow in a night, why did Mr. Black, one of the Editors of the Review not give a warning note before this? The fact is, Mr. Carnegie never visited the School, except at examination times, and then only for a few minutes at a time. Nor did he examine the penmanship in either the Public Schools or the Collegiate Institute until Mr. Black's article compelled him, so that he might be able to give his views of the School—not Mr. Black's views merely.

If Mr. Carnegie had visited the School previously, the article that shone so black would never have appeared, but now that it has appeared, there is no backing down. Better injure the Collegiate Institute than retract even that which is wrong. It would never do to retract: that would be tantamount to admitting that the Review could go astray. E'en though a fool should write, the utterances are from the gods.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board met on Tuesday evening, pursuant to adjournment.

Present, Mr. Stevenson, Chairman, and Messrs. Edwards, McLelland, Edmison, Toole, Scott, Cox, Barlee, Dumble and Rutherford.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read over and confirmed.

The Secretary stated that Mr. B. C. Dixon had handed him a formal resignation, but that he had forgot to bring it with him. He would, however, enter it in the minutes.

A communication was read from Mr. Black, stating that he could not resign while the charge of incompetence was not withdrawn, and asked that the Principal commit his charges to writing.

Peterboro' April 15, 1873.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of School Trustees;

Sir and Gent emen

Two weeks ago I was requested by a note from Secretary to attend the last regular meeting of the Board. No intimation was given me in that note as to what was required of me. As soon, however, as the ordinary business of the Board was transacted a motion was moved by Mr. Dumble and carried that I be requested to answer certain questions concerning an editorial which appeared in the Peterborough Review. These questions I declined to answer. Principal Dixon was then requested by the Board to make some explanations with reference to the article. He did so and at the close of his remarks he made certain charges against me affecting my character and reputation as a teacher which I then maintained, and still do maintain, are unjustified either from my past success or from the reputation I have obtained since my connection with this School. During the discussion which followed among the members of the Board a resolution was finally to dismiss me forthwith, but ultimately withdrawn, and the further consideration of the matter postponed until this evening. Some of the members of the Board, at the same time, expressed a hope that I would see the expediences of tendering my resignation of the position I now hold in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

Gentlemen, I have not resigned, nor can I do so, so long as I believe Principal Dixon's charges are not justified and they remain before the Board. The Board, I am sure, will see that for me to tender my resignation under existing circumstances, and without any investigation of the charges brought against me, would be tantamount to admitting their correctness and thus blasting my reputation as a teacher and injuring my future prospects in life.

As Mr. Dixon's charges were made verbally and publicly in the front of the moment I had heard that my resignation he would have been prepared to withdraw them, and thus have relieved me from the necessity of now asking, as a simple act of justice to myself, that these charges should be reduced to writing, and an opportunity afforded me by the Board of replying to them before a committee authorized to institute a thorough and complete investigation of all the charges brought against me.

I have the honor to be,
Sir and Gentlemen,
Your Obdt. Servt.
CHARLES BLACK.

The Chairman stated that the committee on appointments had not been able to fill the position vacated by Miss Hodgins. The salary offered was less than a teacher would accept; and that he (himself) a really competent teacher for the place could not be obtained unless the Board offered a larger remuneration.

Mr. Toole thought the committee should submit a formal report, and then the Board could discuss the matters.

Mr. Edmison thought the committee had power to engage a teacher on the best possible terms, subject to the approval of the Board.

Mr. Rutherford did not see any necessity; for giving a high salary as the teacher already engaged would take French and German, and a teacher at a lower salary might be obtained well qualified for the other duties.

Mr. Cox said the committee should be instructed to engage a teacher on the best terms even though it should necessitate paying a larger salary.

On motion the resignation of Mr. B. C. Dixon was accepted.

Mr. Scott moved, seconded by Mr McLelland,—That the committee on appointments be allowed to exercise their discretion as to the remuneration to be offered to a teacher to take the place of Miss Hatton, and also for a teacher to fill Mr. B. C. Dixon's place.

Mr. Dumble asked for information in reference to the action of the property committee to erect sheds this season.

Mr. Toole thought that the property committee had no power now to go on and erect sheds until they had received fresh instructions.

Mr. Cox thought if sheds had to be erected the sooner the job be let the better; as the season advanced the cost would, in all probability, increase.

Mr. McLelland explained that the committee in passing through the rooms had found that tablet lessons for the primary divisions were needed, and also a terrestrial globe for Miss Louis's room, he would therefore move, seconded by Mr. Toole,—That the Secretary be instructed to write to the Education Department for two sets of tablet lessons, and also for a 12 inch terrestrial globe for the use of the school.—Carried.

The Chairman stated to the Board that the lot for a Ward School in the South end of the Town had not yet been secured, but all now to be done is to get the writings made out.

Mr. Cox enquired as to funds to pay for it. When he said arrangements had been made for all the money required, at six per cent.

Mr. Edwards informed the Board that as Town Treasures, he had received a cheque from the Treasurer of Ontario for $43, and a letter from the Education Department, stating that this amount was a balance due to the Public Schools through some mistake in the Separate School report of last year.

On motion of Mr. Edmison, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, the property committee was authorized to go on with the erection of the sheds, as contemplated last year, and to advertise for tenders for the work.

Mr. McLelland in answer to a question as to certain repairs, based on a report of the former Board said all had been done that the committee could to carry out the instructions of the Board. The partition in Miss Jenkins' room had not been taken down as there was no place for her division in the mean time.

Mr. Rutherford thought as soon as the ward schools be erected, the rooms of the present school will be drained of their surplus pupils.

Mr. Cox informed the Board that nothing had been done to secure a site for a northward school, as Mr. Blackwell from the Auburn Mills, was of the opinion that if the present school house and lot at Auburn were sold, it would be better to erect the school house just north of Judge Dennistoun's residence, and that a building there would suit both sides of the river.

Mr. Cox moved, seconded by Mr. Toole, that the secretary be instructed to give Mr. Black notice that his service are no longer required, and also to advertise for a teacher to take his place.

Mr. Rutherford thought Mr. Cox should give a reason for this course. It was hardly fair to Mr. Black to be thus hastely dismissed. He thought a committee of classical men of the town should be appointed to try the matter and see if the statements of the Principal as to Mr. Black's incompetency can be established.

Mr. Cox in reply remarked that the cause of his dismissal was too well known to require explanation. The matter had been discussed at the last meeting of the Board, and Mr. Black then learned the feeling of the members of the Board, and he failed to take advantage of the interim to resign, and now as the Principal must be supported, so long as he has the confidence of the Board, there was no other course open but to pass this resolution.

Mr. Scott, said the matter should be discussed more fully as members of the Board were not aware of the causes leading to the present course of the Board. If Mr. Black should be dismissed with the charge of incompetency hanging over him, it would materially affect his future prospects, and it taking place at the present time would be considered as unwise, as many would believe it was for other reason. Mr. Black, had asked that the charges be committed to writing, that he might have a fair opportunity of rebutting them. He did not think that the fact that Mr. Black, had written the article referred to was sufficient to cause his dismissal, but it might be sufficient to warrant a reprimand, his dismiess would be injurious to the school and would reflect on the Board. The want of harmony between Mr. Black and the Principal might be sufficient cause for removing Mr. Black, but he should not be dismissed on the mere ipse dixit of the Principal, without investigation. To charge him with incompetency and leave this unrebuted, would destroy his character of obtaining a situation elsewhere, and would do him an irreparable injury which the Board should not be willing to be a party to.

Mr. McLelland in reply said the charges were not of to day, they were not new ones, the old members had been aware of them, and were slow to act, hoping that reassurance would effect a change for the better and he (Mr. McLelland) thought that if Mr. Scott had attended last year to his duties as a member of the Board, he too would have heard them. Mr. Scott had attended but two meetings during the year and it was not to be wondered at that he had not heard what was going then.

Mr. Scott asserted that he had attended seven meetings, but at four or five of them no quorum could be secured.

Mr. Edmonds said that the Board had left the management of the School to the Principal and had left him responsible for its prosperity. The system might be wrong, but right or wrong they had chosen, and he thought when the Principal reported in favor of dismissing Mr. Black the report of the Principal should be sustained by the Board.

Mr. Dumble was averse to taking any

ASSESSMENTS.

Assessors are now at work assessing the different Municipalities of the County. Perhaps some of them have completed the task and have made their returns. We almost fear that only a few of them have fully weighed the duties assigned them, and in consequence, that the greatest irregularities everywhere prevail. Last season we drew the attention of Assessors, Municipal Councillors, and the people generally, to the prevalent mode of assessing property. We found then, and our information gathered since strengthens our assertions, that property was assessed at just about one-fourth of its cash value in all the rural sections of the County.

We have wondered how Assessors could make their declarations with clear convictions of having done right, in valuing property at about one fourth what it would sell for, when the statutes say that they should value at what property will sell for in cash, the owner being solvent, or in other words, not compelled to sell his property.

TWO HONEST MEN

Were appointed Assessors, this year, for North Monaghan, and we understand that they refused to assume the duties of the office unless permitted to assess property at its cash value generally.

The Council wisely permitted them to resign, as it would not do to assess Monaghan at its cash value, while other Municipalities are assessed at about one fourth ther eof.

The question may be put in this way:—Can Municipal Councillors and others who are interested in the morality of the people, be doing their duty in continuing a system of making declarations to assess according to law, and at the same time assessors acting contrary to these declarations.

The Assessor declares solemnly, that he will "truly, faithfully, and inpartially, to the best of his knowledge and ability, execute the office of Assessor," &c.

The statute provides that:

"Real and personal property shall be estimated at actual cash value, as they would be appraised in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor."

The Assessor or Assessors on completion of their roll, attach a certificate thereto, in these words:

"I do certify that I have set down in the above Assessment Roll, all the real property etc., and the true and actual value thereof, to the best of my information."

Now in the name of common sense, how can a man make this declaration when he has put it down at one fourth its actual and true value?

We are fully aware that the Township Assessors are all pursuing the same course, as nearly as possible, and we know too, that if the assessments are in due proportion it is not of much importance whether the full value or a fourth thereof be taken, but whichever is taken should be declared to the certificate attached to the Roll, so that men might understand in what sense those declarations are to be understood.

Statute Labor, it is said, would be enormously increased by pursuing the course of putting down property at its actual cash value. The reasonable answer to this is, get the law fixing statute labor changed. The Council should have the power of fixing the statute labor, as they have of all the other rates. Let the number of days for each Ratepayer by in proportion to his property, like other rates, except that all fractions of days might be reckoned as whole days. A Ratepayer thus assessed at $2,000 would have four times as much statute labor on the Ratepayer assessed at $1,000, and so on in due proportion. The rate per dollar would be lower, but the time required be no higher, which appears to be taught in this as in other transactions of life, to have a distinct effect on the truth of their solemn declarations.

Next year the Assessment Law may be amended, would it not be well for County and Township Councils to memorialize the Government in reference to this matter and desire some changes that may secure a better system of assessment, and a more equal distribution of taxes, both local and county. All the advantages at present in favor of the wealthy corporate towns, but Country and Township Councillors ought to see the fallacy of such position, and should raise the land in assessing justice to all ratepayers.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

The Grand Jury brought in "No Bill" against Mary MacKenzie, charged with infanticide.

"No Bill," was also their verdict on a charge of perjury against W. Metheral.

They found "No Bill against Michael Crowley.

The Queen vs Matthew Davenport. Davenport was charged with stealing a suit of clothes from the store of Mr. Bradburn. He sold them to M. Crowley and paid his whiskey bills with the price thereoff. He was sent to jail for three months at hard labour.

Thos Simpson, Mrs. Mahony and J. Regan who were in custody were discharged.

The trial of James Fox, alias W. Brenton, for the double murder of Mrs. Payne and the boy Doughty, was put off till the next assizes. Mr. Benttree, who was requested by the Chief Justice to defend, after conversation was inclined to believe him insane, and made known his opinion to the Judge. The Judge then telegraphed for Dr. Workman to come and examine him as to his sanity, but Dr. Workman was unwell and could not come, and Dr. Dickson of Kingston was sent by the Attorney General. Dr Dickson arrived by the noon train on Monday, and proceeded to the Jail, and after examining him, confirmed the opinion of the Doctors here, viz: That Fox is not insane. But when asked as to giving his evidence to that effect, said the time given to the examination was too short to form a positive judgement. The Judge, therefore, thought it best to postpone the trial to afford time for more careful examination as to Fox's sanity. It is not yet known whether he will remain in this jail or be sent somewhere where Doctors who have given attention to symptoms of insanity may have an opportunity of forming their judgements on the matter.

In referring to the case, before dismissing the jurors, the Judge remarked that the murder was of such a character that if convicted he must be hanged: there would be no chance of escape; and he was desirous that the fullest investigation should take place before the trial, so as to establish his accountability—or the contrary, in order that if guilty and convicted, the crime should be punished, for the protection of society.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

April 15th, 1873.

The Council met as a Court of Appeal on the assessment for Drain made by T. B. Clementi, Esq.,

THE TAXING OF BANK STOCK.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir:

It appears to me that this matter has been taken up in an unfair and spiteful spirit and has been made the means of one endeavouring to force some others to pay a larger tax on their means than they really should, permit me therefore a short space to lay before your readers what I think, I am open to correction, to be a fair view of the case.

It is proposed by the assessors of this town to levy a tax on the holders of Bank Stock which has always heretofore been exempt from municipal taxation, as it was directly taxed by the government. This exemption tax was remitted when the present Banking Act came into force, in consideration of the Banks having to give up their small note circulation, and being required to hold at least one third of their reserve in Dominion notes, whereas formerly ten per cent of the reserves were in government debentures, upon which five per cent interest was paid, and the remainder in gold, a much more serviceable article than legal tenders—from this it will easily be perceived that the Banks gave up a great deal more than they received and is not directly nor indirectly taxed considerable heavier than they were before.

Now I do not mean to dispute for a moment but that the Law may be capable of such a construction as to give apparent authority to the present proceedings of the assessors, but I do positively deny that such is the proper intent or spirit of the law, and both the House and Council and Assessors are just as well aware of this as I am. The framers of the Council indeed deny that they have any right to interfere with the Assessors.

This may be quite true, let the Assessment proceed, but, I ask have not the Council power to pass a By Law or resolution stating, that such sums as are levied in the manner stated, shall be refunded? How blind as to the effect of this every ratepayer in proceeding. It will simply drive floating capital out of the Town to employ in other places where the Municipal authorities have not yet adopted such a suicidal Policy. It will be driven away just at the time when it is most wanted, and the promoters of this ignorant scheme will yet find that they have cruelly hurt cutting their own throats.

The whole matter can be rectified by most properly the Banks assessed quite well enough, but in the meantime, I ask it is right or proper for the Corporation of the Town through its officers, to use such high handed means to replenish their depleted Treasury? If they want money let them have it, but in a straight forward manner, and don't let their individual members endeavour to use Public officers as a means of gratifying private spite.

I Am Sir,
Your Obedient Servant,
HONESTY.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that we know, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and, clearly different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

August 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With sceble, anæmic woman, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is THE remedy.

I am yours truly.

Select Poetry.

So Goes the World.

Our varied days pass on and on,
Our hopes fade unfulfilled away,
And things which seem the life of life
Are taken from us day by day.
And yet through all the busy streets,
The crowd of pleasure seekers throng,
The puppets play, the showmen call,
And grandpa cries the whole time long.

And so the world goes on.

Our little dramas come to naught,
Our lives may fail, our darling plan
May crumble into nothingness,
Our firmest castle fall to sand,
And yet the children sing and dance,
The money makers laugh and shout,
The stars unmindful, still shine bright,
Unconscious that our light is out,

And so the world goes on.

The house grows sad that once was gay,
The dear ones kept their blessed home,
And we may watch and wait in vain
To hear their well-known footsteps come.
And yet the sunlight chastes the floor,
And makes the summer shadows long,
The rosebuds at the casement bloom
The bird pours for his cheerful song,

And so the world goes on.

And God goes on, and with our woe
Weaves golden threads of joy and peace,
Guarding with His heart of hearts,
Our days of pain, our days of ease
He marks them all—the sad, the sheaven,
The daughter's smile, the mourner's tears
And keeps them safe, His children all,
Through all the great eternal years,

And so, thank God, the world goes on.

Agricultural.

Telegraphing or Farming.

From the Phrenological Journal.

I am twenty-one years old, and am learning telegraphing. My father offers to give me a hundred acres of good land, sixty acres improved, and a team, if I will go to farming. What would you advise me to do?

The Editor replies:

You have been brought up to farming, and understand it, and will be "at home" in it. If you have a good body, and strength to work, take the land and the horses and wagon, and resolve to be one of the best farmers in your county.

If you engage in telegraphing, you will have irregular hours, temptations to fast living, and various excitement, a liability to be broken up in local, home arrangements, and when you begin to want salary enough to support a family, a boy eighteen years old or a young woman, who will work for small pay, will take your place, and you will be left without a business.

Take the farm and let those learn telegraphing who have no farm offered them, and to whom such an opportunity will be a blessing.

We want a million more good farmers, good ones, more than we want anything else in this country. There is such ill-advised eagerness on the part of the multitudes to rush to the cities and railway lines to be merchants, artizans, rail-roaders, operators, speculators, etc., that the lands are left uncultivated, or surrendered to shiftless Americans, or to foreigners, many of whom are ignorant of American ideas, uncultured in all things, and calculated to make indifferent farmers, and not the best of citizens. But they are becoming masters of the soil, and Americans are becoming the floating, landless population of their own country. Take the farm.

[illegible] He has [illegible] made 17 pounds of butter, taking a little over 24½ pounds of milk to make a pound of butter. This is 5½ pounds more than it took when he churned the cream of loppered milk. This shows a very marked advantage in favor of souring—at least so far as quantity is concerned. But our impression is that if the whole milk had been churned just before it loppered—or when it began to thicken on the bottom of the pails—his yield would have been quite as large and a little finer in quality.

The following table shows the results of seven days churning, Mr. Day allowing his milk to lopper, as is his custom:

	lbs. milk.	lbs. butter.
June 15	410½	23
" 16	434	27
" 17	430½	27
" 18	475	28
" 19	441	28
" 20	429½	26
" 21	439½	25

The average number of pounds of milk for a pound of butter is 16.61, which is an extraordinary yield. The cows are grade Devons, one Jersey cow being used in the herd to give color to the butter. It will be seen that the yield of different days is quite irregular—the largest day's yield of milk producing no more butter than others. Probably variations in the weather account for the discrepancies.—Michigan Farmer.

BENEFITS OF THIN SEEDING.—T. C. Jones of Delaware, Ohio, in an agricultural essay on Delaware County, says one of the most successful corngrowers instructs his dropper, when he comes to the intersection of the furrow or hill: "There do you stop, and stand there till the day of judgement, if necessary, until you deposit three grains. Mark you, not three to six, but three; no more, no less."

One field of wheat, one-half sown short, one and a half bushels per acre, yielded twenty bushels per acre, the other half, one and five-eighths bushels of seed per acre, yielded sixteen bushels per acre.

One field of corn, four to six grains of seed per hill, yielded forty bushels (by measure) of small ears and nubbins. Another field, three to four grains per hill, yielded forty-five bushels, large ears, per acre.—From the Science of Health.

If industry is no more than a habit it is at least an excellent one. If you ask me which is the real hereditary sin of human nature, do you imagine I shall say pride, or luxury, or ambition or egotism? No, I shall say indolence. Who conquers indolence will conquer all the rest. Indeed, all good principles must stagnate without mental activity.

If you desire to enjoy life, avoid unpunctual people. They impede business and poison pleasure. Make it your own rule, not only to be punctual, but a little before hand. Such a habit secures a composure which is essential to happiness, for want of it many people live in a constant fever.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the glow and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept by them in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the same districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, other residents, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the IAGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing copious evacuations, when other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

NEW SEED STORE!

New Firm.

Giles & Mason

SEEDSMEN,

Nurserymen & Florists

PETERBORO, ONT.

Having good pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store in this town, we beg to intimate that we have in Stock, Garden Seeds, Evergreens, and in an early season will receive a choice selection of Flowering Plants, &c.

1st. That their stock of Seeds has been imported by themselves direct, from the chief Horticultural and Agricultural Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their not being connected in the Retail business themselves they take all the seeds to sell or not sell, as they may desire.

3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.

4th. That they are enabled from the magnitude of a domestic connection they have made facilities for testing their vitality in a short time before offering them for sale.

5th. That one of the firm has been a successful market gardener for more than fifteen years, and may safely consider himself well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

6th. That those who may be induced to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable Seeds in America.

In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (At last accounts of the seed returned?)

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nurseries, grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-House in which are grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Nurseries.

Bedding Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 605, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

THE REASONS WHY

LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's

Perfected Spectacles,

AND EYE GLASSES,

have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dimness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are. Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Deafness, Boils, Ringworms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Tumours, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Itch, Scald Head, Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Crushed Limbs, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured patient Rebs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, checking the inflammation almost instantly. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. For Salt Rheum obtain this Salve and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Fever Sores, and for Sore Eyes use with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Pimples this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his sore like that Salve of yours and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I has it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything I consider it brings peace in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by Miss O. SAWYER, and put up by Dr. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me.

Our Elder Brother

Brother, in thy day'd mood,
Hunter, in thy night of sorrow,
Weakest thou a bruised reed,
Wanting, wishing, for the angel-LVSH
Whatever thy burden be,
Jesus whispers, "Give it me."

Presses close thy cup of pain,
Bruiseest to make thee sip?
Soothest Thou
From
On the
He will

Spreads the tempter sweet snares,
Waiting that they may slide?
Hedges he thy path with cares—
Walking always at thy side side?
Loving but to plunge thee in Thou

Or do [illegible] thine own
Weigh thee to the very dust,
Shutting out the crown and throne—
Hiding from thy soul her trust?
Stretch thy hand, uplift thy cry,
Loving, pitying, He is nigh.

Doth some cross before thee rise,
And thou dar'st not leave it there—
Yet, to thy beclouded eyes
Looks it terrible to bear?
Ask of Him to give it thee—
Life and Love that cross shall be.

Bows thy spirit in the dust,
Smitten, thoughtlessly and sore—
Gathering up the broken trust,
Looking toward her friends no more?
Lean on Him, thy Living Head—
All forsook Him once—and fled.

He forgave, Oh, then forgive,
Sinning, sorrowing, weary, weak—
Dare we unforgiving live,
We who daily pardon seek?
Gather we about His cross—
He will give us gold for dross.

The Indian's Dream.

When the Indian went to see the white man he stayed with him all night. In the morning he says to the white man:

Me have dreamed last night.

Ah, what was it?

Me dream you gave me your grey mare, and then you gave me rifle; that you gave me much powder, much ball, much shot.

Did you, indeed? What a dream.

Yes, me dream it all.

Well, that's bad, for my wife always rides the grey mare, and she thinks she can't ride any other horse, but if you dreamed it, why, I suppose you must have her. And my rifle, too—my favorite rifle—you dreamed I gave you that, too?

Yes, me dream rifle too.

Well if you dreamed it, why, I suppose you must take that too, but it's very singular.

So the white man gave them all into the Indian's possession, but persuaded him to tarry with him one night more. In the morning the white man says to the Indian:

I had a dream last night.

No, did you?

Yes, but I did though. I dreamed that you gave me all the land between Pojunket river and Catoquanch mountains, about three hundred acres of the most beautiful land imaginable.

Ah, bones of my father! Well, if you dreamed it, why, I suppose you must have the land—but me never dream with you any more.

The Verb to Break.

I begin to understand your language better, said my French friend, Mr. Arcourt to me, but your verbs trouble me still, you mix them so with your prepositions.

I am sorry you find them so troublesome, was all I could say.

I saw our friend, Mrs. James, just now, continued he. She says she intends to break down housekeeping—am I right there.

Break up housekeeping, she must have said.

O, yes, I remember, break up housekeeping.

Why does she do that? I asked.

Because her health is so broken into.

Broken down, you should say.

Broken down. Oh yes. And indeed, since the small-pox has broken up in your city——

Broken out.

She thinks she will leave it for a few weeks.

Indeed, and will she close her house?

No. She is afraid it will be broken—broken—How do I say that?

Broken into.

Certainly, that is what I meant to say.

Is her son to be married soon?

No. That engagement is broken—broken—

Broken off.

Ah, I had not heard that.

She is very sorry about it. Her son only broke the news down to her last week. Am I right? I am so anxious to speak the English well.

He merely broke the news, no preposition this time.

It is hard to understand. That young man, her son, is a fine fellow, a a breaker, I think.

A broker, and very fine fellow. Good day.

A Fragment for the Young.

Are there any among you, my young friends, who desire to preserve health and cheerfulness through life, and at length to reach a good old age? If so listen to what I am about to tell you.

A considerable time ago I read in one of the newspapers of the day, that a man had died near London at the advanced age of 110 years, that he had never been ill, and that he had maintained through life a cheerful, happy temperament. I wrote immediately to London, begging to know if, in the old man's treatment of himself, there had been any peculiarity which had rendered his life so lengthened and so happy, and the answer I received was as follows:

"He was uniformly kind and obliging to every one, he quarrelled with no one, he ate and drank merely that he might not suffer from hunger or thirst, and never beyond what necessity required. From his earliest youth he never allowed himself to be unemployed. These were the only means he used."

I took a note of this in a little book where I generally write all that I am anxious to remember, and very soon afterwards I observed in another paper that a woman had died near Stockholm at 115 years of age, that she never was ill and was always of a contented, happy disposition. I immediately wrote to Stockholm, to learn what means this old woman had used for preserving her health, and now I got the answer:

"She was also a great lover of cleanliness and in the daily habit of washing her face, feet and hands in cold water, and as often as opportunity offered, she bathed the same, she never ate or drank any deliacies or sweetmeats, seldom coffee, seldom tea, and never wine."

Of this like I took a note in my little book.

Some time after this again I read that near St. Petersburg a man had died who had enjoyed good health till he was 120 years old. Again I took my pen and wrote to St. Petersburg, and here is the answer:

"He was an early riser, and never slept beyond certain hours at a time, he never was idle, he worked and employed himself chiefly in the open air, and particularly in his garden. Whether he walked or sat in his chair, he never permitted himself to sit awry, or in a bent posture, but was always perfectly straight. The luxurious and effeminate habits of citizens he held in great contempt."

After having read all this in my little book, I said to myself. You will be a foolish man indeed not to profit by the example and experience of these old people.

I then wrote out all that I had been able to discover about these happy old people upon a large card, which I suspended over my writing-desk, so that I might have it always before my eyes to remind me what I ought to do, and from what I should refrain. Every morning and evening I read over the contents of my card, and obliged myself to conform to its rules.

And now, my dear young readers, I can assure you, on the word of an honest man, that I am much happier, and in better health than I used to be. Formerly I had a headache nearly every day, and now I suffer scarcely once in three or four months. Before I began these rules, I hardly dare venture out in rain or snow without catching cold. In former times, a walk of half an hour's length fatigued and exhausted me, now I walk miles without weariness.

Imagine, then, the happiness I experienced, for there are few feelings so cheering to the spirit as those of constant good health and vigor. But alas, there is something in which I cannot immitate these happy old people—and that is, that I have not been accustomed to all this from my youth.

Oh that I were young again, that I might imitate them in all things, that I might be happy and long lived as they were.

Little children who read this, you are the fortunate ones who are able to adopt in perfection this kind of life. What, then, prevents you living henceforward as healthily and happily as the old woman of Stockholm, or as long and as usefully as the old men of London and St. Petersburg?—Translated from the German.

Science and Nature.

Two new inventions are recorded for unveiling the secrets of the deep sea. One of these is a product of German ingenuity, and consists of an apparatus by which specimens of water can be obtained from any desired depth of the ocean. A strong, heavy vessel, entirely closed and empty, has a valve through which water may be admitted, but which is only put in motion by means of powerful electro-magnets connected with it. These magnets are also connected with a wire accompanying the rope by means of which the apparatus is lowered from the ship. When the empty vessel, which is in reality a plummet, has reached the required depth, an electric current is sent from the battery on ship-board to the coils below, the magnetism thus generated opens the valves and the vessel is then filled with water and can be drawn up.

The second invention is American, and was adopted in Prof. Agassiz' recent scientific expedition. Its object is to determine how far the abysses of the ocean are permeable by the rays of the sun. A plate prepared for photographic purposes is enclosed in a case so contrived as to be covered by a revolving lid in the space of forty minutes. The apparatus is sunk to the required depth, and at the expiration of the period stated is drawn up and developed in the ordinary way. It is said that evidence has been obtained by means of this instrument of the operation of the chemical rays of the sun at much greater depths than had hitherto been supposed possible.

ACCORDING to the School Board Chronicle, some curious statistics have been published, establishing a suggestive comparison between the expenses of education and police supervision in the cities of St. Petersburg, Berlin and Vienna. With regard to education, the expenses of the Russian capital are estimated at one per cent. of the total budget, Vienna stands as high as nine per cent. and Berlin reaches thirty-one. Cost of philanthropic institutions are expressed by the proportions of: Berlin twenty-one, Vienna fifteen, and St. Petersburg nine per cent. Of course the ratio becomes inverted when we turn to the police forces. There we find Prussia down for seventy, Austria for twenty-one, and Russia for fifty-one (figures of comparison). Berlin employs one policeman for every four hundred and ninety-five of its population, Vienna one for every four hundred and fifty, and St. Petersburg one for every two hundred and ten. The practical teaching these statistics is that while Berlin pays twice as much for schools as for prisons and police, Vienna pays two and one-third times less, and St. Petersburg fifty times less. The moral is too obvious to need pointing out.

The Christian Principles and Character of the Early Friends, called Quakers.

BY SAMUEL TUKE OF YORK, ENGLAND.

After reading a large number of their works, and being struck with the uniformity of their character in several leading points, the following conclusions were arrived at.

The groundwork of the original union of the early Friends appears to to have been in each individual a deep personal sense of sin, and desire after holiness.

A conviction that nothing less than union with Christ, by the power of his spirit, could satisfy the longing of their souls, and give them a well grounded hope of salvation.

They look entirely to the mercy of God in Christ for being brought into this state, and they passed through much conflict of mind as they were being brought to a full subjection of their will to Christ's will.

They speak of this as a time of judgment, of godly sorrow working repentance not to be repented of.

They were brought to a faith which never seems to have left them, that they were in the power of Christ—their sins being pardoned solely for and by the sacrifice of Christ on the cross at Jerusalem, and the work of regeneration wholly brought about by the Holy Spirit.

There was, therefore, nothing for flesh to glory in, and throughout all their subsequent labors day by day, they ascribe the praise and glory of whatever they were enabled to do, to God alone.

When a person has proved an article and found it good, and answering the purpose for which it is intended, he will not readily abandon it for one of doubtful reputation, or concerning which he knows nothing. We are led to make these remarks owing to the coarse always pursued by those who have used that celebrated and truly valuable horse-medicine known as "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." All are so well pleased with it that they will not use any other; many have waited several weeks until the agent could obtain a new supply. There is nothing equal to it as a condition medicine, or for any complaint affecting the wind of horses. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A late number of the St. John Morning News thus concludes a leogthy article eulogizing Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites: "Mr. Fellows is certainly entitled to high credit for his energy and enterprise in working up his valuable discovery so successfully, and the presence of such gentlemen in any community is a matter on which that community should congratulate itself."

The St. John Telegraph and Journal says, "The invention of Fellows' Hypophosphites has become one of the valuable industries of the country, unique of its kind, and a credit to the Dominion of Canada."

More than forty years have elapsed since "Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefited by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as 'Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.'

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are "Parsons' Purgative Pills."

Why should men wear beards? Because they area great protection to throat and lungs, and add much to their personal appearance. Why should we use Bryans Pulmonic Wafers? Because when used for coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, hoarseness, &c.; they act like a charm. Ministers and Lawyers use them, physicians recommend them, and singers and public speakers say they are the very best medicine in existance for the cure of such complaints. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts. per box.

A RIDDLE OR KNYE.—The key of the palace lock-key; the key of the stable, lock-key; the key of the convent, nun-key; the key of the kitchen, tea-key; the key of the [illegible] boy; the key for cattle, cabbage, fowls, spoons, brooms, beans, is the Canadian Pain Destroyer," at 25 cts. per bottle. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A BUSH OF KEYS.—The key of the palace lock-key; the key of the stable, lock-key; the key of the convent, nun-key; the key of the kitchen, tea-key; the key of the [illegible] boy; the key for cattle, cabbage, fowls, spoons, brooms, beans, is the Canadian Pain Destroyer," at 25 cts. per bottle. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A large volume would not contain the name of testimony which has accumulated in favor of "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" as a safe, efficient, and reliable remedy in curing coughs, colds, and all lung diseases. Many of the cures are truly wonderful.

☞ The following letter speaks for itself as to the curative virtues of Miss Sawyer's Salve, we clip from the Patten Print.

BRIDGE-STREET.—We are happy to say that before our columns are thrown open to the public by the use of Miss Sawyer's Salve.

Mr. Silas Bryant of Chemung, near here, is delighted for much what he says the salve has accomplished in curing what the doctors pronounced a confirmed case of Erysipelas. Mr. Bryant was afflicted for about two years with the disease, and was under the care of two physicians for twelve weeks, but got no relief from them. He says he has used one box of the salve and is entirely cured, and would not be without it for any consideration.

Hustings.

John A. McDonald commenced this "threshing" process on the Kingston Hustings. It was followed up at Quebec where some lives were lost. The County of Perth election Husting afforded another example of the pugilism of that party, and the "threshing" has extended to Manitoba, for the Mitchell Advocate boasts that one McFadden there thrashed Frank Cochrane, giving "the scoundrel a pommelling that he will not soon forget." what is Canada come to? During the last election we heard ministers of the gospel Colleges, palliate John A's ruffianism at Kingston, and say what could he do? nothing but knock him down!

The Health of the Pope.

Telegraph despatches for a few days announced the speedy dissolution of the Pope, but late news reports his convalescence. He has been seriously ill. His death will be watched for, and the circumstances, when it does occur, used for the advantage of the more potent powers, around the centre of the Roman world.—Few can have even the faintest conceptions of the consequences.

The Ballot

Is likely to be established in the Dominion. If it will prevent the wholesale corruption of the party in power, the sooner it becomes Law the better for Canada. It is in force in England. How can John A. & Co'y deny it to Canadians?

The Pacific Railway Scandal.

The Government have succeeded in securing three out of five members of the Committee which is to investigate Mr. Huntington's charges of corruption against John A. McDonald and the $300,000 obtained from American capitalists to bribe the Electors of the Dominion.

Port Hope.

The Port Hope Station of the Midland Railway was burned down on Saturday morning last. Loss about $3,500, Insured for $1,200.

Local Jottings.

Found.

The body of Mr. E. Chrowe, lately drowned while cutting ice at Dickson's dam, was found on Saturday morning in the bay at the west end of the Little Lake, by Mr. T. Eastland. When found there was no coat on it, favoring the idea that he had been perhaps in the act of taking off his coat when he missed his foot and fell in. Owing to the coldness of the water, the mouth and hands only were disfigured, and there were two or three cuts in the head, made, no doubt, against the ice or the stones in the bottom of the river, below the dam. An inquest was held, but no more information was elicited than has already been given. It is satisfactory to his friends to have the opportunity of laying his remains with those of his relations.

The Independent Band Concert

Was a complete success. They had a crowded house, and the performances were all that were promised. Their new Uniform looked well, and was made we believe at Messrs Macdonald and Elder's. This Band will enliven our streets during the approaching pleasant evenings, and add one more attraction to our progressive little Town.

Political.

Mr. Christie, the new teacher, the appointment of whom so riled Mr. Black, has arrived and commenced his duties, although in Mr. Black's opinion there was no use for him, as there is no use in teaching French and German, he has a class of about 25 who are taking up these subjects of their own accord, not by constraint Why that will be more than Mr. Black's average of 20, and yet he had no time to read up. We have not yet learned what of shade of politics Mr. Christie is but we understand he is a Blue Nose and might be in favor of John A's Washington Treaty, and the Intercolonial swindle. Indeed he may have been a party to the Tupper McNab scandal, for all those Eastern men know Howe to get better terms, and Mr. Carnegie and the Review have advocated granting all they asked. Mr. Christie should at once demand better terms here, and as the maritime men support John A. to a man, the Review must win. Let him put in his account immediately.

Convalescent.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Cluxton's health is improving. His experience of Parliamentary life is not the brightest. He will in future believe in the good old saying: "Be sure your sins will find you out." Our readers will pardon us if we use a quotation from the Review of 30th August, 1872, and adapt the sentiment to this case: "We are very much disposed to coincide with the remark of a friend on the street," viz: "That the Hitch, (sickness) about the qualification was an intervention of Providence in the interest of justice and right." Providence works in mysterious ways, sometimes.

New Goods.

Rogers' & Co. Ashburnham have a full stock of Spring and Summer Dry Goods and are prepared to sell on favourable terms. Look out for their advertisement next week.

The Lecture

In the Wesleyan S. S. Room, on Monday evening was well attended, and listened to with great interest. The chair was ably filled by Mr. T. Braden, Chairman of the Young Men's Building Association, in connection with the Church. The Reverend Lecturer gave a very interesting sketch of the great Cities of the West, of their rise, growth and present state, especially of Chicago, Salt Lake City and San Francisco. His description of the prairies, some of the valleys, the mountains and the people, was both instructive and amusing. Want of space prevents us giving a more extended notice. A vote of thanks to the Lecturer was moved by Mr. Dunbabin and seconded by Mr. Cox, for his excellent address.—After the Lecture the financial position of the Church and its prospects were bro't forward, and the Treasurer's Statement was read, showing the whole to be in a sound and healthy condition. We will give the statement next week.

Almost a Fire.

The dwelling of Mr. Bellwood of Ashburnham was discovered on fire on Monday afternoon. The fire had caught between the chimney and the plaster. It was discovered in time to prevent much damage.

Spring Stock.

The Dixon Bros. have a large stock of Groceries and Fashionable Dry Goods complete and invite examination.

Mr. Burlingham, Surgeon Dentist of Millbrook, late of Port Hope, will be found at Mr. O'Donnell's rooms, over Dr. Taylor's Drug Store for about two or three weeks, where, in Mr. O'Donnell's absence, he will be ready to give advice to all who may require it in his line.—Mr. Burlingham intends locating here.

Items of Interest.

The cost of Mr. Rykerts speeches in the Ontario Assembly are an item of $17.50 was $600.

Landerkin, Protem Outrage cost $3,000, and ended in smoke.

Ontario Tory Slanders during the two sessions just completed, cost the province over $4,000.

The Sandfield Government charged their Champagne and glasses to Dry Goods &c., or concealed their items. Will some boy find for his own amusement how many yards of Dry Goods would be required to produce a dozen bottles of Champagne.

Riel and Lepine it is said are again to be presented at the Government House, Winnipeg.

John A. McDonald thinks to stifle discussion of his conduct by buccombe resolutions in the House of Commons. It wont succeed John, its useless to try.

LAKEFIELD CORRESPONDENCE.

The Col. Strickland.

The Steamer "Col. Strickland" was purchased last fall by the Messrs. Strickland. During the winter it has been undergoing thorough repairs, and every accomodation is now secured to both officers of the boat and passengers. It is especially adapted to meet the requirements of excursionists and pic-nic parties. The steamer will run regular trips from the Lakefield wharf to Julien's Landing, and thus an excellent opportunity will be afforded to persons visiting our romantic northern lakes. The boat was successfully launched on Monday 14th inst. and is now a first-class Lake Steamer. We understand Mr. Percy Strickland is to be captain.

Another temple of the I. O. of G. T. has been established in the village. Mr. W. Carter is W. C. T. The meetings are held every Tuesday evening in Mr Casement's Hall.

The saw mills have ceased working on account of the high water. The river has been rapidly rising during the last fortnight and is now nearly as high as in the spring of 1870.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Christie lately engaged by the Board of School Trustees as teacher of Modern Languages, has arrived and commenced his duties in the Collegiate Institute. On the occasion of his leaving Grimsby he was the recipient of a Valuable Gold Ring as a mark of esteem.

The St. Catherines News says:

"During the past winter a series of entertainments has been given in Grimsby, in aid of the Mechanics' Institute in that village, which has enabled the Directors to add very materially to this already excellent library. The last of these Re-unions was held on the 9th inst., and consisted of reading, dialogues, &c., and was conducted by Mr. Christie of the Grimsby High School, and in which a couple of St. Catherines boys, Masters S. and H. Carlisle, took part.

"At the close of the entertainment, Mr. Christie was presented by the pupils of the High School with a valuable gold ring, as a token of their esteem and affection, accompanied by many expressions of regret at his departure from the village, he having accepted the position of master of Modern Languages in the Peterboro Collegiate Institute.

"Mr. Christie's abilities as an elocutionist and linguist are of no mean order, and there is no doubt of the many hearty wishes for his success that follow him from Grimsby, being realised."

Mr. Christie is a graduate of the Toronto University, and comes to Peterboro well recommended, and we feel confident will retain his good name amongst us.

BRANTFORD.

Mr. Boultbee attended a Banquet at Brantford, on the 16th inst., in honor of the Ontario Opposition, and delivered an address. In his address he refers to the ovation, and says: "Such an ovation as we have received to-night is particularly gratifying to members of an Opposition who have to contend against a large majority, and almost unheeded by the Government we oppose." "To call himself an Independent," he said, would be superfluous, for his political conduct had been uncompromising opposition to the powers that be."

Mr. Boultbee has therefore thrown off the mask of Independence and gone over to the Opposition. We are not prepared to say what effect this may have upon the present Ontario Government, but we do know that Mr. Boultbee will not gain the approval of his constituents for so doing. If a man can thus throw off his allegiance to those who place him in power, should not the people be careful to select men of better stuff, in whom they can always rely?

Every representative changing his political principles after election, should at once resign, thus placing the trust imposed in him in the hands of those who first bestowed it. If the people are satisfied and re-elect him, he can return and manfully stand up in the legislative halls and contend for his views; but unless he does resign he has no right to speak or vote or act, as doing either, under changed views, is contrary to the conditions implied in his appointment or election.

THE $150,000 BY-LAW.

In last issue we gave a few names of voters who are believed to have voted on this By-Law contrary to law. This week we give a few more. The letter "T" opposite a name denotes that the party, was assessed on the roll as a tenant. "s.c" denotes having voted against the By-Law. Only two apparently bad votes were found polled in all the back townships.

The list of to-day and of last week, are decidedly adverse to the chances of the By-Law. We had fondly hoped that a scrutiny would have established the legality of the vote, but in this we are disappointed. It is very strange that Belmont and Norwood have polled almost all the bad votes. There are 11 bad votes also in the Dummer Rolls. Norwood has 38, and Belmont 18. The bad votes on the Monaghan and Smith Rolls are chiefly from that portion of the township lately added to the Town, and some of them would have had votes, if they had been on the right Rolls.

But how is it that there are more bad votes on the poll book for the village of Norwood than on all the others together? There is something "rotten in Denmark" we fear. Arithmetical: If 45 bad votes were polled for [illegible], 38 Highfield, how many bad votes were polled for P. M. Grover. And if dead men and Returning Officers could vote on the By-Law, why we not infer that dead men and Returning Officers could do so to elect Mr. Grover. Other vile means were used to secure his return, and we are disposed to believe that no scruples of conscience interfered with the exercise of the franchise, of the electors of the village at last election.

OUR SCHOOLS.

We have no desire to take up the whole of our time and space discussing this question, as argued in the columns of our contemporary, the Review. The last contains nothing but abuse of the Trustees, of the Principal, and, very ungenerously, of Mr. B. C. Dixon.

Mr. B. C. Dixon had resigned, and ought, on this account alone to have been allowed the privileges of a neutral party. Ever since his appointment, he has attended to his own business, not interfering with any one, either in town or county. He has discharged his duties as well if not better than the protege of our confrere. He has not to our knowledge, been convicted of glaring errors in reading, spelling, orthoepy, or bad government, as has been Mr. Black, and why should he be dragged into this Politico-school quarrel, except to injure him, which to say the least, is neither christian, charitable nor generous, and could not be necessary to the proving of the position assumed by the ex-teacher. The attack on Mr. B. C. Dixon, is unmanly, ungenerous and uncalled for.

The Principal is accountable for the general management of the school, which may be the subject of public criticism, and in critising the management, it may be difficult to do so without reflecting on the Principal, but to assail an unoffending teacher, who was discharging his duties as faithfully as in his power, deserves the condemnation of every right thinking man in town.

As we have neither correspondents nor contributors in any way connected with the Union or High School, we have no defence to make for any of them, our defence is of the sytem carried out in our Union School, against the wanton attacks of a man who felt aggrieved, and foolishly rushed into print, and being worsted had to cry for help to the Editor-in-chief.

A WORD FOR TEACHERS.

All are not teachers who assume the dignified title. How very few ever take into consideration the fact that they should prepare themselves specially for the work of teaching, before engaging in a position where their ignorance or their inefficiency may entail lasting evil on those committed to their care. A man may have education, but not common sense enough to teach the lowest of our public schools, much less one of our high schools. The Inspectors of high schools have been of this opinion also, for we find them, in their Report to the Chief Superintendent of Education for 1871, on the qualification of

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

Say:—"We had intended to make a few remarks on this topic, but must be content with a bare reference to it. It is the opinion of not a few, that as a University degree is no indication as to a man's ability as a teacher, some additional qualification should be demanded—some evidence that in addition to scholarship, there is a knowledge of school organization. Method of discipline, government, modes of teaching, &c. Something of this kind seems to be necessary. The stripling fresh from the College Halls is placed on a level with the experienced teacher, too often thinking that, having taken honors in languages or sciences he consequently knows all about the arduous profession on which he has entered.

And Inspector McLellan in his report says:—

"Something more is required than a University Degree to qualify Head Masters. Many innocents, fresh from College Halls, in charge of High Schools—many with little scholarship, and more with less experience. I presume but few of our Head Masters could take a "First A" under the new law. Let every High School Master be required to, in addition to his degree, hold a First Class Provincial Certificate, or to teach a year, (or so) as Assistant Master before he becomes qualified for High School Mastership. It is insisted that a person shall have a Second Class Provincial Certificate to qualify for First Class; why should not a candidate for High School Certificate be required to hold the highest grade of Public School Certificate, in order to qualify for the highest educational position?"

We learn from these extracts that in the opinions of the Inspectors of High Schools, more is required than a Degree to qualify for a Head Mastership for the High Schools, and all experience confirms this opinion.

J. B. Dixon, Esq, M.A. is only the second teacher that has been in Peterboro who has given general satisfaction, and who has commanded the respect of all, both as a gentleman, a scholar and a teacher: and it ill becomes anyone for party or political purposes, to assail his character as a teacher, to suit their vile and unholy purposes, the gratification of weak intellects and strong passions.

OUR SCHOOL.

Stands the HIGHEST in the Province of Ontario for the last half of the year 1872, as will be seen in a table in the Journal of Education for February 1873.

In alphabetical order these with the highest averages for 1872, are:

	First Hall. Average.	Appor.	Second Hall. Assor.	Appor.
Galt.....	141	$2822 70	139	$2836 60
Hamilton	320	7207 50	320	7264 00
London..	197	3939 00	201	4022 00
Ottawa..	124	2480 00	70	1400 00
Peterboro	232	3865 00	227	3925 00
S Catharines	124	2482 00	127	2540 00
Toronto..	320	7207 50	320	7264 00

From this it will be seen that the Peterboro Collegiate Institute had the highest attendance of any High School or Collegiate Institute in Ontario, viz., 148, London next 141, Galt 139, and St. Catherines 135. While the Peterboro School receives $750 more Government Grant than any other High School or Collegiate Institute in the Province. This alone is sufficient to establish the name of our School and the efficiency of Mr. Dixon as a Principal, notwithstanding the thunder (?) of Mr. Black in the Review or anywhere else. We advise all our readers who are interested in this School question to examine the table on the 29th page of the February number of the Journal of Education, in proof of what we say.

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS POTHER.

Mr. Black found more time to study medicine and write for the Review than he did to attend to his duties in the school. As a consequence, he was more than a few times tripped up by his pupils. This, coming to the ears of the Principal, Mr. Black was warned and advised to read up, yet he did not. He still continued his medical and editorial duties.

Forgetting his position as a servant of the Board, he attacks their management of school matters, while he, above all the other teachers, under them, is neglecting the very branches he condemns the School Board for not having taught. He admits to the Board, that he had not "read up" all the subjects he professed to teach, giving as an excuse too much to do—no time—and still giving his time to medicine and newspaper writing. He said he had too much to do, yet in his "Notorious Review Article" he says that the teachers in the Collegiate Institute had only an average of about 20 pupils each, and wondered why another teacher should be engaged to assist them. Is it not really strange that Mr. Black had not time to "read up" for his 20 pupils.

SECOND CAUSE OF THE POTHER.

Mr. Black is writing for the Review. He is condemned by the Board, and the result is now well known to our readers Shall the Review allow one of its staff to go undefended? It cannot be. Mr. Black must be upheld, the whole Board must knock under to the thunderer. They must retain him or be kicked out, yes, kicked out. But they did not retain Mr. Black, and hence this stir.

THE BOARD

Deserve the thanks of the whole town for the manly and straightforward stand taken by them in this matter, and it will only require a few months (after the change) to demonstrate the wisdom of the course pursued by the men who moved, seconded and carried the resolution, notwithstanding an attempt to get up a crowd to overawe them.

The members of the Board are anxious that the School should maintain the high position to which it has attained, and they are nearly all sending children to it. They, we trust, are working for its interests, and should be sustained, rather than denounced, for removing a positively inefficient teacher.

We know it, is said; if inefficient, why did they not remove him long ago? The answer to this is reasonable, and shows that they were anxious not to injure Mr. Black. It was understood that he was studying medicine, indeed, some say practising it, and midwifery too, and it was also said, that at Easter he intended to give his whole time to the subject. The Principal and Board thought it best to let him go away, and thus be saved the unpleasantness of dismissing, and just while considering the matter, Mr. Black rushes into print, (concealed of course) and denounces the Board. Would the editor or proprietor of the Review retain a foreman who was using the columns of the Examiner or of any other paper to denounce Mr. Romaine or Mr. Carnegie? Not they. We fancy we see the ceremony of kicking him out of the office resorted to, and he would deserve to be thus treated.

Another plea for Mr. Black is:

"They had just raised his salary $50." Now we have good reason to know that they did not raise his salary.

The teachers had petitioned for increase of salaries, and a committee was appointed to consider the petition. In doing so they attempted arranging the salaries of the rooms that there would be no more cause for petitions of the same kind, and in doing this added $50 to the salary attached to his division. It was not given to Mr. Black but to the room we believe. As we are not under any necessity to defend the Board, we are at liberty to say that we dissent from this way of fixing salaries, but while we may tender advice on public matters, the Board must act for themselves, as they are responsible to the people. They acted as they thought for the best, and in doing so, they thought it best to engage a teacher over Mr. Black. This is their sin, and this is the cause of all the fuss.

"The motion should have specified the cause of his dismissal."

This is another grievous error. The Principal and the Board told him verbally two weeks before, the cause, and he set them at defiance, by refusing to resign Hence they did right in removing him without giving a reason in writing. The man who does not understand spoken language would hardly understand it if written, we fear. He knows the minds of the members of the Board now, he did so two weeks ago, but he imagined that he would be retained in his position through fear of criticism, but he did not succeed.

PENMANSHIP IN OUR SCHOOLS.

The subject of Penmanship in our Schools has been pretty well ventilated during the last two or three weeks. Had the matter been brought up in the right spirit, and with good motives, it would have deserved the earnest consideration of the Board and of every parent who sends children to the school.

THE TIME

To bring this question up was not well chosen, and the way in which it was done was not calculated to impress the Board favorably with the spirits that operated behind the scenes.

Everyone acquainted with the doings of the Board will give the members credit for having a desire, at least, for doing the best for the youth of the town, and it was exceedingly presumptuous in one of their paid servants, (paid to teach English Grammar, Penmanship and the Natural Sciences as well as other branches) to attack the Board behind laying before them the grievances of which he so loudly complained. As a teacher, and hence, as one who should be interested in the School, he should have respectfully submitted the matter to the Principal and to the Board, and not if in this way, a change for the better could not have been effected. But up to the time of the appointment of Mr. Christie, not a word was ever heard about the wretched penmanship and spelling so universal of late. Mr. Black was disappointed that he was not retained as the second teacher in the Collegiate Institute with an additional $50 or $100 a year. If the Half Yearly Report of the Inspectors of High Schools be done, the boys would have a return, good reason and excellent qualifiers. But to what an effect the grievance withholding of the full pittance?

Mr. Black says he was not engaged to teach Penmanship. Perhaps not as a science, but is not every teacher bound, in duty, to see that the pupils under his care are improving in penmanship as well as in experimental philosophy, or French or German, or in any other branch of their education?

The duty of every teacher in every High School, or in any school, is to do his utmost to make up for any defects in the prior training of his pupils. Mr. Black condemns the Board for neglect of duty and yet neglected his own duty, and still wishes to be retained in the room where he has failed, or neglected his duty, by his own showing, or admission.

His pronunciation is defective, why did he not correct it. He had time to practise medicine, and even theology, it is said. Why did he not prepare himself to earn his $700 a year before he assailed the other teachers and the Board for neglect of duty? By all means let us have good penmanship in the Collegiate Institute and the Public Schools, and let every teacher see that it is attended to in his own room, in every exercise, as well as when writing copies; as all teachers know that a boy may write very neatly in his copy book, yet fail in writing an exercise or a letter. And every candid man will admit that Mr. Black ought to be held responsible to impart a knowledge of the order and forms at least, of a letter and for orthography or correct spelling, as the teaching of spelling can be confined to no particular room in the building.

If Penmanship has been neglected, we fear Reading has fared no better, even in Mr. Black's room. Now he cannot plead "no responsibility" in this matter, nor yet, "not knowing how to teach" it, as he is a professed elocutionist!

Notwithstanding his responsibility and his being a professed elocutionist, we doubt much whether he ever spent one half hour in teaching his classes how to read. They read, but how do they read?

Will he say that he was not engaged for that purpose? or that it is no part of High School work? In the last printed report of the Inspectors of High Schools we find these words:

"Many children leave the Public Schools at so early an age that they cannot have become good readers, in the true sense of the word; AND PERHAPS TO PERFECT THEM IN THIS RARE AND VALUABLE ACCOMPLISHMENT IS A DUTY AS COMMANDING AS any that pertain to the High Schools."

And yet this was neglected by the very Gentleman who assails the Board, and all his fellow teachers.

It will readily be admitted that if he had done his duty in this respect, all would not have become good readers.—He failed to do his duty in almost any sense so far as reading is concerned, while those complained of did teach penmanship, and have many boys in their classes very fair writers, for boys, and yet they are condemned by him. Is he not consistent?

His own reading we will pass over just now, as our object is not to interfere with him in any way, except so far as is necessary to show that his object is not the elevation of the school or the good of the pupils, but merely to get rid of a little ill-humor arising out of this action of the Board in appointing another gentleman over him. But while we say: By all means let the boys learn to be good writers, we say also, don't neglect their reading.

The Board, for several years, have eschewed both Religion and Politics in their appointments, notwithstanding that pressure in these respects has been tried.

This is another effort to force the Board to retain an unworthy teacher because of his politics, and because he made himself busy in arranging matter for the Review newspaper. The members of the Board have again set their faces against the introduction of Politics into school matters, and in doing so every member who assisted deserves the thanks of the people.—Why should an unworthy teacher be retained when he has no recommendation except his religious or political shibboleth?

SHOULD THERE HAVE BEEN AN INVESTIGATION?

This question arises out of the complaint of the Editor of the Review, to the effect that Mr. Black has been discharged without a hearing; and his abuse of the the Board for the course adopted.

A little reflection will satisfy any one that this is mere clap trap. Mr. Dixon, before the Board and in presence of Mr. Black, accused him of not giving his time and attention to his classes, and Mr. Black admitted the correctness of the charge.

He was then charged with not preparing the subjects attempted to be taught by him, and was told that he had been warned of the necessity for his "reading up." This he admitted and said, the subjects taught by him were too numerous to read up, as he had not time for the purpose. He said he "did not teach penmanship, because he could not, did not know how to teach it."

Mr. Edmison asked him: could he not find time to read up his subjects when he could find time to study Medicine and also to write for the Newspaper? To this he made no answer. In a most excited and unseemly defence of his conduct he struck the desk with his fist, dared them to an examination of his room to prove his inefficiency as a teacher, and appealed to an examination of his Botany class by Inspector McKenzie, (now deceased) as proof of his efficiency. The Principal in his presence, declared that Mr McKenzie reported unfavorably of that examination, and this was borne out by some who were present, and were present also at the examination of the Botany class referred to.

Now after all this, what investigation was needed or desirable, every charge of the Principal was admitted by the accused or substantiated in Mr. Black's presence, and why should there be another investigation? Could the Principal withdraw charges already proved, or admitted? could the Board retain a teacher who dared to assail them, and who forgot his own self respect, as well the respect due to them, and stood before them, flashing and thumping the desks! Could the Board retain a teacher who used all the excitement consequent on political feelings, to get up a crowd to intimidate them and thus prevent them (if possible) doing their duty! Why every one of them would deserve to be pushed out of office, that sins might be on their heads, if they should retain him. He should, and his actions were those for which he was dismissed, and he knew it, and he knew he was guilty: what has he to complain of? merely of not obtaining another opportunity of displaying his temper, and pull judgement.

If investigated why was he not dismissed long ago? This is another charge against the Board of Trustees.

The Board has always shown an earnest interest in Union members, and Principal al Dixon has been slow to view the dismissal of a Teacher until all reasonable means to bring him to his senses of duty having failed.

Instead of being blamed for this course, both the Board and Principal deserve praise. Changing teachers too often, unless for absolute insufficiency, never works well for a school, and the practical men on the Board know this, and are slow to dismiss until it cannot be avoided.

To this it will be answered that their duties to the people, and children attending school, are such as to demand the dismissal of inefficient teachers without any regard to their own feeling in the matter. It may be true, but it is better to err on the side of mercy than on that of undue severity.

It is now proved as well as admitted that Mr. Black is not an efficient teacher, why does not the Review in the interest of the people whose guardian he professes to be, demand his dismissal. The answer is simple: he is interested. Mr. Black writes for that paper, that is the whole matter, and Mr. Black, in demanding an investigation hoped to receive the sympathies of a few ratepayers. The fact is, there is now nothing to investigate. He has admitted that he could not teach the subjects to be taught in his room. There are several witnesses, in town, of the failure of Mr. Black in teaching Botany, and some gentlemen in town who know Inspector McKenzie's mind on this matter. Shall they investigate this? and if not, what is there to investigate? Even the friends of Mr. Black must see that the Board acted wisely in not having another investigation.

PARLIAMENTARY.

Although the Parliament of Canada has now been in session several weeks, very little real work has been proceeded with. An nineteen Lost is the only Bill of importance introduced by Ministers, and it is merely a reprint of Bills hitherto proposed by the Reform party but refused as long as opposition was likely to succeed.

BRIBERY.

John A. Macdonald, was accused by Mr. Huntington, of obtaining $300,000 from the American Sir Hugh Allan, Pacific Railway Company, to be used in carrying the elections. Sir John never denied the charge, and refused a committee of investigation, but his supporters becoming restive under the charge he had to grant the committee, Several days have been spent in discussing the power of the house to grant power to the Committee to administer oaths in the investigation. At last J. H. Cameron, came to the conclusion that the Commons could grant the power, and the farce came to an end. But they spent days in discussing a political axiom and and spent thousands of dollars in bluster and blow. In fact the whole object of the Ministers appears to be delay.

WEST PETERBOROUGH OUTRAGE.

A committee in the case was fixed on Monday and sworn on Tuesday, we believe but we have not learned the names of the men.

It is thought that John A. sees his end approaching and is prepairing a place for himself, where away from the scenes of his misgovernment, he may be safe during the defeat of his party.

PRESENTMENT OF THE GRAND JURY.—SPRING ASSIZES.

The Jury of our Sovereign Lady the Queen for the County of Peterborough beg leave to present:

That they have visited and Examined the gaol and found the same clean, airy, and well heated. The food appeared to be of good quality, and according to the statement of the prisoners, sufficient in quantity. Their attention was drawn to the state of the ceiling in the lower range of cells which were stained, and in one place the plaster broken, by water penetrating from above whenever the floors of the upper ranges were washed. The effectual remedy would be to take up and relay the upper floors, which were very open. The Grand Jury cannot refrain from expressing their extreme regret that the moral and religious teaching of the prisioners has for years been left to the voluntary efforts of a few laymen. By their position the prisioners are precluded from the benefit of the public administration of religion, a deprivation which the Grand Jury consider that the community are bound to compensate by private teaching. The inmates of the gaol are peculiarly in want of some counsel and religious training, and the Grand Jury would strongly recommend that without interfering with volunteer efforts, immediate arrangements should be made by the County Council, with one or more of the resident clergymen to hold regular week-day services in the gaol, which all person of the same faith should attend; and they would fain hope that some at least, when restored to freedom, may become through the instruction thus given, useful members of the community.

The Grand Jury thoroughly coincide with the remarks of your Lordship on the nature of the accomodation provided for the administration of Justice, one of the most important functions of the State, and trust that attention having been called to the subject, immediate steps will be taken, either by raising the roof of the building, or by a thorough system of ventilation, to render the performance of the duty, by all those who are compelled to attend Court, an act not positively unpleasant to the senses or detrimental to the health.

The Grand Jury regrets that no measure has been introduced into Parliament for modifying dispensing with the present Grand Jury system. They believe that the substitution of a public for the private prosecutor, through whose ignorance or dread of expense, many crimes, it is believed go unpunished, would tend greatly to further the ends of justice, and prevent much inconvenience to the public. The system, in the Grand Jury experience, is cumbrous, expensive, and inefficient.

The Grand Jury in considering the indictment against Mary McKenzie for infanticide, in which case the evidence showed that a wretched woman in the cold month of December with snow lying on the ground, had given birth to a child in a wood shed, away from the care and attention which, at such periods, humanity specially demands, were strongly impressed with the conviction that the laws of our country are deficient in not providing a mode by which the utterly poor and destitute should be cared for by the municipality in which they reside. Private charity may, and does do much, but there is a class which it can scarcely reach, and to which a house of refuge would be the asylum which they have a right to ask at the hands of their richer and more fortunate fellow countrymen. Such an institution, under a strict system of inspection, and to which all vagrants, beggars, and idle persons might be sent, where useful labour would be compulsory on those capable of performing it, and the feeble and the sick might be cared for would tend greatly to diminish mendicancy, and at the same time, prevent many harrowing scenes of poverty and distress such as often lead to crime, and are only heard of when it is too late to apply a remedy.

The Grand Jury had great pleasure in visiting the Protestant Home, an institution for sheltering aged respectable women, and orphans, who have no protectors. It is managed by a committee of ladies, and is supported by voluntary contributions, and aid from public bodies, and the air of cleanliness, peace and contentment which seems to pervade the whole establishment, speaks highly of those charities which commend themselves most strongly to the sympathies of the community. The Grand Jury would also make mention of the handsome and commodious manner in which the Court House has been fitted up for the accommodation of witnesses and jurors, and suggest that a similar convenience should be provided for the prisoners, who, at present, are huddled together in the dock, without any accommodation whatever.

The Grand Jury would also make mention of the handsome and commodious manner in which the Court House has been fitted up for the accommodation of witnesses and jurors, and suggest that a similar convenience should be provided for the prisoners, who, at present, are huddled together in the dock, without any accommodation whatever.

And again, it is surely reasonable that the Trustees should consider the Principal's wishes, so far as they are reasonable when, and surely it is reasonable to wish for harmony in the School. Teachers who will do their part without obstructing others though not claiming to belong to any "select few" I know well that it was Mr. Dixon's hope and expectation, founded on Mr. Black's oft repeated assertions, that Mr. Black would resign his situation—this was looked for long ago. I know too that delicacy and consideration for Mr. Black withheld Mr. Dixon from taking steps against him, though had his resignation but been looked for from time to time, the Principal and Trustees would have felt it their duty to intimate to him that his services were not required so. The fact that the Trustees appointed $50 additional, yearly, to the department over which Mr. Black presided in the meantime, is not necessarily a proof of satisfaction with him. At that very time his resignation was looked for almost from day to day If he conducts himself so indiscreetly that those employing him see fit to be done with him, why can't they be done with him If he had made his other arrangements with his leaving this, he would have felt no scruple about resigning, and no doubt would have felt it a hardship if the trustees had opposed his going, or had put such obstacles in his way as would have interfered with his so crying out his other arrangements Now surely what is fair on one side is fair on the other. If a teacher may leave his situation when it suits him to do so, and this is often done, has been done in our own school, and must have been done in another locality, indeed is being done all over the country, why can Trustees not feel at liberty to dispense with the services of a teacher if they see it to be for the interest of the school to do so? It is rather a significant fact that many with whom Mr. Black has formed business connexions have preferred after a time to work with, out him, and this not at all because of Black's native tendency getting the better of him

As to allowing schoolboys to publish anything either in praise or deprecation of Mr. Dixon or Mr. Black, it is an absurdity. (this is supposing that schoolboys did write those letters, and they are all puny enough to pass for juvenile precautions). Our boys are pert enough already without being taught to sit in judgment on their teachers. As to Mr. Dixon, I believe that he is honestly trying to put the school on a good footing. He gives his undivided attention to it, and, what with some men would be taken a guarantee, it is his interest to do so. As to the children's not getting on well, as some say, people should not be too ready to blame school or teachers for this. Parents should do their best at home in the way of urging and assisting their children. If our children come out well we do not give all the credit to the teacher. We are a little pleased that our children seem clever and a little pleased that they have not idled their time away—and when the reverse is the case, why should the teacher get all the blame. I would not blame a teacher till I knew first that a child was capable of learning and then that I had done my part in overseeing at home.

And how unfair, how detestable it is to mix up politics with a little fun in the school I believe there are all shades of politics on the Board of School Trustees, and it is not divided as to shade either for or against Mr Black. Can he be so short-sighted as not to see that he is a cats paw in the hands of a party, and do the Review people really think that we are so short-sighted as not to see what they are at? The bias of that "unbiassed one" is too plain to allow even the uninitiated to suppose, for a moment that it is on the square. Who could not see the drift of his closing paragraph?

I am afraid that Mr. Black is falling into the error of supposing that he either is or will be celebrity, when the truth is that he is making himself ridiculous This may seem harsh but why will men let a little ugly feeling carry them so far, or why will a man give himself up to carry out the ugly fellings of others or why will others use one man to suit their own purposes, to make out that they are advocating the cause of an oppressed one, and that the are aroused to righteous indignation by seeing things mismanaged.

"Oh! wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as ithers see us"

ONE WHO WEIGHED BOTH SIDES

To the Editor of the Examiner

DEAR SIR:—

It matters very little at what University Mr. Dixon took his degree, as long as he is competent to teach what is required of him—and he is competent. I have been under Mr. Dixon for a considerable length of time and I never heard him talk of mischievous boys, or Lac-cons, &c which are some of Mr Black's patent pronounciations, nor did I ever know him to require a translation or a Key, which I do know of Mr. Black.

Yours,
SCHOOLBOY No. 4

P. S.—If Boy No 3 be not either Mr. Black or Mr Carnegie and wants proof he can have it. No. 4

BEESFORT SCHOOL.

The quarterly examination of this school took place on the 19th inst., in presence of a respectable assemblage of ladies and gentlemen, deeply interested in the mental moral, and religious education of the young, for let me say that one of the best Sabbath Schools in the Province is also maintained here Amongst those present were two ex-Teachers, who, when in the profession, figured high above mediocrity, being solicited on this occasion to examine the different classes which in the aggregate numbered 75 pupils present. A quick revie w continued from 1 till near 5, fully testing the ability and progress of the school, and showing the easy clear and simple mode pursued by the examiners to elicit the farreaching stock of mental treasure, and enforming the established opinion of sec-ural educators' that long experience in the duties of the school room furnishes the qualification of the wise-acre number and grossly reduces the value of his-parts pretent. At the conclusion, a few appropriate remarks from some teachers on appointed the unanimous voice of all that the school, as usual, is in a flourishing condition. A high encomium was passed on the present teacher (W. L. Johnston) for the lively assiduity and deligence manifested on such occasions.—Com.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know any thing of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientefic physicians know that medicine may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proporations of greater power and producesing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combination. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has gained its place in every household and is last superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains chilblains, cholera morbus, billious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

Choice Poetry.

Little Things.

One step and then another,
And the longest walk is ended:
One stitch and then another,
And the largest rent is mended:
One brick upon another,
And the highest wall is made:
One flake upon another,
And the deepest snow is laid.

So the little corral workers,
By their slow and constant motion,
Have built up these prettily islands,
In the distant, dark blue ocean.
And the noblest undertakings
Man's wisdom hath conceived,
By oft-repeated effort
Have patiently achieved.

A little—'tis a little word,
But much may in it dwell,
Then let a warning voice be heard,
And learn the lesson well.
The way to ruin thus begins,
Down, down like any stairs,
If sometimes sullen little sins,
Soon bigger ones it bears.

A little theft, a small deceit,
Too often leads to more,
'Tis hard at first, but tempts the feet,
As through an open door.
Just as the broadest rivers run
From small and distant springs,
The greatest crimes that men have done,
Have grown from little things.

The First Fuschia.

The following sprightly story is going the rounds of foreign papers:—

Old Mr. Lee, a nurseryman and gardener near London, well known fifty and sixty years ago, was one day showing his variegated treasures to a friend, who suddenly turned to him and declared,—Well, you have not in your collection a prettier flower than I saw this morning in Wapping.

No, and pray what was this phœnix like?

Why, the plant was elegant, and the flowers hung in rows like tassels from the pendant branches, their colors the richest crimson, in the centre a fold of deep purple, and so forth.

Particular directions being demanded and given, Mr. Lee posted to the place when he at once perceived the plant was in this part of the world. He saw and admired.

Entering the house, he said, my good woman, this is a nice plant, I should like to buy it.

Ah, sir, I could not sell it for no money, for it was brought me from the West Indies by my husband, who has now left again, and I must keep it for his sake.

But I must have it.

No, sir!

Here, emptying his pockets, here is gold, silver, copper, (his stock was something more than eight guineas).

Well-a-day, but this is a power of money, sure and sure,

'Tis yours and the plant is mine, and my good dame, you shall have one of the first young ones I rear, to keep for your husband's sake.

A coach was called, in which was safely deposited our florist and his seemingly dear purchase.

His first work was to pull off and utterly destroy every vestige of blossom and blossom bud; it was divided into cuttings, which were forced into bark beds and hot beds. Every effort was used to multiply the plant.

By the commencement of the next flowering season, Mr. Lee was the delightful possessor of three hundred fuschia plants, all giving promise of blossom. The two which opened first were removed into his show house. A lady came—

Why, Mr. Lee, my dear Mr. Lee, where did you get this charming flower?

Hem, 'tis a new thing, my lady—pretty, is it not?

Pretty, 'tis lovely! It's price?

A guinea, thank your ladyship, and one of the two plants stood proudly in her ladyship's boudoir.

My dear Charlotte, where did you get that elegant flower?

O, 'tis a new thing, I saw it at old Lee's, pretty, is it not?

Pretty, 'tis beautiful! It's price?

A guinea, there was another left.

The visitor's horses smoked off to the suburb, a third flowering plant stood on the spot whence the first had been taken. The second guinea was paid, and the second fuschia adorned the drawing-room of her second ladyship. The scene was repeated as new comers saw and were attracted by the beauty of the plant.

New chariots flew to the gates of old Lee's nursery ground. Two fuschias, young, graceful and bursting into healthful flower, were constantly seen on the same spot in his repository.

He neglected not to gladden the faithful sailor's wife by the promised gift, but ere the flower season closed, three hundred guineas clinked in his purse, the produce of the single shrub from the window in Wapping; the reward of the taste, decision, skill and perseverance of old Lee.

FUN AT HOME.—Don't be afraid of a little fun at home, good people. Don't shut up your houses lest the sun should fade your carpets, and your hearts, lest a hearty laugh should shake down some of the musty cobwebs there. If you want to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold when they come home at night. When once a home is regarded as only a place to eat, drink and sleep in the work is begun that ends in gambling houses and degradation. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere. If they do not find it at their own hearthstones, it will be sought in other and perhaps less profitable places. Therefore let the fire burn brightly at nights and make the home ever delightful with those little arts that parents so perfectly understand. Don't repress the buoyant spirits of your children, half an hour of merriment round the lamp and firelight of home blots out the remembrance of many a care and annoyance during the day.

What is the difference between a spendthrift and a feather bed? One is hard up and the other soft down.

Of all the actions of man's life, his marriage does least concern other people, yet, of all actions of our life, it is most meddled with by other people.

A Chinese proverb declares that "a woman's mouth leaks secrets," in which case we would advise that the roof of the mouth be shingled.

There are some theories that have been exploded by experience: "All women do not add postscripts to their letters; scandal is not peculiar to the fair sex, but is indulged in by old people of both sexes; there are wives who are not suffering angels, and whose husbands are not tyrants."

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is never to injure any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the same district, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

Your Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all around the world.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

DYSPEPSIA — DEBILITY

PERUVIAN SYRUP — AN IRON TONIC

DROPSY — HUMORS

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "as thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

NEW SEED STORE!

New Firm.

Giles & Mason

SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.

Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Hughes & Bailey, Simcoe Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—

1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their not being engaged in the Seed business heretofore, they have no old seeds to sell or mix with new stock.

3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.

4th. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character they have ample facilities for testing them vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale

5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

6th. That those who may be blessed to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable House in America.

In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (What becomes of the seed returned?)

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising First and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Nursery Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store. by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Green-house.

Bedding Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 436, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirements of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the merits of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredients. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir, is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Dropsies, Boils, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Sick Scald Head, Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Poisons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.
Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and ever more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Sore Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

For sale by Dr. Taylor, and Messrs Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough.

A DISTINGUISHD PHYSIOLOGIST has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food, which is the Phosphorous contained in the blood.

The painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and the insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of neuralgic and rheumatic pains is Saprowed Nutrition, arising from Derangement of the Stomach, Malassimilation of food, and Poor Blood.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies Phosphorous for the nervous system. Linds as an excellent of a nutrition. Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting Strength. No preparation in existence is so reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

Choice Poetry.

True Freedom—How to gain it.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

We want no flag, no bloody flag,
For liberty to fight,
We want no blaze of murderous guns
To struggle for the right.
Our spears and swords are pointed words,
The mind our battle plain,
We've won such victories before,
And so we shall again.

We have no triumphs sprung of force—
They stain her brightest scans,
'Tis not in blood that liberty
Inscribes her civil laws.
She writes them on the people's hearts,
In language clear and plain,
True thoughts have moved the world before,
And so they shall again.

We yield to none in earnest love
Of freedom's cause sublime,
We join the cry, "Preserve it"—
We keep the march of time.
And yet we grasp no pike or spear
Our victories to obtain,
We've won without their aid before,
And so we shall again.

We want no aid of barricade
To show a front of wrong,
We have a citidel of truth,
More durable and strong.
Calm words, great thoughts, unflinching faith,
Have never striven in vain,
They've won our battle many a time,
And so they shall again.

Peace, progress, knowledge, brotherhood—
The ignorant may sneer—
The bad deny—but we rely
To see their triumph near.
No widow's groan shall load our cause,
No blood of brethren slain,
We've won without such aid before,
And so we shall again.

Editorial Items.

John D. Armour, Esq. Q.C

Was Crown prosecutor at the Lindsay Assizes.

Extension.

There are 438 more names on the Assessment Roll of the Town this year than last.

The Floods.

The water in the river is at its biggest. There has been no rise for the last two days.

New York.

One Schaflin was hanged in New York, also on the 18th inst., for the murder of his wife. Whukey at work again.

Syracuse.

Henry Fralick was hanged at the Penitentiary of this place on the 18th inst. for the murder of one Peter Schaffer.

Chicago.

A colored Barber named Smith, murdered one of his men on the 22nd inst., with an iron skillet. Jealousy was the cause.

Wife Murder.

One Carruthers has been found guilty of wife murder, at the Berrie Assizes, and sentenced to be executed on the 11th of June.

Body Found.

The body of Mr. Wm Davidson of Mariposa, who was drowned in his own Mill Dam on the 9th of April, was found on the 20th inst.

Bank Stock.

The Bank Stock and Mortgages put on the Assessment Roll this year is fully equal the one-fifth entire assessment of last year.

J. A. Roseborough

Is offering a large stock of goods. He is also prepared to furnish Gentlemen's complete outfits in the best styles, and fits guaranteed.

The Lock's Bridge

Was not swept away about a week ago—causing the loss of about half the timber in the old bridge. Mr. Boyd took it down before the flood.

Bad Ventilation.

Mr. Mill's, member for Bothwell is also an invalid at Ottawa. Bad ventilation is said to be the cause of so much illness among the Members.

West Riding Election Contest.

The Committee on the West Riding Election Contest were sworn in on the 22nd inst. They are Mr. Palmer, chairman, and Messers. Anglin, Almon, Rymal and Colby.

Millbrook.

This enterprizing Village is moving forward. The Messenger gives a column of details of new buildings about to be erected this season. Principally dwellings and to be of brick.

The Gas Company

Are now leveling in their lot with stuff taken from the lot immediately north of the Gas House. They intend erecting a larger building this season, for which the foundation is already laid.

Barrie Assizes.

At the Barrie Assizes on the 22nd, one Moran was tried for the murder of a man named Marshall, but the jury acquitted him. Before leaving the box he said he would point out the murderer before he left Town.

Park Lots.

Mr. Dumble is offering valuable Park Lots, near Downer's Corner, for sale, on easy terms. The soil and location are good and when the Locks Bridge is rebuilt will be easy of access. They will be offered by auction on the 5th of May.

The Indians.

In the United States are likely to bring upon themselves a war of extermination. It has almost commenced in the case of the war with the Modoc Tribe. As an Indian war is a system of border warfare, the advance settlers will suffer in the contest.

New Methodist Church.

The contract for the New Methodist Church in the South end of the Town has been awarded to Mr. Wm. Wand of Ashburnham, at $2,700. The Building Committee are now asking for tenders for the erection of the Church in the North end of the Town, the estimated cost of which is about $25,000 to $30,000.

Cobourg Railway

Men are busy laying the rails on this road. They commenced on Thursday at Ashburnham, and intend working both ways. We understand that a Locomotive will be conveyed to the road in a short time, when the whistle will again be heard in the village. this time to continue for a long season. Everything is progressing favourably, we will soon be able to chronicle the whole road to Mud Lake, in working order.

Christian Morals.

The editors of the Review are exceedingly anxious that Dr. Ryerson's book on "Christian Morals" should be introduced into the Collegiate Institute. A good many are anxious to know if they have ever seen it, as not a few doubt the moral animus that pervades their articles on the School question. If they have read the book, they have omitted to practice the golden rule, but then there is not time to read up in all these multitudinous little things.

St. George's Day.

The anniversary of England's Patron Saint was celebrated on Wednesday evening by a dinner served up in Mr. Turver's best style. The chair was ably filled by Chas. Ormond, Esq., and several representative gentlemen of the Town were present. From a report in the Review we learn that as Englishmen all "the loyal toasts were given, and no doubt well received. Our confrere say:—"As a good old fashioned English dinner, where mirth and sociability abound, we must chronicle a rare success, which will not soon fade from the memory of those who participated in it."

The Old Burying Ground

Is not a very great ornament to the northern portion of the Town, owing to the state of the fence and grounds. Can the Council do nothing to have it put in order the fences improved, and the whole ground made into a nice park. It might be one of the handsomest places about the Town if some one of taste and determination would but undertake putting it in order, and as it is for the benefit and pleasure of all, the expense should be borne by all. That is, the Council should get it done. Some north ward or centre ward man should take the initiative in this matter. It only requires some one to move in the Council to succeed.

Millinery.

Mr. Thompson's show rooms were opened on Thursday. There was a throng of ladies to the rooms the whole day. The display of Bonnets, Hats, Ribbons, Feathers, Silks, Shawls and of almost everything calculated to please the superior tastes of the ladies, was really pleasing to one of the sterner sex.. Mr. Thomson is noted for his excellent choice of fine and fashionable goods, and the rush of Ladies to his show rooms on Thursday, was sufficient to convince us that they do not fail to find the places where the best and most fashionable articles can be obtained. A visit to the rooms would make the heart lighter than usual, and may have the same effect on another con-comitant of Paser familias, the pocket.

Threatening Electors.

Mr. Dorion has brought a very important matter before the Dominion Parliament —That of using the patronage of the House to influence elections. He has shown that Hon. Mr. Langevin wrote letters to parties in the county of Charlevoix, threatening that if they voted for Mr. Tremblay, the opposition candidate, that no Government works would be carried on in the county. The letters were read at the church doors in the county, during the election contest, and had the effect of preventing electors voting for the peoples' candidate, lest their county should suffer. The matter was discussed in the House on the 22nd inst., but time was asked to allow the Minister of Public Works to bring forward rebutting evidence. These letters were sent to different counties in Lower Canada.

PROHIBITION.

The Rev. W. McDonagh of Newcastle, and T. McNaughton, Esq., of Cobourg, held a meeting here on Wednesday evening last, in the Music Hall. Mayor Cox occupied the chair, and the Rev. C Fish showed his zeal in the temperance cause by his presence on the platform.

The Hall was well filled especially by young people, who appeared to take a lively interest in the progress of this great question. T. M Fairbairn, Esq., M. P. P. was also present and at the close of the speeches at the request of Mr. McNaughton, explained the position of the Ontario Legislature on this all important reform; stating that if it had not been contrary to the principles involved in the Confederate Act the Legislature would have passed a Prohibitory Bill. This was received with cheers from the audience. The speechs of both gentlemen evinced their zeal in this good cause. Mr. McNaughton was very happy and eloquent, proving from statistics, from reason and from nature, that men should abhor strong drink, and do all in power their to destroy the traffic.

The Rev Mr. McDonagh took strong ground on the License system, denounced it as unholy, unreasonable, and unchristian, and asked those gentlemen in Councils, of influence, and in Paliament, to work till the curse be forever annihilated.

"The League," for which these gentlemen labour without money and with price, is doing a great work, and deserves the earnest co-operation of all the temperance and christian organizations of this great Province.

" Dogs	228	226
" names on Roll	1,671	1,231

According to the Assessment returns the "Total Population" is made up thus:

In families	6,224
In Convent	20
Transient	256
Total	6,500

This year there are 438 entries on the Roll more than for 1872, largely increasing the labor of the clerk. There is also an increase in every item except two.

The taxing of Bank Stock is likely to create considerable excitement at the Court of Revision, and will be watched with interest. Our readers will be for and against taxing the Stocks according to their interests, as in all other matters, and the discussion of it would only be a display of egotistic vanity on our part, of desiring to show a knowledge of everything. The Court will have to decide it, and then it will be easy to discuss the matter, hence we will await the investigation.

OTONABEE TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.

Council met on Monday, 14th inst.

The Reeve presented and read a number of accounts and claims against the township.

The Treasurer was instructed to pay following sums:

James Sinclair, fees as Licensee Inspector	13 50
Do Returning Officer	2 50
Do for Poll Books, 1873	2 00
William Brotherton, mending Road Scraper	1 00
John R. Davis, gravel	5 22
Archibald Wilkes, orders for culvert	1 00
John Long, gravel	1 20
Christopher Howson, do	5 13
Walter Renwick do	2 64
Alex Connel, mending road scraper	1 20
Mrs. Prentice, relief	5 00
John Miller, relief of Mrs. O'Brien	5 00

Mr. Dennis Kinally allowed to commute his statute labor for three years, work to be done on road between lots 21 and 22 in con 14.

The Clerk was directed to write to Thomas Buck, Esq., Norwood, desiring him to remove the boom placed by him across the river at Keene bridge, as the bridge is endangered thereby.

Mr. Joseph Elmhirst, sr. allowed to do his statute labor in road division No. 7 instead of No. 2.

The Reeve was instructed to consult with Surveyors as to the necessity of placing monuments at the north end of concession lines east of seventh con.

Lists of Pathmasters, Poundkeepers and Fenceviewers were made out and the Clerk directed to prepare By-law for their appointment.

The Court of Revision ordered to be held on Monday, 12th May next.

The Council then adjourned to 12th May next.

HAMILTON'S AGRICULTURAL WORKS.

In fulfilment of our promise some weeeks ago, we visited another of our Manufacturing Establishments lately—that of Hamilton's Agricultural Works south of the Market square. Where we found everything in a busy state.

The Agricultural Foundry has been established for many years and has won its way to the attention of farmers. Mr. Hamilton gives his whole attention to Agricultural Implements, and is doing a good business.

His specialty is Steel Ploughs, but he is turning out ploughs of every useful pattern, cultivators, g

Editorial Items.

Tit for Tat.

Mr. Faucher had a man named W. Walsh summoned before the Police Magistrate yesterday for stealing six cigars.—Walsh was found guilty and sentenced to 14 days in jail. In order to be even with Mr. Faucher he lodged complaint against him for selling liquar after hours on Saturday night, and Mr. Faucher was fined $20 and costs So much for 6 cigars and the smoke that has followed. Walsh goes 14 days to jail, and gets all the fine, or $20. So that he has his board for 14 days, and $20 for stealing 6 cigars.

Paid for their fun.

Richard Elmhirst, Joseph Elmhirst and Peter Comstock had a little fun in Peterboro and Ashburnham on Saturday last, but were caught by Constable Howden, and held to appear on Monday morning, which they did before A.C. Dunlop, Esq., J. P., and were fined $10 each, and costs amounting to $2,50 each. They had a broken sulky also, and some other expenses. The old offender, John Barley corn, caused the whole bother.

Must Move Onward.

Now that the New Bank will in a month or so be completed, and other improvements in the same neighborhood are likely follow, the owner of the Commercial Hotel should renovate the outside of the building. The inside is very comfortable and commodious and has been newly papered and fixed up, Mr. Morgan being desirous of maintaining its good name, but the owner should also take a pride in fixing up the outside Although no advocates of the liquor traffic, we must have hotels for public accommodation, and as the Commercial Hotel is a first class house and well kept by Mr. Morgan, it would be to the interest of the owner of the building to put it in first class repair outside.

Suicide at Omemee.

A young man named S. Wilson Howard, committed suicide at Omemee, on Wednesday last, by drowning himself in Cottingham's mill dam. He was from England about 13 months, and was 29 years of age. Since coming of age he has spent a fortune of $50,000 in strong drink, and lately received an allowance from his father He was well educated, but strong drink induced delirium tremens, and while under the influence, he went out of his bedroom window, in the St. Lawrence Hotel, and proceeding to the mills then threw himself in. One more victim to the demon Alcohol.

Cheap Passage to and from Europe.

The Allan Steamship Line which is composed of twenty-four of the best and quickest vessels afloat is doing a large and increasing business, two steamers now being despatched weekly between Europe and Canada. The vessels are all fitted up with every comfort and safety, and the state rooms and steerage appartments are well ventilated. Prepaid Passage tickets are issued to parties wishing to bring out their friends, at the very lowest rates. Intermediate passengers are furnished with beeth, bedding and all other requisites. Parties in Canada sending for their friend effect a saving of about $7.00 by getting prepaid certificates in this country and sending them home instead of the money; besides the government allows a bonus of $6.00 to each person who has been three months a settler—the agent's certificate to the effect that such a person has his passage paid to him, being evidence for the Government that the application for the amount is bona fide. All the tickets are good for one year, and can be renewed if not used within that time. For the information of parties sending for their friends, we may remark that the Allan Line Steamships come direct to the Grand Trunk Railway Wharves at Point Levi (Quebec) and Portland, and that Passengers and their baggage being landed on the Wharves there is no charge made for cartage and handling of baggage and by this arrangement expenses which occur on other lines, are saved. For tickets to or from Liverpool, Londonderry or Glasgow, apply to Geo. A. Cox, agent, Peterborough.

Elopement.

The Napanee Express relates the incidents of an elopement which took place at Brighton on Sunday, 20th ult. The young lady was so well watched that she could not carry out her plans except by cunning, and she proved equal to the task. She went to church with her brother, feigned to be ill during the sermon and just stepped outside, where her lover was in waiting and drove her off and got the union consummated before her friends were aware of what was up. She didn't forget her text that day.

Call from Melborne

In the Eastern Townships to the Rev. Henry Edmison, M.A., Waterdown, Ont, We learn that at a meeting of the Presbytery of Quebec, in connection with the Church of Scotland, held for the purpose of moderating in a call to fill this important charge, the said call came out unanimously in favor of the Rev. H. Edmison M.A. minister of Waterdown and Nelson.

Mr Edmison has signified his intention of accepting the call, and there is every prospect of his speedy translation and harmonius settlement in Melbourne. The salary offered is, as clerical salaries go now a days, very liberal, being about $1,000 with manse and glebe of 8 acres.

The Belle Case.

This case, which was a charge against Mr. Belle of the Emigrant Office, Montreal, of overture s to some of the women stopping there for a season, has resulted in the suspension of Belle.

The Bobcaygeon Independent

Announces with pleasure that Mr. John Simpson is restored to health after a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs.

Mr. Wm Snowdon of Rokeby broke one of the small bones of his leg on Tuesday week.

Modern Languages.

Notwithstanding the opinions of those who have been trying to break down the Collegiate Institute, the pupils will study the Modern Languages Mr. Christie has a class of 25 in German, and of over 70 in French. Something must be done to stop this! If not, the whole school will become so Frenchy that Peterboro will be the Quebec of Ontario. A Mass Meeting should be called at once—a full meeting! and the whole thing denounced. But, seriously, does this look like breaking up the school? Most people will say: Not very.

Latest Arrivals.

Messrs. Doran & Gibbons have just imported 100 men to advertize their extensive stock of Readymade Clothing and Dry Goods, and this week they are advertising for 1000 men to buy their fancy, fashionable suits. They have a large stock to select from and keep a first class cutter, to suit their customers.

South Brant.

Mr. Hardy, the Reform Candidate for South Brant, in place of E. B. Wood, now representative of W. Durham, was elected on Monday by a majority of 208. He had a majority at every election place but in Brantford. Mr. Hawkins was strong in Brantford, and being strong on strong drink made his mark in the Town, but not among the honest yeomanry of the Riding. Rykert's wailing, and Lauder's Proton Outrages didn't succeed. We guess Rykert will have to lease a "cano couch" to rest his weary limbs awhile.

Fair Play.

We have reason to believe that we were astray in our strictures on a member of the Board of Trustees in Saturday's issue, as he assures us that he was not the writer who signed himself "Fairplay" in the last Review.

Removal.

Mr. J. R. Ormond is fitting up the store, next door to Kidd's bookstore lately occupied by Mr. Sawers as a grocery, and intends moving to it by the end of the week. The store is being fitted in first class style. The change will be announced by bills and advertisement.

Missionary Services.

Mr. Cameron, Presbyterian Missionary, will until further notice, hold Divine Service at Auburn Mills, beginning next Sabbath, 4th May, at the hour of 6. 30, p.m.

New Firm in Norwood.

Messrs. John Findlay, Ralph W. Purdy and Joseph Black, have entered into partnership to carry on the "Norwood Steam Bending Works, and Hub & Spoke Factory," at the said village. We wish them success in their busines. Prosperity in norwood cannot hurt Peterboro.

PARLIAMENTARY.

There is very little done at Ottawa.—Days have been spent in discussing Newspaper articles and the privilege of the House. John A. is anxious to get through without a test vote on any important question. The Committee appointed to investigate the charges of obtaining $900,-000 to bribe the Electors will not be able to report this Session, and next Session John A. and Co'y may be out of the reach of Committee Reports.

Nothing definite has transpired in the West Peterboro outrage committee. The Returning Officer was at Ottawa last week, but has returned, at least so says some rumour, but we understand that he was not heard before the committee.

Mr. Bertram's Counsel was heard on Saturday and Monday, but definite information has not been received. Mr. Carnegie has also gone to Ottawa as private tutor to the Returning Officer, but remained after him to receive more instructions himself. We are sorry to hear that he has lost the power of remembering old friends, as there are serious apprehensions of a return of his old malady. He is so far gone that he does not know those with whom he was formerly intimately acquainted. And physicians may have to be called in to watch his mental haluciations, so as to prevent serious consequences. He actually did not know Mr. Bertram at Ottawa, and could not swear that he was the man that oppposed Mr. Cluxton at the last election. His friends are serriously concerned about his unfortunate state.

Mr. Howe has left Ottawa, to become Lieut. Governor of his own Province, as one by one the ablest men of the party are dropping out of the ranks. Perhaps men of more honor and less trickery may take their places.

The system of open bribery by which the Government has retained power will be continued so long as there are means to be applied, and men to accept better terms. The only hope there is for the Country is, that something so vile will be done that even those who have supported them will see the necessity of withdrawing from them to retain the appearance of having respect for their own character.

The Dominion is to assume the debts of all the Provinces, and thus do away with the question of Arbitration. By this means too they will be able to retain the friendship of the Members from the Eastern Provinces, which they feared would not remain with them.

So far the only Bill likely to have any effect on the future of the Country is the Election Bill, and it is believed that it is so clumsy that it will cost more than it will be worth to the Dominion.

THE NORWOOD LIST.

The Register takes us to task mildly for some errors in the list of votes polled on the late By-law. It is not to be wondered at, that they should feel jealous for the good name of their village and township.

We, however, published the list on what we consider good authority, and have no reason to change our mind, notwithstanding the Register's assertions.

Jas. Barr and Joseph Barr are on the Roll in brackets as partners. No one will believe that they form a legal partnership.

W. S. Glynn is on as owner, and W. Glynn in brackets. Is this also a partnership? or is it a way of making votes?

George Grover is on as an "F." No one believes that he is a freeholder.

Wm Cummings, not Cunningham, is a millwright, but he is a householder on the Roll.

Waterloo, Arthur, is assessed as follows:—

H 7 N B ½ $50.
F 4 S B ½ $50.
T Cardmill 2 $200.

That is a householder for $250 worth of property and a freeholder for $50 worth, that will hardly constitute him a legal voter.

Lipsett, George is on the Roll as a householder, and Thomas W. Dewart the owner.

John Harper, jr, is also on as tenant, and John Harper sr, as the owner.

Jas. McMillan appears to have a legal vote.

James Dyre is down as a blacksmith and a tenant, Hugh Beckett being the owner.

B. Moffat, jr, votes, yet he is on the Roll as tenant and B. Moffat, sr, the owner.

John MLlaly voted for the By-law, yet no such name appears on the Revised Assessment Roll.

James McMillan is dead, but his son may have voted in his stead, yet there is such a long list of illegal votes on the lists filed in the County Clerk's Office, that Norwood officials have no reason to feel proud of the vote on the By-law.

That anyone should attempt to use a dirty mortar or pestle to foul the surrounding atmosphere or defile those with whom they would associate, recoils on those using such dirty pills. When errors are discovered they should if possible be rectified, and in endeavoring to secure this end, even at the risk of putting the Register right, we must pursue our mission.

For the benefit of those Returning Officers who have been acting under instructions other than the statutes afford, we publish the following important clause which were overlooked in their extreme eagerness to secure the Ontario and Quebec Road.

THE MUNICIPAL INSTITUTION ACT

Section 100, sub. sec. 9, is as follows:—"In case two or more Candidates have an equal number of votes, the said Clerk, whether otherwise qualified or not, shall give a casting vote for one or more of such candidates, so as to decide the Election. AND EXCEPT IN SUCH CASES THE CLERK SHALL NOT VOTE at any such Election."

And Section 101, sub. sec. 10.—"In case two or more Candidates have an equal number of votes, the Returning Officer, or in case of a Ward divided in Electoral Divisions, the Town or City Clerk, whether otherwise qualified or not, shall give a vote for one or more of such Candidates so as to decide the Election, and EXCEPT IN SUCH CASE, NO RETURNING OFFICER or Town or City Clerk shall vote at ANY Election held by him.

Do certain Returning Officers plead not being such, because appointed by the County Council.

Section 196, sub. sec. 1, says:—"The Council shall by the By-law, fix the day, hour and place for taking the votes of the Electors thereon, at EVERY PLACE in the Municipality, at which the Election of the Members of the Council at Councils therein are held, and and SHALL ALSO NAME Returning Officers to take the votes at every such place."

These sections and subsections declare that NO Returning Officer shall vote on any By-law.

We all want the road, but let us not use wrong means to obtain it.

THE POST OFFICE REVENUE.

We have received the Postmaster General's report for the year ending June 30, 1872. From it we copy the following figures as the gross revenue of the leading post offices of Ontario for that year:

Toronto	$110,744 82
Hamilton	38,255 74
Ottawa	28,738 51
London	25,194 57
Kingston	14,078 36
St. Catherines	10,082 26
Belleville	8,771 16
Guelph	8,608 91
Brantford	8,295 59
Brockville	6,215 91
Chatham	6,041 08
Peterborough	5,983 27
Port Hope	5,179 77

The remaining offices show a gross revenue of 5,000 or less each.

The Canada Pacific.

Rumors are that Sir Hugh Allan has failed in floating the Bonds of this Road in England, and that he is not likely to succeed unless he gives up the Northern Colonization Road, and the Ontario and Quebec Road. Grand Trunk influence opposing him.

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY BY-LAW.

The Town Council or the Committee, or both, appear to have forgotten their pledge to submit and carry a By-law granting a bonus of $100,000 to this road The promise was made in good faith and the County Council did their part. That the By-law is illegal, of which there are no two opinions, does not effect the responsibility of the Town. It was agreed that the Town should give $100,000, and there should be no backing down. That Sir Hugh Allan has not succeeded in his Pacific scheme may affect this scheme for a short time, but it cannot be long. The rod is a necessity to meet the commercial progress of the country, and must be built. Peterboro should not be behind in encouraging those who are desirous of consummating the work. Indeed should Sir Hugh be compelled to give up the work, some other company will take it in hand and the fact that liberal bonuses are offered to aid it, will induce some parties to undertake the matter. The committee should be called together and the By-law submitted to the Council, and let the onus of longer delay be placed on that body, and not on the committee. If the road is for the advantage of Peterboro, shall we not hasten rather than throw obstacles in the way of its construction? We trust the Chairman of the Committee appointed to draft the By-law, will call a meeting and let that portion of the work be proceeded with at once.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ASHBURNHAM.

Messrs. Mowry & Forsyth are at work putting in steam power in their Foundry and Machine shop, Ashburnham. The high water at present is operating against them, and then the likelihood of low water, for a while in summer, causes serious delay to their works. To avoid both of these hindrances in the future, they are putting in steam power so as to be prepared for all emergencies. Messrs. Mowry & Forsyth are largely engaged in manufacturing Threshing Machines and Horse Powers. They have at present a number of their Machines ready and are daily turning out new work. To enable them to carry on their business without interruption they are compelled to provide steam power in addition to their water power.

Besides manufacturing their own Machines, which are highly spoken of by all who have used them, they do all kinds of repairing and casting. We understand their business is increasing with the Town, and we are persuaded that it only requires a spirit of progress to move the people of Ashburnham, to ensure general improvement in the whole village, and this can only be brought about by a spirit of liberality on the part of property holders or by annexation to the town. It is pleasing to find that the increasing business of Messrs. Mowry & Forsyth is compelling them to move forward.

THE NEW BANK.

Mr. Cox is hurrying the new building for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to completion. It will be a splendid building, and will add to the appearance of that portion of the Town. As soon as the remainder of the block is completed, George Street will equal any street of a similar length in any Town in Ontario.

GRADING.

The Council should set to work early and grade George Street, and also Brock Street, so as to fix the grade for all new buildings.

George Street requires grading and cutting from the old burying ground to below the new bank; and Brock Street from Water Street to Aylmer Street.—The grading of these streets properly will add to the appearance of that portion of the Town, and cannot injure any property on those streets, as, at present from Dr. Burnham's residence to Mr. Campbell's buildings the street is too flat, and the present buildings too low for the street.

By taking 1½ feet to 3 feet off that portion of the street will add to the appearance of the streets as well as the buildings already erected, and will also establish the grade for all new buildings. The water of Brock Street, west, should go to the creek, and the water of George opposite the old burying ground, should have a fall down George Street, or some way, that in spring and fall it may not be lying on the street in lakes.

The New Methodist Church will add to the appearance of the North of the Town, and no unsightly water pools should be allowed to diminish the pleasure of a stroll in that direction. Don't let the Council be behind in making the leading streets to all the churches of the Town such that people can go to them at any season without fear of being drowned, or nearly so.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

We have been informed that Norwood was the scene of an outrage of no ordinary character, on Tuesday evening. Our informant says that while Mr. John Breckenridge, was stopping at Mullens Hotel, on that evening, several persons blackened, and hence not known, got him out and cast rotten eggs at him till satisfied with themselves. The alleged cause being the supposition that he gave the information relative to the illegal votes polled in the village, for the $150,000 By-law.

The information was obtained from the poll books and the copy of the revised assessment roll in the County Clerk's office. These are the property of every man in the county, and can be seen at all reasonable hours. The outrage of those who would dare abuse any man, even though the person who gave such information, cannot be too strongly condemned, and the perpetrators should be severly punished, and every friend of Norwood should assist in bringing them to justice. Such daring acts against the peace should not be tolerated for a moment by those who desire that Canada shall be a land of freedom, of justice, and liberty. If any man does wrong, the law may be invoked to punish the wrong, but what may be expected of a people who tolerate wrong, and intimidate those who do right.

THE RESULT OF THOSE ILLEGAL VOTES.

There is no doubt but that there have been illegal votes enough discovered to kill the By-Law. The majority for it was 24. There were a few bad votes polled against, but not more than 9 have been pointed out. These 9 taken from the number of bad votes polled for it will leave more than 40, against the 24. This number to enfranchised to render it illegal.

Had the By-Law been defeated by one this another By-Law, (perhaps the 4 last sum) would have been submitted and proved the end of the four By-Laws would have been submitted. [illegible] By-Law has become the subject of much discussion, and what is a town elected the Board of Trustees in Saturday's issue, as he assures us that he was not the writer who signed himself "Fairplay" in the last Review.

Removal.

Mr. J. R. Ormond is fitting up the store, next door to Kidd's bookstore lately occupied by Mr. Sawers as a grocery, and intends moving to it by the end of the week. The store is being fitted in first class style. The change will be announced by bills and advertisement.

Missionary Services.

Mr. Cameron, Presbyterian Missionary, will until further notice, hold Divine Service at Auburn Mills, beginning next Sabbath, 4th May, at the hour of 6. 30, p.m.

New Firm in Norwood.

Messrs. John Findlay, Ralph W. Purdy and Joseph Black, have entered into partnership to carry on the "Norwood Steam Bending Works, and Hub & Spoke Factory," at the said village. We wish them success in their busines. Prosperity in norwood cannot hurt Peterboro.

PARLIAMENTARY.

There is very little done at Ottawa.—Days have been spent in discussing Newspaper articles and the privilege of the House. John A. is anxious to get through without a test vote on any important question. The Committee appointed to investigate the charges of obtaining $900,-000 to bribe the Electors will not be able to report this Session, and next Session John A. and Co'y may be out of the reach of Committee Reports.

Nothing definite has transpired in the West Peterboro outrage committee. The Returning Officer was at Ottawa last week, but has returned, at least so says some rumour, but we understand that he was not heard before the committee.

Mr. Bertram's Counsel was heard on Saturday and Monday, but definite information has not been received. Mr. Carnegie has also gone to Ottawa as private tutor to the Returning Officer, but remained after him to receive more instructions himself. We are sorry to hear that he has lost the power of remembering old friends, as there are serious apprehensions of a return of his old malady. He is so far gone that he does not know those with whom he was formerly intimately acquainted. And physicians may have to be called in to watch his mental haluciations, so as to prevent serious consequences. He actually did not know Mr. Bertram at Ottawa, and could not swear that he was the man that oppposed Mr. Cluxton at the last election. His friends are serriously concerned about his unfortunate state.

Mr. Howe has left Ottawa, to become Lieut. Governor of his own Province, as one by one the ablest men of the party are dropping out of the ranks. Perhaps men of more honor and less trickery may take their places.

The system of open bribery by which the Government has retained power will be continued so long as there are means to be applied, and men to accept better terms. The only hope there is for the Country is, that something so vile will be done that even those who have supported them will see the necessity of withdrawing from them to retain the appearance of having respect for their own character.

The Dominion is to assume the debts of all the Provinces, and thus do away with the question of Arbitration. By this means too they will be able to retain the friendship of the Members from the Eastern Provinces, which they feared would not remain with them.

So far the only Bill likely to have any effect on the future of the Country is the Election Bill, and it is believed that it is so clumsy that it will cost more than it will be worth to the Dominion.

THE NORWOOD LIST.

The Register takes us to task mildly for some errors in the list of votes polled on the late By-law. It is not to be wondered at, that they should feel jealous for the good name of their village and township.

We, however, published the list on what we consider good authority, and have no reason to change our mind, notwithstanding the Register's assertions.

Jas. Barr and Joseph Barr are on the Roll in brackets as partners. No one will believe that they form a legal partnership.

W. S. Glynn is on as owner, and W. Glynn in brackets. Is this also a partnership? or is it a way of making votes?

George Grover is on as an "F." No one believes that he is a freeholder.

Wm Cummings, not Cunningham, is a millwright, but he is a householder on the Roll.

Waterloo, Arthur, is assessed as follows:—

H 7 N B ½ $50.
F 4 S B ½ $50.
T Cardmill 2 $200.

That is a householder for $250 worth of property and a freeholder for $50 worth, that will hardly constitute him a legal voter.

Lipsett, George is on the Roll as a householder, and Thomas W. Dewart the owner.

John Harper, jr, is also on as tenant, and John Harper sr, as the owner.

Jas. McMillan appears to have a legal vote.

James Dyre is down as a blacksmith and a tenant, Hugh Beckett being the owner.

B. Moffat, jr, votes, yet he is on the Roll as tenant and B. Moffat, sr, the owner.

John MLlaly voted for the By-law, yet no such name appears on the Revised Assessment Roll.

James McMillan is dead, but his son may have voted in his stead, yet there is such a long list of illegal votes on the lists filed in the County Clerk's Office, that Norwood officials have no reason to feel proud of the vote on the By-law.

That anyone should attempt to use a dirty mortar or pestle to foul the surrounding atmosphere or defile those with whom they would associate, recoils on those using such dirty pills. When errors are discovered they should if possible be rectified, and in endeavoring to secure this end, even at the risk of putting the Register right, we must pursue our mission.

For the benefit of those Returning Officers who have been acting under instructions other than the statutes afford, we publish the following important clause which were overlooked in their extreme eagerness to secure the Ontario and Quebec Road.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proporations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop, whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given its place in every household and is last superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains chilblains, cholera morbus, billious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER.

Anaheim, Cal. April 8th.

DEAR EXAMINER,—Commencing with the weather for March, it was all that could be desired for putting in crops and for growing, yet oftentimes it threatened rain, and if in any other country this rain would certainly fall, here it seems as if rain scarcely will fall. We had no frost during the month, and the vines in and around Town put forth their garments of green, they seemed to grow more rapidly than last year, but short is the joy of the vineyard men This month so far has paid up for March fine weather. Since April came in we have had cold, blowing weather, wind chiefly from the west, and severe frosts at night. On the fourth, the mercury stood at 28 deg., and the fifth a little lower, and the frost was severe; so much so that now a green vine is not left in this part of the country, which is a great loss to the people, as the bunches of grape being formed on most of the vines will not form again this year. Last year from what grapes grew in the town limits, about 800 acres, there was manufactured 500,000 gallons of wine, besides a large quantity of grape brandy. It was computed that the yield was about one gallon to the vine; besides a quantity of the malaga and other raisin grapes which were not taken into account. The weather is very severe on farmers, and should rain not follow, our chance of crops of grain are very slight indeed, as the early sown grain is now suffering for want of moisture. You cannot believe how such weather effects us. We shiver the whole time unless hard at work. I almost forgot to tell you that once during the month it tried to blow one of the wind storms of which I wrote. The people here call them "Blous Santa Annas." It however did little harm as it soon ceased, yet the marks of it appeared visible on some oats of ours, being scorched on the top leaves.

The crops sown here this year are barley, rye, norway oats, and a little wheat and corn. Oats are very light in the grain; wheat does not do well—at least what I have seen; it is very subject to rust. It is supposed the fogs which visit us occasionally during this month and next, and the fact that we live near the level of the sea, probably has something to do in the matter.—The higher lands are not visited with these fogs often. Potatoes do not do well, at least they are very risky, oftentimes they all grow to tops and no potatoes on them. Peas do not do well, they shell out so when getting ripe.—Corn does well, and yields largely—sometimes 100 bushels to the acre, but plenty of it a good deal less. I have only heard of this large yield, but have not seen it myself. I had last year 32 cwt. from an acre. The different kind of beans do well here, also cabbages, tomatoes, and the different kinds of garden stuffs. Then in the tree line, all kinds of fruit trees seem to thrive well. I am partial to the English Walnut and Almond. I planted nearly 60 of the former, 3 year old, and some of the latter. One great drawback is they do not commence to bear until they are nine years old. Almonds yield fruit earlier—about the fourth year, I think. We planted considerable Walnuts, (seed) this year, how they will do remains for the future. If we have plenty of water all do well, if not, the garden soon becomes a desert. We also put out some vines, they are tender things to get started. Last year we put out about 2,000 but not more than 300 of them grew, and had to plant over again. This year I put out 100 Malaga Raisins, Grape, about 25 of which grew. I planted this year 2,000 more grape. I am not much in favour of the wine-making business. I observe those engaged in it generally get to be fond of it themselves, and use it too often for their own good. A very great amount of land has been put into vines this year about here, as grain raising has not been profitable—no home market, all has to go to Sanfrancisco. I must not forget to tell you that we had no hay, except barley wheat or oats made into hay. We have a very fine clover here, called "Alfalfa." I believe it would do well in Canada, and as I put in about ½ an acre, will, if it does well, send you a few seeds. It requires plenty of water, and then does well. I saw it last year cut every month for feed, and was a heavy crop all the time. It is one of the grasses which have long roots and penetrates deep into the ground. I must now quit this subject for something else.

The population of this valley is from all countries, "Chinees" among the rest. They seem to be a quiet people, and industrious. They worship some image. Last Legislature gives them the standing of human beings; previously they were not allowed to testify in any case, and when the law passed, some of our locals felt quite indignant over it. I believe the same law of evidence exists here as in Canada. They must believe in a place of reward and punishment hereafter. If they do not believe this, their testimony, I doubt, will not be admitted. Plenty of them have cut off what is called the cue, (the hair hanging down the back and braided or nicely done up on the top of the head, wound round and round.) Those who have become what is termed Christians, and doffed the American custom, should, in this land of equality, have the same rights as others who call themselves citizens. The generality of the Spanish stock are Roman Catholics, and very attentive they are to their religion. It seems, when this was a province of Mexico, the Catholic Priests formed missionary stations at intervals all through the Country, where the fathers grew their own produce and lived amongst the people. The sites chosen are pretty, and yet in our day are still occupied by the Priesthood.—Other portions of the community around form what is called the Society of Spiritualists, believing in Free Love. But I am sorry to think, as far as it appears to me, that marriage is only a matter of convenience in the United States. Very few of the population attend any place of worship. On the Sabbath day each follows after his own inclinations. A law was passed last session shutting up all stores, leaving the taverns and saloons open. It only came into force on the first of Jan'y, and I have not yet learned whether Sabbath desecration is dealt with or not. The J. P. to whom I spoke did not know, he not being supplied with the Statutes at that time.

The trade in this State seems to be greatly in the hands of the Jews, and when they do not keep their Sabbath on another day, the Law shuts them up on the Christian Sabbath. A few of us meet in an upper room on that day for worship, but a small number we are—only about 20 or so, yet we hope for the better, and are now building a Presbyterian Church, it will cost about $3,000, labour and material being very high here. Where the money is to come from I cannot see, yet we are strong in faith that the Home Mission Society of the Church will aid us, and other churches also.

I remain,
Yours, &c.,

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic women, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is your remedy.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no case injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of American medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into a healthy activity.

For Bilious disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] the world.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.
Have great pleasure in announcing to the public the opening of a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Chamber's Hunter-Street Store, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—
1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by them direct from the most celebrated and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.
2nd. That in consequence of the Seed business being exclusively theirs, they have no old seeds on hand over from other years.
3rd. That the Seeds they offer are of last year's growth.
4th. That they have ample facilities for the cultivation of everything they keep, and can therefore offer them for sale
5th. That one of the firm has been a successful Market Gardener for the last fifteen years, and may with safety be considered well qualified for selecting Seeds suitable to the wants of the public.
6th. That those who may be pleased to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable Seeds in America.
In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantage of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those of unknown and unreliable character, and almost guarantee that satisfaction will in all cases be given, or the money refunded.
Their stock of Flower Seeds is very large, and will be found to contain all the newest and choicest varieties.
Gardening Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than elsewhere—a supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.
All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., accompanied with a remittance, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.
Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro' Nurseries, Box 454, Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredients. A magnificent remedy for burns and scalds, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. It cures simply applied, and cures many other troubles, when taken internally. It is almost impossible to describe its virtues.
It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.
The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are: Chilblains, Inflammation, Piles, Erysipelas, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Eruptions, Sore Nipples, Barber's Itch, Deafness, Boils, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Scurvy, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Scaldings, Bruises, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Teething, Chapped Hands, Mumps, Cuts, Broken Limbs, and Chronic Sores on Children
It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured painful tumors. Miss Sawyer has been discovered to be a mere humbug. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chronic Sores it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Erysipelas and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No one injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by pushing in the sore on a piece of cotton. For Felons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples in the face it has a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.
Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed into the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and our bald agents it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and diseases from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.
Brunswick, April 4, 1867.
MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I have made the most with it, and will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple for life if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proof flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.
Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

SATURDAY ISSUE.

It is our intention to publish a Saturday edition of the Examiner in the future, in addition to that published on Thursday.

The object is to enable us to give our readers the latest news to the end of the week. We have not yet completed our plans for this issue, but it is our intention to give all the news of the Thursday edition in the Saturday edition, as well as whatever may transpire up to the time of issue; and we will give our subscribers the choice of issue. Those in Town only take either edition, or for an additional 50cts. a year they can have both numbers.

We are also making arrangements by which we hope to be able to give subscribers more reading matter.—Although we enlarged our paper last year, we find that our advertizing patronage is still increasing, and compelling us, in the interests of subscribers, to do something that will leave us more space for news items, and interesting reading matter. We are determined to spare no reasonable expense in making the Examiner the best paper in the Province.

Subscribers for either editions are respectfully solicited. And as all the reading matter will appear in both editions, the only difference will be that those who live in town can have the news up to Saturday on that day, while those at a distance will receive it the Thursday following.

Editorial Items.

Half a Million Dollars

Will be spent on the fortifications at Halifax this season, by the Imperial Government.

Will he take the $1000?

We have been asked if Mr. Cluxton is not ousted this session, will he take the $1000 of peoples money, (the sessional allowance) for his one little vote? Our only answer is, ask Mr. Cluxton, or his committee.

Saskatchewan.

The Rev. Mr. Nesbitt, Presbyterian Missionary on the Saskatchewan, about 500 miles north-west of Winnipeg, held a meeting in the Canada Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday evening. He spoke very favorably of the Valley of that River, and of the general fertility of the north-west country. He has been several years at his present mission.

The Pension Falls Railway

Is likely to turn out a great fizzle. In consequence of the apparent failure of the scheme, a deputation from Minden, Lutterworth, and Anson, went to Toronto to confer with the Nipissing R. Co'y respecting an Extension of that line from Coboconk to Minden; but from our exchanges we learn that they did not succeed. The amount offered, $18,000, was too small to warrant the undertaking. The northern people would do better by seeking connection with the Town of Peterborough, and would be more likely to obtain it in that way.

West Peterboro Election.

The Editor of the Review, Mr. Carnegie is at Ottawa and sends telegrams to his own paper, one of them is as follows:

"From the papers filed as evidence "on behalf of Mr. Bertram, the de- "manding of the qualification by the "Returning Officer is placed beyond "dispute."

Our readers will be able to place what credence they please on such telegrams. Anything from such a source on political questions must be received with caution.

SPRING EXHIBITION OF ENTIRE HORSES AND BULLS.

(from the Review.)

The annual Spring Exhibition of the West Riding Agricultural Society was held in this town on Saturday last, and in the number of entries of horses exceeded that of last year—some of them being very fine specimens indeed, and going far to show that the farmers of this County are making great exertions towards the improvement of stock. In the class of heavy draught horses there were four entries, the horse "Brigham Young" securing the first prize, and "Loudan Tam" the second. In the class for general purposes there were ten entries—Mr. Arthur McQuaid's "Farand ce" ublic

R. Collins,

PROPOSED INCREASE OF SALARIES.

Sir John A. Macdonald gave notice to the House of Commons on Wednesday of a series of resolutions, proposing an increase to the salaries of the Lieutenant Governors of the various Provinces, the judges of all the courts, the Speaker of the House of Commons, and to increase the sessional allowance of members to $1600 per annum, if the session lasts over thirty days, and $20 per day if less than that time. The Government also proposes to take a vote in a lump sum for $75,000 to enable the Governor-in-Council to re-djust the salaries of the Civil service servants in Canada for the current year.

The latter proposition is peculiary Tory like. The "Governor in council is a big institution." Sir George E. Cartier told us, and Sir John and Sir George at once say the country is prosperous, and that it shall increase still "faster." The lump sum of $75,000 in the hands of the Governor in Council to "re-adjust" the civil service officers' salaries, simply means, that after the salaries of these officials have been fixed by Parliament, Sir John can distribute that trifling (?) amount as he thinks, according to the character of "his very sweet will"—according to the amount of zeal to the value of the political service which any of said officials may have rendered, or may be expected to render to Sir John and his colleagues. The proposal looks "fishy." "Sir John will "Go- ernor Sarah Tutt" about it, and should be elected by the House. Will our U Peng commands (?) of the Ontario Opposition support the proposal?

OUR SILENT MEMBERS.

It is not by any means necessary that Parliamentary representatives should be orators. Indeed a "spouting" M. P. is always a bore to his colleagues, and not unfrequently impedes the transaction of public business, whilst some of the most efficient representatives in the Commons are men whose voice is seldom heard in the house and then their eloquence is of the most unadorned character, but we confess that we have waited a little impatiently for the utterances of the members of the two counties of Peterborough and Victoria. We have daily scrutinised the reports of the debates with care, but have failed to note the names of any of our members among the speakers. There is British Columbia firing away with great spirit and vivacity; Nova Scotia in constantly on its legs; gentlemen with the Frenchiest of names have frequent possession of the "floor"; little places almost unknown to fame elicit by their eloquence applauding "hear, hears" from the collective wisdom of Canada; but still the voice of our own charmers remains dumb, and charms never at all. In the language of the humourist we would ask why is this thus? Are these two great counties to add nothing to the Parliamentary flood of eloquence? Are our members anxious to hide their shining lights under the metaphorical bushel? We have a distinct recollection of much fervid declamation during the hottest portion of last summer, and we should be gratified to learn that the chosen of the two counties have given the legislators in Ottawa just a taste of their quality. We are keeping some large type ready for service at short notice, and we look forward to using it ere long in imertalising one ore other of our members Certainly we shall be disappointed if the Session closes and our representatives return home having earned the title of "Our Silent Members."—Bobcaygeon Independent.

List of Voters.

Otonabee, 20th April, 1873.

Dear Sir—I see by the Norwood Register, that the Editor of that paper wishes to make its readers believe that the list of bad votes, published in the Examiner is incorrect, He says that James McMullin is not dead two years and that it was his son James who voted. Now I happen to know James McMullin, whose father was accidentally drowned at Sauginaw, U. S. two years, June coming, and I have his authority for stating that he never was a Freeholder in Norwood, nor in any other place, and that he never voted in Norwood or any other place, and that he was driving a team of horses at a shanty of Mr. Boyd's of Bobcaygeon at the time the By-law was voted on.

As regards the colored man's name not being on the Assessment Roll, that is true, but his name appears on the voters' list as voting for the By-law. I think if the Editor of the Register will search, he will find more Bogus votes than in the list publish in the Examiner. I see Mr. Burke, the Editor of the Register, voted for the By-law, is he a Freeholder? I hope he will answer next week.

Yours, etc.,
JAMES MILLER.

To James Stratton, Esq.

P.S.—You may use the above as you think best. J. M.

OTTAWA.

Several weeks have already been spent and yet nothing definite has transpired in the matter of the "Peterboro Outrage." The Committee spent from Friday to Thursday, almost a week, discussing whether Mr. Bertram was himself or not; and satisfied themselves on'y on this point when a gentleman was brought from Peterboro to prove his indentity. During the discussion as to his indentity, Mr. Bertram, we understand, appealed to Mr. Carnegie, who was present to certify that Mr. Bertram was the John Bertram who contested the West Riding with Mr. Cluxton. But Mr. Carnegie magnanimously refused. He knew not the man. How generous! how noble! how he rises above party! was there ever anything more contemptible recorded of the man. The poor narrow minded soul could not rise above the meanest partisan motives.

The demand for qualification "being placed beyond dispute" is another of the truthful assertions of that magnanimous man. Mr. Bertram's Counsel has submitted the Report of the Returning Officer, without admitting or denying a word of it, and lo! Mr. Carnegie telegraphs to the Review "That evidence submitted places the fact that a demand was made beyond dispute," well, really, what next?

The time of the Committee is spent discussing the most childish quibbles, which can have no bearing on the case. Mr. Bertram's Counsel has been urging on the Committee to decide on the facts before them, but in this they have not succeeded yet, No decision has been arrived at on any of the points submitted.

The prevailing opinion of the members is that the case does not require a moments consideration, as Mr. Bertram is entitled to his seat at once. It is even reported by a member that Sir John A. Macdonald has said that if J. H. Cameron had been consulted at first the difficulty would not have arisen.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

We are often asked who is responsible for the disgraceful act of foisting a defeated candidate into the Dominion Parliament as the representative of West Peterboro'! We can only answer by giving Mr. Cluxton's own words. He has unfortunately tried to get rid of the disgrace by saying "I am in the hands of my Committee." Think of it, a man coolly places his honor and self respect in the hands of men who would use him as an old shoe. He commits a great wrong, and then cries, Oh was not Well Clarkes, who has spent a lifetime in building up an irreproachable character, who has thus disgraced himself, O no, it was his committee."

We know now, that the Returning Officer did not make the return until the Committee had first acknowledged, that the [illegible]

Mr. Cluxton was at the meeting and asked others to it. How then can he free himself from the disgrace. But if his Committee were ready to murder him, he had it in his own power to refuse to submit to their [illegible]

While we cannot [illegible] Mr. Cluxton man throughout the Province, of every shade of politics, we are fully alive to the fact that his Committee are even more to blame. If the chairman of said Committee, Mr. W. H. Scott, and Messrs. J. F. Dennistoun, Carnegie, Smith, and others had set their faces against the disreputable act, it would never have been perpetrated. But the Committee have with him assumed the responsibility, on them, as well as on their victim, let the disgrace rest. But what can be said of the partisan officer who waited till directed by Mr. Cluxton and his Committee before making his return?

REVIEW LOGIC.

The following is from the Review of yesterday unde the caption "A case in point."

"It is somewhat strange that during all the discussion which took place with regard to the West Peterborough Outrage, reference was never made to the Third Riding of York Election case of 1844, which is in every respect a case in point.

The circumstances of that case were, briefly stated, as follows: The candidates at the Election were the Hon. J. E. Small and Mr. George Monro, the latter being defeated by a Majority of 32 votes. Mr. Monro petitioned against the return of Mr. Small, on the ground that the latter's property qualification was insufficient, and succeeding in establishing that fact to their satisfaction of the committee they reported to the House, on the 14th March, 1845: "That Mr. Small was not duly elected." That Mr. Monro was duly elected, "and ought to have been returned; and "that neither the Petition nor the Opposition to it were frivolous or vexatious." And this report was unanimously adopted by the House, a stronger precedent could scarcely be found."

Very few will be able to discover any analogy in this case and the Peterborough one. In the York Election case, cited above, Mr. Small was elected by a majority of 32 votes, and was declared elected by the Returning Officer, and took his seat accordingly.

In the Peterborough case, Mr. Bertram had a majority of 40, but the Returning Officer declares Mr Cluxton elected. Where is the point of agreement?

In the York case, Mr Monro, (in the minority, and of course defeated at the polls,) petitions against against Mr. Small on the grounds of his qualitications being insufficient, where is the similarity again? Mr. Cluxten, defeated at the polls does not petition against Mr. Bertram for insufficient property qulfications. An unscrupulous Returning Officer, at the bidding of a less scrupulous man, Mr. Cluxton, declares the defeated candidate elected; while in the York case, the candidate having the majority of votes was declared elected.

Mr. Monro, the Review says, succeeded in establishing the fact that Mr Small had not sufficient qualifications as to property. Our confrere will see that even in his case this has not been proved in regard to Mr. Bertram. Said partisan petty officer, (not a committee) having perpetrated the unheard of outrage of depriving the candidate with the majority of votes of his seat.

The two cases are as wide apart as the poles; indeed so dissimilar are they that not a man living except the Editor of the Review would dare quote them as similar; except some one who has lost his reason, or one who never had any.

Orange Meeting in Kingston.

The mass meeting of Orangemen in Kingston on Tuesday evening was very large, the Music Hall was crowded to its utmost extent. The chair was occupied by the District Master, Bro. W. Corbett. Mr. H. S. Macdonald, MPP Grand Master of Eastern Ontario was the first and principal speaker. His address, which was chiefly a review of the proceedings of the Ontario Legislature in connection with the Orange Bills, was characterized by liberality of sentiment, and was free from party politics. The member for Kingston, Mr. Robinson, also addressed the meeting, stating in his speech that if his vote would upset the present Ontario Government in connection with the passing of the Bills, he would be prepared to let the Government go to the wall rather than sacrifice his principle.

A resolution moved approving the action of the members who voted for the Bills and condemning the action of the Government in reserving the Royal assent to the Bills. Mr. Robinson moved an amendment praising the members who voted for the Bills, and condemning those who voted against them. After considerable discussion, a good deal of cross firing, and amidst great confusion, the amendment was put and declared carried, as was also the original motion. The meeting broke up hurriedly. The News says a protest has been entered against the vote on the amendment of Mr. Robinson, which it is said was carried by parties many of whom had no connection with the Orange order. In the evening a complimentary supper was given to Mr. Macdonald by his brother Orangemen at the Anglo American, which gave great satisfaction to all present.—Belleville Intelligencer.

This looks like making the Orange Society a political one, and if the same course be continued, must end in the utter disorganization of the order. The enemies of Orangism must be delighted with the present phase of things. And who is to blame for it? Those, and those only who seek to make the order subservient to their own selfishness and political advancement. The worst enemies are generally from within, whether we refer to societies or to individuals. Men who have no other object than their own aggrandizement have crept into the order unawares. Wiley cunning knaves, whose bland speeches and cunningly devised schemes are not understood until be late. This has been the case in Ontario especially, and will continue to be the case so long as there are the faintest hopes of using the Society for selfish purposes.

The unseemly contention now going on in the Order is caused by a class of politicians too despicable to openly and decently raise the people and stand or fall on their own merits, and only hope to succeed in [illegible]

These are the cranks of any society [illegible] which they attach themselves. Where [illegible]

GOOD NEWS FOR CONTRACTORS

It has been announced that the Printing Committee of the House of Commons has decided that the "Contractor for the Parliamentary Printing should receive an advance on the price at present paid for certain portions of the work now performed under his contract."

Now, unless the arrangements between Madame Goose and Mr. Gander have been permanently disarranged, we fancy a host of railway and other contractors laughing in their sleeves at this announcement and saying that the "good times" have come at last. If advance in wages to workman and cost of material be a fair plea for changing a contract in one branch of business, it is fair all. The railway man who contracts when spade and shovel work are rated at $1, and masonry at $1.50, has an equal right to demand an increase, when the former rise to $1.50 and the latter to $2 or $2.50. No news will be more gratifying to the contractor on the Intercolonial Railway, than the intimation that a joint committee of both Houses, has resolved upon asking Parliament to absolve the country from the obligation of taking a certain kind of work at the rate at which it had agreed to take it, and to pay for the same work a higher rate. We do doubt if a single contractor on the Intercolonial would fail to put in his 'little bill' for increase of labor, &c., &c., if this principle were once sanctioned by the House of Commons. We should, in fact, be inclined to buy stock in the Chats canal claim if the Printing Committee's recommendation be endorsed, as probably it will, and as, so far as the interests of the contractor are concerned, we hope it may. Mr. Taylor tendered ridiculously low, as did many of his competitors, but we think that the proper way to settle the case would have been to back out of the obligation the moment he found it would not pay. No one believes that a man can make money by paying one dollar for work for which he receives only sixty cents. The less work any man has upon such terms surely it will be the better for him. That is plain enough for any man of common sense, and we are not surprised that the contractor should seek a change of terms. If, however, one Government contract is to be broken because of a change in prices then all should be subjected to the same rule, and it is not true that the contract was taken at the of journeymen's wages prevailing at the time when it was let. The composition was lower than the men were then being paid, and the press work was put at a figure at which very few publishers would care to take it.

We neither question the motives of the committee, nor the conduct of the contractor. By hard economy and by the "double composition," his right to which we have never questioned, it is possible that the contractor might have saved himself from loss, or even made a profit. But under the present arrangement it is nothing wonderful after the judgment of the Court, that a new agreement should be sought.

All we desire to call attention to in this, that if the Parliament sees its way to breaking through a contract, then the Gozernment will also see its way to the same course, and by and bye, as we have said, Chat's Canal and other dead horse stock, will acquire a value that will astonish their owners.—Nappannee Express.

LONDON, April 30.—Late advices from Jerusalem state that severe fights had occurred in Bethlehem between Latin and Greek monks. Five of the former and six of the latter were injured.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND AND CONFEDERATION.—With respect to the policy of the new Government on Confederation the P. E. I. Argus believes that the new Legislature, after transacting passing routine business, will take a recess of several days, and in the meantime a delegation will be sent to Ottawa "for the purpose of remodelling and supplementing the terms obtained by Messrs. Laird and Haythorn. If the delegation succeeds in its mission, then the legislature will immediately ratify the terms, and P. E. Island will become part of the great Dominion of Canada. If Mr. Pope (the leader of the new Government) succeeds in accomplishing all this, under the unfavorable circumstances with which he has been surrounded, he will deserve the thanks of the whole community." The defeat of the late Government it seems was due to their mismanagement of public affairs, apart from the Confederation question, which they took up as a desperate but unsuccessful expedient to save themselves.

BETTER TERMS.—The most important matter at Ottawa just now apppears to be this scandalous scramble for "better terms." Outlandish districts that feel no centripetal attra

JOHN A. IN DANGER—Mr. Clarke Telegraphed for at Once.

Addenbrooke.

There was no meeting of the Council on Monday evening. No business of importance to transact. Several of the Villagers are planting shade trees this season. The track of the Cobourg Railway is laid through the whole Village, and is far on the way to Rice Lake. The R. R. Bridge at the north of the Village, across the Otonabee, is almost completed.

Locks Bridge.

It is believed that the Town and County will rebuild the Locks Bridge this season. This cannot be certain until the meeting of the County Council in June.

There is some trouble about the Buckhorn Bridge, owing to some stake placed in the approaches to the new bridge, which the Government want removed.

The Whistle-ring

Will commence her regular trips in a few days. Mr. Calcutt has had her completely refitted, painted, &c., and she now looks better than when new. We believe Monday is the day fixed for her first trip this season.

The Roads for Ballasting

Now go to that Village by way of Cobourg. The Independent says a general feeling of discontent prevails there

Maple Leaf Cricket Club.

We understand that this Club are trying to arrange with the Whitby Club to open the seasons play by a match at Whitby on the 24th of May. The players of both these Clubs last year has served the members of the Maple Leaf to contest the laurels with Whitby, and we hope that if the play does come off, that their good name as cricketers will be maintained.

Open Air Rehearsal

The Band of the 57th Batt. will perform a choice selection of music in the Court House Park, this evening, at 7 o'clock. It is to be hoped that the authorities of the Town will provide a suitable stand and lights immediately, as the Town now possesses two first-class bands, and we understand that they are to favor the citizens with two rehearsals a week.

A Citizen of Lakefield

Has been writing in the Toronto dailies on Immigration, but has not succeeded.

Rimouski is Improving.

There are three Taverns and three Stores in the place. Are there citizens in proportion?

Grading the Streets.

The grade for George Street and Brock Street was fixed on Monday night, in the Council, by a vote of 9 to 3. We understand that the grade now determined on will necessitate the cutting away of both these Streets. George Street from Murray Street on a grade of 21 inches on the centre of George and Brock Streets and Brock Street then to be graded from Water Street west, to agree with this grade. When completed it will prove of great advantage to that portion of the Town, without doing injury to any one.

Medical.

From a card in another column, our readers will learn that Dr. Burnham, Sr., has taken Dr. Boucher as a partner. Dr. Boucher is a young man, but has already had several years experience in his profession, during which he has been considered very successful. Dr. Burnham's long and successful practice in Peterboro' is sufficient guarantee for the success of the firm. Indeed he is so well and favorably known as a Physician, that anything more than a mere announcement of the partnership would appear out of place And the fact that he, Dr. Burnham, is the Senior member of the firm, will ensure public confidence. The Doctor's very extensive practice, for so many years, during which he must have suffered from over-work, necessitates a little relaxation which the present partnership will to some degree secure, and his matured advice and skill which must be invaluable in difficult cases, must ensure the new firm an extensive and favorable practice.

Books and Stationery.

Mr. Davidson has succeeded Mr. A. B. Kidd in the Book and Stationary business, he being the successful tenderer—As he was in the same business in partnership with Mr. Cox some years past, he is well known, and will receive a liberal patronage. The public may have confidence in the continuation of the business in all its branches, as heretofore. All of our subscribers who have been in the habit of getting their papers at the Store will continue to get them at the same place, as Mr. Davidson has kindly consented to continue to distribute them. In return we bespeak the friendly patronage of the public for Mr. Davidson.

Persons

Mr Carnegie is still at Ottawa, in Mr. Cluxton's place the latter gentleman fearing the result of another vote. If Mr. Cluxton draws his $1,000 which he will, perhaps Mr. Carnegie will not be forgotten, indeed as he has been doing the lobbying and log rolling, for the party of Union for Prog, he must have his reward. Are the people of this Riding willing that they be represented at Ottawa by two men, (two C's,) whom they have rejected at the polls, on two different occasions, we are much mistaken, if they do not rise in their might and prove to the Dominion that such unscrupulous tricksters shall be driven from being public pests, into eternal retirement.

The Cornwall Gazette

Comes to us this week enlarged to a 32 column paper, and otherwise much improved. It is now one of the neatest of our exchanges. We wish it continued prosperity.

The Bobcaygeon Independent

Thinks it curious that we should advocate the passing of the $100,000 By-law in the face of the illegality of the County By-law. In doing so we are consistent at any rate. Opposed to illegal acts, we are in favour of expressing our disapproval of them, by quashing the By-law obtained through illegal acts of Returning Officers and illegal votes. But inasmuch as we want the Ontario and Quebec Railway, we believe the Town should shew its willingness to aid the enterprise. It will be built if Sir Hugh Allan should never put a dollar in it, and as Peterboro will be largely benefitted by it when built, let Peterboro boldly do its part, as agreed with the County. If the County By-law be quashed, another will be introduced and passed, we trust, in a legal manner. If the people north of Peterboro set themselves to work in connection with the friends of railway progress in Peterboro,' A road to Bobcaygeon, and perhaps to Minden, would be certain, and sooner than the Victoria Road could be. Already the road is at Mud Lake. Twelve miles more would take it to Bobcaygeon, and then its progress northward would only be a matter of a year or two. The Town is backward in this matter, but are long may we be up to the necessary action.

Deserted.

The Board of Trustees were all alone in their glory on Tuesday evening. There were no Reporters there except one from this office. The attention of some false friends of the school was but for a day, and failing in its object, has been turned to Medicine and Politics.

A Protest.

We must enter our honest protest against the conduct of some members of the School Board, on Tuesday evening.—They actually moved the appointment of Miss Landy and Mr. Earl, without enquiry as to their politics and religious views What is the Town coming to? Is not the Board devoted in duty to the education of our youth to be guided in the hands of a Lady of whose qualifications we are ignorant? Let us have a mass meeting at the next Board meeting, and there the members that we consider unfit shall not to go on in this way. But after all what has either religion or politics to do with a teacher's qualifications?

UNION SCHOOL.

The Board of School Trustees met, on Tuesday evening.

Present—The Chairman and Messrs. Edwards, McLelland, Toole, Scott, Carr, Barlee, Edmison, Dumble and Rutherford.

The Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications from Mr. Armstrong of the Union School, and from Mr. Shepley of Port Rowan, applying for Mr. Black's position were received and referred to the Committee on Appointments Also from Mr. Earl of Hastings, for Mr. B. C. Dixon's Division: and from Miss Landy of Cobourg, applying for the Division now vacant by the resignation of Miss Hutton.

Very satisfactory testimonials being read in favor of Miss Landy and also in favor of Mr. Earl:

On motion of Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Rutherford—The Secretary was instructed to write to Miss Landy and inform her that her application was accepted, the salary to be $550 a year.

And on motion of Mr. Edwards, seconded by Mr. McLelland—Mr. Earl's application was accepted the salary to be $500 a year.

Accounts from—

Mr. Menzies	$28 50
Mr. Romaine.....	4 26
The Auditors	10 00
Robertson & Walsh	14 40
Mr. Romaine	17 25

After discussion in reference to newspapers advertising without authority and then presenting their accounts in hopes of getting something through fear, the course being considered unfair, the accounts were all referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Toole asked for information as to what was done in the Black case.

Mr. Stevenson, chairman, informed him that the Secretary had asked Mr. Black what he was about to do, and was told that he intended holding on until compelled to leave the school.

Mr. Toole said that in such a case he would dismiss him at once. Since he did not respect himself so far as to resign when told that the Board did not want his services, he would shut the door against him and compel him to leave.

Mr. Scott wondered if that had been the course pursued toward teachers heretofore, and asked if the course pursued towards Mr. Black had not been exceptional as he was not asked to resign until a resolution had been introduced to dismiss him.

Mr. Dumble remarked that he had withdrawn his resolution to allow Mr. Black time to resign so as to do him no harm in another place.

Mr. McLelland remarked that the same course had been pursued toward, others, but in every other case self-respect induced the teachers to resign when finding that the Board did not desire the continuation of their services

Mr. Dumble introduced the subject of the proposed Ward School, and urged all possible despatch as all the rooms of the Public School department were now crowded to such an extent that it was necessary to engage an assistant for Miss Leete's division. no fewer than 85 being under her supervision. He would also move a resolution that the new building be a two story one, to contain four rooms capable of accommodating 76 pupils each. the cost not to exceed $3,500. He thought it was poor economy to build a small building now, and in two or three years have to erect another one to meet the increase of the town. By building a two storey building containing four rooms, instead of two buildings, containing two rooms, there would be a saving of one foundation, one roof, and a great advantage in heating. Let the building be a plain, substantial one, with plenty of room and light and well ventilated.

Mr. Scott was in favor of a building containing just two rooms, large enough for present requirements, and thought that such a building would not cost more than $3,000.

Mr. Rutherford was in favor of Mr. Scott's plan of a building with two rooms, and let two buildings be erected, one in the south and one towards the north, simultaneously.

Mr. Cox thought a two storey building with four rooms would be more economical in the end, and would not cost $500 more than a building with two rooms only.

Mr. Edmison was also in favor of a two storey building, as the upper part need not be finished unless needed.

After some discussion on the powers of the Building Committee, it was agreed to accept Mr. Scott's motion, and thus allow the Committee to get plans and specifications so as to find out the cost, and report at the next meeting.

In view of the fact that Mr. Black had not resigned nor signified his intention of doing so until compelled; Mr. Toole said he thought the Board would be remiss in its duty to itself if it did not assert its own self respect and compel him to leave. The Committee on appointments should fill his place as soon as possible and then remove him.

Some members thought that he might claim his pay to the end of a year from the time of his appointment if dismissed before that time.

Mr. Toole thought it better to put him away, and if they must pay him. why pay him. He would not keep a man in his own employment who would do as Mr. Black has been doing, and he was in favor of the Board serving teachers just as the members would one of their own men.—He therefore moved seconded by Mr. Cox,—

That the Committee on Appointments be instructed to fill the place made vacant by the dismissal of Mr. Black, as soon as they can make a suitable selection from the various applicants.

Mr. Dumble, to provide against any such trouble in the future, Moved, seconded by Rutherford, that the Secretary be instructed to provide a book containing form of agreement.

We the undersigned teachers in the Peterboro' Public Schools, agree to give [illegible] notice in writing to the Secretary of the Board of Public School Trustees, of our intention to leave our present situations, at the end of the Quarter, or to pay to the said Board, the sum of [illegible] dollars, as liquidated damages, in case we fail to give such notice, or to pay the Quarter's salary to either party to its contract at a month's notice.

The Receiver has certified the foregoing as a true list, and also that the Government will not remove the amounts from the banks where deposited. Mr. Huntingdon's motion to get at the bottom of this huge swindle has been barked so far by Sir John, and will remain so as long as possible. The deposits are no doubt bogus, and the fact that Sir John signed as Attorney for two of the parties without authority, places him in an extraordinary position. These things have already come to light, and other curious details will be revealed before the investigation is completed. In the meantime every effort is made to cause delay, and to throw obstacles in the way of investigation. Nothing can be more plain than that the whole Railway scheme so far is a great swindle, calculated to enrich a few at the expense of the country and calculated to ruin the prospects of the whole Dominion for many years to come. Already it is announced that fourteen millions more are to be added to the now enormous debt of the country. The Pacific scheme will increase it ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS additional. The policy of the present Dominion Government is to shut out settlement by placing the best of the lands in the power of Companies and thus prevent settlement indefinitely, except at their own prices, and thus while those at Ottawa are laying their own plans for their own aggrandizement, the country is being sunk in debt and taxes, and disgraced through the jobbery prevailing in everything undertaken by them.

SOLEMN ABSURDITY.

—From the Bobcaygeon Independent.

It is one of the privilges of the Anglo-Saxon race to "speak their minds" freely on all subjects, and to the constant exercise of this privilege we owe much of our civil and political liberty. The exercise of this privilege is indeed one of the most marked of our national characteristics, and all classes of society cling to the privilege with a really remarkable tenacity. The sailor, for instance, tells us, "you may stop my grog, but my grumble I will have," the servant girl says "I'll speak my mind if I loose my place," the middle classes on the most trifling occasion claim their privilege by "writing to the Times," or the local paper, and the British artizan discusses the topics of the day at his Public House Club with all the energy of his nature stimulated by potent draughts of British beer. In Canada this great characteristic of our race displays itself with similar frequency. The constant exercise of the privilege of "speaking ones mind," through productive of beneficial results as a rule, occasionally brings about some very singular developments, as was the case at the recent Peterboro Assizes, where the Grand Jury "spoke its mind" in a manner that is truly remarkable.

In our last issue we gave an extract from the "presentment" of the Grand Jury, signed by Mr. A. H. Campbell, as Foreman, in which the following passage occurs:—

"Private charity may do much, but there is a class which it can scarcely reach, and to which a house of refuge would be the asylum which they have a right to ask at the hands of their richer and more fortunate fellow-countrymen. Such an institution, under a strict system of inspection, and to which all vagrants, beggars, and idle persons might be sent, where useful labor would be compulsory on those capable of performing it, and the idable and sick might be cared for would tend greatly to diminish mendicancy, and at the same time prevent many harrowing scenes of poverty and distress, such as often lead to crime, and are only heard of when it is too late to apply a remedy."

Now, if this means anything at all, it means that Mr. A. H. Campbell and his colleagues of the Grand Jury, (chosen be it remembered as being among the most intelligent men of the county,) are of opinion that the State should provide an institution to which all "vagrants, beggars, and idle persons might be sent," and there kept to hard labor for an indefinite period at the option of their richer and more fortunate countrymen. The idea is certainly novel, and did it not emanate from Mr. A. H. Campbell and the Grand Jury, we should have supposed that it had its origin in Punch. We should like very much to know what Mr. A. H. Campbell and the Grand Jury mean by an "idle person." Would the Micawber's of the community, who are waiting for something to "turn up," be considered "idle persons," and as such liable to incarceration and compulsory labor in the proposed institution. We would, with all deference to the Grand Jury, and apart from the least intention to be personal, suggest that possibly Mr. A. H. Campbell himself, or some of his colleagues, might be considered "idle persons," and would themselves be liable to committal to the State Institution they are so anxious to establish, and amenable to that compulsory and useful labor they prescribe. We know of one tribunal that would unhesitatingly send the foreman and at least half the Jury to a lengthened trial of the system. Then again, who is a "vagrant?" and where is the "mendicancy?" that Mr. Campbell tells us requires to be greatly diminished? We thought we knew something of Canada, and have always been under the impression that in Canada there was no mendicancy except an extremely small per centage in the few large cities, but it seems that there is no large an amount that a State Institution is necessary for its repression. Has Mr. Campbell mistaken the word "mendicancy" for "mendacity?" If so he is right, for a law that enforced every one guilty of mendacity to compulsory and useful labor in a State Institution would be a capital thing, and with the "strict inspection" proposed by Mr. Campbell would have an excellent effect in such places as Houses of Commons, Legislative Assemblies, and possibly, tho' we say so with bated breath, in Grand Jury Rooms. Indeed we are inclined to think that the tribunal of popular opinion will even near find every member of the Jury guilty of mendacity in publicly asserting that our country is distinguished "for many harrowing scenes of poverty and distress such as often lead to crime." But the subject is not one that will bear to be treated seriously, and probably by to-morrow both foreman and Jury regret having made themselves [illegible] without due [illegible], by which they have committed themselves to an act that, not to speak harshly, may be termed one of [illegible] absurdity.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times It's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have other than local application, and of the people of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are borne, each one possessing virtues of its own. Eclectric possesses these qualities in such a manner as may be formed of several ingredients in various local preparations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or as different combinations. Then in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Peterboro, April 7, 1873. 15-tf

A DISTINGUISHD PHYSIOLOGIST has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for Nourishment lost, which is the Phosphoric-ess continued in the blood.

This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and the insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of neuralgia and rheumatic pains is depraved Nutrition, arising from derangements of the Stomach. Maldigestion of food, and Poor Blood.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies Phosphorus for the nervous system, Lime as an excellent re-storative, Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting strength. No preparation in existence is so reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

August 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya produces dyspepsia, I have taken the two years using largely in my practice and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it were it in appliance. With cases, anæmic women, of whom we have so many and in cases of overwhelming fever prostration of blood as I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody to be a catharticus, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and more effectual remedy than any

Until now that it cannot these; those who have not, know that it carries these properties and will do what it does cures is done. Every that is in our Cills through any fault or neglect of its compounders, of their remarkable cures of the most distressing complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them, designed to all cases and conditions in all climates.

Being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take, and do not gripe, nor cause pain unless required, when taken, they operate promptly, and produce the effect they are intended to produce. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting such derangements in any part of the system as may first make its appearance, prevent the development of disease. Keep the bowels open, and the organs in order, and the health will follow. Take no cathartic pill, when these pills are required.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Foul Stomach, Biliousness, Jaundice, Dysentery, Colic, Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation, Drowsiness, Loss of Appetite, Fever, Inflammation, and Sluggishness of the system, they should be judiciously taken for each case to effect the desired results or change the diseased action of which exists.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation, Headache and Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired result by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous consumption until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or name.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again it seems to invest infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into com or others of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pile, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various diseases and disorders of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for achieving these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. In Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Drowsy, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

NEW SEED STORE!
New Firm.
Giles & Mason
SEEDSMEN,
Nurserymen & Florists
PETERBORO, ONT.

Having great pleasure in announcing to the public that we have opened a new Seed Store, next door to Messrs. Griffith & Scott, Edward Street, Peterboro, and in so doing would call special attention to the following facts:—

1st. That their stock of seeds has been imported by themselves, from the most extensive and reliable Seed Growers in Europe and in America.

2nd. That in consequence of their extensive connection they have a large and fresh stock on hand, which never stands.

3rd. That should they at any time have Seeds of a doubtful character, they keep ample facilities for testing their vitality in a Hot House before offering them for sale.

4th. That each of the firm has been a practical Gardener for the last twenty years, and may with confidence be considered well qualified for selecting seeds suitable to the wants of the public.

5th. That those who may be induced to favor them with their patronage, will find their prices—if not lower—as low as any reliable Seedsman.

In consideration of the above facts, they feel confident that a discriminating public will see the advantages of their purchasing Seeds of the above firm in preference to those who sell on commission and return what is unsold. (Of no harmony of has good returned?)

The above firm would respectfully inform the public that in connection with the Seed business, they are engaged in raising Fine and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and will be happy to wait on all who may be pleased to visit their Store or Grounds which are situated immediately adjoining the Town of Peterboro, on the Port Hope Road, where, in addition to the above, there is a large Green-house in which are grown a large assortment of Green-house and Bedding Plants, specimens of which can at all times be seen at their Seed Store, by those who may not have the opportunity of visiting the Grounds.

Bedding Plants of Vegetables and flowers of every kind, suitable to the climate, in their season, at lower rates than others—no supply of which can be obtained at the Seed Store, as well as at the Nursery.

All orders for Seeds, Trees, Shrubs, Flowers, &c., &c., entrusted to us by customers, or satisfactory references will be promptly attended to, either by Mr. Mason, who will be in attendance at the Store, or by Mr. Giles, who will be found at all times at the Nursery.

Address all orders to GILES & MASON, Peterboro Nurseries, Box 484 Peterboro P.O., Ontario.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dimness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of changing.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

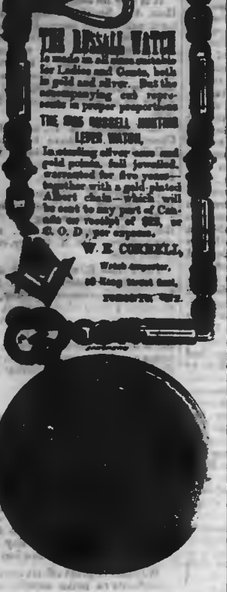
MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.



HAVE you been a sufferer from burning scalding and bleeding Piles, with the dreadful itching at times intolerable. A remedy as hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily supplied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however great.
It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.
The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Scalds, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Tooth-ache, Sore-throat, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Sore Heads, Fever Sores, Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children.
It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have found relief by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the pain. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Last, though not least, for Sores on the Nipples, and apply it freely, and your will find it invaluable. It is good in case of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breasts and Sore Nipples. No one should be without it. It is sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the Side part of the Eye, and not in the Eye. Persons by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Piles this is superior to anything known. For Fever Sores and Felons there is a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.
Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss Sawyer's Salve are we to be benefited effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It removes dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.
MISS SAWYER: I received your circular, April 4, 1867, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that benefited his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have used it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and could get no relief, only for the Salve I had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.
Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.
If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by Miss C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.
THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS IN MEDICINES.
For sale by Dr. Taylor, and Messrs Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough.

Select Poetry.

Spring Weather.

BY CLIO STANLEY.

If all the sweet, wild winds that blow
Across the world in spring—
If all the little flowers that grow,
And all the birds that sing—
If one and all were met together,
What would they say about the weather?

So low the soft south wind would blow,
Its voice we scarce should hear;
And yet 'twould bid our hearts rejoice,
'Twould banish clouds of fear;
And soft south wind, and west wind going,
Would whisper to the small flowers growing.

Till they should lift their little heads
And shine and smile together,
And wisely say "We never saw
Such rare, and radiant weather,"
And such bright birding sweeping down,
Would sing some song more lasting, fraught

So all the merry winds that blow,
And all the buds of spring,
And all the birds, on all the boughs,
Alight, with ruffled wing,
Would blow, and bloom, and sing together,
"We never knew such radiant weather."

The silver bracelet of a shower
May deck Dame Rose's wrist,
Yet still she learns her wet cheek out,
Shy, waiting to be kissed.
In merry dance, the winds together
Shout out aloud, "What joyous weather."

And Robin winks his bold, bright eye,
Gay, blithesome, little rover,
And each sweet flower, laughing says—
"I would he were my lover."
And Rose and Robin say together,
"Oh, merry winds, what fair May weather."

CANADA'S GIFT OF THE ST. LAWRENCE TO THE YANKEES.

GREAT SPEECH BY MR. BLAKE.

On Monday evening in the House of Commons, Mr. Blake moved a series of resolutions to the effect that the giving up of the free navigation of the St. Lawrence to the Americans by the Washington Treaty, without the sanction of the Canadian Parliament was wrong, and that an humble address be presented to Her Majesty against a repetition of such a proceedure, and that Canada had a right to the navigation of the Columbia river, and that such steps should be taken as would be likely to attain that object. The hon. gentleman made an unusually able an eloquent speech in introducing these resolutions, and his reply at the close of the debate is admitted on all hands to be one of the finest oratorical efforts ever listened to in the House of Commons.

With reference to the first proposition, Mr Blake said the House would observe he was not proposing upon this occasion to advance any new theories with reference to the constitutional relations of the Colonies to the Empire. Those relations were not gathered from the statutes only, or from what was called constitutional acts, but from the course of the feeling and policy which had pursued for a great many years between the Empire and the Colonies. With regard to his first proposition, in his resolutions, he cited a despatch of the Colonial Secretary, of over 25 years ago, an extract of which appeared in his resolutions. In that despatch indicated the right of the colony at that time on a question vitally affecting Canadian interests. That right was again recognized in the negotiations that led to the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. He supposed that no one would deny that the progress of events had not been, at any rate, in the direction of yielding up any part of the Constitutional rights of the various Colonies. He supposed it would be conceded on all hands that if we ought to be consulted 25 years ago we ought to be consulted now. With reference to the next resolution, the leader of the Government had repeatedly informed the House before the meeting of the High Joint Commission that the Imperial Government had given repeated assurances that none of the rights of Canada would be surrendered without our consent. The members of the last Parliament would remember the circumstances under which that declaration was made to the House. Sir A. T. Galt had brought forward certain resolutions adverting in part to the concession of the St. Lawrence, and laying down the proposition that such concessions should not be made without the approbation of Parliament. In answer to that motion the hon. gentleman who had accepted the appointment of Commissioner, with the sanction and by the advice of the Government, made certain statements which were designed to be the foundation of the action which he called upon the House to take. It was then that that hon. gentleman stated that repeated assurances had been given by the Imperial Government that none of the rights of Canada would be conceded without her consent. Had a syllable of doubt been expressed as to the navigation of the St. Lawrence being a Canadian right, and that the consent of Canada would not be asked before the right was conceded—he did not hesitate to say that by an overwhelming majority that Parliament would have to come to a conclusion upon the question as to what the interests of Canada really were in this matter. Under these circumstances what was the surprise of the people to find that before the treaty was ratified, instructions were given to the British Commissioner to the effect that Her Majesty's Government were prepared, and that without reference to the people of Canada, to conceded the principle of free navigation of the St. Lawrence to the United States, and what was the added surprise of the people of Canada, when they found that there was no protest, no remonstrance from our own Government, no proposal to submit the question to our Parliament or Government but that the Imperi l Commissioners had agreed that they were prepared to concede that liberty, stipulating indeed, in return therefor the navigation of the Yucan, the Porcupine and the Stricken rivers, running partly through British and partly through the United States territory Such were the circumstances under which the treaty was negotiated which absolutely conceded, without any reservation, of the rights of the Legislature of Canada to pronounce upon it, the free navigation of the River St. Lawrence For many years it had been the endeavor of this country to prevent the cession of that right, for many years it had been their view that while we could, as a privilege, permit the people of the United States to enjoy the navigation, they still enjoyed the sovereignty of the river themselves, and held that in the liberty to navigate it they gave a return for the Reciprocity Treaty. It was stated in such a peculiar relation to him as did the leader of the Government. The hon. gentleman next proceed to refer to the remarks of the Premier respecting sectional majorities, and cited the sentiments uttered by the Minister of Customs respecting the Government majority from the other provinces. It was the Government who had raised the cry of sectionalism, and sectionalism is in every part of their policy. The hon gentlemen had claimed that because he had a majority from the Maritime Provinces, that therefore the people most interested had approved of the Treaty: but the hon gentleman had taken for granted that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were alone interested in the fisheries The hon. gentleman forgot that Qu bec had enormous fisheries.

Hon. Dr. Tupper, Quebec—Endorsed the Treaty.

Mr. Blake—Will the hon. gentleman call upon his Receiver General to say whether he endorsed it? Will he call upon the Minister for Ontario, and ask him whether he endorsed it? Both of those hon. gentlemen, supporters of the Government, had voted against the Treaty. However, they knew if they voted for it and with the Administration that they would not likely be defeated. That drew the view of the leading members of Lower Canada upon this subject, and gave the hon. gentlemen and the people of Lower Canada endorsed the Treaty.

Hon. Sir Hugh Allan—They did.

Mr. Blake—Well, then, the hon. gentleman from Montreal (Sir Hugh Allan), and also said—all he wanted was somebody to endorse it.

Hon. Dr. Tupper—I say unanimously, if Quebec equal a majority to sustain the Government.

Mr. Blake went on to say that the hon. gentleman

We must not overlook those facts; we must not overlook those claims which at present exist; and if we choose to shut our eyes to them and assume that the powers which may be said to be technically in ourselves are not practically ours, according to the working of the constitution, then we our elves should do more towards the breaking off of the Imperial connection than could possibly be done by any other course that could be taken. He did not believe that the people of this country could look with approbation upon such a transaction as this taking place without their having any voice at all in the doing of it The cons nsion of his resolutions was that it was the opinion of the House that Canada should have been consulted before the ratification of the Treaty to which his motion referred, because long before the principle had been agreed to it was subject to ratification, for a long time it was competent for the Government of this country to have convoked Parliament in order that the sense of Parliament might have been taken before the deed was ratified; but Parliament was not called until after the deed was actually done. Parliament was not called until after the surrender of this most important part of the Rights of Canada had been irrevocably effected. The deed being done, what was the result of the general principle. If there was a river to which that principle should have been applied it was Columbia River Certain restrictive rights to the navigation of that river had already been conceded to those persons who alone of British subjects were interested in its navigation, namely, the Hudson Bay Company; but at the time this Treaty was negotiated, the power of the Hudson Bay Company had terminated, and the conditions of that country were greatly changed. We expected to see it filled with British subjects, and to see British and Canadian traders in those seas, and the same principles which secured the navigation of the Columbia to the Hudson Bay Company should have been applied with reference to all British subjects. On what principle was it that an attempt was made in the negotiation of the Washington Treaty to secure free navigation of the Columbia River? Why was it that when the general principle was being laid down, under which we were to yield up the all-important navigation of the St Lawrence for ever, it was not so applied to the navigation of the Columbia River? Was it too late to ask for it now? Was the House prepared to determine that the principle on which, rightly or wrongly, the free navigation of the St Lawrence had been irrevocably conceded, did not apply to the navigation of the Columbia? Was the House prepared to deny that if the principle had been conceded in one case, the United States could be called upon to apply it to the other? Were we to have a one-sided application of the principle so far as they benefitted our neighbors, and shrink from the demand that they should be applied when the result was to benefit ourselves? It appeared to him they should not shrink from the demand, out of respect to themselves, out of respect to the Empire; and it would be inconsistent with the of justice and fair dealing which the great nation alongside of us must exhibit if it wished to maintain its place amongst the nations of the earth, if they refused to extend to the navigation of the Columbia, the principle they had adopted in the treaty with reference to the St Lawrence; therefore it seemed to him that while they ought respectfully to remonstrate against the concession of the free navigation of the St Lawrence without consulting the Canadian people, and that no such concession of the rights of Canada should take place in future, they ought also to call upon Her Most Gracious Majesty to take such steps as were best calculated to secure the application of the same principle to the Columbia River. He ignored the passage of the resolution in that spirit which the people of Canada expected from them in this matter. He implored them to act in that spirit to promote the rights which were in their hands, simply as trustees. and which were not to be given away, but were to be preserved unimpaired for those who would come after them. He appealed to them to determine, so far as it lay in their power to do so, to repair the moral and material blow which had been inflicted on this country by the disgraceful Treaty which they were now discussing. (Loud cheers.

In closing the debate on Tuesday, and immediately after the speech of the Premier, Mr Black said the hon. gentlemen who sat opposite to the Government knew very well when Sir John had a bad case he was more than usually abusive, also more than usually loyal (Cheers.) To abuse his opponents and appeal to the loyalty of his supporters, were the means by which he rallied his supporters. Following up that line, the hon. gentleman made a very severe criticism upon the hon member for Lambton. That hon. gentleman was perfectly

A PAINFUL CASE—MRS. BORROWMAN SUPPOSED TO BE DROWNED.

Yesterday morning, about 4 o'clock, as Mr. John Craig, of Ashburnham, was crossing the Otonabee Bridge, he saw some clothing on the bridge, near the middle, and on examination discovered that they consisted of a shawl and underskirt. Fearing that some woman had cast herself into the river from this place, he awoke Mrs. Reynolds, and informed her of the clothes being on the bridge.—Shortly after R. Stutt passed along, and seeing them, went for Chief Constable Johnston, who took possession of them. The rumour of the finding of the articles soon spread through the Town, but not till after eight o'clock was any information received as to the possible owner. It was soon heard that Mrs Borrowman was missing, and the family hearing of the finding of the clothes, went and found to their terrible agony, that they were those of their mother.

It appears that Mrs. Borrowman had arisen through the night and gone out, her husband not missing her till about 2 o'clock in the morning, and even then he imagined that she had gone to the house of some neighbour who was unwell, and he paid no more attention to the matter till about the time of going to breakfast, when on making enquiry they could not find her. Till this time they had no suspicions of her safety; but when the clothes were found on the bridge, awful forebodings of her having thrown herself into the stream took possession of their minds. She was a remarkably quiet and a thoughtful person, very attentive to all her family and household concerns, and gave no reason to suspect any intention of committing any such act. We believe she was subject to occasional depression of spirits, which were more than usually manifested during the last two or three weeks, and no doubt, that this mental depression was the cause of the melancholy circumstance we have just chronicled. We sincerely sympathise with the family in their sad bereavement. Up to going to press this morning the body has not been found, although several attempts to grapple or drag for it have been made.

Lakefield.

On Saturday, 10th inst., I sailed myself of a trip aboard the "Chippewa," from Lakefield to Julien's Landing. Although the weather was unpropitious, yet we passed an exceedingly pleasant time, rendered doubly more so by the courteous treatment received from the Captain and other officers of the boat. I had heard much of the scenery of Stoney Lake, but my expectations were more than realized. We arrived at the Landing about noon and remained over two hours While there I climbed the high and rocky cliff of Mount Julien, and truly a more romantic and beautiful scenery I never witnessed than that from this height. After visiting the site of the proposed Hotel, we started for Lakefield, at which we arrived about 5.30 all well pleased with the sail.

The swamp adjoining the station of the Midland Railway is about to be thoroughly cleared up. This will prove very beneficial to the people of Lakefield, as doubtless much of the fever and ague arises from this malarious swamp.

We understand the Presbyterians purpose having a Soiree about the middle of June.—Com.

ANOTHER OLD SETTLER PASSED AWAY.

Died on the 2nd inst. Wm Elliott, Esq of the township of Smith, at the advanced age of 76 years.

Mr. Elliott was a native of the county of Donegal, Ireland. He emigrated to Canada in 1823, remained a few years in Prince Edwards county, and removing from thence to this county, selected lot 16 in the 4th con. of Smith, where he resided till the time of his decease.

Mr. Elliott was of a very persevering disposition, as was evident to all around, indeed, none could have succeeded as he did in the early settlement of the country when so many obstacles and privations had to be encountered, and been otherwise.

He was a man of unbending integrity and uprightness of character, no pecuniary considerations could make him deviate in the least from what he considered the path of rectitude.

So conscientious was he, that at times when money could easily have been lent at rates varying from 10 to 15 per cent, he never took more than 8.

For a time he filled the office of township Councillor, was Commissioner of the expenditure of public money, and held other offices of trust in the municipality. In the discharge of which, he gave general satisfaction.

He was highly respected by his neighbors, and as a last tribute of their esteem and respect, his remains were followed to their last resting place in the Wesleyan Methodist Cemetry, Peterboro, on Monday, by a very large and respectable funeral cortege.

Out of a family of twelve children, five sons and two daughters, as well as widow, all well provided for and settled in the county, survive him.

As he lived, so he died. His end was perfect peace.—Com.

Government Defeated.

MAJORITY OF 13 VOTES FOR THE OPPOSITION.

Policy of the Government on the New Brunswick School Bill Condemned.

Ottawa, May 15, 2 a.m.

After an exciting debate, which has lasted from before recess, the Government has been defeated by 36 votes. The Ministry opposed Mr. Costigan's motion with all the eloquence and sophistry they possess, but the sense of the House was against them, and the motion condemning the policy of the Government with reference to the New Brunswick School

PACIFIC RAILWAY SCANDAL—MR. HUNTINGTON'S SPEECH ON THE 3RD INSTANT.

On the call of Mr. Speaker for motions—

Hon. Mr. Huntington said I rise to make a few observations to the House upon a question of privilege regarding a grave and important subject which has been under the consideration of the House. It will be within the recollection of the House that on a former occasion, when the subject of the Pacific Railway Investigations was before the House, and when, throwing myself to some extent upon the protection of the House, when the case of adjourning the proceedings of the Committee was before it, that I said such a course would embarrass the position I occupied, in bringing forward the charge I then had the misfortune to make. I have now to state I am aware of the existence of important documentary evidence which I can have—

At this point Sir John Macdonald came into the House, and took his place.

Hon. Mr. Huntington continued—I was proceeding to say that documents bearing very seriously upon this enquiry are in the possession of a trustee under such circumstances that there is good danger, in consequence of the delay imposed upon the Committee, that the Committee will not be able to obtain them when they meet. If the House had allowed the Committee to proceed I would have been able then, as I am still, to proceed not only with this branch of the investigation, but also with the production of evidence in support of the charge which I felt it my duty to make. The House will perceive that if there is documentary evidence bearing upon this enquiry in the hands of third parties, no matter how respectable, great danger may arise that it will not be forthcoming at the proper time; and I am in a position to state, moreover, that there are peculiar circumstances that may render it impossible for me or for the Committee to obtain this evidence when the Committee meets on the 2nd of July. Under these circumstances I have felt it my duty, always maintaining the same course that I have maintained from the beginning with respect to this charge, neither travelling to the right nor left in the discussion of this subject, indulging in no oratorical flourishes, confining myself simply to a statement of what appeared to me to be the facts bearing upon the investigation, for which, to a certain extent, I am responsible, I have felt it my duty now to ask the House that such steps will be taken as will secure this important evidence before it goes beyond the reach of the Committee. I feel that if the Committee were to meet now I could prove to their satisfaction that the peril which I speak of it exists. It has been urged against me that I have obstructed the business of the House in making this charge upon the Government upon my own unsupported statement. Of course, I was under the impression, and the result showed I was right, that the statement of a member from his place in the House was perhaps, sufficient ground for an investigation; but it was urged against me by the leader of the Government the other day, and by the Government press generally, that this unsupported statement was not sufficient. I do not propose, in submitting the motion which I will place in your hands, to ask the House to adopt it entirely upon the unsupported statement of a member in his place. Of course it must be manifest that I cannot have in my possession the original documents to which I refer, but at the same time I propose, not with a view of establishing the allegations I have made in regard to this very grave matter, but merely for the purpose of giving a sufficient reason for my motion, to read some memoranda I have here which bear upon this important subject, which, if I had these documents in my possession, I would be able to establish. Among these, for example, is a letter from Sir Hugh Allan, addressed to a distinguished gentleman, whose name I do not give here, but which I am quite prepared to give to the Committee, and the following extracts will be found, according to my belief, and as I expect to be able to prove, to be contained in the original letter of Sir Hugh Allan. The letter is dated 1st of July, 1872, and the extracts I will read are as follows:—

"The negotiations relating to the Canadian Pacific Railway are now approaching a termination, and I have no reason to doubt that they will be favourable to us. I have been given to understand by Mr ——"—I do not wish there to be any misconception about the blank, I am quite prepared to furnish the name to the Committee.—

The Speaker took objection to the course pursued by Mr. Huntington, but after some discussion he was allowed to proceed.

Hon. Mr Huntington said he did not know that the Chairman of the Committee had any better right than he had to proceed in this matter. Mr. Speaker might with equal propriety object to the Chairman making the motion, as he did now. He was prepared to prove that important documents were imperilled, and he asked for protection in the ordinary parliamentary way of moving instruction to the Committee. The leader of the Government had complained that he did not go before the Committee with affidavits in support of his charge, and to meet that objection, he now came here with incontrovertible evidence that there was important evidence in peril, and asked that that evidence be secured. That was the head and front of his offending. He wished to make this application in the most courteous manner to every one. He did so with the earnest desire to fulfil his duty, and with a full sense of the responsibility resting on him.

Sir John A. Macdonald complained that this had been referred to a select Committee, but he agreed to have papers impounded.

Hon. Mr. Huntington continued. He said the remarks of the leader of the Government had placed him in a different position from that in which he expected to be placed. The hon. gentleman, though complaining that he had not fortified his charges with some proof, yet was willing now to give his statement sufficient credence to grant his motion without further evidence, but the hon. gentleman would excuse him if he preferred to follow the advice of the gentlemen who had believed in the honesty of his purpose, and their opinions would have great weight with him. The Speaker had referred to the procedure in a Court of justice. He would ask the House to look at the matter in this way. Suppose that an advocate in Court wished to make a motion, would he not support his motion by affidavits, and would that not be a proper course? This was a parallel case to his. He was about to make a motion, and he did not wish to go any further than necessary to establish the ground for it. The leader of the Government had attacked his social position and had declared that he was entitled to no credence but that parliamentary credence to which he was entitled by the rules of the House, and the supporters of the hon gentleman listened to all this and cheered on the attack upon his private character. In view of these facts, the hon. gentleman would excuse him if he, while he entertained the highest respect for the House as an institution of the country, was not prepared to take advice of the hon. gentleman who had attacked him in so malignant and wanton a manner He therefore proposed to proceed with the reading of the evidence, upon which he asked the House to sustain his motion.

Sir John Macdonald said he rose to object. (Ironical cheers.) This case had been submitted to Committee, and this evidence should only be produced before the Committee. It was unjust that the Government should be put upon their trial here and afterwards before the Committee. They could not have two tribunals and the House had decided what that tribunal should be. He moved that the House do proceed to the orders of the day.

Mr. Speaker—A question of order having been raised—

Mr. Mackenzie—What is the question of order? The hon. gentleman has moved that the House proceed to the orders of the day.

Hon. Mr. Huntington—I pressed under all this discouragement to the discharge of my duty.

Mr. Speaker—The question of order has been raised. The hon. leader of the Government contends his position and now

Mr. Cameron did not see how there could be any doubt of order. The hon. gentleman had applied to make a motion in connection with a matter which was before the House by motion [illegible]

Mr. Speaker—The question of order is this—and certainly on the spur of the moment I am not prepared to decide—whether a member on rising to make a motion is to be permitted to read letters and [illegible] which are not by motion [illegible] document [illegible] before the House.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO GEORGE T. LENNARD, Esq.

The numerous friends of George T. Lennard, Esq., entertained him on Tuesday evening at a Complimentary Supper. The spread was got up in Capt. Tarver's best style, reflecting great credit on the catering abilities of "Mine host" of the Colonc House.

W. H. Scott, Esq., occupied the Chair, and John Bertram, Esq., the Vice Chair. About forty of our Gentlemen sat down, representing every important interest in the Town.

After doing ample justice to the good things, and before proceeding to the pleasant part of the business of the evening, the usual toasts and speeches, the Chairman remarked that letters of apology had been received from the Rev'd Father's Lynch and Casey, and from A. Smith, Esq.

The usual loyal toasts were given, and received most cordially. After "the Queen," Mr. Jas. Harty sang the National Anthem, in which the party joined. Honors were also done to "The Prince, Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal family. "The Army, Navy and Volunteers," and "The Governor General and Lieutenant Governors," all of which were heartily received, as is always the case in this grand Dominion, the people of which are even more loyal than Britons themselves.

The Chairman in giving the the toast, "The Guest of the evening," said he had wished that the duty of performing this part of the proceedings had devolved on some other gentlemen. Not through any desire to evade it, but because he felt diffident in expressing himself as fully and freely in the presence of the gentleman himself, as he would like to do if unrestrained by circumstances. He considered it a great pleasure to be present. All were met out of respect to one who had grown up amongst them and who was esteemed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. Mr. Leonard had done honor to every sphere in which he has been placed and he felt confident that his future would be as honorable and as respected as his past career. In removing to another place the best wishes of all accompanied him that he might prosper and that he might enjoy the reality as well as the sentiment conveyed in the toast, "The health of the guest," which he took great pleasure in proposing.

The toast was received in the most cordial and hearty manner.

Mr. Leonard in responding said that the cordiality and good will with which the toast had been received, caused him to ask, why was it? And he was unable to answer. He did not like to value himself more highly than he ought, but when he witnessed the cordiality with which his name had been received, he was inclined to almost overvalue his own character and over estimate his own abilities. Brevity on such occasions he knew was more admired than long or elaborate speeches, but he could not allow the opportunity to pass without expressing his sincere thanks for the manner in which the toast had been given and received, and for the generosity which prompted such a display of friendship and goodwill on the occasion He saw around the festive board so many who held different political and religious views from him, he felt that his simple efforts in the duties of life do not pass unrequited. The highest worldly ambition is to obtain the merited praise of our fellows, and that life was not considered spent in vain that so succeeded. A native of Peterboro, as he was, he could not think of entirely deserting it. His fondest recollections would be of it and the pleasant memories associated with its scenery, and with those with whom he had been associated, and he would ever take a lively interest in anything that concerned the prosperity of his native town; and although going away for a season, it was his intention to return, perhaps often. In conclusion he thanked them most heartily for the manner in which the toast had been received.

After a song by Mr. John Maloney,

The Chairman gave the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Bertram was asked to respond to this toast. After referring to an understanding that Mr. Boultbee, Member for North York, was the Gentleman to respond, he said, that although somewhat taken by surprise he could not resist the opportunity offered. The question was one that induced a response from every Canadian, for although born in another land, Canada and especially Ontario was the place of his adoption. In Canada the greatest liberty of thought and action prevailed, and her progress was perhaps unequalled. Our resources were incalculable, and our Municipal institutions worthy of being copied by British Statesmen, notwithstanding all their experience, civilization and intelligence. In Canada too, advanced ideas were daily gaining prominence, and we enjoyed privileges and immunities not enjoyed in older countries. Expecting that Mr Boultbee would follow and do more justice to the toast he concluded by returning thanks for the honor to the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Boultbee being called for said that he confessed that the question was so vast that he thought he ought to have been made aware that he would be expected to speak to it. Of the Dominion we had good reason to be proud, for its extent, advancement and progress. It was a young country, and occupied a peculiar position between the old ideas of the old world, and the now progressive ideas of the new world. We were not confined by the prejudices of the old, nor limited by the fixed principles across the atlantic. Yet we are not unrestrained by the wisdom and prudence that prevail at home. We enjoy all the advantages of a free climate, excellent soil, beautiful landscape, religious and political liberty, and the right to speak and act on all questions that concern us, without fear or concomitant disadvantages. He agreed with Mr. Bertram that the Province of Ontario stood unrivalled in the world, teeming with riches of soil, mines, and forests, and only required to be used to ensure commercial enterprise and wealth, second to no other nation. He referred to our statesmen, our volunteers, municipal institutions and intelligence, as all indicative of a great, noble and glorious future for the Dominion.

"The Mayor and Corporation," was responded to by J. B. Dixon, Esq., who expressed his regret that the duty should devolve on a junior member of the Council. The prosperity of the town was the most enduring praise that could be bestowed on the Corporation. Every street was full of material for new building, the town was kept neat and orderly. Its progress was not surpassed by any town in the Dominion, and as a son of one of its first settlers he had a pride in witnessing its progress, to the advancement of which he would always earnestly labor.

"The Boards and Bar" was given by the Vice-Chairman, and responded to by Messrs. Scott, Dumble and Deamisteer.

To "The Medical Profession," Drs. Sullivan and Kincaid responded.

To "The Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests" Messrs. Gibbon, Moloney and Harty.

"The Ladies," and "The Press" being also given in turn were duly responded to, when after a volunteer toast from Mr. Bertram "Speed our Guest," which was responded to by Mr. Leonard, who also proposed the health of the Chairman, to which Mr. Scott made an appropriate reply,

The company sang the National Anthem and separated.

The evening was pleasantly spent and Mr. Leonard has reason to be proud that in leaving Peterboro he carries with him the best wishes of such a number of his fellow townsmen for his future prosperity and happiness.

THE VICTORIA RAILWAY BY-LAW.

Section 20 of the Victoria Railway Act, provides what is known as the "Crossing Clause," by which the majority of qualified voters, in any portion of a Municipality may Petition the Council of such Municipality to pass a By-law and submit it to the ratepayers of said portion, and the Council shall grant and submit the By-law asked for. The action of the Council of this County led to an amended act, in which we find the following clause:

"Notwithstanding anything in the said or any other acts contained, the townships of Galway, Cavendish, Snowdon, Glamorgan, Monmouth, Minden, Dysart, Dudley, Harcourt, Stanhope, Guilford, Harburton, Bruton, or any two or more of them, that may choose to join together for the purpose may give aid to the said company by way of bonus to an amount which shall not involve the levying of a rate of more than three cents on the dollar, and in case they shall vote liability of the said townships in respect of any indebtedness or liability contracted by the County of Peterborough for railway purposes shall not be taken into account."

QUERRY.—How can Municipalities choose, or express their choice to join together except by By-law of such Council for the purpose? Have By-laws been passed?

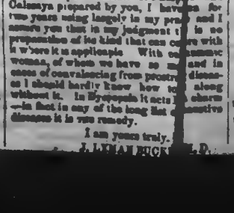
Pumps Pumps.

To the Public in Generaly and Farmers in particular.



Henry Owens

Begs leave to bring to your notice once more his truly celebrated SWING and FORCE PUMPS, which have already received five Provincial First Prizes, and have hitherto met with unparalelled success. There can be no reasonable doubt now after a year trial of the superiority of this pump over all others. H. O. has purchased the sole right under four patents, for the counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and will keep a large stock on hand if possible, which he will sell at very cheap rate. He has increased his facilities for making all kinds of pumps, having lately added to his machinery a new and first-class pump boring machine. Every thing in the pump line can be furnished on the shortest notice, and Repairs carefully and promptly attended to. Parties ordering Pumps please state depth of well and all other necessary particulars.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Pleurisy and Calmaya.

August 31 1873.

The Compound Elixir of Pleurisy and Calmaya prepared by you, I have used for two years using largely in my practice and I assure you that in my judgment it is no preparation of the kind that can compare with it to prove it as applicable. With consumptive women, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from protracted disease as I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Bronchitis it acts like a charm and in fact in any of the long list of pulmonary diseases it is your remedy.

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this extraordinary remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Arne medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Emacilated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold around the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

DYSPEPSIA — DEBILITY

PERUVIAN SYRUP — AN IRON TONIC

DISEASE — HUMORS

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalising Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalising the System. The enriched and vitalised blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energising effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, pining, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

THE REASONS WHY LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's CELEBRATED Perfected Spectacles, AND EYE GLASSES, have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will afford to be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on opticological principles, judgment is thereby kept from improper selections.

4th. Because the system of fitting to an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of changes.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Select Poetry.

THE CAPTAIN OF THE "FORMIDABLE."

BY GERALD MASSEY.

So often is the proud dead done
By some blind stab at Duty's call,
So many are the heroes slain
By them, we cannot wear them all.

They nibble the heroic emblazonry,
And dying thus the natural way,
Yet, in our world-wide English race
Shouldest by that death, To-day.

It brings the thoughts that fathom things
To another fact where billows roll,
It calls us with pleasure of wings
That thrive to lift the earthiest soul.

Love was in office, and life at ease,
But at the call he left the wine
And sprang full statured to his feet,
Responsive to the touch divine.

"Nay, dear, I cannot see you die,
For me, I have my work to do,
Up here. Down to the boat. Good-bye
God bless you. I shall see it through."

We read, until the vision dims
And drowns; but, ere the pang be past,
A tide of triumph overbrims,
And breaks with light from heaven at last.

Thro' all the blackness of that night
A glory streams from out the gloom,
His steadfast spirit holds the light
That shines till Night is overcome.

The sea will do its worst, and life
Be sobbed out in a bubbling breath,
But firmly in the coward strife
There stands a Man hath vanquished Death.

A soul that conquers wind and wave,
And towers above a sinking deck,
A bridge across the gaping grave,
A rainbow rising o'er the wreck.

He saved others, saved the name
Unsullied that he gave his wife,
And dying with so pure an aim,
He had no need to save his life.

Lord! how they shame the life we live,
These sailors of our sea-girt isle,
Who cheerily take what Thou mayst give.
And go down with a heavenward smile.

The men who sow their lives to yield
A glorious crop in lives to be,
Who turn to England's harvest field
The untruthful furrows of the sea.

With such a breed of men so brave,
The Old Land has not had her day,
But long, her strength, with crested wave,
Shall ride the seas the proud old way.

Baldwin Reformers.

(Hamilton Times.)

There was one portion of the Hon. Mr. Currie's speech, at the South Brant nomination, which must have been particularly effective with the old Reformers present. It was with reference to that mongrel breed of politicians who now-a-days call themselves "Baldwin Reformers." Now, there are many men, pretty well up in years, in Canada, who were at one time bona fide Baldwin Reformers, for they worked under him. Some of them, we admit, are now on the Tory side, and still more of them on the Reform side, but it is not to those real workers with Baldwin that we refer. The people against whom we protest are those politicians who, having commenced life as Reformers, have gone over to Toryism for personal and interested reasons, and then strive to hide their disgrace and their guilt under the plea that they are not Tories, but the real and genuine Baldwin Reformers, revived again for the benefit of the new generation. Nine out of ten of those have not the least idea what they mean when they say they are Baldwin Reformers. The solitary idea they have of the matter is that Baldwin Reform is a sort of half way house between Reform and Toryism, with rather a leaning towards the latter. These men were never more mistaken in their lives, if they have really any such conception of the character of the dead statesman. Baldwin in his lifetime, was the boldest and most effective enemy that Toryism ever had in Canada. He broke them to pieces as a ruling power, he buried in ruins their grinding oligarchy and their people-hating policy, he gave liberty to the masses of the people, he gave us the liberty of the press, liberty of speech a freely elected Parliament, and responsible government. And in return for all this good done the people at large, the Tories hated Baldwin with as bitter a hatred as ever a party felt towards a successful opponent. This "sainted Baldwin," to whom the hypocritical Tories now pretend to turn up revering eyes, was the same Baldwin whom they burned in effigy in the streets of Toronto, and whom half of them would like to have burned or hanged in person, and such was their venomous hate of him and his Reform principles. The Tories "sainted Baldwin" of the present day was the same Baldwin whom the Tories sought to revenge themselves on by burning down the Parliament buildings in Montreal, because in that Parliament Baldwin and Lafontaine hap full control. The Tories "sainted Baldwin" of to-day is the same Baldwin whom the Tories of a quarter of a century ago showed their hatred of by besmearing with rotten eggs OUR QUEEN'S representative in Canada, because he, Lord Elgin, acted on the advice of Mr. Baldwin and his colleagues. The Tories "sainted Baldwin" of to-day, whose views the present Tories profess to represent, is the same Baldwin whose views the Tories of not many years ago so resented that they turned traitors to their Queen and country rather than submit to them, and sought, in revenge, to throw Canada under the folds of the Yankee flag. And now these shameless hypocrites and false pretenders lyingly assert themselves the friends of the Baldwin whom in life they treated with every mark of hatred and abhorrence. They dare to profess themselves the legitimate successors to the political principles of Robert Baldwin, though when he was putting those principles in practice, and because he did so, they, in riotous and brutal mobs, hanged Baldwin in effigy, destroyed the Parliamentary buildings, insulted the Queen's representative, tore down the British flag, and turned traitors to the Queen. In the whole history of political infamy there is no viler or more scandalous page than that which records the attempt of the recklessly unprincipled Tories of the present to shield their infidelity under the name of the "sainted Baldwin." We can respect the Tory who boldly avows his creed and title, but it is a disgrace to Baldwin's memory to have such political vagabonds as the once Reformers, but now Tory purchased hirelings of the day, name his name in connection with—a disgrace which should be resented by every man who respects and honors the memory of the ablest and noblest Reform leader that Canada ever had.

Prohibitory Liquor Law.

REPORT OF THE PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE.

The following is the report of Mr. Bodwell's Prohibitory Liquor Law Committee presented to the House on the 9th Inst.

Your Committee, to whom were referred the petitions presented in favor of a Prohibitory Liquor Law, beg leave in presenting their second report, to call the attention of your honorable House to the following considerations, and based upon the facts to which they have had access so far.

1. That the traffic in intoxicating liquors is an unmitigated evil, widespread in its effects, reaching with more or less virulence every class of the community, destroying and blighting with its baneful influence the existence of many of the most useful and promising members of Society, producing untold domestic misery and destitution, and leading to the formation of habits alike opposed to the moral and intellectual advancement and prosperity of the country.

2. That the petitions presented, 364 in number, to your honorable House, and signed by 39,223 individuals, as well as the petitions from 82 municipalities and the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, praying for a prohibitory liquor law, show that the people of the Dominion are very strongly impressed with the enormity of the evils alluded to, and that in view of this strong and unequivocal demand, your Committee feel bound to urge the necessity of some action on the part of your honorable House to meet the wishes of the petitioners and if possible remove the evils complained of.

3. That in examining the answers received from the Sheriffs, Prison Inspectors, Coroners and Police Magistrates, one hundred and fourteen of whom have voluntarily given evidence, your Committee find that four-fifths of the crime committed in the Province of Ontario, (answers have not yet been received from the other Provinces) is directly or indirectly connected with the manufacture, sale and consumption of intoxicating liquors.

4. Your Committee further find, on examining the reports of the Prison Inspectors for the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, that out of 28,289 commitments to the gaols for the three previous years, 21,236 were committed either for drunkenness or for crimes perpetrated under the influence of drink, thus corroborating the statements of the magistrates and others above alluded to.

5. Your Committee find also, from the reports of one hundred and forty-three medical men, as well as from statements made by medical practitioners in the United States and Great Britain, that the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is not essential to the health or well-being of the community, but on the contrary it often leads to disease and premature death.

6. Your Committee have also to report that they have made as far as time would permit, enquiry into the operation and effect of the Prohibitory Liquor Law in the State of Maine, accepting its operations there as the fairest test of its success, and find that although there are violations of the law in many cases flagrant and glaring, yet from the evidence received your Committee is convinced that a Prohibitory Liquor Law would mitigate, if not entirely remove, the evils complained of.

7. In considering the immediate effect which the passage of a Prohibitory Liquor Law would have upon the revenue of the country, your Committee are bound to admit that for some time at least there might be a falling off, yet in the face of the evils arising from the liquor traffic alluded to in the first paragraph of this report, they cannot recommend any other course to your honorable House, than a ready compliance with the prayer of the petitioners. The reasons on which your Committee base this recommendation are the following: Although the revenue arising from the traffic, is now very large, amounting last year to $5,034,542.50, yet the expense of the administration of justice, the maintenance of asylums, hospitals and penitentiaries, consequent upon the habitual use of intoxicating liquors, would be largely diminished, thus furnishing a very considerable offset to the amount lost to the revenue, that the capital now invested in the traffic, large as your Committee believe it to be, would, if diverted to other purposes of trade, add largely in a very short time to the general wealth of the country and open up new and even more profitable sources of industry, which in their turn would contribute to the revenue without those baneful associations which vitiate the returns accrued from the liquor traffic, that the effect upon the industrial prosperity of thousands who are now impoverished by their dissipated habits would be such as to enable them to consume other dutiable goods, the law of supply and demand being such that wherever there is a surplus for capital it will find for itself some field of investment, that it is clearly the duty of the Government, when the social, moral and civil standing of the subjects are imperilled by the existence of any traffic or trade, that, apart from all considerations of the gain or profit, the interests of the subject against evils which may be and which are sources of revenue is already conceded in Acts passed on former occasions in the Legislature of Canada, such as the Dunkin Act, sanitary laws, and other laws of a similar nature.

8. In view of these facts, your Committee would most respectfully submit to your hon. House the importance of speedily removing the evil complained of, by the enactment of a prohibitory liquor law, that is, a law prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors except for medical and sacramental purposes, and that the Legislature of the Province of Ontario be petitioned to pass such an act as will enable the municipal authorities to carry out the provisions of the same.

The Volunteer Frauds.

(From the Montreal Herald.)

We have already commented upon the general features of this affair, but one of the most remarkable parts of it is the utter ignorance of the matter on the part of those persons, who were most bound to know all about it. Here we have the Adjutant general, who testified before a Committee of the House of Commons that the whole subject had slipped from his memory—that he could not tell, indeed, whether he had ever heard anything about it, though he thought he had—until it became a question in Parliament. It is a pertinent inquiry as to the kind of fraud that would make a permanent impression on the elastic brain of this distinguished officer, if so serious a matter as the swindling of the Government by the same man representing two soldiers and drawing duplicate pay is so easily effaced from it. That, one would have supposed to be a fact hard enough for even Mr. Gradgrind's indurated taste. Especially difficult is it to conceive of such a state of oblivion, in one who has not yet eaten of the "fat weed which roots itself on Lethe's wharf," when we remember that it is not a single or simple historical event which the Adjutant General has been unable to bear in mind, but a whole series of events, including the official complaint from Quebec, the order from his own Department for a Court of Inquiry, and then the report of the Court, announcing the discovery of a most outrageous imposition. We cannot, however, of course, afford to lose the services of Colonel Ross, so we must add a new set of officials to the staff of our Militia Department. With a head so invaluable, but so somnolen, business cannot be carried on, unless there be a provision of those functionaries, who, in the land of Laputa continually aroused the flagging attention of great personages by taps with flappers made of blown up bladders with peas in them. Perhaps if such machinery were provided, Colonel Ross might have other frauds exactly like those of Quebec made known to him, or recalled to his memory. At all events if he has not heard it, it is not because it has not been sufficiently talked about, that the army rolls have been swelled in this neighbourhood have been swelled by exactly the same ingenious device which was put into practice in Quebec, and with similar success. And while this sort of military business has been carried on, the good men and zealous officers who made our volunteer force what it was once, have been driven in disgust from the service, and men have been put on the paid staff in positions which in case of active be those of the utmost responsibility though until they were paid to assume those posts, they had hardly put on a forage cap. In spite of the terrors with which Mr. McDonald, of Pictou, has inspired all writers for the Press, we shall venture to close with two or three words of truth. So long as the Ministerial head of the Militia Department does not desire these frauds to be kept in check, so long the paid officers under him will know nothing about them, and we have little doubt that the New Orleans Minstrels.

The New Orleans Minstrels will appear in the Music Hall on the 23rd inst. [illegible] Quintette Club will give a Concert in the Music Hall, on Saturday evening, 24th Inst. No lover of music should miss hearing them.

The Court of Revision

For the Town sat on Friday evening but no business of importance was transacted. Appeals from A. Jackson, J. M. Smith, Messrs. Nicholls and Hall, G. Brooks, and some others were heard, but deferred to Thursday, (this evening). The great excitement is the taxing of the Bank stock and personal property, but nothing yet settling the matter has been arrived at.

Railways.

The Annual meeting of the Cobourg, Peterboro' & Marmora R. R. & Mining Co., will be held on the 17th of June. Something should be done to bring the extension to Bobcaygeon before them, so that the commencement of this work may not be delayed till too late. The Town Council should come forward and pay the $40,000 as agreed, and thus be in a position to encourage the extension of the road northward. It will be much better for the Town and County, and all concerned to have the work pressed, and with both the Town and Company working in harmony, than to be obstructing the work, and hindering the progress of the Town, by forcing all the trade of the northern part of the County by way of Lindsay, which will be the case if something be not done soon.

School Affairs.

The subject is somewhat insipid just now and is likely to remain so, the people say they are tired of political squabbles in our Schools, Council and private concerns, and they have good reason to be tired of such conduct. We would not now refer to the matter but that the harping of the carpers continues. It is well known that an offer was made to bury the hatchet, if Mr. Black should be continued in the Institute. On refusal to accept or offer terms, threats were then held out that they would write down the Institute. This is the patriotism of the croakers. Keep Mr. Black and the matter will end: Send him away and we will destroy the School if we can. Poor souls they can't do it. Their puny efforts are of no avail.

Killed.

John Sheddon, Esq., of Toronto, and uncle of Mr. Paton, lately drowned at Burleigh, was killed at Cannington on Friday last, while attempting to get on the train. The train was about to start, and Mr. Sheddon caught the railing to get on, and while walking on the platform came to a place where two or three plank were off, which caused him to stumble, when he was dragged between the platform and the car and killed. It is really one of the strange dispensations of an inscrutable Providence that Mr. Paton should be drowned on Wednesday, and his uncle who had started him in business here, should be killed on Friday. Mr. Sheddon was largely interested in the Auburn Mills here, and the sudden death of both gentlemen may affect the factory for a short time, but not for any length of time. We understand that a large reward, ($500) has been offered for the body of Mr. Paton.

Have received a large lot of New Dress Goods, New Muslins, New Parasols, New Millinery, which will be advertised next week. They are doing a very large business this season. Ladies who wish to secure goods at low prices should call.

COUNTY COUNNCIL—SPECIAL SESSION.

The County Council met yesterday to consider a Petition from the Township of Dysart, part of Stanhope, Snowdon, part of Minden and Galway, and Moamouth, to grant a bonus of $60,000 to the Victoria Railway Company.

Mr. Boultbee was heard before the Council, but want of space compels us to defer his remarks till next week.

The Council went into Committee of the whole on the petition, and after discussion passed the following resolution and adjourned.

Moved by Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Blezard—That whereas by the 5th section of the Fenelon Railway Amendment Act it is understood by this Council to be necessary that the Townships grouped by the petition of A. McDonald and others or any number of the said Townships, that may choose to form together, for the purpose, may give aid to said the Fenelon Falls and Ottawa River Railway, and whereas, as no evidence of the said joining together, of the said townships for the said purpose has been produced before this Council and for other reasons, it is not expedient to pass any By-law founded on the said recited petition.

THE ELECTION PROTEST.

The readers of the Review will be somewhat startled at the tone of that paper last week, in which the most wicked attempt, by insinuation, is made to cast doubts on the veracity of those having given evidence in this case at Ottawa. Any such mean insinuations come with bad grace from the editor of that paper. We give the evidence of Mr. Trenuum as published in the Review, in order that our readers may have an opportunity of reading for themselves and forming their own judgement, and they will find that the evidence will bear criticism, and that it will establish a bona fide transaction in the purchase of the property referred to.

The Commissioner will commence taking evidence on the 27th instant, which we will endeavor to give in full. In the mean time Mr. Cluxton sits and votes for the corrupt and the party. This pure, honest, honorable gentleman, sits in Mr. Bertram's seat and votes. Does his tender conscience not cause a throb when he rises to vote down enquiry into the corruption and bribery charged against his party. Can he hold up his head among gentleman, while he thus perpetrates an act of the most glaring injustice and robs the people of their representative? Do the dreams of his head upon his bed, not cause an uneasiness that neither the thunders of the decalogue nor the entreaties of pure minded men can? But he is so lost to honor, self respect, political morality, or a sense of justice, that nothing is too vile to do to retain a seat, so much coveted by him, but so dishonorably and unjustly wrested from Mr. Bertram.

There is not an honest Conservative in town, but holds the man and his advisor in contempt for the obloquy thus cast on their party, by the disgraceful outrage of this vain shadow of self praised purity, who has been preaching his integrity for years to a people who knew how to value his self adulations.

Dr. Alnon, a member of the Committee, and an out and out Conservative, is so disgusted with the whole thing that he would fain have it settled without dragging him through a partizan course in the Committee, and on the day that Mr. Bertram asked for a Commission, Dr. Almon, addressing Mr. Bertram asked him, "Why, as the easiest way to get out "of the difficulty, and the way he would "individually advise, could not the indemnity be divided and both go "home and have the election over again."

Mr. Bertram in explanation said that before the Committee was struck a friend of Mr. Cluxton in the House, and a Conservative, made an offer to a friend of Mr. Bertram to void the election. In answer to a telegram to this effect, Mr. Bertram answered that he was ready for anything, and would prefer a new election to a long draggling committee.—And that this was communicated to Mr. Cluxton's friends, but was never heard of again. On the day after the conversation with Dr. Almon, Mr. Mongrove said "That Mr. Cluxton was in "the seat and would hold it as long as "he could." These are the parents who rant about qualifications, &c., and yet hesitate not to be guilty of anything to defraud Mr. Bertram and the Electors of the Riding, while he votes for all the corruption of John A. Macdonald, and also to prevent enquiry into their acts

UNION SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board met on Tuesday evening.

Present, the Chairman, and Messrs. Dumble, Rutherford, Edmison, Edwards, Cox, Scott, Toole and McLelland.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read over and confirmed.

The Clerk read a communication from Mr Johnston, tendering his resignation as Janitor, and requesting to be relieved by the 15th of June, if possible.

The Committee on appointments reported recommending the appointment of Mr. Shepley, of Port Rowan, to the place rendered vacant by the dismissal of Mr. Black. The report was received and adopted.

Mr. McLelland submitted plans for the proposed South School building. After some discussion it was agreed that the building Committee get plans from Mr. Belcher for a different sort of building, and that those plans be submitted to the Board at next meeting.

The building is to be 60x40, two storeys, and to be divided into four rooms, of nearly 30x40 each, with an entrance to each division about the centre of the building.

On motion of Mr. Edwards, seconded by Mr. Toole, the resignation of Mr. Johnston was received and accepted, and the Committee on appointments instructed to obtain the services of Mr. Cooper, if available, if not that they make a suitable selection from former applicants—salary to be the same as at present, and labours to commence on the 15th of June, and the appointed to hold office during the will of the Board.

The Board then adjourned.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday 19th inst. Present, Messrs. Toole, Moore, Dixon, Sperry, Denne, Hopkins, Patterson, Lundy, Helm, English, and Smith.

The Minutes of the previous meeting were read over, amended and confirmed.

The Clerk read a petition from the Vestry of St. Johns Church, asking the Council to assist in repairing the clock in the tower of the Church, as the clock would be useful to the inhabitants. It was stated that the Vestry of the Church were about to purchase a new bell which would answer to strike the hours; referred to the Committee on Finance.

From W. Brayshaw and others, Jas. C. Brown and others, and R. Thompson and others, all asking for improvements on streets, referred to the Committee on Streets and Bridges.

A petition from Jas. Delaney to the Mayor, asking to his name entered for Lot 6, S. of King and West of George, and from J. W. Sheridan, stating that Mr. Delaney had bought the Lot: Referred to the Court of Revision.

Accounts were received from Mr. J. Belcher, for $60.00. John Brown, $254.62, for Firemen's uniform, were referred the Finance Committee, and the Fire Committe.

Messrs. Walton and Sanderson, Reeve, and Deputy Reeve of Smith, were present and were heard in reference to arrears of taxes on lands taken from Smith and added to the Town, and asking that as the Town Treasurer is the only collector of these, that when collected, he be pay them to the Treasurer of Smith. The Clerk of Smith submitted a copy of the arrears due, also a copy of a By-law of Smith appropriating statute labour, on boundary lines between Smith and the Town. Referred to the Finance Committee, and to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Moved by Mr. Helm seconded by Mr. Patterson that the opening of the Southern part of Stewart Street be referred to the Street and Bridge Committee, and to report at the next meeting of the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Toole seconded by Mr. Helm, that the account of James Kennedy, amounting to $18.30, for painting signs for the Otonabee bridge, be paid, and that one half of the amount be charged to the County.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dixon seconded by Mr. Sperry that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to make arrangement for the season's supply of lumber for sidewalks.—Carried Moved by Mr. Moore seconded by Mr. Hopkins, that the Street Inspector be directed to proceed with the grading of Brock Street in accordance with the plan prepared by Mr. Strong and adopted by the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore seconded by Mr. Toole, that the Finance Committee be requested to inquire into the Bill of Costs, Westcott vs. County of Peterborough, and report at the next meeting of the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dixon seconded by Mr. Moore that the Mayor, and Messrs. Helm, Lundy, and Toole, be a Committee to consider the propriety of laying out streets in the parts recently added to the Town, with power to employ a Surveyor if they deem it expedient.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lundy seconded by Mr. Helm, that the Street and Bridge Committee advertise for Tenders for the watering of the same streets as last year, and the expenses of the same be levied on the property benefited, by special rate.—Carried.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

OTONABEE COURT OF REVISION.

The Members of the Council met as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll on the 12th May, 1873.

The only appeal was by James Sinclair for overcharge on real property, assessment confirmed.

The following persons were ordered to be entered on the Roll for lands occupied by them on the Indian Reserve viz.—

John Post 3 acres $90, Wm Miller 14 acres $112, Hugh Kent 8 acres $64, Thos Cowead 8 acres $64, John Cleary 6 acres $48, and James McMullin 14 acres $132.

The Roll was then finally passed and certified by the Clerk.

COUNCIL MEETING.

After concluding the business of the Court of Revision the members met in Council.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Mrs. Lowry's taxes for 1872 were ordered to be remitted.

Francis Birdsall, Richard E. Birdsall and D. Graham on application were allowed to do their Statute Labor for current year in repairing Bridge at Spilsbury Creek.

A By-law appointing certain township officers was read 1st, 2nd and 3rd times and passed.

The Clerk was directed to notify the following Tavern keepers, viz: William Morgan, Alex Erskine, John McLachlan and John Smith that if they do not immediately take out Licenses, means will be taken to prosecute them for selling spirituous liquors without license.

The Treasurer was ordered to pay Owen McCarthy $67 75 for covering Allendale Bridge with Cedars.

On application of William West he was allowed to have the allowance for Road between lots 11 and 12 in 3rd con. in lieu of a Road given by him on the south part of lot 11 in 3rd con.

A Resolution passed to appropriate the sum of $1,000 for improvement of Roads in the township.

The Treasurer was directed to pay Mr. John McFee $3.24 for gravel.

Council adjourned to meet again on the 16th of June, 1873.

Township Clerk.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

The Fifth Annual Meeting of the Members of the Peterborough Mechanics Institute was held in the Rooms of the Institute on Monday evening, May 19th, 1873, Mr. Wm. English President the chair.

The secretary read the Report of the Directors for the past year.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Directors in resigning the trust to which they were elected at the last Annual Meeting, beg leave to present their Annual Report for the year ending May 1st, 1873, being the fifth year of its existence.

Your Directors have sincere pleasure in being able to state that the past year has been one of prosperity and progress. It is very gratifying to have to report an increase in the membership over the former years.

In the year closing May 1st 1873, there were 190 members on the roll. This last year we have 332; and we hope that the year now begun will show a further increase over last year. As the fees are so very low it is surely not expecting too much if we say we look to having the membership doubled this year.—The Government and Town Council grants enabled us to make large additions to our library, and we think that the public will add the efforts of the Directors in making our Institute one of the most flourishing ones in the Dominion. With the expected increase in membership, and the continuance of the grants from the Government and the Town Council, there is no doubt that the Institute shall be placed in the front rank in all its branches both as regards library, lectures and classes.

The Library Committee have been very careful in their selection of books, and while excluding light literature or sensational works, they have chosen a number of the best works of the leading authors, and we have taken great pains in excluding any book which would have an immoral tendency.—During the past year new books and magazines have been procured to the amount of over $500, and the Library Committee trust that their endeavors to please the taste of the members will meet their approval.

The Reading Room has been kept well supplied with the leading Canadian newspapers, and the best magazines and reviews of the day; and the fact that it has been so very well patronized, and becomes such a pleasant resort for a large number of our young men both by day and night through the past year, speaks well for the labors of the Committee in that department of their work.

The Lecture Committee have not been so successful during the past year as the one previous, owing to various reasons which could not very well have been surmounted.

The Committee on Classes have failed in getting a sufficient number of pupils to form classes, although they had procured the services of two good teachers in chemistry, mathematics, including arithmatic, algebra and Geometry: English, embracing grammar and composition—history and French. The Institute agreed to pay one-half the fees, with rooms and light free; but it was stated by some who spoke of joining that the fees were too high even with all the Institute paid, therefore the failure.

There will be presented you a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditure for the past year, together with a statement of the assets and liabilities.

In glancing over the operations of the year, your Directors see much cause for encouragement in the increasing membership, and the interest taken in the operations of the Institute; and in view of the important advantages to the general public, which cannot fail to spring from a well equipped and properly managed Mechanics' Institute, your Directors earnestly hope that their successors may do what lies in their power to make the Institute increasingly useful and prosperous.

The Library should receive particular attention, and be still further enlarged. Works of fiction continue to be largely in request, and it is not likely in the nature of things that the desire for this class of books will diminish. A great number of young people expect to be supplied with this class of works, and as their reading taste will be very much moulded by the works which the Institute supplies, your Directors desire to place on record an earnest recommendation to their successors that they pay particular attention in procuring such works, that none but the best of the class may be purchased, and those of the best authors.

They would further recommend that as a number of ladies wish to become subscribers to the Institute for the present year, in addition to those who have patronized it in the past year, particular attention be paid in providing additional books for the library this year, to procure the choicest works and those best adapted toward the cultivation and improvement of the tastes of this largely increasing portion of our supporters.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WEST PETERBOROUGH ELECTION.

EVIDENCE OF WILLIAM TRENNUM.

From the Peterboro Review.

Committee Room, Ottawa,

May 2nd, 1873.

By Mr. Walker. Mr. Bertram's counsel—Do you know John Bertram of Peterborough the candidate in the late election? A—Yes, sir, I know him.

Q—You look at this deed now produced, bearing date August 2, 1873, is that a conveyance of the property? Did you execute it? (Deed admitted in evidence.) A—Yes.

Q—Who is the John Bertram, the grantee, mentioned in this deed? Was he John Bertram, the candidate at the last election? A—Yes.

Q—What was the value of this property mentioned in the deed, and produced at the time of election? A—The value, at the time of election, was $5,000.

Q—Was the consideration money mentioned in this deed paid by the grantee? A—Yes it was.

By Mr. Mongrove, Mr. Cluxton's counsel—Is it in the township of Smith, or township of Monaghan, you live? A—Monaghan.

Q—If you are the William Trennum described in this deed, where did you live on the fifth day of August last? A—In Monaghan.

Q—When did you and Mr. Bertram first have any communication as to the sale and purchase of this property? A—About February, 1871, to the best of my recollection.

Q—From whom, and when, did you purchase the property mentioned in the deed filed? A—Mrs. Eilen Gilmour was the party, about February, 1870, I think.

Q—Are you a married man, and have you a family? Yes.

Q—Where did you reside before you purchased that property? A—In North Monaghan, where I now do.

Q—The object in purchasing that property was I presume, for the purpose of making a home for your wife and family? A—Partly so, I bought it in connection with the farm I lived on.

Q—How many acres of land is your other farm? A—One hundred more or less.

Q—How much of it is cleared, and how much wild? A—12 acres uncleared and the rest (88) cleared

Q—How far is this property from the property you sold Mr. Bertram? A—About half a mile.

Q—What do you value your own lot at? A—$7,000, about.

Q—I suppose your own farm is very well improved? State what improvements are on it. A—Worth about $2,500 or $3,000.

Q—What buildings are on this property you sold to Mr. Bertram? A—There is a frame barn, and a straw stable connected with the barn, about 30 by 40.

Q—Was the barn not built since the election? A—No, sir; it was not.

Q—Was it built since Mr. Bertram purchased from you? A—It was partly built; the stuff was on the ground at the time of purchase, and partly framed.

Q—Did Mr. Bertram pay for the buildings and finishing that barn? No, sir; he did not. It was understood I was to finish the barn.

Q—That arrangement, was it put in writing? Was there any written agreement to that effect? If there was, where is it, and who has it? A—No, there was no written agreement at the time.

Q—Did Mr. Bertram cut the crop that was on the farm then growing? A—No; it was understood that I should have the crop.

Q—Was there any writing—was that by written agreement, or not? A—It was not.

Q—Was there any writing between Mr. Bertram and yourself, except the deed, respecting the sale and purchase of that property. A—No, there was not.

Q—Was there about anything else? A—No; not any written agreement. Nothing but an account between Mr. Bertram and me.

Q—Did Mr Bertram sign any paper of any description whatever to you? A—He gave me a note for part of the payment of the land.

Q—What was the amount of the note? A—I do not remember the amount of it just now; I think it is $1,440.

Q—Do you do any trading, or any business than that, except as a farmer? A—Yes, sometimes; I run a thrashing machine and take out saw-logs.

Q—You say you have been thrashing, you don't take notes for that? A—No, sir.

Q—Drovers—have you got any drovers in your neighborhood? Do they come round to see you very often? A—They come round there sometimes.

Q—You are not particularly friendly with many of them, are you? A—No; not with the drovers

Q—They pay you cash, I suppose, for their purchases from you of stock? A———

MAY 6TH, 1873.

EVIDENCE OF WM. TRENNUM (CONTINUED)

On the evidence given on Saturday being read over, Mr Trennum said he wished to correct his evidence of Saturday by stating that it was in 1871, not 1870, that he bought the property he sold to Mr. Bertram; and that it was in February, 1872, not '71, that Mr Bertram first spoke to him about buying it.

Question by Mr. Mosgrove—Is not your farm one of the best in the locality? Answer—There are better and worse.

Q—If we you not a very valuable orchard on your farm? A—I have an orchard; not very valuable; raised about fifty bushels of apples last year.

Q—Did you not take the prize for the best apples raised in that riding of the County of Peterborough last year? A—I don't remember for the county; I did, for one sample, in the township

Q—Were they grown in that orchard? A—Yes.

Q—Was not your farm chosen for the ploughing match for the West Riding of Peterborough last year? A—Yes.

Q—Was it not chosen particularly, after an inspection of several places? A—I don't know

Q—Has the note that you got from Mr. Bertram at that time been paid? A—Yes; this is the note produced.

Q—When was this note paid? A—On the 5th of April after it was due.

Q—Was that note given as part of purchase money of farm? A—Yes.

Q—Then, from time of purchase until 1st September, you had not been paid your purchase money? A—Yes, I consider I was paid my purchase money when I took the note; I was not paid, otherwise than by that note, that part of the purchase money.

Q—Were you paid the balance of the purchase money? A—Yes

Q—How were you paid it? A—In money.

Q—When? A—Mr. William Hall had a mortgage on the place, for an amount equal to the note of purchase money after the deduction of this note, that Mr Bertram paid off, as Mr Hall afterwards told me.

Q—The amount you sold the farm for—was it $3,500? A—Yes, it was $3,500; I was to have the crops I had put in it; I reserved a check from Mr. Bertram for that amount and to let Mr. Bertram have the crop of clover now in the ground.

Q—By Mr. Almon—What was the value of the crop you took off the land last summer? A—$700.

Q—How many acres are cleared? A—Fifty-one or fifty-two

Q—Is all the land in the neighborhood good farming land? A—Yes.

Q—Is this place that you sold better or worse than your own by comparison? A—About the same, but the locality makes it more valuable, for being about half-a-mile from the corporation of Peterborough.

Q—By Mr. Cluxton—What was the valuation of the work [illegible] you spoke of [illegible] according to your [illegible] me, about $50 would cover it.

[illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EXAMINER.

DEAR SIR,

I see in the Norwood Register of the 15th Inst., an article headed "Bogus Voters," and reflecting on me for exposing the bad votes, polled in that Township for the $150,000 By law. The Editor pretends to show by a certificate that James Mullen did vote, and that he did not leave for Mr. Boyd's Shanty till the following day. In answer to this, I say James Mullen told me "that he was in the shanty and did not vote." One thing I do know, that he had no vote. Mr. Burke says the Warden found a place next; Yes, and in the next, Thomas Burke, as voting for the By-law, although his name is on the Assessment Roll as tenant. To make his case good, the Editor of the Register should get Messrs. Roxburgh, &c., to give him a certificate that his vote was good.—Perhaps he will next week. O, Tam! O, Tam! I fear you are harping at a dodger. Poor fellow, I feel for you. You are in the hands of the Philistines. This "napsient" Tam says, there are always some bad votes polled. Perhaps so, but Norwood especially goes the whole hog, as no less than 60 bad votes were polled in [illegible] Village. The Judge of the County, and the future Capital of the East Riding. He says, further, that Capitalists consider the proposed, the Quebec and Ontario Road a good investment. Then let Capitalists build it and charge their tariff. Better for the farmers to pay the tariff than mortgage their farms which they have toiled to secure.—He also says, "that the several Municipalities, with few exceptions, had it as a boon." Now, the fact is, Peterboro' is the only Municipality giving a bonus, and it was carried by 24 votes, while no less than 150 to 200 bad votes were polled for it, all of which will I suppose be set aside in a few days. Cavan and Manvers gave large majorities against the By-law, but if those Townships had a Norwood and the Register, it might have been otherwise. Sir Hugh Allan is credited with promising a portion of the $200,000 to certain persons who worked for him. How much of it did Mr. Burke get? and how much of it was spent in Norwood to get in these bogus votes, and to debauch the people of that portion of our fair County? If he had been a little more liberal with the Register the road might now be in full blast.

Yours,

JAMES MILLAR.

Colliery Explosion.

The Drummond Colliery, near West field, N.S. took fire on the 13th instant, by which 50 lives were lost. Only four or five of those in the mine at the time have been saved.

More Bonuses.

The Township Council of Clarke have given the first reading to a By-law to be submitted to the Ratepayers to grant aid to the Ontario and Quebec Railway to the amount of $50,000.

Music, Instrumental and Vocal.

Miss A. Bastien, late of Montreal and pupil of M. Ducharme, celebrated professor of music, is prepared to give lessons in both Instrumental and Vocal Music. Her address is next door West of Dr O'Sullivan's residence.

Ashburnham.

The population of Ashburnham according to the Assessment Roll for 1873, is 1188—159 of an increase over last year. The value of real and personal property, and income is: $140,325; an increase of $14,285 over last assessment.

The Northern Railway.

Mr. Cumberland has introduced a Bill into the House of Commons by which it is sought to get the Government to assume the debt of the Company amounting to $3,000.000 for $500,000. Should he succeed it will only add another proof to the dangers of Railway legislation.

PACIFIC RAILWAY MARRIAGE BILL.—DISCUSSION RESUMED ON THE 2ND INSTANT.

On the call of Mr. Speaker for motions,

Hon. Mr. Huntington said I rise to make a few observations to the House upon a question of privilege regarding a grave and important subject which has been under the consideration of the House. It will be within the recollection of the House that on a former occasion, when the Speaker was before the House, and when, having myself to some extent upon the forbearance of the House, when the case of adjourning the proceedings of the Committee was before it, that I said such a course would embarrass the position I occupied, in bringing forward the charge I then had the misfortune to make. I have now to state I am aware of the existence of important documentary evidence which I can have—

At this point Sir John Macdonald came into the House, and took his place.

Hon. Mr. Huntington continued—I was proceeding to say that statements bearing very seriously upon this inquiry are in the possession of a person under such circumstances that there is great danger, in consequence of the delay imposed upon the Committee, that the Committee will not be able to obtain them when they meet. If the House will allow, the Committee to proceed I would have been able then, as I am ready to proceed now to enter into the merits of the investigation, but also with the production of evidence in support of the charge which I feel it my duty to make. The House will perceive that if there is documentary evidence bearing upon this enquiry in the hands of third parties, no matter how respectable, great danger may arise that it will not be forthcoming at the proper time; and I am in a position to state, moreover, that there are peculiar circumstances that may render it impossible for me or for the Committee to obtain this evidence when the Committee meets on the 2nd of July. Under these circumstances I have felt it my duty, always contemplating the same course that I have mentioned from the beginning with respect to this charge, neither travelling to the right nor left in the discussion of this subject, indulging in no oratorical flourishes, confining myself simply to a statement of what appeared to me to be the facts bearing upon the investigation, for which, to a certain extent, I am responsible, I have felt it my duty now to ask the House that such steps will be taken as will secure this important evidence before it goes beyond the reach of the Committee. I feel that if the Committee were to reconvene I could prove to their satisfaction that the peril which I speak of is extant. It has been urged against me that I have obstructed the business of the House in making this charge upon the Government upon my own unsupported statement. Of course I was under the impression, and the result showed I was right, that the statement of a member from his place in the House was, perhaps, sufficient ground for an investigation; but it was urged against me by the leader of the Government the other day, and by the Government press generally, that the unsupported statement was not sufficient. I do not propose in submitting the motion which I will place in your hands, to ask the House to adopt it entirely upon the unsupported statement of a member in his place. Of course it must be manifest that I cannot have in my possession the original documents to which I refer, but at the same time I propose, not with a view of establishing the allegations I have made in regard to this very grave matter, but merely for the purpose of giving a sufficient reason for my motion, to read some memoranda I have here which bear upon this important subject, which, if I had these documents in my possession, I would be able to establish. Among these, for example, is a letter from Sir Hugh Allan, addressed to a distinguished gentleman, whose name I do not give here, but which I am quite prepared to give to the Committee, and the following extracts will be found, according to my belief, and as I expect to be able to prove, to be contained in the original letter of Sir Hugh Allan. The letter is dated 1st of July, 1872, and the extracts I will read are as follows:—"The negotiations relating to the Canadian Pacific Railway are now approaching a termination, and I have no reason to doubt that they will be favourable to us. I have been given to understand by Mr ——"—I do not wish there to be any misconception about the blank, I am quite prepared to furnish the name to the Committee—

The Speaker took objection to the course pursued by Mr. Huntington, but after some discussion he was allowed to proceed.

Hon. Mr. Huntington said he did not know that the Chairman of the Committee had any better right than he had to proceed in this matter. Mr. Speaker might with equal propriety object to the Chairman making the motion, as he did now. He was prepared to prove that important documents were imperilled, and he asked for protection in the ordinary parliamentary way of moving instruction to the Committee. The leader of the Government had complained that he did not go before the Committee with affidavits in support of his charge, and to meet that objection, he now came here with incontrovertible evidence that there was important evidence in peril, and asked that that evidence be secured. That was the head and front of his offending. He wished to make this application in the most courteous manner to every one. He did so with the earnest desire to fulfil his duty, and with a full sense of the responsibility resting on him.

Sir John A. Macdonald complained that this had been referred to a select Committee, but he agreed to have papers impounded.

Hon. Mr. Huntington continued. He said the remarks of the leader of the Government had placed him in a different position from that in which he expected to be placed. The hon. gentleman, though complaining that he had not fortified his charges with some proof, yet was willing now to give his statement sufficient credence to grant his motion without further evidence, but the hon. gentleman would excuse him if he preferred to follow the advice of the gentlemen who had believed in the honesty of his purpose, and their opinions would have great weight with him. The Speaker had referred to the procedure in a Court of Justice. He would ask the House to look at the matter in this way. Suppose that an advocate in Court wished to make a motion, would he not support his motion by affidavits, and would that not be a proper course? This was a parallel case to his. He was about to make a motion, and he did not wish to go any further than necessary to establish the ground for it. The leader of the Government had attacked his social position and had declared that he was entitled to no credence but that parliamentary credence to which he was entitled by the rules of the House, and the supporters of the hon. gentleman listened to all this and cheered on the attack upon his private character. In view of these facts, the hon. gentleman would excuse him if he, while he entertained the highest respect for the House as an institution of the country, was not prepared to take advice of the hon. gentleman who had attacked him in so malignant and wanton a manner. He therefore proposed to proceed with the reading of the evidence, upon which he asked the House to sustain his motion.

Sir John Macdonald said he rose to object. (Ironical cheers.) This case had been submitted to Committee, and this evidence should only be produced before the Committee. It was unjust that the Government should be put upon their trial here and afterwards before the Committee. They could not have two tribunals and the House had decided what that tribunal should be. He moved that the House do proceed to the orders of the day.

Mr. Mackenzie—What is the question of order? The hon. gentleman has moved that the House proceed to the orders of the day.

Hon. Mr. Huntington—I proceed to ask all this discouragement to the discharge of my duty.

Mr. Speaker—The question of order has been raised. The hon. leader of the Government corrects his position and now raises a question of order.

Mr. Cameron did not see how there could be any question of order. The hon. member for Shefford wished to make the motion and to establish it by reading certain documents.

Mr. Speaker—The question of order is this—and certainly on the spur of the moment I did not proceed to decide—whether a member on rising to make a motion is to be permitted to read letters which he has not sworn to and support that motion, and which, if already formed a subject on which this House has on a previous occasion passed by referring it to a Select Committee, and this is bringing into the discussion of the House evidence that must go before that Committee. I do think that upon the point of order, as well as upon the strong injustice of the case, I must rule that the hon. member cannot read these papers.

Hon. Mr. Huntington—I have already stated the circumstances which made it necessary that I should take the course I am taking, and the House and country will begin to see that the marshalling of the evidence in the case is attended with some embarrassment. I have already stated that I felt it to be my duty to ask the House to instruct the Committee to take possession of these papers. I would have been pleased if I had an opportunity of proving my case, and I wish to lay the matter before you as it appears to me. Supposing for a moment it were possible that a great public wrong had been done to this country; suppose that the Government of this country make a corrupt bargain with certain railway contractors for the purpose of obtaining money to carry on the elections, that would be a serious charge. The right hon. gentleman at the head of the Government admitted that to would be a very serious charge. Supposing these facts came to the knowledge of some one who had the misfortune of being a citizen of the country so corruptly governed, would it be his duty under such circumstances to come before the House and make the grave statement that he believed that these things had been done, and would it be his duty to undertake to prove it? If this individual, whoever he might be, had the Government, and the Canada Pacific Railway Company, and the Northern Pacific Company, and and a large number of powerful and wealthy men endeavouring to thwart his efforts, you will understand at once that he would be working under a great disadvantage. How if it would be the duty of this man to bring forward this charge, if his duty as a public man and a citizen imposed this upon him, it might also be his duty to submit in silence to the abuse and destruction which would be naturally inspired against him by those affected by his charge; but what would be the duty of the country and of this House? Would it not be to afford such facilities as would enable the individual to carry his charge to an issue, either to prove it or to have its falsity established as soon as possible? That is all I ask from the House. I do not ask for any favours. I am ready for the expulsion which was threatened the other day. I believed then, and I believe now, that if the House had acted logically on the 2nd of April, they ought to have expelled me from the House, having voted that my charges should not be investigated, and it was only cowardice on the part of the Government that they did not follow the action to its logical conclusion. When I rose I did not suppose I was committing any grave offence. I rose to make a motion, and I think the evidence upon which that motion was made might properly be read. The little experience I have had at the Bar led me to believe that it was quite proper to follow up a motion by evidence bearing upon it, which the House knew nothing of. While I am not permitted to read it, I yet state that, I do not propose to receive instructions from the gentlemen in the House who I know are entirely inimical to the enquiry which it has become my duty to prosecute, and which with all the disadvantages which I may labour under, I trust I may have strength to push on to the end, and only bow to your decision, not to read these letters. But while I respect the Parliamentary authority of your position, I cannot, at the same time, accept the motion even of so illustrious an officer as yourself that it would be unwise and unfair and improper to read these papers on the ground of public policy. On the contrary, I think, on the ground of public policy. On the contrary, I think, on the ground of public policy it is well the people were assured that there was something to these charges. We have allowed all the fulminating to be done on the other side. It is quite true that these charges have been sent to a Committee, but it is equally true that I have to come before this House and make a motion that there should be certain instructions to the Committee. Had I been permitted to read these letters, they would have established that Sir Hugh Allan represented in these letters that he he made a bargain with the Government, not without expense, according to the terms of his own letters, for certain considerations, and although the Government had been standing back a good while, they finally came down and signed the agreement. They would have established that he has paid at one time $100,000, at another time $200,000, at another time $300,000, and finally it made a claim for $360,000, for which he counted to be reimbursed. There might not be a word of truth in all this (Ministerial cheers), but if I chose to do it, I could submit to the hon. gentleman a statement that would be even still more startling, but I do not propose to go further than to state the facts which I feel it my duty to establish. There are a good many things in these letters that would be very amusing. They state the manner in which Sir Hugh Allan manipulated the press of Lower Canada, the skill with which he dealt with the priests and certain young lawyers, and how he took stock on certain newspapers. These things are all detailed in these letters. The hon. gentleman, having dealt with me as he has done, has no right to ask my forbearance. I am to submit to be called a man without veracity; I am to submit to the abuse of the Ministerial press, taking their cue from the leader of the Government; I am to be represented as a ruffian and everything that is bad—I am to submit to all that for two, three or four months. I would like to know how many men believe that the Government would allow this investigation to go on at all if they could prevent it. Look at the course of the Government from the first. The leader of the Government at first appeared to be very anxious to push on the enquiry. He would have a Royal Commission appointed in case the Committee could not get their work before the session closed; but when the hon. gentleman saw himself confronted with the witness box, and when one of the first questions that might have been asked him might be whether he had knowledge of these letters, then the hon. gentleman found it necessary to cry out for relief, and ask that Sir Hugh Allen might be put in the box. I want to put Sir Hugh Allan in the box, and question him respecting the statements which he made to his associates when he was, day after day, carrying on negotiations with the gentlemen opposite as to the terms upon which the Pacific charter would be granted to him and his associates, and now the hon. gentlemen will not even allow the evidence of himself and his own colleagues to be taken, and the House granted the delay he asked for. I have only to say that I believe it was unfair to me, and I am now showing the perils which I predicted would follow. I do not propose to go further into this question now. I do not propose even to take upon myself the trouble to reply to that very curious, I may say very brilliant and very logical, speech of the right hon. gentleman. I did not answer it at the time because I did not think it proper to deal with the subject in the spirit he had dealt with it, and because I knew the dangerous character of the stag at bay, but I knew equally well that the stag was at bay. From the information that I have to day I am not surprised that the hon. gentleman is anxious that the evidence should not go to the country. I move, "That Mr. Huntington, having stated in his place that he has been credibly informed and believes that original documents of the greatest importance in the investigation of the charges referred to the Committee empowered to enquire into the Pacific Railway negotiations are held by a trustee, whose name he is prepared to disclose to the Committee, on such conditions and under such circumstances that there is very great danger that they may be placed beyond the reach of the Committee before the 2nd of July next, the day to which the Committee has been adjourned, it is ordered that the Committee do assemble to-morrow at 11 o'clock, and it forwith summons the said trustee to appear and produce before them, at an early day, not later than Monday next, all documents in his possession relating to such enquiry, or that may have been placed in his hands by any of the parties named in Mr. Huntington's statements, submitted to the House on the 2nd of April last."

The motion was then carried.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have witnessed the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

August 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic woman, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. PETER HAMILTON.

Peterborough, December 6th, 1872. 48-tf.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy so found for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir, is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly seventy years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this balm is recommended, are [illegible] Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Chilblains, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Bruises, Poor Healing Sore, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, Ringworm, Scald Head, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Cuts, Broilers, Corns, Frostbites, Blisters, Sore Nipples, Chafings, Scalds, Itch, Scald Head, Tettering, Chapped Hands, Cuts, Broilers, Corns, Crusted Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In severe cases it has cured painful limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a remedy. Many thousand dollars have been collected from [illegible] have been relieved by a few applications. For Ringworm it never obtains this desire, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best doctors ever invented the Scrofula Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore as Wood Piles—Rub it on the part gently, once or twice a day. Cannot dominate by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Piles this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this cure like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable ornament for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and cleanses from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you considered to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has spent several sayings that healed his leg as that Salve of yours and we have both found it to be all, and more than recommended to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and keep used it for everything, and can truly say the Salve never failed to cure. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Salve for Salve on his leg for thirty years, and would not be without it for Salve. It keeps it healthy, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that your Salve is not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and [illegible] a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (exactly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE is SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

For sale by Dr. Taylor, and Messrs Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Here the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptive or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minor illnesses for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Needless Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know what it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounder. We have thought upon these merits of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but many cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any one. Their sugar coating preserves them perfectly sound and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by purifying the blood and stimulating into healthy action the vital powers of the system, thereby expelling disease. Minute directions are given in our Almanac for the following complaints, which these Pills speedily cure: For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, or Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Biliousness, Bilious Remittents, Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Colic, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Headache, arising from a disordered stomach, Costiveness or Constipation, Flatulency, Blotches, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scaldhead, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scrofula or King's Evil, Dropsy, Dropsical Swellings, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia or Tic Doloureux, Syphilis or Venereal Disease, Mercurial Disease, Female Complaints, Uterine Obstructions or Irregularities, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, Barrenness, Impotency, Sexual Debility, Involuntary Discharges, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Hysterics, Hypochondria or Blue Devils, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Paralysis or Palsy, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Epilepsy or Fits, Worms, Tumors, Cancers, Ulcers, Scurvy, Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Skin, Bones, Muscles, Nerves, Womb, Rupture, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs and Joints, Liver Complaint, Dumbness, Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chills and Fever, Typhoid Fever, Scarlet Fever, Yellow Fever, Measles, Whooping Cough, Croup, Influenza, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflammation, Weakness, Debility, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Head, Tic Doloureux, Deafness, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia

LAMARSH, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such unprecedented success, and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are fitted in connection with the Optician's Eye Chart.
2nd. Because they will accurately adjust themselves to the eye, and will be found to perform EVERY night on the Optical plan.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced. A PERFECT VISION, and nothing less, is guaranteed by the use of these Glasses, they being ground from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Select Poetry.

The Christian Cavalier.

Where canvass my coward hand bore;
Only a sha-wolf's scalp
Thus hangs at my saddle-bow,
Like mementoes of the luke,
One, two, three, four—all dead—
The white man may drive his stake.

No need to bury her babe,
Tear it into the flame!
A child shall not live to beast
That he have the Medoc mane.
The stars in our flag are white,
And only the white perish—
Brave with the spawn of Antichrist,
We Christians are the elect.

The Bible? Pshaw! Sunday talk,
The chaplain preaches—we fight,
Neither soldier nor elk now turns
A cheek to the foe who smites.
Have I a babe and a mother?
Yes, but they're white, and then
This is the scalp of a wolf,
Whose club might have murdered mine.

Choice Literature.

Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis.

A physician writes thus to the Traveller: Cerebrum is the lower and back portion of the brain; spinal, relating to the spinal column: meninges, the investing membranes of the brain and spinal cord; meningitis, the inflammation of those parts; cerebro-spinal meningitis, inflammation of the membranes of the brain and spinal cord combined. This disease has appeared as an epidemic various times during the past half century. At each time it has appeared under a different name, but is essentially the same disease. Years ago it was known as typhus fever, at a more recent date as spotted fever, and at present is known as cerebo-spinal meningitis. Dr. Bennett, of Edinburgh who has probably had more experience in this disease than any other physician either in Europe or America, pronounces them all the same disease. It usually runs three weeks, but often proves fatal from twelve to forty-eight hours from the intense shock received by the system in the first attack. Many, however, rally from the first attack and die after two or three weeks of tedious convalescence. In describing the symptoms of a disease, no strict rule can be applied, as no two cases of the same disease are exactly alike. In many persons the more characteristic symptoms are wholly wanting, so as to render it difficult to recognize the disease. Still, to the experienced physician, the general features will enable him to decide the nature of the case in hand. First, the patient has a general feeling of languor, accompanied with cold chills, soon followed by heat and severe pain in the head, usually though not always, in the back of the head and other parts of the body. Backache sometimes sickness and vomiting, followed in a few hours by partial or entire unconsciousness, the bowels are usually constipated, pulse very rapid, often weak and fluttering, tongue dry and hard. In cases where all these symptoms are present, the disease is readily recognized, but in many of the more prominent symptoms are entirely absent, making a diagnosis difficult and uncertain when first seen, but in a short time the disease will develop so as not to be misunderstood. As to the manner of treatment of the disease very little can be said in a newspaper article, the disease being of such a violent character that no one but a physician would think of treating a case. Again, no two patients can be treated exactly alike, for what is one's food is another's poison. The first indications are to quiet pain and keep up the strength of the patient, and thus enable him to rally from the first shock. If the pulse is weak and fluttering, stimulants should be given in quantities sufficient to obtain the result for which they are used. Opiates should be given to quiet pain. Secondly, every effort should be made to draw the irritation from the brain and spinal cord, such as the application of mustard plasters upon the back of the neck, and all along the spinal cord to the bottoms of the feet, calves of the legs, &c. If the patient rallies from the first shock, the treatment should go on, as in ordinary cases of fever, always remembering that the main object is to keep up the strength of the patient until the disease has run itself out, hoping that the constitution of the patient, together with what little aid you may render him, will enable him to recover from the effects. Can the disease be prevented, is a very important question. Unhappily, but little can be said on this point. The disease often seizes the most robust, and heretofore healthy, whom we suppose the least likely to contract it, and those seemingly the best calculated to survive an attack. A general temperate life, avoiding all excesses, unnecessary exposure, and, above all, borrowing no trouble in regard to danger of taking it, for the mind having great influence over the body, has much to do with warding off any disease.

Queer Sayings.

The Hindoos are said to have no word for a "friend." The Italians have no equivalent for our "humility." The Russian dictionary gives a word the definition of which is "not to have enough buttons on your footman's waistcoat;" a second means to "kill over again;" a third, "to earn by dancing," while the word "knout," which we have long learned to consider an exclusively Russian in meaning and application, proves upon investigation to be their word "knut." The Germans call a thimble a "finger hat," which it certainly is, and a grasshopper a "hayhorse." A glove with them is a "hayhorse," showing that there were those before gloves. Poultry is "feather cattle," while the names for the ugly thieves subsistence, "oxygen and hydrogen" are, in their language, "sour stuff and air!" "water stuff." The Russian, strange to say, have no verb "to attend," and can a Frenchman speak of "attending any one." The nearest approach he has is "to pay attention, makest to it to" "give a blow with his foot," the sense being probably to the recipient, in either case, but it seems to want the directness, the energy of our "kick." Neither has he any word for "baby" nor for home" nor "comfort." The terms "up stairs" and "down stairs" are also unknown in French.

Young man, fight your own battles Hoe your own row. Ask no favors of any one, and you will succeed a thousand times better than those who are always beseeching some ones patronage. No one will help you as well as you can help yourself, because no one will be so heartily interested in your affairs. The first step will not be such a long one, perhaps, but, carving your way up the mountain, you make each one lead to another, and stand firm in that while you chop out still another. Men who have made their fortunes are not those who had five thousand dollars given them to start with, but started with a wellearned dollar or two. Men who have by their own exertions acquired fame have not been thrust into popularity by puffs, begged or paid for, or given in friendly spirit. They have outstretched their hands and touched the public heart. Men who win love do their own wooing, and I never knew a man to fail so signally as one who had induced his affectionate grandmamma to speak a good word for him. Whether you work for fame, for love, for money, or for anything else, work with your hands, heart and brain. Say "I will!" and some day you will conquer. Never let any man have it to say, "I have dragged you up." Too many friends hurt a man more than none at all.

Let none decry innocent ammusements. They are the means of much real good to the human family. Social merry makings, not intrinsically sinful, are good and healthful indeed. Let the laugh and innocent joke, the song, the tale, go round, for blessings follow in their wake. Many have naturally cravings for excitement, which, if not satisfied in the manner referred to, will lead their subject to scenes of sensuality, from which only wretchedness can flow. The producers of innocent amusements and recreation for the people are then benefactors of their fellowmen.

"Episcopalians."

"Are there any Episcopalians in this vicinity, madam!" asked a tall, thin stranger of Mrs. Artemus, as she stood in the open door, in answer to his knock."

"Any which?"

"Episcopalians."

Now, if Mrs Artemus had a failing, it was because she never would admit that she could possibly be ignorant of anything. She always knew about any subject mentioned.

So she answered:

"Episcopalians! Wall we don't exactly know My John—he's my son—he seed somethin' out in the cornfield yesterday. He didn't really know what it was, but I told him I guessed it was a chipmunk. But now you speak on't I'll bet it was an Episkerpalium. And my next neighbor, Farmer Hawkins, he said he shot at somethin' that same day that John seen this strange critter, and farmer Hawkins he thought it was some wild critter that had got out of some manageric somewhere, any how I think that's an Episcopaleng, too. Be they bigger'n a chipmunk?"

"You misunderstand me, madam."

"Wall, you needn't feel uneasy. Ef ther's any Piscompalums in this here neighboorhood, you can just make up your mind that they'll git shot! We are too feelin' a community to let things run at large which most destroy and devour somebody. Come in won't ye?"

The Hair of the Head

A blond belle has about one hundred and forty thousand filaments to comb and brush, while the red-haired damsel has to be satisfied with eighty-eight thousand; the brown haired damsel may have one hundred and nine thousand, the black-haired but one hundred and two thousand. Few ladies consider that they carry some forty or fifty miles of hair on their heads; the fair-haired may have to dress seventy miles of threads of gold every morning. A German experimentalist has proved that a single hair will suspend four ounces without breaking, stretching under the process and contracting again. But the hair thus heavily weighted must be dark brown, for the blonde breaks down under two and a half ounces.

The Rumored Marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh

A correspondent of a London paper writing from Kief on the seventh instant says:—

"It is stated that the only daughter of the Emperor of Russia is to marry the Duke of Edinburgh, and that they are to live ot least half the time in Russia, and have one of the new houses in the quay, in front of the Admiralty, of St. Peterburg. The bride's fortune is to be a million of roubles. One of the chief causes of delay in the arrangement of the match has it is said, been the wish of both parties to stipulate for living the greater part of the year in England or Russia respectively. Hence the compromise of dividing the time equally between the two. A question of precedence in England is said to have contributed to the delay."

ENGLAND'S "HEARTS OF OAK."—In 1810, says the Antiquary, an oak was felled near Newport, in Monmouthshire, measuring 23½ feet in circumference. It was supposed to be 400 years old, from the number of rings in the grain; and it was stated at the time that the time the timber sold for £670 and the bark for £200. The Parliament Oak in Chipstone Park is, according to tradition, an under which Edward I. held a Parliament, and is supposed to be 1,000 years old. At Welbeck Abbey an oak called "The Duke's Walking stick," is 112 feet high. The "Shropshire Oak" covers a space of 700 square yards, and has a branch stand one thousand men. The "Seven Sisters" are 100 feet in height. There are plenty others.
Sir William Abbey, the present owner of Hatfield Chase, in Yorkshire, is said to be in England to-day the largest landowner in England. He possesses 70,000 acres, and his estate extends for twenty miles in a straight line. He is a bachelor, and his heir presumptive is a little boy of six or seven years of age.

An old sailor, visiting his son-in-law, a farmer, was asked to take a ride in the country. He accepted the invitation, and found himself in a buggy with a pair of horses and a load of hay behind. He had not gone far when he exclaimed, "Why, you have got a load of grass behind!" "Yes," replied the farmer, "that is for the cows." "Cows!" exclaimed the old man, "I thought you had only two horses."

Conquering Canada Thistles.

My neighbour M. owns an excellent farm, in which he takes great pride, seldom ever failing to raise good crops of whatever he plants: doing a hearty share of the work himself, and thoroughly superintending all, there are very few things but what are kept in trim order, and we call his the best farm in the district. But the best regulated machinery will go wrong sometimes; a screw gets lose, a cog breaks, or a belt flies and causes temporary derangement. So an atom deranged the usually moving machinery of Mr. M's farm. In passing over one of his outlying pasture-fields one day, he came across a few curious looking thistles. Now M. is a man of good intelligence and fair education but a knowledge of the science of botany was not among his sporting attainments, so he did not suspect the real nature of his newly found pests, but like a careful husbandman had them grubed up immediatly. Chancing around that way sometime later, he was surprised to find these thriving wonderfully and extending their area on all sides. This was attended to by another course of grubbing out, which however, failed, as the first had done, to more than temporarily arrest their progress, for a week or so found them more thrifty than ever. So the war went on for two seasons, till the patch from the space of a few yards, had extended over somewhere about the fifth of an acre. Meanwhile Mr. M. had found out the true nature of this trouble from a visitor from a region where Canada thistle abound; and thoroughly alarmed, had redoubled his efforts to exterminate them, trying various suggestions from different sources, all to no purpose. On a part of the patch salt was spread at the rate of over three hundred bushels to the acre. This, while completely destroying all other vegetation seemed to scarcely affect the thistles at all. Grubbing them out became a hopeless task, so mowing them off was resorted to keep them from going to seed, till some means for their destruction could be found, and so thickly had they occupied the ground and so rank was their growth in the rich, deep soil, that great swaths were rolled up in mowing like winrows.

Finally it was suggested that if

KINNEY'S

PATENT COULTER

ATTACHMENT.

PATENTED June 17th, 1873.

By its use your Plow will NEVER CLOG.

This Attachment can be fastened to any Plow without the slightest trouble, and will effectually prevent grass, weeds or stubble from gathering under the beam and choking up the coulter. Many effectual attempts have been made by Plow manufactures to remedy the evils which this overcomes: Farmers acknowledge that it saves its cost every day in dirty ground. For sale only by

A Secret Worth Knowing.

Every number of Peters' Musical Monthly contains from eight to ten pieces of choice New Music, worth at least $4 in sheet-form, and all the Publisher asks is 30 cents per number. Think of it! Four or five Songs, Vocal Duets, Four-Hand Pieces, and four Piano Pieces for 30 cts.

No musical family can afford to be without this valuable magazine. Our advice is, to subscribe, sing, play, and be happy. The May number is just to hand; you can get it by sending 30 cents to J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, New-York, or the first four numbers of 1873 will be mailed for $1.

THE COMMISSION.

Proceedings in the Cluxton fraud commenced on Tuesday in the Court House, before Judge Dennistoun as Commissioner.

Mr. Bertram appeared in person assisted by Mr. Dumble.

Mr. Cluxton appeared in the person of Mr J. F. Dennistoun, assisted by Mr. Carnegie, who takes a deep interest in the perpetuation of the "Fraud."

Papers were put in, and on behalf of Mr. Cluxton it was admitted Mr. Trennum's title to the land in question from Mrs. Gilmour, was good.

It was also admitted that Mr. John Bertram, the petitioner, was a voter, his name appearing on the Assessment Roll and voters' lists in consequence of having been regularly assessed for property in the West Riding of Peterboro of sufficient value to entitle him to vote.

It was then proposed to take the evidence of Mr. Bertram, but Mr. Dennistoun objected, as he understood the Committee at Ottawa had refused his evidence. The Judge agreed to take it, under protest, as he considered he was bound to take what evidence the Committee would, and nothing more.

Mr. Bertram was then sworn, and questioned as follows:

Q—What property did you own prior to the election held at Peterboro on the 20th of August last, for a member to represent the West Riding in the Dominion Parliament? A—S part lot No. 11 in the first con. of Smith, containing between 50 and 59 acres.

The deed was produced from Mrs. Gilmour to Mr. Trennum and one from Mr. Trennum and wife to Mr. Bertram.

Q—From whom did you buy it? A—From Wm Trennum.

Q—When? A—The deed is dated August 5th, 1872.

Q—What did you pay for it? A—$3,600.

Q—When did you pay for it? A—either on the 5th or 6th August, 1872.

Q—How did you pay for it? A—I paid to Wm Hall a mortgage held by him on the property $2,062.62 and handed to Mr. Poussette for Mr. Trennum my note payable to order of Bertram, Bros. of Lindsay for $1,437.38; the note was endorsed by Bertram, Bros. and I paid it when due.

Cheque produced by which it was paid.

Q—Was the price paid by you a fair price therefore? A—Yes.

Q—Was your purchase of that property a bona fide purchase? A—Yes.

Q—When was your deed Registered? A—On the 6th day of August

Q—Was there any demand made upon you on the hustings on the 10th day of August last by the Returning Officer or by any elector for your qualification? A—No.

Q—Did the Returning Officer speak to you at all? A—No.

Q—Was there at any time that day anything said by you to the Returning Officer concerning your qualifications? A—When we left the hustings, I was walking with the Returning Officer and Mr. Dumble, and addressing the Returning Officer I said, as near as I can remember, "When does the declaration of qualfication require to be put in any way?" He answered, before the close of the election. Mr. Dumble turned round sharp and said, we'll give you no declaration of qualification, you never demanded it. The Returning Officer did not answer at all.

Q—Will you state why you bought the Trennum property? A—my main reason for buying it was that I expected my father here this summer, and I intended that he should live on it.

Q—What is that property worth? (objected to.) A—$4,000.

Q—How far is it from Peterboro'? A—The width of one lot from the boundary of the Corporation.

Q—Had you previous to the 5th day of August last, been in communication with Mr. Trennum about the Property? A—Yes.

Q—Did you ever make him any other offer than the one you finally closed down on? A—I offered my cheque for it for $3,500.

Q—Who had the majority of votes at the election? (objected to) A—I had.

Q—What was your majority? (objected to) A—40.

Q—Did Mr. Cluxton, after the election congratulate you on your victory? A—Yes.

Q—Did you sit on the same side of the hustings as Mr. Claxton? A—No.

Mr Dumble suggested that as it was intended perhaps to call Mr. Bertram again. No more questions would be put to him for the present.

Mr. J. F. Dennistoun consulted Mr. Carnegie, when both retired to prepare questions to put to Mr. Bertram and on returning the following questions were submitted.

Q—Was the deed from Trennum executed on the day of its date? A—I received it on the 6th of August executed

Q—Explain the discrepancy between the considerations contained in the deed and your statement that you gave $3,600 for it? A—I agreed in consideration of $100 to give Mr. Trennum the crop of clover then sowed.

Q—When did you get possession of the premises? A—On the 6th of August, 1872.

Q—After date of sale under whom was Trennum holding? A—Under me.

Q—Did you cause an investigation of the title to be made before you paid the money? A—Yes.

Q—What solicitor acted in the matter? A—I instructed Messrs. Boultbee and Fairbairn.

Q—Was the land clear of incumbrance except Hall's morigage? A—So I was advised.

Q—Who advised you there was no incumbrance? A—Mr. Poussette acting for Boultbee & Fairbairn.

Q—When did you first accept the nomination of the Reform party as a candidate for the last election for the House of Commons, and announce yourself as such candidate? A—I think in July.

Q—At the time of such acceptance and announcement were you the owner of any real estate in Canada? A—No not individually but I think the Bertram Bros. Lindsay, are interested in lands in Lindsay, and I as a partner of the firm would thus be interested in these lands.

Q—Was your transaction with Trennum the first occasion on which you became interested as a freeholder in lands in Canada? A—No.

Q—Has your father yet arrived in Canada, if not where is he? A—He is to sail from Glasgow to-day.

Q—Was there any occasion on the 6th of August, 1872 for your completing the purchase with Trennum on behalf of your father, or was it not for the further purpose of enabling you to qualify? (objected.) A—No absolute necessity for closing the purchase on 5th of August. I had been negotiating for the property for 6 or 8 months. I could not have qualified as a candidate without the property.

Q—Was the property when bought at your father's instance, or had you an understanding that if the property did not suit your father Trennum would accept reconveyance? A—None whatever.

Q—Was not the mortgage which you paid to Wm Hall so paid for the purpose of removing the encumbrance from the property to enable you to qualify upon it? A—I paid the mortgage as part of the purchase money.

Q—Would it not have been more profitable to have paid off the mortgage by instalments with interest at six per cent chargeable to the face of it than paying it as you did in cash before it was due? A—I did not ask or know what interest the mortgage would bear nor whether it had a day or a year to run.

Q—When was the note given by you to Trennum for the balance of the purchase money actually paid and retired? A—It was presented to the Bank of Commerce the day it was due, 6th of April, and paid by them on that day and charged to my account in the ordinary way.

Q—Did Mr. Hall who held the mortgage take any part whatever in completing the arrangement, and was not Mr. Hall one of your warmest supporters and a member of your committee for advancing your election? A—Mr. Hall took no part in the negotiation to my knowledge. He was not one of my warmest supporters. I never saw him in my committee rooms but I think he was a member of my committee, I am not absolutely certain of this.

Q—Had your committee to aid and assist you in your election campaign? A—Yes.

Q—Who was the chairman and who the principal members of it? A—Mr. Dumble was chairman. T. Lannin, Geo. Edmison, G. T. Leonard, J. Moloney, Wm Tierney, besides others I do not now remember.

Q—Did you all act for the good of the common cause? A—I think so.

Q—How were money used by them for the election purpose and did you contribute, before, during or since the election? (objected to as not a proper question.) A—I contributed nothing before or during the election, until the election was over, when for hiring teams to go to canvass printing, &c. I paid $600. I know nothing of money paid except what I paid.

Q—Was not a part of the understanding with Trennum on the 6th of August 1872, that he was to get a lien on the property? A—No before the deed was executed by Trennum, the barn was partly framed, I pointed out to him on the ground where to erect it.

Q—What condition was the barn in on the 10th of August, 1872, was it not after this date it was erected and completed. Was not the material on the ground then merely in a condition for raising. A—I dont know exactly. I dont know date of raising. The material was on the ground the latter end of July or beginning of August.

Q—When you say when the barn was completed. A—No.

Q—Has it been completed? A—Yes.

Q—Can you say you got possession on 6th of August, 1872 what do you mean. Was there any visible change of occupation, and does not Trennum continue to occupy the same now, and is he not to reap this years crop? A—I consider I got possession of the land when I paid the money. There was no visible change in the occupation that I know of. Trennum is not the occupant further than for the consideration of $100, I gave him the clover crop. I look after the fences. He is to reap this years crop. Mr. Trennum wanted to buy cedar but it would not sell.

Q—When was bargain made to give Trennum the clover crop this year, was it since Trennum was examined as a witness at Ottawa? A—The bargain was made before Mr. Trennum executed the deed.

Q—Was the understanding made when the deed was concluded that Trennum was to give $100 for this years crop or was some additional understanding been arrived at since then? A—No additional understanding whatever. The $100 was kept back out of the purchase money. The place was worth $3600, I gave $3,500.

On the day of Nomination was demands made on you for your qualification. Did you hear anything whatever in reference to qualification by the Returning Officer or by any elector? A—I saw the returning Officer go to Mr. Cluxton and ask what I indistinctly heard and understood to be a demand for his qualification.

Q—What distance from you was Mr. Cluxton at the time you speak of? A—The width of the hustings, we sat on opposite sides.

Q—Was it at that time Mr. Dumble asked the Returning Officer who demanded the qualification? A—I did not hear Mr. Dumble make any such demand.

Q—Did you hear any remark made by Mr. Dumble at that time as to the course of the Returning Officer, and so what was it? A—So far as I could understand the matter Mr. Cluxton had not his declaration ready, Mr. D. stated they need not get into a flutter about it, that it was time enough to put in the declaration before the close of the Election. He took the Returning Officer's Law book from him and read the law to him.

Q—Had you at that time a declaration ready to hand to the Returning Officer if demanded? A—No.

Q—Did Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Dumble at that time have some words about the matter? A—I am not certain of the purport of the words, they were on opposite side of the hustings. They had some words.

Q—Did not Mr. Dumble say to or of the Returning Officer, that he did not know his business, for words to that effect at that time? A—I think he did.

Q—Did not Mr. Carnegie say that Mr. Cluxton would at once file his declaration and that you or Mr. Dumble might pursue what course you liked as to filing yours, that matters would be fought out afterwards or words to that effect. A—Mr. Carnegie did not address me and I only heard a word here and there of what he said. I said we will file our declaration now, you can do as you like. As a matter of fact the declaration of Mr. Cluxton was not filed then as I saw.

Q—Where was Mr. Carnegie standing at this time and was it in the centre, and was he not facing you and Mr. Dumble. A—I dont remember which way he was looking.

Q—Were you and Mr. Dumble standing together at the time? A—I was sitting, to the best of my recollection, on the side where the Hustings broke down. I dont think that we were near each other at the time.

Q—What was the size of Hustings? was the whole thing more than 13 feet square? A—My recollection is that it was more than that, longer one way than the other.

Q—Did you state to the Returning Officer on the nomination day as you left the hustings, that you would file your declaration of qualification on Monday, or to that effect? A—I did not, but I did intend to file my declaration of qualification myself.

Q—Did you make such statements so far as you remember to any one else than the Returning Officer? And do you not remember saying at the same time if Monday would do? A—I think I did not speak to any one else. Did not ask him if Monday would do.

At the time you filed your declaration with the Returning Officer on the 22nd of August, did you believe it to be in time? A—I made the declaration the 19th of August. Gave it to Mr. Dumble. I did not at that time know anything about the Law regarding the closing of an election.

Did you make the declaration on the 19th in consequence of anything that took place on the hustings prior to the poll being granted? A—No! as a measure of precaution, I always intended to put it in.

Q—You understood that at that time that unless it had been demanded of you, that a declaration was quite unnecessary, did you not? A—All that I knew about the Law at that time was that a proper qualification was necessary. I intended to file mine; whether I understood the law, I am not certain I think it is likely I knew it was not necessary, but I think I answered that question when I stated that as a measure of precaution I intended to file mine any way.

Q—Why, in your opinion, was it advisable as a measure of precaution to file your declaration of qualification unless there was some doubt as to the sufficiency of the demand without which it was unnecessary? A—There was no doubt in my mind as to there being no necessity but I was afraid that the parties managing Mr. Cluxton's election should play some dodge in the matter.

Q—When Mr. Cluxton was asked for his qualification what did he do or say? A—He stood up, and I think put his hands in his pockets, but I did not hear what he said.

Q—Did the Returning Officer address himself so you sat all before the poll was granted? A—From the time that the Returning Officer addressed Mr. Cluxton to the poll was granted, he did not to my knowledge speak to me at all.

Q—When Mr. Cluxton failed to put in his qualification what did the Returning Officer do? A—He seemed to instruct the Clerk to read the proclamation.

Q—When your qualification was prepared, did Mr. Dumble not advise you not to put in any, on the ground that no demand was made for it? A—He did so advise me, objecting from the time of the nomination.

Q—Was it a matter of joke between you and your supporters that no demand had been made on you because the Returning Officer had failed to get on the hustings Mr. Cluxton's qualification? A—It was.

Q—Have you any interest in a hardware business in Lindsay, and when you left Lindsay for Peterboro what amount of money did you leave in that business? A—I left $5,000 in 1867.

Q—When did you leave Lindsay? A—In November 1867.

Q—Has that business been prosperous? A—Fairly.

Q—Have you a hardware business in the town of Peterboro? A—Yes.

Admitted on behalf of Mr. Cluxton that certificate of filing declaration of qualification as signed by Returning Officer duly signed by him.

Admitted that there are no executions against the property of Mr. Bertram. Also that there are no taxes, nor obligations to the Crown unpaid.

Admitted that the discharge of mortgage from Trennum and wife to Mr. Hall was duly filed in the Registry Office.

Admitted that John Carnegie was a qualified elector, was duly qualified to vote at the last election for the House of Commons.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir.—Do You know the old Nursery rhyme beginning "Bah, bah, black sheep, have you any wool," If he has he needn't try to pull it over our eyes, he and his reviewing friends must think that they have done it most effectually, as they persist in their nonsense about the school. We feel quite sure that the teachers and all interested in the school, invite attention to it, and have been heard expressing regret because of so little interest in their work. The school is the training place for those who, children now, will be the men and women of the place bye and bye, and it ill becomes any one to be lukewarm about its management, and it would ill become the principal or any of the teachers or trustees to make any mystery of the thing, and it would be very bad policy of them to do so. I am sure not one of them wishes it. They would like to see visitors, and would take pleasure in showing their work; but who wants any more of these tirades that appear in the Review. Some people have a rage for being famous, even though it be infamous they like to see their names in print, no matter how black, and sometimes others seeing their weakness work upon it for their own purposes. This working upon weakness may look like a joke, but it is a sad reality. One might think that purposes worked up in that way must collapse sooner or later. Mr. Black is making for himself an unenviable notoriety, if he is doing anything at all. He is really a cat's paw, as "one who weighed both sides" says: Those using him may feed that politics and gas are good lights through which to view schools and school Trustees. That "All the World's a stage" was said long ago and and holds good still—The "drama of life" is a lively figure embracing us all, and our doings, but there are a great many side scenes being wasted all the time, possessing interest or not according to the taste of those who turn aside to see them. Respectable people do not, as a general thing, frequent sideshows, but now and then there is such a a bragging and blowing of trumpets and triumphant air generally about some little tent that one is curious to see what is really going on inside—So it is with the farcical affair which is thrust under our noses (I had almost said noses) week after week, in the Review. Let us see what a help gas is, it makes one see things so distinctly, but this is not much to see, the little plot is so transparent that one soon takes it all in. There is a teacher or two have failed to give satisfaction, and this has been interested to him, but in a most indignified manner he hangs on he, poor fellow, is so blind with conceit that he never can see what these around think of him, that is, unless he submit to some very painful operation, such as cutting out cow-cat is known to be. It should be done by a skilful hand, the patient will suffer less than the one you finally closed down on! A—I offered my cheque for it for $3,500.

Q—Who had the majority of votes at the election? (objected to) A—I had.

Q—What was your majority? (objected to) A—40.

Q—Did Mr. Cluxton, after the election congratulate you on your victory? A—Yes.

Q—Did you sit on the same side of the hustings as Mr. Claxton? A—No.

Mr Dumble suggested that as it was intended perhaps to call Mr. Bertram again. No more questions would be put to him for the present.

Mr. J. F. Dennistoun consulted Mr. Carnegie, when both retired to prepare questions to put to Mr. Bertram and on returning the following questions were submitted.

Q—Was the deed from Trennum executed on the day of its date? A—I received it on the 6th of August executed

Q—Explain the discrepancy between the considerations contained in the deed and your statement that you gave $3,600 for it? A—I agreed in consideration of $100 to give Mr. Trennum the crop of clover then sowed.

Q—When did you get possession of the premises? A—On the 6th of August, 1872.

Q—After date of sale under whom was Trennum holding? A—Under me.

Q—Did you cause an investigation of the title to be made before you paid the money? A—Yes.

Q—What solicitor acted in the matter? A—I instructed Messrs. Boultbee and Fairbairn.

Q—Was the land clear of incumbrance except Hall's morigage? A—So I was advised.

Q—Who advised you there was no incumbrance? A—Mr. Poussette acting for Boultbee & Fairbairn.

Q—When did you first accept the nomination of the Reform party as a candidate for the last election for the House of Commons, and announce yourself as such candidate? A—I think in July.

Q—At the time of such acceptance and announcement were you the owner of any real estate in Canada? A—No not individually but I think the Bertram Bros. Lindsay, are interested in lands in Lindsay, and I as a partner of the firm would thus be interested in these lands.

Q—Was your transaction with Trennum the first occasion on which you became interested as a freeholder in lands in Canada? A—No.

Q—Has your father yet arrived in Canada, if not where is he? A—He is to sail from Glasgow to-day.

Q—Was there any occasion on the 6th of August, 1872 for your completing the purchase with Trennum on behalf of your father, or was it not for the further purpose of enabling you to qualify? (objected.) A—No absolute necessity for closing the purchase on 5th of August. I had been negotiating for the property for 6 or 8 months. I could not have qualified as a candidate without the property.

Q—Was the property when bought at your father's instance, or had you an understanding that if the property did not suit your father Trennum would accept reconveyance? A—None whatever.

Q—Was not the mortgage which you paid to Wm Hall so paid for the purpose of removing the encumbrance from the property to enable you to qualify upon it? A—I paid the mortgage as part of the purchase money.

Q—Would it not have been more profitable to have paid off the mortgage by instalments with interest at six per cent chargeable to the face of it than paying it as you did in cash before it was due? A—I did not ask or know what interest the mortgage would bear nor whether it had a day or a year to run.

Q—When was the note given by you to Trennum for the balance of the purchase money actually paid and retired? A—It was presented to the Bank of Commerce the day it was due, 6th of April, and paid by them on that day and charged to my account in the ordinary way.

Q—Did Mr. Hall who held the mortgage take any part whatever in completing the arrangement, and was not Mr. Hall one of your warmest supporters and a member of your committee for advancing your election? A—Mr. Hall took no part in the negotiation to my knowledge. He was not one of my warmest supporters. I never saw him in my committee rooms but I think he was a member of my committee, I am not absolutely certain of this.

Q—Had your committee to aid and assist you in your election campaign? A—Yes.

Q—Who was the chairman and who the principal members of it? A—Mr. Dumble was chairman. T. Lannin, Geo. Edmison, G. T. Leonard, J. Moloney, Wm Tierney, besides others I do not now remember.

Q—Did you all act for the good of the common cause? A—I think so.

Q—How were money used by them for the election purpose and did you contribute, before, during or since the election? (objected to as not a proper question.) A—I contributed nothing before or during the election, until the election was over, when for hiring teams to go to canvass printing, &c. I paid $600. I know nothing of money paid except what I paid.

Q—Was not a part of the understanding with Trennum on the 6th of August 1872, that he was to get a lien on the property? A—No before the deed was executed by Trennum, the barn was partly framed, I pointed out to him on the ground where to erect it.

Q—What condition was the barn in on the 10th of August, 1872, was it not after this date it was erected and completed. Was not the material on the ground then merely in a condition for raising. A—I dont know exactly. I dont know date of raising. The material was on the ground the latter end of July or beginning of August.

Q—When you say when the barn was completed. A—No.

Q—Has it been completed? A—Yes.

Q—Can you say you got possession on 6th of August, 1872 what do you mean. Was there any visible change of occupation, and does not Trennum continue to occupy the same now, and is he not to reap this years crop? A—I consider I got possession of the land when I paid the money. There was no visible change in the occupation that I know of. Trennum is not the occupant further than for the consideration of $100, I gave him the clover crop. I look after the fences. He is to reap this years crop. Mr. Trennum wanted to buy cedar but it would not sell.

Q—When was bargain made to give Trennum the clover crop this year, was it since Trennum was examined as a witness at Ottawa? A—The bargain was made before Mr. Trennum executed the deed.

Q—Was the understanding made when the deed was concluded that Trennum was to give $100 for this years crop or was some additional understanding been arrived at since then? A—No additional understanding whatever. The $100 was kept back out of the purchase money. The place was worth $3600, I gave $3,500.

On the day of Nomination was demands made on you for your qualification. Did you hear anything whatever in reference to qualification by the Returning Officer or by any elector? A—I saw the returning Officer go to Mr. Cluxton and ask what I indistinctly heard and understood to be a demand for his qualification.

Q—What distance from you was Mr. Cluxton at the time you speak of? A—The width of the hustings, we sat on opposite sides.

Q—Was it at that time Mr. Dumble asked the Returning Officer who demanded the qualification? A—I did not hear Mr. Dumble make any such demand.

Q—Did you hear any remark made by Mr. Dumble at that time as to the course of the Returning Officer, and so what was it? A—So far as I could understand the matter Mr. Cluxton had not his declaration ready, Mr. D. stated they need not get into a flutter about it, that it was time enough to put in the declaration before the close of the Election. He took the Returning Officer's Law book from him and read the law to him.

THE LAST COUNCIL MEETING.

Last week we gave the result of the deliberations of the Council. We regret the only report of those hours of discussion, but this time was taken up in free discussion.

Mr. Boultbee addressed the Council on behalf of Mr. Fairbairn, who was ill at the time. He explained how Mr. Fairbairn had strenuously opposed the legislation in favour of the Victoria Railway, and had done all he could to defeat it, but that the railway influence in the House was too strong, and resulted in the passage of this very doubtful legislation. Mr. Boultbee, of course, cast some of the blame on the Government for not opposing it, but blame might more reasonably be laid on Mr. C. Cameron, in whose motion the reconsideration of the terms was done, and whose duty it was to frame the obnoxious clauses.

It is well known that the bill was prepared by the Member for South Victoria, and was intended to compel the County to pay $80,000 to build a railway for the benefit of Lindsay and Toronto.

The Reeve of Belmont, who opposed the prayer of the petition upon the ground of its illegality, declared himself most opposed to granting a bonus to the head for the Northern people, but he felt if a bonus was given by the County it should be given to some running from the County Town. Those in the interest of the Victoria Co'y had got up a map headed the "Peterborough iniquity," to show that the front part of the County were not dealing fairly with new townships, and Mr. Wood, M. P. P., South Victoria, had made a long speech in which he said that the old townships refused a bonus for a road for the poorer Northern Townships, while the old townships had their roads and also voted to compel the Northern Townships to assist them in building more roads. He showed that this was false, as even now his township was farther from railway communication than the greater portion of the back townships.

The whole Council declared themselves ready to obey the law, but they held that the petition asked too much, and ought not to be complied with. Some of the reasons assigned for not complying with it were: That contrary to the provisions of the Act, "parts of townships" are grouped. That the rate necessary to meet the payment of the $60,000 and interest would be more than 3 cents on the dollar of the property included in the grouped townships, and that no action had been taken by the respective Councils concerned, to warrant the Council to consider that those municipalities "chose" to join together to give a bonus.

Mr. Read, MPP, who addressed the Council also, corroborated the statements of Mr. Boultbee, and expressed himself strongly against the Legislation. The opinions of these gentlemen and the expressed opinion of Mr. Boultbee that the Councils should have taken municipal action to declare their choice led the Council to reject the petition.

The Reeve of Smith was strongly opposed to the principal of the Act and advised disregarding it, if it was held to compel them to endorse the $60,000 of Debentures, but as a whole the members of the Council were inclined to carry out what should be considered legal.

Mr. McDorald felt that the opposition to the petition gave too good reasons for the opinion of Mr. Wood in Parliament, and he urged warmly that the By-law founded on the petition should be submitted, but Messrs. Collins, Golbourne, Blezard, Calcutt, Brown of Asphodel, Choate, and others wished to know why Dysart should seek to tax the other townships without consulting them, and referred to Monmouth as not agreeing to the petition. Mr. Blomfield who was manipulating behind the screen, no doubt desired to get the other townships to assit in building a road for his Company. Since he however, got manœuvered out of the Peterboro and Haliburton Charter he has opposed all action to obtain a road from Peterboro.

The Reeve of Dysart should turn his attention toward the old route by way of Peterboro, as in this way he is more likely to obtain a Railway to his settlement.

THE VICTORIA RAILWAY.

The Canadian Post is some little riled at the action of the County Council in refusing to act illegally to suit the promoters of the Victoria Railway, and the people of Lindsay.

In his anger he writes:

"OUTRAGEOUS OBSTECTIVENESS.

"We learn by telegraph that the Peterboro County Council have refused to submit the By-law desired by the northern townships to give a bonus to the Victoria Railway. More selfish and outrageous conduct has seldom been chronicled. They seem determined at all hazards to obstruct the Victoria Railway, but that project will be carried on, we are authorized to state, despite Peterboro selfishness and obstructiveness."

By all means build the road, and just as soon as possible and let the County of Victoria issue its debentures to aid the road.

As the Cobourg Road will very soon be at Rebeagreen, we believe, and will in all likelihood press on northward, the County of Peterboro will do its duty in encouraging that road in a lawful way.

Mr. Wood, in his wisdom, thought he had worked out his little problem, and that in consequence, this County would be compelled to aid in building a road to Lindsay. He will now be disappointed that the Act is not so stringent as he expected.

The people of Peterboro abide by the laws of the land, but do not feel under any obligation to violate them to aid their sister town or the Railway "rings."

Let Lindsay prosper, but at her own expense.

THE DEBT OF THE DOMINION.

Mr. Cartwright, member for Leeds, in reviewing the Policy of the Government, shows that we are running head long into debt, and squandering our resources at such a rate as to warrant us to fear a crisis in our financial history.

His statement of the debt is:—

Present debt	$82,606,000
Engagements already entered into	60,000,000
Re-adjustment of Provincial debt	14,000,000
Annual subsidy to New Brunswick capitalized	3,000,000
Total	$159,606,000

Our debt is to be increased by these three contemplated items, and if the estimates prove correct, the Finance Minister will have to raise the Public Revenue to the amount of $20,000,000 which is four times the amount of the whole Revenue of the Province of Canada in the year of Confederation.

Lorneville.

The Midland Railway Junction is now called Lorneville.

Knox College Fund.

Already $37,594 has been subscribed to the above fund.

Governor Dix

Of New York vetoed a Prohibitory Liquor Bill because it also prohibited beer and cider.

Oshoconk.

The sale of Mr. Sheddon's Village Lots at Oshoconk, the day he was killed, realized $12,000.

Lieutenant Governor.

There is a rumour that John Carling is to be Lieutenant Governor of Ontario in place of Mr. Howland.

Drowned.

Honore Gagnon, a Frenchman, in the employ of A. M. Campbell & Co., was accidentally drowned at Burnt River last week.

Burnt River.

We learn that there is an immense "jam" of saw logs at Burnt River. Over 100,000 logs are believed to be crowded together in it, besides timber, &c.

Chicago Jubilee.

The Governor-General and all the Lieutenant Governors have been invited as guests of the City of Chicago on the occasion of the approaching Jubilee.

New Brewery.

Mr. H. Calcutt, of Ashburnham, has men at work excavating a cellar for a New Brewery at Lindsay, on a pretty large scale. Beer must "pay."

New School.

The School Trustees are providing plans for a handsome two story school house in the south of the Town, on the Bradshaw lot, at a cost of about $3,000 to $3,500.

Water Tanks.

Now is the time to see after those new water tanks, they were reported leaky last winter, if so, they should be repaired before needed, and who knows how soon that may be!

Rev. Dr. Punshon

Preached his first sermon last Sunday in Canada in the Town of Cobourg. He has left for England. He will be assistant of a deputy candidate for $4,000 before his departure.

There is no doubt in the minds of [illegible] of the guilt of John A. McDonald in respect to the $300,000 of American money obtained and used to bribe the people of the Dominion during the last election Contest.

Even the Mail ceases to plead innocence, and instead tries to cast odium on the man who took copies of the papers before placing them in the hands of Mr. Starnes.

The following report of the scene in the House on the 17th instant, affords the strongest circumstantial evidence of the crime, and guilt of the Premier in the matter:

The Pacific Railway scandal Investigation Committee met this morning at eight o'clock. Present: Mr. J. H. Cameron, chairman, Mr. Dorion, and Mr. Stephens. The motion for the Committee assembling so early was that the chairman was desirous of leaving for Toronto by the morning train. Sir John A. Macdonald, Mr. Huntington, and several other M. P.'s [illegible] sent. Mr. Henry Starnes, banker, of Montreal, attended in obedience to the subpœna of the Committee.

Mr. Starnes was briefly interrogated as to whether he had in his possession certain documents referred to in the resolution of the House of Commons,

Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S

SPECIFIC AND TONIC PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Nervous Debility, Spermatorrhea, Nocturnal Emissions, Weakness of the Generative Organs, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling, Sleeplessness, the effect of over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants and tobacco, &c. Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S Pills are the only effectual ones for the above diseases, and are never known to fail. They have already cured hundreds in this country. Robert Arthur, machinist, Hamilton, testifies to his recovery by their use. Safe, certain, and rapid in action, a short trial will prove their efficacy. No sufferer need despair of being relieved from the frightful effects of SELF-ABUSE. The Specific Pills are sold by Druggists at $1.00 a box, and the Tonic Pills at 50c, a box, or they will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, and securely wrapped from observation, on receipt of $1.00 for the Specific, and 50c. for the Tonic Pills, by

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

August 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With pale, sickly women, of whom we have so many, and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is run remedy.

I am yours truly.

THE REASONS WHY

MORRISON, MORRIS & Co's

celebrated

Perfected Spectacles,

AND EYE GLASSES,

have met with such extraordinary success and can be made to Confound:

1st. Because they are fitted to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will retain sights shewn by the Patentee claimed, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural limits.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced to their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific principles, they must give perfect vision longer by the use of these Spectacles than by any other kind.

After fifteen years experience in manufacturing glasses to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

4th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

5th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable values.

A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

Select Poetry.

A KINDLY CONSIDERATION OF THE FAMOUS TRADES AND CALLINGS.

Of all the trades that men may call
Shoemakers lead off mirative,
Tailors in second all,
His leather lead to nothing high,
His calling's not desirable,
But though the tailor makes his pile
He shows but in poor show then
The public pay till Dooms, sir,
Pull off coat cards, he learns none.

St. Crispin's son—the man of shoes
Has awl things at control sir,
He wears wealthy in his views,
But ne'er neglects his sole sir;
His is indeed a heeling trade,
And when he comes to cutting,
The toe-piece profits he has made,
We find his ends are lasting.

The Tailor too, gives fits to all,
Yet never gets a hasting,
His cabbages, however small,
Are most delicious tasting;
His goose his heated—happy prig!
Unstinted in his measure;
He always plays as thimble-rig,
And seems a man of pleasure.

The farmer reaps a fortune plump,
Tho' harrowed, far from wop, sir,
His spade for ever proves a trump,
His hook is "I've a hoe," sir;
However cursed, he does not slip,
Though husky, never horse, sir,
And in a plow share partnership
He gets his share of course, sir.

The sailor on the giddy mast,
Comparatively master,
Has many a bulwark round him cast,
To wave away disaster.
Even shrouds to him are full of life,
His main stay cat is o'er him,
A gallant mill top gallant crew,
Of "beaux esprits" before him.

The Printer though his case he hard
Yet sticks not at his cap, sir,
The ink to compose the hard,
And trim a Roman cap, sir,
Some go two-forty—what of that!
He goes it by the thousand,
A man of forms and fame of fat,
He loves the song I wis-thand.

The Engine-driver, if we trunk
His outward semblance deeper,
Has got some tender trains—
And ne'er disturbs the sleeper,
And when you switch him on he goes,
He whistles all the lonelier,
And when you break him on the wheels
It only makes him prettier.

The Commission.

MR. JAS. EDWARD'S EVIDENCE.

Where do you reside and what is your occupation? I reside in Monaghan and am Town Clerk of Peterboro.

How long have you resided in Monaghan? Since 1857.

Do you know the property mentioned in the deed from Trennum to Bertram? I do.

Where is it, i.e. how far from your land and residence? On opposite side of the road from my property and about ¼ of a mile from my house

How many acres in it? I have heard there were 56.

What was its value on 5th August last? People differ in their estimation about property. I think it was worth more than Mr. Bertram paid for it.

Has it been improved since Mr. Bertram bought it? It has.

What is the barn worth? I think between $400 and $500.

At what time did you first see the barn erected on the land? I am not positive as to date, but think it was prior to the polling last August. I am almost sure it was.

What was your own land worth per acre on the 5th of August last, apart from the buildings? Something like $160 an acre.

What does Mr. Roger adjoining you hold his land at? He asks $4,000 for the lot south of me containing 20 acres

Have you counted up the votes which appear on the copies of the Poll Book produced for a vote to the Commons? I have counted them up.

How many votes appeared recorded for the candidates? 745 for Bertram, 705 for Clarton.

Is the statement you make as to votes cast for the respective candidates correct? It is quite correct.

Were you Deputy Returning Officer of No. 1 division of the east ward of the town of Peterboro at such election? I was.

Did you hear any statement made or any notice given prior to the polling or on the polling day that John Bertram was in any way disqualified from being elected? None whatever.

How long have you known the land sold by Trennum to Bertram? Over 20 years.

Do you know of any sales of the same land previously made, and if so what were they? I know of its being sold to the late J. W. Gilmour by Mr. Harvey in '57, I think the price was $50 an acre, I understood. Harvey offered it to me for that. Also of the sale from Mrs. Gilmour to Trennum about two years ago. I understood he was to pay something over $50 or $2,800.

What was the character and value of the buildings on the land when Trennum bought it? There was a shell of a very poor building with the roof blown down, the value would be a very few dollars.

Was the land much improved apart from the barn being erected by Trennum before sale to Bertram? The land was improved very much.

Has land in the vicinity of Peterboro increased in value of late years? Yes.

MR. J. STRATTON'S EVIDENCE.

Were you on the hustings on the 10th day of August last, for the nomination of candidates to represent West Peterboro in the Dominion Parliament? I was.

Did you hear the Returning Officer make a demand of qualification from Mr. Bertram? I did not.

Could he have made such a demand upon him on day of nomination before polling without your hearing it? I think not, unless in very low hustings.

Are you editor and proprietor of the Peterboro Examiner? I am.

Were you observing the proceedings on the hustings closely with a view to reporting them? I was.

What polling place were you at on day of election? At polling-place, St. Peter's school house, Peterboro.

Was any notice given there of any disqualification of Mr. Bertram? No.

Did you before or on the day of polling hear it announced that Mr. Bertram was disqualified? I did not until the Returning Officer had made his report.

Has the Peterboro Examiner newspaper of which you are editor and proprietor any politics, and if so, what have they? It has politics and they are of the Reform party.

Were you on the hustings during the whole time from the opening of the proceedings until the poll was demanded and granted? I was.

Were you not off the hustings for some few minutes? I was not during the period spoken of off, but I was for a few minutes after the speeches—just [illegible] time I was close by.

Was not the poll granted and the proclamation announcing when the polls would be held read after the speeches of the candidates to which you refer? My impression is that the proclamation was read before the speeches but that after the speeches the proclamation announcing the places was read. This is the best impression I have of it, but I could not positively say what was done after.

Was anything done by the Returning Officer to show that he had granted a poll other than the reading of the proclamation as to where the polling places would be? I cannot positively say. I forget what words were really used.

Did you hear any altercation between Mr. Dumble and Mr. Carnegie as to putting in the qualifications of Mr. Cluxton and Mr. Bertram take place on the hustings? I heard an altercation about putting in Mr. Cluxton's.

What was said on that occasion about Mr. Cluxton's qualification? All I could distinctly hear was that they were not ready—that Mr. Cluxton's was not ready and that he would send for it.

Was that all that you heard of the qualification of either candidate? All that I distinctly caught hold of.

Did you hear any remark made at that time as to Mr. Bertram's qualification by any person on the hustings? I did not.

Did you hear Mr. Carnegie say to Mr. Dumble that Mr. Cluxton's qualification would be put in at once and that Mr. Dumble and Mr. Bertram might pursue what course they liked, or to that effect? I did not.

Did you hear Mr. Dumble say to the Returning Officer, who demands qualifications, or to that effect? I did not distinctly hear that. I heard some words but could not tell what they were nor between whom.

Did you hear Mr. Dumble say at that time to the Returning Officer that he did not understand his business, or to that effect? I think I heard the words but I did not understand to whom they were addressed, whether to Mr. Carnegie, the Returning Officer or Mr. Cluxton.

Did you hear the Returning Officer, in answer to Mr. Dumble say, I demand the qualification of the candidates as Returning Officer, or to that effect? I did not.

Why was it you could not distinctly hear all that was said at that time? Because several people were speaking at the time.

Was there any excitement? There was no undue excitement, only such as is common on the hustings.

Did you occupy the same position in the hustings throughout the proceedings? I took all my notes that day in the same position—I sat on the N.E. corner of the hustings—I was there all the time except for a few minutes towards the close of the speeches.

Whereabouts was Mr. Bertram at the time of the altercation between Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Dumble spoken of? On the south side of the hustings.

Was he not at the S. W. angle of the hustings, if not, at what part of the hustings was he? My impression is that he was nearer the centre than the S. W. corner.

How many persons were on the hustings at that time? I really cannot answer that question with any precision.

Were there a number of persons? Yes.

From the position you occupied, and that occupied by Mr. Bertram, were you not as far apart as it was possible to be on the hustings? We might have been two or three feet further apart I think.

Were there a number of persons between you and Mr. Bertram at that time? I do not remember at any time more than two persons sitting between me and Mr. Bertram.

Were there seats across the hustings extending from where I sat to Mr. Bertram? There were not. I don't remember any.

Why did you say you thought there were only two persons who sat between you and Mr. Bertram? They sat on the floor of the hustings.

Who were these two persons who so sat on the hustings? I cannot tell you now.

Did not the Returning Officer occupy a position between you and Mr. Bertram? He was a little west of a direct line.

If he did not stand between you and Mr. Bertram how else would you describe the position he occupied? A little west of a direct line.

How far west of what you call a little west of a direct line.

I cannot answer that definitely.

Were you not on one hand side of the Returning Officer and Mr. Bertram on the other? If it means in a direct line I was not. If it does not mean that I was.

Did you see Mr. John Walton on the hustings at that time? I did.

What position did he occupy? A little towards the N. W. side of the hustings, but not close to the West nor yet to the North.

What position did Mr. Dumble occupy at that time on the hustings? He was not far from a small table on the hustings.

In what part of the hustings—was he near the centre? He was not very far from the centre.

Was he standing? If my memory serves me right he was sitting at the corner of the stand or table.

Where was the Returning Officer? Between him and Mr. Clurton on the North side, somewhat in front of a straight line, not more than two or three feet from the centre.

After the consent pen hours given of [illegible] to notice anything the Returning Officer said? I tried to place myself in position to hear what was said. I would not absolutely say that he could not speak without me hearing it.

What was the occasion of Mr. Dumble speaking at all about qualification of Mr. Cluxton, and what was the effect of his speaking? I think the occasion was that the Returning Officer had asked for Mr. Cluxton's qualification and it was not ready, and Mr. Dumble thought they were not required and said so.

Did you at any time ever hear any reference to any qualification other than Mr. Cluxton's? I did not at that time. I mean at the hustings.

How soon after Mr. Cluxton said his qualification was not ready did the Returning Officer grant the poll? Immediately after.

After the Returning Officer granted the poll, what was done? To the best of my memory the candidates began to speak.

Was it a subject of amusement on the hustings that owing to Mr. Cluxton's failure to put in his qualification, the Returning Officer never asked for Mr. Bertram's? I don't know.

What was said immediately after the speaking about Mr. Bertram's qualification? In going to the town from the Court House Square, parties were talking about it and said that the Returning Officer was so put about by Mr. Cluxton not having his ready he had not asked for Mr. Bertram's qualification.

MR. WM. HALL'S EVIDENCE.

Where is your residence, what is your business, and how long have you lived in Peterboro? I live in Peterboro, my business is a merchant, since 1831—42 years.

How long have you been familiar with the land bought by Mr. Bertram from Treanum? About 35 years.

Describe it in reference to shape, frontage and quality. Breadth of a 200 acre lot, far enough back to make 55 or 56 acres, quality good. Mr. Harney raised better crops of wheat on that than any other part of the farm. As to state, I saw the wheat when Trennum had it, then in bread, the land appeared in excellent state. As to water, it occupies about half the creek, half belonging to the Bertram lot and and half to the other portion. The distance from Peterboro I suppose to be 1½ to 2 miles, but cannot say, 1½ I think is the extent.

Do you know of any and what sales of this property have heretofore been made and what prices? I believe it was sold to John Gilmour by Mr. Harvey for $50 an acre before '57, since resold to Mr. Trennum at the same figure.

When were you paid the mortgage you held on the property and how? I was paid by a certified cheque, received the security from Mr. Pousssette in the early part of August. I see by the cheque produced it was on the 6th of August, 1872.

What was the value of the property at the time of sale, August 5th 1872? I heard that Mr. Bertram paid $3,500 for it and I thought it was cheap at that.

Were you on the hustings on the 10th of August last, at the nomination? I was on the hustings when the Returning Officer's clerk read the proclamation. The part I sat on fell down. I afterwards stood in front, was not on it when the nominations took place.

Were you at any, and if so at what polling places on the day of polling? At town hall North Monaghan.

Were you aware of any notice being made to or on the polling day here of Mr. Bertram's being disqualified? No.

From what took place as to the sale have you reason to believe the purchase by Mr. Bertram was bona fide, state your reasons for so thinking, state any facts concerning sale from Trennum to Bertram which are in your own knowledge? Some time before the sale took place Mr. Trennum told me he thought of selling the place and he thought he had found a purchaser for it, and he thought he was likely to sell it to him, don't know the time, my impression is that it was some time before Mr. Bertram was talked of running as member. I offered to sell Mr. Bertram a place of my own but he told me he had pretty much made up his mind to buy this property from Mr. Trennum and would not buy from me.

Mr. Dumble asked to have the poll books produced.

Did you at any time add up the copies of poll books now produced and forwarded to the Commissioner and now produced, and if so at what time? I did add them up one day last week.

What was the result of your examination of them? The result was that Mr Bertram had a majority of 40.

Do the Poll Books show this on the face of them? They do.

Was there any barn or buildings on land when sold to Trennum by Mrs. Gilmour, or when sold by Wm. Harvey to John Gilmour? Can't say; a stable was on when Trennum bought. Think there was some sort of building on small scale when Harvey sold it.

What was the utmost value of building on land when Trennum bought it? I cannot say, it was on wrong place and to move it would be more than it was worth

Were you not consulted as to the sale of the land by Mrs. Gilmour's Agent, when sold for $2,800, and did you not recommend that the sale should be carried out in Mrs. Gilmour's interest? I don't remember of it, but it is quite possible, as Mrs. Gilmour was under very heavy indebtedness to me for a mortgage I held, and she was not in a position to come, and it would not pay her, and if I recommended her to sell that was the best time.

I don't think I would have recommended her to sell that time.

Well would you have recommended her if you had thought that in a reasonable time it could be sold within a reasonably short time for a materially larger sum than $2,800? I don't think I would.

What was the property you offered worth, and were you desirous of selling to Mr. Bertram while his canvass was proceeding? What one property in Smith where Mr. Allen lives, and one in Dummer where Shepherd lives, either of them I was anxious to sell at the time.

Was it understood between Mr. Dumble and yourself at most time that it would be necessary for Mr. Bertram to [illegible] before they could qualify? (Objected.) I know myself what it was necessary for a Candidate to have a certain amount of real estate to enable him to stand, but I can't say that there was any understanding between us on that subject.

How did you come to offer the properties to Mr. Bertram, was it not because you knew he would require to purchase real estate to qualify? Suppose that was my intention.

Had not you and Mr. Bertram conversation about the necessity for his making such a purchase for that purpose? No, we had not.

Was the Trennum mortgage which Mr. Bertram paid off to you due at the time of such payment, or had it not some years to run at 6 per cent? I think it had some time to run. But Mr. Bertram had the privilege of paying it off when he cited.

Was it not necessary that this mortgage should be removed from the land to enable Mr. Bertram to qualify upon it? I should think so

Well how did you make the arrangement which resulted in this mortgage being paid off? My impression is that some one from Mr. Fairbairn's came to me to see if I would discharge the mortgage for the face of it; I told them I would be glad to do so.

Do you know that Messrs Boulbee & Fairbairn were acting on behalf of Mr. Bertram in the matter? They were drawing the writings between Trennum and Bertram and I fancy examined the title.

Why was it that you said you would be very glad to take the face of the mortgage and discharge it. Give any reason you may have had as fully as you remember them? The mortgage was only drawn at 6 per cent and I could only lend it at 8. This was my chief reason.

Did you know that you doing so would publicly assist Mr. Bertram to put his qualification in proper shape and would not this additional reason for you being glad to take the money and discharge the mortgage? I don't think I ever though a moment about it. I thought most about getting off a

Were you not a supporter of Mr. Bertram and did you not interest yourself in his election? I was a supporter and did most decidedly interest myself.

In what way did you so interest yourself and to what extent did your exertions extend? I canvassed for him. I went to meetings and to the polling places as Mr. Bertram's agent and generally did all I could reasonably to secure the return of our candidate.

Did you in other ways treat those you have specified contributed to the election of Mr. Bertram? (Objected.) I did all I could in a legitimate way. I did not buy a vote, but I bore certain portions of his election expences.

Were you a member of his election committee? I was.

Was there a fund provided by different parties to be expended by the committee for Mr. Bertram's election purposes and through whom was it disbursed? (Discussion as to the right to ask these questions.) I cannot answer it, I know nothing of it.

As you contributed to such a fund and you pay your contribution to some one acting as treasurer, and if so to whom did you pay it? What money I paid was to Mr. A Smith, I do not know who was treasurer.

By Mr. Dumble.

From time of purchase of property in question by Trennum until sale to Bertram had that kind of property around Peterboro advanced, and has property around Peterboro raised in value and if so to what extent? Between time of sale to Trennum and sale to Bertram, all property around Peterboro has risen materially in value.

Do you remember how much you contributed towards the expenses of Bertram's election? I do not.

If Mrs. Gilmour had retained the property two years, paid your interest, made the improvements on the land Mr. Trennum did, and built a bar

Young Canadian L. O. L.

The next regular monthly meeting of the Young Canadian Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 1316, of Peterborough, will be held in the Orange Hall, on Tuesday evening next, 10th instant. A full attendance is particularly requested.

Otonabee Agricultural Society.

The above Society will hold their annual show, on Friday, the 10th of October.

Protestant Home.

The Committee of the Peterboro Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the receipt of $5 from the men employed in Mr. W. Hamilton's Foundry. The circumstances under which this was given make it peculiarly acceptable to the Committee.

Keep Cool.

Messrs. Braden & Duchesneau have just received from Boston a splendid new Soda Fountain, of the best make, and calculated to supply any number of cooling drinks for the hot season. No one need be long thirsty when they can get there there slaked by calling on those gentlemen.

Suicide.

A man named Mallet, said to be connected with the Mail, committed suicide at the Jewett House Lindsay, on Wednesday last, by taking Prussic Acid.

Unusually Disconcerted.

All the Lindsay and North Victoria papers are unusually disconcerted by the action of the County Council, at its late meeting here. The Council does not fear another mandamus, the last one was not so successful, as judgement will be given in favor of this County. The Victoria Railway will pay costs. Any mandamus in this case would meet a similar fate.—The vile grouping scheme does not meet with the good will of the people of this County. As to the Northern part of this County, the South part is prepared to do it justice.

The Town Assessment.

The Court of Revision for the Town has not completed its sittings, want of space prevents us giving report this issue. The assessment of Bank Stock has been confirmed as a principle, but as the owners have appealed the matter is not finally settled. When completed, we will more fully understand the results on the taxes for the year. The Assessment is not all that could be desired, but it is not an easy duty to perform to the satisfaction of all.

Pugnacious.

The Bobcaygeon Independent appears willing to exhibit its natural tendencies, not the least one of which is combativeness, whose undue development may place it in unenviable notoriety. This is the second time we have been under the necessity of inviting our northern confrere to read carefully before he brings false accusations against us. Accusations which when untrue might leave him open to the charge of low, coarse, vulgar, but we will not indulge in such epithets. Our accusations against Mr. Grover are for public acts during his political history, as a private citizen it is nobody's business what he does, nor can the terms used by us in regard to him be construed to relate to his private life. He did at least hold one public meeting for election purposes on the Sabbath day, and he did make arrangements for teams on the same day, if John A got $360,000 of American gold, we ask again, can there be any doubt but that he got his share of it to carry on his election. These are public not private acts, notwithstanding the ungentlemanly observations of the Independent.

A Painful Accident.

While the son and son-in law of Mr. J. C. Robinson, of Ennismore, were out shooting on Friday last. We learn that one of the boys about 15 years of age was shot through the back and shoulder or arm, so dangerously that his life was despaired of. From the best information we can get, it would appear that one of them had a double barreled gun, and that on firsing, one side did not go off, the boys sat down on a fence, when the one having the gun that did not discharge began to fix it, and for the purpose had the hammer lifted with his finger, when some one of the rest shook the fence on which they were sitting, causing the one fixing his gun to let go the hammer to save himself from falling to the ground the hammer caused the gun to go off, the charge entering the back of a boy sitting next him and partly the arm which had also been moved to save himself from falling. On Tuesday morning there was no hopes of his recovery as a part of the spine had been severly damaged, and he was suffering great pain.

Personal.

Mr. Henry Hall, son of Jas. Hall Esq., (ex Sheriff of the County) has just passed a most successful examination before the Law Society, Toronto. He stood first among 30 competitioners, taking 864 out of a possible 1000, or nearly 86 per cent of his whole work. This speaks well for a Peterborough boy who thus reflects credit on his native town, and who will yet no doubt take a first place in his profession either in Peterborough, or some other Canadian Town or city. On account of his successful examination a Amusements in Boston.

This city has been visited with another fire on Friday and Saturday, causing the loss of several hundred thousands of dollars worth of property. Only partially covered by insurance.

The Rev. Joseph Rowe

Died on Sunday morning at Halifax, in the 69th year of his age. He had received the appointment of Lieut-Governor of Nova Scotia just three weeks ago. How uncertain are human calculations. He had been in public life for many years, and during a time of excitement connected with the changes taking place before, and during, the passing of the Confederation Act. He had weathered the storm, and was about to reap his highest ambition, when called to the great tribunal. Surely death strikes with equal force at the King's palace, and at the peasant's hut.

A Demo from Harvey to the Omemee Branch of the Midland Railway.

A By-law for this purpose was to be submitted at the last meeting of the Township Council, to grant a bonus to the amount of $10,000. We advise the Harvey people not to be in a hurry. The Cobourg Road will ere long pass through their Township, and that will be better than a branch by way of Omemee. By waiting a month or two they will lose nothing, and may secure better advantages for their money.

Ashburnham.

The Court of Revision was held on Tuesday evening, and a few appeals disposed of. There were only three against assessment of real estate. One against assessment for income, and two about dogs. Mr. Croly's was reduced to $480 and a small piece of ground belonging to Mr. R. Brown, was added to his assessment. Mr. McKellar's was reduced $2,200 instead of $2,800, as he appeared to be higher a little than those near him, and C. McAuliffe's assessment was equalised with that adjoining. There was also some property changed from one person to some other, as desired by them. There was little business before the Council.

Personal.

Mr. Robert Dennistoun of this Town, son of Judge Dennistoun, lately passed a very creditable examination, and was admitted as an Attorney at the Examination of the Law Society. Mr. Dennistoun goes into partnership with his brother.

THE COMMISSION.

The commission draged lalowly along. It has continued eight days but it came to an end yesterday evening.

Monday Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in asking the most childish question about the geography of the different well known places in and around the town and village. Nearly the whole of those days being taken up in examining Mr. Dumble. Mr. Cluxton, took no little interest in the examination of Mr. Matthew Walton, manifesting the greatest anxiety for his position, and appearing to dread the result of the investigation then going on. They make a desperate fight over any item in any evidence going to establish the price of the Bertram Lot when any witness fixes it at $1000 or about that figure, they show evident uneasiness and try all sorts of quibbles and quirks to draw away attention from this point or to unsettle the value.

Hitherto they have signally failed. The evidence so far establishes two or three points which Mr. Cluxton and friends don't like. One is that the sale is a bona fide one, Mr. Trennum and Mr. Hall establishing this on oath, which was also corroborated by Bertram himself. There is now no room for cavilling at this part of the transaction. The sale was in good faith and without any collusion or intent of collusion.

That Mr. Bertram bought the property so that he might be an eligible candidate he never denied, and that in doing so he fully met the requirements of the law there is no doubt. Several persons who were on the hustings state in positive terms that no demand was made either by the Returning Officer or by any elector, on Mr. Bertram for his qualification at any time on the hustings that day, either before granting the poll or at any time, and thus establishing another link in the chain that Mr. Bertram was the duly elected candidate and should have been returned as elected.

Some of those telegrams that passed so freely between Mr. Cluxton and John A. Macdonald have been brought to light and add further proof of the unprincipled part that Mr. Cluxton played in the dirty fraud. Sir John intimated in the House of Commons that the Returning Officer was unwilling at first to do Mr. Cluxton and Mr Carnegie's dirty work unless directed from Ottawa, and Mr. Cluxton at once telegraphed to John A in the following words:

August 23, 1872.

To Sir John A. Macdonald,
Queen's Hotel Toronto.
Returning Officer has not yet sent certificate to Ottawa. Advise fully this morning.
WM. CLUXTON.

Then a little later same day:

Please advise this afternoon.
WM. CLUXTON.

To this Sir John answers:

23rd August, 1872.

To Wm Cluxton.
It is a difficult question to answer. Can you find out whether qualification was delived before the Returning Officer sent to Ottawa his certificate of Bertram's Election.
JOHN A. MACDONALD.

This was succeeded by the following:

24th August, 1872.

To Wm Cluxton.
It is understood that the Certificate was not sent before qualification was delived to Returning Officer. Under the circumstances I would recommend the Returning Officer to take advice from Hillman Cameron or some other counsel of eminence. It would not be proper considering my position that he should see on my advice.
JOHN A. MACDONALD.

The other telegrams forwarded and answered we have not yet obtained, as Mr. Dennistoun on behalf of Mr. Cluxton claims that they are privileged as between counsel and client, but from the above ed by Mr. Cluxton to shout Mr. Bertram and the electors of West Peterboro. How nervous he must have been after tele-graphing, ADVISE FULLY TO-MORROW, to send another message TO ADVISE THIS EVENING.

The polling was on a Tuesday, the 20th, these telegrams were sent on the 23rd on Friday the very day the Review comes out declaring Mr. BERTRAM ELECTED.

Sir John's anxiety to find out whether the Returning Officer's certificate had been sent to Ottawa before the filing of Mr. Bertram's qualification, admits that the SENDING AWAY of the CERTIFICATE is the close of the Election. And he considers it unfortunate the certificate was not sent before the tyling of the qualification with the Returning Officer. One of Sir John's telegrams also bears date on Saturday, advising the Returning Officer to take legal advice. The advice must therefore have been asked on that day and was not answered till Monday morning, and as the Returning Officer acted on that advice, he did not send his certificate of the election until Monday the 26th of August, or the third day after filing the qualification by Mr. Bertram.

Sir John A Macdonald admits the election of Mr. Bertram when he says:

"Can you find out whether qualification was delivered before the Returning "Officer sent to Ottawa HIS CERTIFICATE" Taking it for granted that the Returning Officer would return Mr. Bertram elected and no one else, and yet in the face of all this, Mr. Cluxton telegraphs to R. A. Harrison for advice, and succeeded in inducing the Returning officer to act on it, although ex-parte and not fairly obtained, and yet these men in the face of all this defend this daring frand on the people and on Mr. Bertram.

The Commission closed here yesterday evening at 4 p.m., having lasted eight days.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council met on Monday, evening.

Communications were received from County Clerk agreeing to the proposition of Town Council.

From R. Weir, asking if the Town Council intended opening the street between the properties of Mr. Dumble and Mr. Braddurn.

A petition was presented in favor of watering the streets

The petition of Mr. Hilliard and Mr. Kelly, were referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

On motion of Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Hopkins Civil Engineer was inasructed to vary the grades on Brock Street, so that the depths cut be not more than 2 feet, and run the same gradually out at the property of Dr. Burnham senr.

Mr Collins Reeve of North Monaghan, was heard before the council asking that $1 be spent on the boundary lines between the Town and that Township, for every days work performed by Monaghan.

The Street and Bridge committee were instructed to report on one or more pounds for the North and Centre of the Town.

The Council then adjourned till Tuesday evening.

Council met on Tuesday evening.

A communication was read from John Burnham, in reference to the grade on Brock Street were received, also from G. B. Sproule and others of the inefficient manner of watering the Streets between George and Aylmer, and asking if not done better to be relieved from Tax for it.—Received.

The council went into committee of the whole on the By Law fixing the grades on George and Brock Streets.

On motion of Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Toole, that the engineer was instructed to complete the plan of grades on George and Brock Streets, commencing on centre of Brock at 18 inches, and then carrying the same North and South at the proportionate depths on blue pencil lines to the distance indicated which line shall be the blue line on the plan—carried, an amendment by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Mr. Deane, to make the 18 inches 15 inches being lost.

On motion of Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Toole, it was agreed, that the grade on Brock Street East be fixed by commencing 200 feet from centre of George Street, and proceed a straight line west to a point fixed for grade at the intersection of George and Brock Streets.

On motion of Mr. Moore seconded by Mr Burritt, it was agreed to fix the grade on Brock Street West, so that in no place it shall be deeper than two feet and run out at the second brick house owned by Dr. Burnham Senr.

The Council then adjourned till this evening.

ADJOURNED COURT OF REVISION TOWNSHIP OF SMITH.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Court of Revision of the Township of Smith, met on Monday the 26th day of May 1873.

All the members present.

A Communication from George Fitzgerald desiring the Court to reduce his assessment by reason of his house having been consumed by fire, was read.

Moved by Mr. Sanderson, and seconded by Mr Bell,—that the Assessment of George Fitzgerald be confirmed, as he had his House insured to its value.—Carried.

A statement of the quantity of land owned by the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, was presented, and the Assessor assessed the same according to the average Assessment of land in the locality, and entered the same on his Roll.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Saturday being the market day here, Monday was set apart for the celebration of Her Majesty's Birthday. The day was pleasant and pleasantly spent. In the morning the Cavalry had a parade from ten to one o'clock, and where men and horses are is always the scene of some little excitement. It is needless for us to say that the troop promises to be one of the best.

The 57th Batt. Band discoursed sweet music along the principal streets attracting a large concourse of listeners.

A Cricket Match of the East against the West Riding was commenced at 10.30, lasting till evening, resulting in favour of the West Riding by six wickets. The game attracted crowds of onlookers, and the play on both sides was good. Below we give the score.

The Steamer "Whistle-wing" made several trips down the river during the day.

The Fire Brigade made its appearance about 6.30, and marched along the principal streets, led by both the 57th and the Independent Bands. They halted before the Caisse House and spurted water for a time. The Engineer seemed to have perfect control of his engine, and threw water as high as ever was done by her before, several streams going more than 20 feet above the flag staff of the Caisse House, and strong enough to dash brick off the top of the highest building in town. They then proceeded to the front of the Court House where they gave a grand display of Fire works, which was witnessed by crowds of citizens, of both sexes, who appeared to enjoy the fiery display which lasted for over an hour.

THE LUNCH.

The Brigade having done their part to add to the celebration outside, retreated to their Hall where a lunch had been provided for themselves and their friends, and to which a large number sat down. Chief Engineer Singleton presided.—Messrs. Hutton, W. H. Scott, J. J. Leddy, Dr. Kincaid, D. Haggart and J. S. Rogers were among the guests of the evening.

The usual loyal toasts were given and heartily received. Dr. Kincaid, Mr. Scott, Mr. Hutton Mr. Leddy and others made pleasant speeches. Messrs. Gee, Johnston, Chalmers, Quinsey and Hutchinson, added much to the pleasantness of the evening by favourite and appropriate songs.

The evening was pleasantly spent, the firemen opening no pains to make their guests happy and comfortable, and in this they succeeded admirably. During the proceedings the Independent Band which were present, added their quota to the pleasures of the affair.

The Brigade had on their new uniforms, and they certainly are got up in good taste. Without attempting flattery, which is always distasteful, we can add our testimony to that which we heard on all sides that our fire brigade consists of a fine body of men, comparing favorably with any brigade in the Dominion, and we are sure they deserve well at the hands of the citizens and of the Council, for their earnest, unselfish and hazardous labours for the safety of life and property in the [illegible] Queen, the pleasures [illegible] brought to a close. And all left for their [illegible] places.

ALLEGED EXCITEMENT.—Peterborough, May 16.—Considerable excitement has prevailed here for a few days past, owing to the refusal of the Assessors appointed by the Tory Council to return the rolls until the last day allowed by law for appeal, and then only after they were arrested and brought before a magistrate. Their object appears to have been to prevent appeals against fraudulent votes, no less than 300 having been inserted, as it is alleged. The Reformers determined to prevent these frauds, turned out in numbers and appealed on less than 300 cases, serving notices up to midnight on the Chairman of the Court of Revision. Mr. Hawkins, the lately defeated Tory candidate, remaining with the assessors, had called the Court, so as to give but one day to lodge the appeals and serve the required notices. Frauds so startling have never been attempted in this community before.

MR. ROBT. TULLY'S EVIDENCE.

How long have you known the land sold by Trennum to Bertram? About 30 years.

What was it worth on the 5th August last? I think it was well worth what Bertram paid for it.

Do you know of any similar lands recently sold, and if so what lands, and what prices? I know a part of lot No. 10 on the same range as Mr. Wallis' belonging to Mr. Cushing, in Monaghan, one mile distant from Trennum's sold for $2,000, 80 acres, part 19 con. 12 North Monaghan, sold last fall shortly after sale to Bertram. I know no other.

Did you on day of polling at the election spoken at or previous thereto hear of any notice given as to Mr. Bertram's being disqualified? No not any.

At what polling places were you at on that day? I was at the polling place in North Monaghan and at the South Ward where I voted.

MR. A. P. POUSSETTE'S EVIDENCE.

Are you a barrister and solicitor and were you a solicitor prior to the 22nd of July last? I was.

Had you the management of the sale of the south part of lot No. 11 in the 1st con. Smith, sold by Wm Trennum to J Bertram? I had not the whole management but I completed the transaction.

Who was Mr. Bertram's solicitor in investigating the title? Boultbee and Fairbairn were the solicitors and I was at the time named, in their office.

Who was Trennum's solicitor? Boultbee & Fairbairn also acted for Trennum.

Did the purchase pass through your hands? It did.

Was the purchase money all paid down and at what time were you authorized to deliver the deed? The purchase money was paid partly in cash partly by promissary note, I was authorized by Trennum to deliver the deed after receiving Bertram Bros. note. Executed the deed after receiving the note, he having before given me a cheque for amount due on a mortgage held by Wm Hall.

Was the note given an endorsed note? Note produced is the note endorsed by Bertram Bros.

Was it taken and accepted by Trennum as cash? I think it was, that was my impression.

What was the intention of the parties to the sale regarding the vendor's security? My understanding of the intention was that Trennum should accept the note and not have any security on the land at all.

On what day of the month was the deed referred to executed? It was executed on the 5th of August.

Did you on the execution of the deed hand over the cheque to Wm Hall? I think it was the day after.

What did you do with the note and when did you deliver it? It was kept two or three months. It was delivered to somebody in my absence.

Why was the note kept in the office? Trennum requested me to keep it until called for.

What are your politics? Conservative.

Cross examined on behalf of William Cluxton.

What are the politics of Mr Fairbairn? Reform.

Did you on behalf of Mr. Bertram go to Mr. Hall and ask him if he would accept the money and give a discharge of the Trennum mortgage? I did not I have no recollection of doing so but I did get the discharge and paid him the cheque for it.

Mr. Hall stated that his impression was that some person had gone from your office and asked if he would take the cash and give a discharge, who would that person be if not yourself? It would be be Mr. Fairbairn I think.

Did Mr. Fairbairn take a part in the management of this business between or for Bertram and Trennum? A very small part in it as far as I know. Mr. Fairbairn was at that time very much absent from his office.

You say that you did not have the whole management of this business, who managed what you did not? Mr. Fairbairn.

Did Mr. Fairbairn manage the matter in the first instance and leave the completion of it to you? He did.

Did you complete it in the manner arranged for or directed by Mr. Fairbairn. Mr. Fairbairn did not direct me how to complete it at all, I got my directions from Mr. Bertram and Mr. Trennum. Mr. Fairbairn examined the title simply, I think.

What were the directions given to you by Mr. Bertram did he direct that the Trennum mortgage to Wm Hall should be paid off and discharge obtained? I recollect Mr. Bertram giving me a cheque and telling me it was to pay off a mortgage held by Wm Hall.

Did he direct that the Trennum mortgage should be paid off and a discharge obtained? I suppose he must have done so as I did it.

How was the amount of cheque arrived at? I don't know how.

Was their any conversation between you and Trennum as to the vendor's having a lien upon land which he deeds and takes a promissory note for? I don't think there was, I have no recollection of any.

Do you think that Mr. Bertram needed to acquire this property to qualify as a candidate for the House of Commons. I believe he did.

Is not Mr. Fairbairn the representative of the West Riding of Peterboro in the Local Legislature? He is.

You have stated that you believe Mr. Bertram required property to qualify him as a candidate for the House of Commons, do you mean that you knew of in consequence of anything said to you at time of purchase or is it simply your opinion? It is not in consequence of anything said to me at the time of purchase, but from what I knew of the property and the parties to the sale and understood that the purchase was a bona fide sale and have you ever any reason to believe the least side of the purchase? It appeared to me at the time fair in every respect. I treated the matter as solicitor for both parties as if they were perfect strangers to each other and have no other belief now. I was told after the purchase was made by some parties that Mr. Bertram was a candidate.

The returns of the Returning Officer was submitted after the receipt of Mr. Bertram's declaration of qualification as required by the Returning Officer, and placed in the hands of the Commissioner.

MR. EDWARD MOIR'S EVIDENCE.

What is your occupation? Weaver Hawthorne.

Were you a member of the late firm of Peters, Moir & Co.? Yes.

Were you on the hustings on the 16th of August last, at the nomination of Bertram and Cluxton? I was on the hustings [illegible] after the nomination of the men.

Whereabouts on the hustings were you? On the South West corner.

Can you describe the position occupied by the following persons: Cluxton, Carnegie, Walton, D. W. Dumble, Edmison, Bertram and Returning Officer? Cluxton S. W. corner, almost at the west; Carnegie S. W. corner, nearer the west than south; Walton on the west near the south; Dumble sitting on a little table near the west, nearer south than Walton, on one end, south corner, half sitting; Edmison was between Mr. Dumble and Wr. Bertram towards the east—Bertram full one-half of distance from [illegible] West to S. West corner, more than [illegible] distance to East. The Returning Officer, 6ft. from front of hustings, nearer the south side than the north.

What was the Returning Officer doing as you got on the hustings? He was just in the act of walking from where he was standing, in the direction of Mr. Cluxton.

How close was he to Mr. Cluxton? 6 feet I think.

Do you mean that when he stood still after walking? When he stood.

How large was hustings? 20ft. from north to south, a little less from east to west I should say.

When he stood still was he nearest to Mr. Cluxton or Mr. Bertram? He was nearest to Mr. Cluxton.

Who was he facing, where was Mr Bertram with reference to him? His back must turned to Mr. Bertram.

Where did he speak to and what did he say? I thought he was addressing Mr. Cluxton. My recollection is that he asked him for his qualification as a Candidate. He spoke in a low tone, at least not in an official tone, considering so many people were making a noise.

What did Mr. Cluxton do and say? He seemed to get a little excited and got up partly and searched his pockets, and said, partly looking to Mr. Carnegie, that the declaration was not sworn to.

Did he say anything else, or propose anything? He did after Mr. Carnegie had made a proposal, or we might get it done at the Court House.

What was said between Mr. Cluxton and Mr. Carnegie? Some little conversation that I did not hear all of. I did hear Mr. Carnegie say I think that Mr. Henthorn was here and could have it sworn to.

Was it then that Mr. Cluxton said: "or we can do it at the Court House?" Yes. His exact words were "it might be better to get it done at the Court House."

Did any other person speak to Mr. Cluxton? I did not hear any other person speak to him.

Did Mr. Dumble speak? Mr. Dumble addressed either one or both—Mr. Cluxton or Mr. Carnegie, not apparently to either individuals.

What did Mr. Dumble say or do? He said there is no use in getting in a sweat about it, that it is not at all necessary that the qualification be handed in now. He reached over toward the Returning Officer and obtaining a book which the Returning Officer held in his hand, and he handed it to him, and Mr. Dumble opened the book and read aloud the law of proceeding at nomination. He handed it either to Mr. Clu read the 6th sec. chapter 41 of the Consolidated Statutes of Canada? I cannot say what he did only for me. I made him this letter, and gave him three for answer, and he afterwards accepted. I think he just asked me what I would give, I don't think he put any price on it.

Do you know if Mr. Gilmour's Agent endeavored to get a better price or better terms for the lands that you offered, and did he not accept of the offer because it was the best? Cannot say anything about that.

Who was Mr. Gilmour's Agent.—What is his position, and is he an energetic and efficient man of business? Mr. Pearce, Treasurer of the County of Peterborough; some much better as a man of business.

When you purchased this property what was your object, was it to farm it in connection with the property you own in the neighborhood? To farm it, or to sell if I could make a "spec" out of it.

Did you make a "spec" out of it when you sold it to Mr. Bertram? A small one, from $600 to $1000.

When you decided the property you said that all the material for the barn was on the ground or near by provided for the purpose and that about $60 would complete it. When was barn completed and shed attached? The barn, shed and all were built a few days after the sale to Mr. Bertram, and completed and filled with wheat right away.

At the time of giving the deed to Mr. Bertram was any part of the barn erected or was material only provided at that time and prepared by framing for raising. The frame of it raised, it was raised a few days after, in one day.

Did you give change from giving deed to Mr. Bertram till raising of the barn or if not any inquiry days as that, how many did elapse? It was not ten days before raised. I suppose up to a day or two, perhaps 4 to 5 at most.

When you were engaged with Mr. Bertram did you come to count and complete the barn for the money he was to pay? Yes, it was understood that I was to finish the barn

Who was to get the crop at that time in the ground, and who was to get its value? I was to get it, and it was worth from $200 to $300.

Were you also to have occupation for the year 1873? Where you to pay anything for it, and was there any writing between you and Mr. Bertram as to that matter or did it depend on the understanding? I was; $600 cd. the purchase was kept back. No writing; depended on a verbal understanding as I know Mr. Bertram.

What distance is this property from the centre of the business part of the town of Peterboro, say Mitchell's corner? From 1½ to 1¾ miles.

Is there any portion of this business part of the town nearer than 1¼ miles? Yes, there is a factory and a foundry within a mile of it.

What factory and foundry do you refer to? I refer to Whyte's factory and saw mills and Hamilton's foundry.

Are Whyte's factory and saw mill in the business part of town? I do not know where you call the business part of the town.

You say you endeavored to purchase some land from Capt. Wallis, having offered $90 an acre for it, did you then state that was its outside value? Yes, but finally agreed $600 was all I would give for it, that is to take the whole 100 acres, or $60 for the half of it nearest my own place.

Did you not also say at that time no one would give as much for it as it was of more value to you than to any one else as it lay next you, or to that effect? I may have said something like that. It is likely I did.

Do you remember placing a value on your place when at Ottawa, without the buildings, and did you not then value it at $60 per acre? I did not I gave the buildings with the farm.

What value did you put on it at Ottawa without the buildings? I put no value on without the buildings. I was not asked.

What is the value of your own place in Monaghan per acre without the buildings? I never thought of it in that way. I never valued without the buildings.

Did you know at the time when you gave a deed of the land to Mr. Bertram what the rights of seller as to a lien on the place? I knew nothing about it. I took Mr. Bertram's note and had nothing more to do with it and believed I had nothing more to do with the land.

Did you vote at the election for Commissioner for the West Riding of the county of Peterboro, and for whom? I didn't for Bertram.

When you bargained with him as to the purchase, what was the understanding as to the quantity of land, what was the time, quantity and what guarantee? 86 acres, before the writings were made? some paper turned up.

What did Bertram say before sale with reference to the true quantity? He said that as we had bargained at $2,800 he would let it go at that and give me the benefit.

You spoke of your "spec" on sale to Bertram, did you make a good sale? I consider so then but I have found out since that I might have got more.

Did you try to get it back from Bertram sense, if so what did you offer him for it? I did. I offered him $4,000 for it.

In what state was the barn at the time of the election? It was about finished and full of wheat at time of polling.

What proportion of the whole cost of the barn was expended at the time of polling? It would tad $6 or $7 to complete it.

What note did Mr. Bertram do as owner of the property before the polling? He came up and made us take the posts down and place them near the road, and dig new holes. He also gave posts and building stones to parties in town.

Was this after the nomination and before the polling? He gave stones before the nomination, and the barn posts were also ordered to be removed before the nomination, to the best of my recollection.

What distance is the nearest shop in town to the land? Inside of a mile or thereabouts.

How many men work in Hamilton's foundry? Cant tell, a good many.

How far is it from the land to where the residences of citizens in town are quite thick? About three quarters of a mile to where the get thicker.

Were there any buildings on the Wallis property you offered to buy? No.

What did you give for the land where you live now? $61.00. per acre.

What improvements were on it when you bought? They told me about $2,000 And the purchase was of 100 acres.

How far is the land from where you live on from town? A little over a mile from the boundary.

Did you give Mr. Pennette any instructions as to registering the deed to Mr. Bertram? I told him to register no deed till the mortgage held by Hall was discharged and the papers properly completed.

Did you say anything about the note to Mr. Pennette? I told him to see that the note was properly drawn and stamped and to keep it till I called for it.

MR. JOHN WARTON'S EVIDENCE.

Q—Do you know the land that Bertram bought from Treanor? A—Yes.

Q—What was it worth on the 15th day of August, 1872? A—It was well worth $60 an acre.

Q—How many acres in it? A—86.

Q—Wasn't good for the sum of $2,000? A—I should think so. Quite possible, quite a handful at that.

Q—What is it worth now? A—There would be no difference between August, both.

Q—Did you know the north part of said lot? A—I think it.

Q—Who owns it? A—My sons, jointly.

Q—When did they pay for it? A—$61.00 an acre.

Q—When did they buy it? A—I think last years time, last February from Rev. Mr. Jeffers.

Q—Is it worth more or less than Mr. Bertram's part? A—It is worth more.

Q—When did Mr. Bertram buy from? A—Mr. Treanor.

Q—Do you know if Mr. Bertram entered into possession of the land? A—I do not know.

Q—Who looks after the fences, do? A—I do not know. I spoke to Mr. Bertram about the line fences since his purchase and he told me he would see that fences were fixed.

Q—Have you had any dealings with Mr. Bertram about fences, and if so what were they? A—The only dealing that I have with there was a temporary fence between us, I told him we intended to put our half up and asked him if he would put up the other half. He said he would.

Q—When did you first speak to him about the fences? A—I found out that I had purchased.

Q—About what time was this? A—I think it was in August, but am not at all positive.

Q—You speak of the land as well worth $60 an acre, if 86 acres, that would only be $5,200, yet you speak of it as well worth $2,800, explain? A—It being nearer the town is the well worth $2,400.

Q—Are you aware of the actual quantity in Mr. Bertram's land? A—I do not know.

Q—Are you aware there is a surplus? A—I do not know.

Q—Where you on the hustings at the nomination for the candidates to be a member to the Dominion Parliament on the 26th of Aug. last, on the Court House Green? A—Yes, I was.

Q—Who were on the hustings? A—I can not tell all. The Returning Officer, Messrs. Carnegie, W. H. Scott, Heathorne, Dumble and both the candidates and a number more.

Q—Did you hear the Returning Officer or any electors make a personal or any demand on John Bertram a candidate for his qualification? A—No.

Q—Did you hear any one make a demand of any of the candidates? A—The Returning Officer turned round right past me and demanded Mr. Clarton's qualification.

Q—Where did Mr. Clarton sit? A—Mr. Clarton sat on my left hand, the Returning Officer was on my right hand.

Q—Where did Mr. Bertram sit? A—Mr. Bertram sat on my right hand but on the other side of the hustings. The Returning Officer was between him and Mr. Bertram.

Q—Where did you sit? A—I sat on a chair very near Mr. Clarton and partially behind the Returning Officer, but he was some distance on my right.

Q—Who sat beside Mr. Clarton? A—Mr. Carnegie was sitting on that same seat. Mr Heathorne, Hilliard and W. H. Scott on same seat, and some others.

Q—What took place when the demand was made? A—There was a remark made, I think by Mr. Dumble that it was not necessary at that time. I don't know whether it was Mr. Clarton or some of his friends said that he would not, owing to his qualification, and this led to the remark.

Q—Could any demand have been made on Mr Bertram by the Returning Officer without your hearing it? A—No, certainly not.

Q—When Mr Clarton failed to hand in his declaration of qualification, what did the Returning Officer do? A—The matter dropped.

Q—Was the proclamation granting a poll then read? A—Yes.

Q—Had Mr. Clarton his qualification ready when it was asked? A—No. The cause of all the conversation about it between Mr. Dumble and Mr. Clarton and his friends arose out of the qualification not being ready.

Q—Were you Warden of the county of Peterboro when it was agreed it was not necessary to send for it, and if so when? A—I was Warden that same year.

Q—Who is Reeve of the township of Smith? A—I am.

Q—How many times have you held that office? A—Fourteen years.

Q—Did you at any time before the election or at the hustings receive any notice that Mr. Bertram was disqualified? A—Not that I am aware of.

Q—Did you at any polling place hear any notice given of Mr. Bertram's disqualification? A—No.

Q—What polling place were you at? A—I was at the polling place at Bridgenorth.

Q—Are there any buildings on the ground bought by Mr. Bertram, and if so what are they? A—There is a frame barn on it. I think that is all. Might be a small building attached.

Q—Was not that barn erected since the 10th of August, 1872? A—I think it was erected about that time in harvest. Since that time, but am not positive.

Q—Are you sufficiently familiar with the barn to state its value? A—No, I have never been nearer the barn than the adjoining farm.

Q—Have you of late years been over this property and examined it, and if so when? A—There is scarcely any year but what I am over it. I was over it last year and examined it.

Q—Do you place your valuation upon the property by comparison with the south part of the lot bought by your sons? A—I do, it is much nigher the town and a part of it is in a higher state of cultivation. Mr Treanom improved it the time he owned it.

Q—Was there any timber on the south of this lot when bought by Mr. Bertram, or was it all cleared. A—There was and is a small piece of woodland on it yet, from 3 to 5 acres I think.

Q—Was not there a large quantity of valuable timber on the north part bought by your sons part at the time of their purchase, and if so about how many acres? A—There was some woodland. in the neighborhood of 40 acres I suppose

Q—What would you say was the fair value of this timber per acre situated as it was so near Peterboro? A—It would be impossible for me to say what it was really worth, a portion of it was very poor, costing more than it is worth to clear it up, as it had been burned There was about 15 acres very good hardwood land, the rest the fire had run through and destroyed it.

Q—Have not your sons taken a part of this wood off and sold it as cordwood? A—Yes.

Q—Can you say about what quantity your sons took off? A—I could not say even approximately.

Q—Was the timber upon the property not considered to form a portion of the value at the time of purchase by your sons? A—I think it did add to the value at the time.

Q—Can you say what the addition to valuation made by reason of the timber at that time? A—I could not say.

Q—Did you and your sons put an estimate upon the value of the timber at that time and was it not the timber induced them to purchase? A—It would have been impossible for either me or my sons to have estimated the value of the timber, we bought the land for the land's sake.

Q—Was the north part of the Lot when cleared as good throughout for farming purposes as the south part taking each all over, and regarding distance to Peterborough. A—It is not as good as the south part

Q—Why is it not as good? A—It is spongy and cant be used for cultivation until drained, horses would sink in it now to the knees, we keep it for pasture.

Q—When on the Hustings did you hear Mr. Dumble say to the Returning Officer that he he did not know his business, or words to that effect? A—I did not hear him say so.

Did you hear him say to the Returning Officer "who demands the qualifications," or words to that effect? A—No I did not.

Q Did you hearibe Returning Officer, say "I demand Mr. Bertam's qualification as Returning Officer," or words to that effect? No.

Did you hear anything pass between Mr. Dumble and Mr. Carnegie at that time as to putting in declarations of qualification of each of the candidates? I dont remember There was a general conversation, but dont remember particulars, between Mr. Dumble and Mr. Carnegie.

Do you remember Mr. Carnegie then saying to Mr Dumble we will put in ours, you can do as you please and we can fight it out afterwards or words to that effect? I dont remember any conversation between Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Dumble.

Were Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Dumble both on the Hustings during the time spoken of in your examination in chief? They were both on the Hustings.

What would you say was the nib of Hustings, was it not about 12 to 13 feet square? About that, it might be larger one way.

Did you before leaving the Hustings hear Mr. Bertram say his qualification would be handed in on Monday, or words to that effect?

I did not hear him make a statement at all about his qualification.

Re-examined by Mr. Dumble.—Did you speak to any one on the Hustings to the effect that the Returning Officer never demanded Mr. Bertram's qualification? I dont remember speaking to any one.

Was it a subject of joke that Mr. Clarton's failure to put in his qualification prevented the Returning Officer making any demand on Mr. Bertram? There was a conversation, and it was the general opinion that the demand was made on Mr. Cluxton first to get at Mr Bertram; (objected to.)

Did you on the Hustings particularly note the failure of the Returning Officer to demand Mr. Bertrams qualification? I did and particularly mentioned it to several parties.

Do you know of any sale of lands on the same concession as the land in question? I dont know any except the farm we are speaking about.

Is the land purchased from Treanom by Bertram choice and well situated? Some of it is good, some of it is broken and not so good, the portion next the Town is well situated.

Would you rather have it with or without the wood? Rather have it with the wood although it became the land.

Was the Bertram land cheaper at $2,800 in May 1872, than your sons land at the time and price he bought it from Rogers? I do think it cheapest it has a value beyond Bertrams land, for building of park lots, land not so near the town has been sold for $60. One place containing 50 acres has been sold for $1,000 per acre.

Q—What would you stand in your opinion be worth to common to $2000 per acre? I think it could.

From your knowledge of the land and Bertrams bush, what would it cost to erect it? I have not been near enough to estimate it.

Re-examined by Mr. Clarton, Counsel.—Do you know what Bertram's right to property as from Mrs. Gilmour? I think it was $60 an acre, I cannot positively say.

Were you not examined by Pearce, Mrs. Gilmour's Agent, as to whether the price was half $2 or $3 per acre, and say whether before or after the sale and knowing that Mr Gilmour was equity interest on a heavy mortgage on the land. I thought it was the best thing she could do. That land was unimproved and sold for $60 an acre.

For whom did you vote at the last election? For Mr. Bertram.

Have workmen lands increased in value within the neighborhood of Peterboro within the last 3 years? It has.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the above preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful specific in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is kept superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains chilblains, chorea morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of the kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. When colic, nervous vomits, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from protracting diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is your remedy.

In cases easily applied these soften and remove callous, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive department of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with unfailing success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Piles, Scrofula, Old Sores, Ulcers, Rheumatism, Burns, Fever Sores, Bad Breasts, Sore Nipples, Barber's Itch, Blotches, Sore Eyes, Scald Head, Chilblains, Corns, Bites of Insects, Quinsy, Frostbites, Sore throat, Sore Mouth, Whitlow, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Cramp, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. Dr. Pope R. has used it in his practice for a very long time. Pronounces it the best salve ever introduced for Piles, Burns, Scalds, Sore Breasts, Sore Eyes, Scald Head, Ulcers, Sore throat, Sore mouth, Quinsy, Corns, Bites of Insects, Quinsy, Frostbites, Barber's Itch, Sore Nipples, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Bruises, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Cramp, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you consented to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you represented it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and confidently say we have never found its equal. I use it for a wound dressing, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it may be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, wherein the system, poisoned, saturated with corruption, have been entirely and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous constitution until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Nevertheless poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Once, the unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal disease, without awaking a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, its miasmas may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, as a rough, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other shapeless or visible forms of scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pile, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Nervous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these constitute maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Disorders, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. In Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Lifeless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally acknowledged to be reliable. Disguised into use, in every country and among all classes, by this mild but efficient purgative pills, the obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and thorough effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know how much it excels in virtue all the cathartics they have ever taken, and how radically it cures the various complaints of the stomach, bowels, liver, blood, and other internal organs, which require the use of a purgative. Even when the best of other cathartics fail, a few doses of these pills will restore the patient to health. Their penetrating power stimulates the vital energies of the system, and thus expels disease. Hence they are the best remedy we can employ for the cure of [illegible]

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they still restore sight lost or impaired by the common glasses, and will give us found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to sight by the wearing from ignorance or carelessness.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

The Commission.

MR. GEORGE EDMISON'S EVIDENCE.

What is your occupation? I practice law.

Were you upon the Hustings on 16th August last, at nomination of Bertram and Clarton? Yes. I stood while the seconder of the last candidate who just closing his remarks.

Whereabouts on the Hustings were you? I was sitting a little south-east from where Mr. Dumble sat.

Can you describe the positions occupied by the following persons. Clarton, Carnegie, Walton, Dumble, yourself, Bertram and the Returning Officer? Clarton sat near the north-west corner; Carnegie sat, I think; between Clarton and the corner west of him; Walton sat on the west side, but a little further south; Dumble was either sitting, or leaning, on a little table a little piece from the west side. I sat a few feet to the south east of Mr. Dumble; Bertram sat on the south side; the Returning Officer stood very near on the centre, just half way between north and south and only a few feet from where I was in a north easterly direction.

How close was the Returning Officer to Clarton? A little more then half the width of the Hustings, about 6 or 7 feet, I think.

Did the Returning Officer change his position? I saw the Returning Officer change his position once.

When? It was when the Returning Officer turned partly around; he was facing the east and turned round to his left, making a few steps towards him at the time he spoke about the qualification.

How close was he to Mr. Clarton then? I should say probably threo or four feet.

Where was Mr. Bertram then, with reference to the Returning Officer? Mr. Bertram was sitting on the south side of the Hustings, and almost behind the returning Officer, not quite.

Whom did the Returning Officer speak to, and what did he say? The words were addressed to Mr. Clarton, so far as I could judge. He said something in reference to qualification, but I can't give the exact words.

What did Mr. Clarton do and say? The first thing I saw Mr. Clarton do was to partly rise off his seat and search his pocket as though he was going to produce his qualification. He then said it hadn't been sworn to, directing his remarks to Mr. Carnegie, or to that effect.

How did Mr Clarton appear affected by the demand for his qualification? He appeared rather confused.

Did any one speak to him, and if so, who? I saw Mr. Carnegie speaking to him.

Did Mr. Dumble speak? Yes.

What did he say, and to whom? He said you needn't get in a row about it, or words to that effect. It's not necessary that you should fyle your declaration now. His conversation was addressed to Clarton and Carnegie.

What then followed? Mr. Dumble then read from a book which I think he took from the Returning Officer, as to that I am not certain, and he stated that it was not necessary to put in the qualification when demanded. He then passed the book over to Mr. Carnegie or some one else then sitting in the same place.

Did Mr. Clarton and his friend Carnegie read the book so handed them? They appeared to.

Did they appear to acquiese in the statement made by Mr. Dumble? They did as regarded the law I think.

What did the Returning Officer do then? He moved further towards the East, or front of the Hustings, and had the Proclamation read.

Did the Returning Officer demand from Mr. Bertram his qualification or did any voter do so, or did any one before the reading of the Proclamation? Not to my knowledge.

Did the Returning Officer at any time before the poll was granted address himself to Mr. Bertram or could he have done so without your notice? He did not to my knowledge, nor do I believe it was possible for him to have done so without my notice.

Was it a subject of remark there and then that he had not done so? It was a subject there and then, and in the presence of the Returning Officer before we left the place.

Did Mr. Dumble or any of Mr. Bertram's friends talk to or consult with Mr. Bertram after Mr. Clarton's qualification was demanded and before a poll granted? Not to My knowledge.

What took place immediately after the reading of the Proclamation granting a poll? The Candidates were called upon to address the electors.

What took place on the occasion you spoke of when remarks were made about failure, to demand Mr. Bertram's qualification in presence of Returning Officer? Mr. Dumble was there at the time and said to Bertram we'll not fyle any qualifications. It wasn't necessary, as they haven't demanded it, or words to that effect. The Returning Officer made no remark.

When was it? We were on the ground just leaving the Hustings.

Who were present? Dumble, Bertram, Returning Officer, and others that I can't remember.

Did the Returning Officer hear the remark? He did hear it, because Mr. Bertram made a remark to the Returning Officer with reference to it.

How close was the Returning Officer to Mr. Dumble? Perhaps three feet or so.

Are you familiar with the property upon which Mr. Bertram qualifies? Yes

How long have you known it? I have seen it frequently for ove 20 years at least.

What was it worth on the 6th of August last? Some-where between $5,500 and $4,000.

Do you know of any similar and if so what properties sold about the same time, if so state price? I tried to buy one myself last summer about the same distance from town, but perhaps a little nearer, at $100 per acre and could not get it, and one or two other parcels similar to Bertram's sold from $90 to $100 per acre.

What was the manner and velocity of the wind when Tremnam bought it? The [illegible] were [illegible] of almost no. The only question of any value was a post hole.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dumble.—Were you a member of Mr. Bertram's committee? I was.

Did you take an active part in forwarding his election? In this fact I attended meetings and canvassed for him generally and used all the influence I had in his favor.

Who was the chairman of that Committee? Mr. Dumble was considered the Chairman.

Who was the secretary of that committee? I am not certain about that, I know that Mr. Geo. Hazzard was reported to be Secty of either that Committee or of the Reform Association, but of which I am not qualified to say.

Who was the Treasurer of that committee? I dont know.

Were you not one of the most active members of that Committee, and did you not continually take a part in their deliberations and proceedings? Cannot say that I was one of the most active. There were others that took a more active part than me, there was a great many Committee meetings I was not present at all, and with a good deal of their proceedings I was not acquainted.

Were you not present at numerous meetings of the Committee? I was present at a large number of meetings; I could not say it was the committee. It was the meetings of Mr. Bertrams supporters generally.

Can you, from your knowledge of the manner in which the operations of the Committee were conducted, say who were the executive officers of the Committee? No further than I have already stated, and that Mr. Dumble was Chairman.

Are you aware of funds having been provided for the purposes of the Committee? I never saw any funds except what I gave myself, and which I gave for a particular purpose, namely, for printing.

Do you know of other persons having furnished moneys for the purposes of the Committee? I do not.

Have you understood from Mr. Dumble that others did contribute moneys for the purposes of Committee. (Mr. Dumble objects to such questions being allowed on cross-examination under the Commission and order.) I decline to answer the question; not that I am afraid to answer it, but because I don't think I would be doing what was fair to the party by whom I am called, after the objection has been raised.

To whom did you pay the moneys that you contributed? I paid it into the hands of Alexander Smith, who produced the account, that I gave it to pay, at the time. It was some time after the election was over.

Do you know of Alexander Smith having obtained similar payments from others? I decline to answer that question for reasons already given.

Was Mr Smith acting as Treasurer of the Committee? I don't know.

On the hustings, at the time you have spoken of, could you say how many people were on the hustings? I could not give the number,

Did you hear anything said on the hustings, at the time you speak of, about Mr. Bertram's qualification, by any one? No, I think not; not to my recollection.

You said the distance between the Returning Officer and Mr. Clarton was a little more than half the width of the hustings; was he at that time nearer to Mr. Bertram than to Mr. Clarton? I should say there was not much difference.

Did you first particularly observe what the Returning Officer was doing when he advanced towards Clarton, as you have mentioned? I didn't observe anything particularly; I thought he stepped forward to receive Mr. Clarton's qualification.

After he so stepped forward, did you hear Mr. Carnegie say to Mr. Dumble that "Mr. Clarton's qualification would be put in at once, and Mr. Bertram might do as he liked," or to that effect? No; I don't remember of hearing it.

Did you hear Mr. Dumble say to the Returning Officer, or to any one at that time that "he did not understand his business," or to that effect? I did to the Returning Officer. After the Returning Officer stepped over to Mr. Clarton, as I thought to get his qualification, I said to the Returning Officer, do you demand the qualification as Returning Officer, or as an elector, and he replied, I believe I have the right to make the demand as Returning Officer, or any elector may do so. Almost immediately after Mr. Dumble said you don't know your business, Mr. Clarton can hand in his qual ification as any time before the election closes, or words to that effect. I may, also, add that Mr John Walton at the same moment said, we all know Mr. Clarton's qualification is sufficient or words to that effect.

Was this before or after the Book was taken by Mr. Dumble from the Returning Officer as described by you? It was after Mr. Dumble read the law, and after he handed the book over as stated by me.

Was [illegible] Mr. Dumble got the book [illegible] you addressed the Returning Officer as you have mentioned? I think it was, to the best of my recollection.

Was not your attention particularly drawn to what proceedings were taking place in consequence of the little fuss created by Mr. Dumble with the Returning Officer? I don't know that there was any fuss between Dumble and Returning Officer, further than the words which Dumble addressed to him "you dont know your business."

Was it in consequence of those words that your attention was pathetically called to what was passing? That did not attract my attention pationlarly, it was attracted so far on account of the interest I took in the proceedings.

You say after the proceedings were over, and you were leaving the place Mr. Dumble made a statement to Mr. Bertram as to his qualification, and and Returning Officer being your Mr. Bertram made a remark to him on the same matter, what was the remark? Bertram made a remark in a casual way, "well Dr. or Returning Officer what about those qualifications," or words to that effect, the Returning Officer said nothing.

Did Mr. Bertram tell the Returning Officer at that time when the declaration of qualification should be filed or to that effect? Not in my knowledge, I am quite satisfied I never heard him.

Did Mr. Bertram ask the returning Officer at that time if it would do for him to fyle his on Monday or to that effect? I think not, at least I did'nt hear it.

Did you at any time during the election hear Mr. Bertram say anything as to his intention to fyle a declaration of qualification? I never heard Bertram say anything as to his intention to fyle a declaration of qualification, or words to that effect.

Did you at this time think that he would ask Bertram for his? I expected he would; I knew that if I had not thought so I would not have asked him.

Do you know why no demand was made for Mr. Bertrams qualification? I concluded, in my own mind, that it was because Mr. Clarton's was not ready.

Mr. R. WALTON'S EVIDENCE.

How long have you known the property sold by Tremnum to Mr. Bertram on which Bertram qualified? About 30 or 35 years.

What was it worth on the 6th day of August last? I consider it worth $4000—fully that.

Do you know any similar properties about same distance from Peterboro which have been recently sold, if so mention some of them and state prices they realised? I don't know of any except my own, which is about the distance. I sold 34 acres for $3000 or nearly $90 an acre. 9 acres were close to town. Some of the same property has been sold a few days ago for $100 an acre. The remainder at about what it cost. The 25 acres sold for $2,100, the balance for $100 an acre.

Were there any buildings on the part sold for $100 an acre? None whatever.

Take it all together was the land you sold more valuable than the Tremnum property? I dont think it was.

At what polling place were you on the day of voting in August last? I was at John Hall's school-house, Smith until about half an hour before the poll closed.

Did you at any polling place or any where hear notice given of Mr. Bertram being disqualified prior to the closing of the poll? I did not.

Did you ever hear that notice had been given before the closing of the poll that Bertram was not qualified to be a candidate at the election in question? I never heard anything against his qualification before the close of the poll.

Do you know who the editor of the Peterboro Review was on the 20th of August last? I don't say I do. I have understood that Mr. Carnegie was before and since.

Was that the organ of Mr. Clarton during the election campaign preceeding the election in question? It was.

Do you know if that paper in the first issue after the polling stated that Mr. Bertram was elected? (Objected to as not being proper unless the paper should be put in.)

Who was admitted by the Conservative party generally as the successful person at the election immediately after the close of the poll and for several days thereafter? Mr. Bertram was by every one. I never heard of any other person being named as successful.

Where did you first hear about the hitch on Mr. Bertram's qualification, and from whom? I heard it a day or two before the day of making the Return. It was a subject of common conversation.

Was it a subject of on the streets as to whom the Returning Officer was going to Return? It was spoken of that he was going to Return Mr. Clarton.

Was it a matter of astonishment to all parties? It certainly was to me, and to everyone else I think.

Do you know if the R. O. acted throughout the campaign in an impartial manner? I don't think he did from current report.

Cross examined for Clarton.

Have you a knowledge of the value of farming lands in this county and for how many years have you had such knowledge? I have in certain parts of the county the last 25 years.

From what is your knowledge of such value derived? From reports generally and from hearing of farms changing hands.

Your own business is that of a dealer in stoves, tinware, leather goods etc., in Peterboro, is it not? Yes.

For how many years have you been engaged in business of this kind? 20 or 25 years, can't tell exactly.

Whose is your knowledge of the value of farming lands derived from dealings with such lands or only from the talk or transactions of other people? It is from both.

In what way has your business been connected with farming lands? I farmed the 34 acres that I sold until I sold it.

Was this the only transaction of your own that you had in or with such land? That was the only transaction.

When and how did you acquire the 34 acres spoken of? I acquired some of it over 20 years since. I purchased from the Lee estate. The other portion I have had nearly 10 years. I purchased it from Stephenson.

Which portion did you purchase from the Lee estate? The 9 acres.

What price did you purchase it at? $300 for 10 acres.

From whom did you acquire the 25 acre parcel? From Stephenson.

When and what did you give for it? I dont remember the year, 10 years or more, gave $1200.

Did you pay for it in cash? $600 in cash and exchanged 10 acres at the Lee estate [illegible] $600.

What did you pay for the 10 acres of the Lee estate property that you exchanged it for? [illegible] cash.

What was the condition of the 25 acres when you acquired it? It was all improved, no building except a small log house and a large stone foundation for frame house.

From your knowledge of farming lands in the county of Peterboro can you say that such values have increased considerably in the last year or two say since Bertram bought from Tremnam? Farming lands have increased considerably within the last two years in value.

What condition was your place in when you sold it, was it in much the same condition as when you bought it? [illegible] qualified except that I had [illegible] a farm on the foundation before speaking of.

To whom did you sell? To W. H. Rackham.

Who is W. H. Rackham? A young [illegible] from the Old Country.

[illegible] money on buildings [illegible] etc., place he purchased from you? He has but I could not say to what [illegible] to the [illegible]

Was not the sale you made to Mr. Rackham a part property and one? I considered it a fair price, Mr. Edwards thought it cheap.

What is the sum in value of such land for the [illegible] two years, would it in your opinion vary from 25 to 30 per cent? I think about 15 per cent, probably nigher it to say from 10 to 15 per cent.

When you say the property bought from Tremnam by Bertram was last August worth $4000, how do you arrive at your valuation? I arrive at my value by the acre. I consider it worth $4000 and I am prepared to pay that for it to-day.

Is it worth $4000 for farming purposes? I think it is for farming purposes or for a homestead.

Do you include the buildings in the $4000? Yes.

What are the buildings and what is their value? The building is a frame barn, at a fair valuation I should judge worth $250.

How much per acre do you value this land at without the buildings? I should value it somewhere from $70 to $75.

Have you known of any farming lands near Peterboro give any such price except your own parcel sold to Mr. Rackham? I know of none except Tully's which brought $60 odd. The Flemming farm sold for $50 I think, but it is further away.

Is the Tully lot part of it, the property bought by Wm Tremnam on the boundary line between Smith and Monaghan and where he now lives? That is the property.

How many dollars per acre would you value the Bertram property worth more than the Tremnum property where he now lives valuing each without reference to buildings? I would value it at from $15 to $20 per acre more for a homestead.

Why do you think so? Because the property is quite close to the corporation and the view is very fine and Mr. Tremnum has improved it much since he owned it.

What do you say was the true increase of such property in the last 3 or 4 years? I could not say as to that time I have a more distinct recollection within the last 2 years.

Do you know Mr. Wm Hall and Mr. John Walton of Smith. Do you consider their opinion as to the value of such lands reliable? As to all such lands you will find discrepancies of opinions. I consider the opinion of either of the parties named reliable.

Do you know who the proprietor of the Peterboro Review newspaper is? Reputed to be Mr. Romaine.

What is Mr. Clarton's connection with this paper, is there any, if so what? I don't know of any connection.

What did you mean when you stated that this paper was Mr. Clarton's organ? I meant by that that it was the paper he carried on his election campaign with.

What do you mean by this, do you mean that he was supported by this newspaper during the contest? Yes.

You say it was a matter of astonishment that the R. O. should Return Mr Clarton in consequence of the hitch about Mr. Bertram's qualification, was it not a matter of astonishment that Mr. Bertram's qualification had not been fyled? It was not. It was generally considered that no demand had been made on Mr. Bertram.

Were you a member of Mr. Bertram's committee? I was.

Did you hold any special office in the committee? No special office.

Can you give the names of the officer or executive of that committee? I cannot. I think Mr. Dumble was Chairman, I think Mr. Leonard was Secretary or Treasurer, I don't know which.

The sales here during Thursday and Friday last averaged 32 cents, Saturday 30 cents was the general price, Monday 30 cents, Tuesday 30 cents, Wednesday 30 cents. At Belleville wool brought 30 cents on Friday.

Suicide attempted.

At Belleville, on Friday, a respectable looking man named Edward Walker attempted suicide by walking off the lower Bridge into the river. He was in delirium tremens at the time. A policeman saved him from rendering his account until further notice.

Politics and Religion.

The Toronto Mail is endeavoring to blacken Canon Ramsay so that his religious teaching in future may prove ineffectual. The Political Tory game must be well up when even the church must be sacrificed to bolster it up. It is a poor dodge of the Mail. How will churchmen relish it?

Rumor.

The Toronto Sun has what it considers good authority for saying that Mr. Crawford of that city will receive the appointment of Lieut.-Governor in the place of Mr. Howland. Perhaps so.

The Conservative Leader

The Mail is actively engaged in blackening the character of a quondam friend—the Hon. Mr. Cauchon. His crime is that he aspires to be the leader of the Conservative party in Quebec. Old friendship is nothing where danger to John A. Macdonald is feared. They fear Mr. Cauchon.

The Village of Uxbridge

Is discussing the propriety of purchasing a Steam Fire Engine. If their citizens should be as illdisposed to work a hand engine as the people of other towns then they had better get a steam engine. They are much the best at the end.

Parricide.

A young man named Walworth a law student of New York, lately shot his father in cold blood. The father and mother had been divorced, and the son had intercepted letters sent by his father to his mother. Annoyed at their contents in some way, he wrote for his father to meet him at an hotel, and as soon as they met he shot four bullets through his head, causing instant death. There must be a sad state of society in the land of Freedom across the lines. The family is one of the most respectable, his grandfather is an eminent judge.

The $18,000 Re-Law.

This case has been put off to next term The delay cannot be advantageous, as in the meantime, all railway enterprises, no matter how beneficial to the county, must be left in abeyance. This thing of two or three Railway by-laws in litigation at the same time does not speak well for the County. These must be cases of cause, or no rules would have been granted, and as in the latter case, the chief cause in the polling of illegal votes, the good name of some ratepayers is compromised. In all future projects it would be well to bear in mind that defeat honestly brought about is better than to have the County compromised by the unwise course of over zealous public spirit, bordering on selfishness.

Arsenic.

The late fire originated about Mr. Ryans Tannery and no doubt was caused by some loafer and his pipe and matches. The flames were advanced before any thing could be done to stop them, they communicated to other sheds, stables and wooden buildings in the vicinity, but it is not somewhat amazing that to Mr. Hazlitts sheds is attached the blame of the fire? Whatever damage was done or damages caused, must be attributed in proportionate degree to all the wooden buildings and to no one in particular, but it is difficult to see things in the right way.

Farm for Sale.

Mr. Roberts offers for sale this week, his farm in Douro. It is very nicely situated on the Wagger Road about four miles from Peterborough. The Barns, Stables, &c., are first class, the dwelling is a rough cast house, the soil is good, and there is a beautiful spring running across the farm. It is a very eligible situation, being so near Town, on a good road, and about half a mile from a good school.

The Ontario Hospital

Of Uxbridge by mutual agreement now close their houses at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, hoping them closed to Monday morning. They had received a solemn warning from the Licensed Inspector of course, unless if they did not) and they took the hint.

Collegiate Institutes.

Mr. A. S. Hoarigan, one of the pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has just returned from a three week's examination at the University of Toronto, where he not only passed in all the work of the first year and part of that of the second year, but also won double honors, in Classics and in Mathematics, obtaining a much higher standing than many of the students who attended Lectures at University College. This is the first time in the history of our school that a student has been sent up to compete with the Undergraduates of University College, and the result is such as we ought to be justly proud of. Very few High Schools or Collegiate Institutes ever do work higher than that prescribed for Junior Matriculation or entrance into College; but our Institute has now fairly begun to do the work of University College up to a certain point, and seems determined to do it well. We understand Mr. W. A. Hunter, a class-mate of Mr. Hoarigan's, intends to present himself for Senior Matriculation at the University in September, and that three or four other pupils are then going up for Junior Matriculation. The additions lately made to the Staff of Teachers in our school, will no doubt make the work still more efficient and place our Collegiate Institute where it will have few equals. We congratulate Mr. Hoarigan on his success, both at Junior Mathematics and also at the end of his first College year; and indulge the hope that he may yet win brighter laurels, not only at College but "in the world's broad field of battle."

The Pacific Railway Scandal.

The Cobourg Sentinel in discussing this subject, says:—"It would indeed be a new thing under the sun to see shrewd keen witted Yankee speculators parting with nearly four hundred thousand dollars without any thing to show for it, or the slightest guarantee that they should receive any return for the investment." That is just what they did not do. They have the documents, and they are now in safe keeping of Mr. Starnes. The cute Yankees took writings, Mr. Huntington got copies and in two or three weeks we shall know the contents.

Hail Heads.

Napanee Ladies complain of the annoyance and damage caused by the heads of nails projecting from the side walks. Ashburnham Ladies have cause to complain loudly of the same trouble. A boy with a large hammer could find excersise for a day in making them (the nails) hide their heads if not for shame, to prevent destruction of dresses, and injury to so many tender soles.

The Honorable Edward Kenny, is spoken of as the probable successor of Mr. Howe.

T. M. Gibbs is in Ottawa pressing Sir John to get Mr. Howland's place, on the ground that he paid for it in buying his election in South Ontario. Sir John will play his own card, with regard to Gibbs or any one, if he thinks it will work out his object to appoint Gibbs he may do it.

Furrier.

Mr. S. Hyman, has secured the services of a first class Furrier, and is now prepared to do all kinds of business in that line, read his advertisement in another column

New Dry Good Store.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of Messrs. W. Johnston & Co., in this issue. They will open out on Monday, in one of the new buildings, north of Mr. Lemay's Confectionery Store. The Messrs. Johnstons are well known in the Dry Goods, in Peterboro', and expect an inspection of their goods by many old friends.

A Public Benefit.

The agent of the Bank of Commerce here gives notice that on Saturdays, that Bank will close at 3 o'clock as on other days. This will be found a public benefit as Saturday is the business day of the week, and as men are busy, very often forget the hour to deposit or perhaps to draw out to pay accounts until a little after the time, thus causing inconvenience to themselves and others. This change will enable farmers and others to do business on Saturdays that often required them to return on Monday, and will also be of great advantage to merchants whose acceptances may require attention. It will deprive bank clerks of half a day, but otherwise will prove a great boon to business men of Peterborough.

The Grand Orange Lodge

For the Dominion has just closed its sitting at Belleville. Politics were not wholly lost sight of in the minds of some present. The Reports for the year go to show the order in a flourishing condition.

The following are the names of the officers appointed for the present year:—Mackenzie Bowell, Belleville Grand Master; and Sovereign; D'Arcy Boulton, Toronto, Deputy Grand Master; Rev. Abraham Dawson, Guelph, Grand Chaplain; Thos. Kays, St. Catharines, Grand Secretary; Wm. Anderson, Amelinsburg, Grand Treasurer; Jos. Boyd Davis, Toronto, Grand Lecturer; Wm. White, Tweed, Grand Conductor of Ceremonies; Wm. Hussey, St. Catharines, Deputy Grand Secretary; Wm. Johnson, Belleville, Deputy Grand Treasurer; Wm. Geo. Allen, Carnarvale, and John Roxy, of Restemount, Deputy Grand Lecturers; Chaplins, Revs. W. M. Robinson, D. F. Hutchison, And. Gordon, J. N. Shepard, A. M. Phillips, Malcolm McPhail, I. D. N. West, E. Grannett, M. A., W. McDonnell, and G. Robinson.

The next meeting of the Lodge will be held in St Catharines.

Protestant Home.

The Committee of the Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations for April and May. Mr. White pieces of corned beef; Mrs. Fish beef and potatoes; Whyte & Davis a large piece of beef: Mrs. Brough basket of eggs; large parcels of clothing from a friend; Miss Nicholls do; Mrs. Monk do; Fairweather & Co. do; Mr. Wrenn, large piece of beef: a neighbor a quarter of veal; a friend, dripping.

Sour Milk at Allandale Pressed.

The Sour Milk at Allandale were burned about a week ago on Thursday, by accident. Mr. Chase, who was running them, had set up to about 10.30 p.m., when he left, expecting that another man would take his place right away. About 12.30 they were discovered on fire which obtained the mastery and destroyed them. There was no insurance. It is intended to rebuild them, we understand.

Post Bags

Is already preparing for celebrating Dominion Day. It is understood that they will have a gala day, and that the Five Brigades of the surrounding towns will join them in their celebration.

THE PROVISIONAL SUPREME COURT OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Reeve of Dysart has replied into the Globe in favor of the Victoria Railway, and against the County Council for not submitting the By-law for $60,000, from a portion of two or three Northern Municipalities, in aid of this road. He blames the County Council, and the Reeve of Belmont in particular, while the fact is, he should blame Mr. Bloomfield, the Agent of the English Land Company. The County of Peterborough passed a By-law granting $35,000 to the Railway to Haliburton, and the Town of Peterborough voted $40,000 for the same purpose. Thus the Town and County have voted $65,000 to aid in building a railway to Haliburton. Mr. Bloomfield and Mr. Carnegie thought they would get the manipulation of this $35,000, and imagining the game secure slept on their oars until Mr. Fowler stepped in, took the charter out of their hands, and set to work to secure the Haliburton Road in part, and as soon as possible promised to complete it. Mr. Bloomfield's and Mr. Carnegie's hopes of gain being snatched from them by the shrewd Mr. Fowler, they set to work and opposed every scheme proposed by him and the people of Peterboro to secure a road North, until Mr. Fowler got tired of the matter and sold out to the C.P. & M.R. & M. Co'y. But for the opposition dictated by Mr. Bloomfield, 20 miles of the R. R. towards Haliburton and the Northern Townships would this day be in operation or nearly so. Let Mr. McDonald lay the blame on the right parties. He blames the Council for what? for not submitting a By-law contrary to law. The members were willing to submit a By-law if the Statute directed them, but the Northern people had not complied with the Statute.

Another charge is that the old and wealthy part of the County has taxed the people of the Northern Townships to aid in building the Ontario & Quebec Road. This is not strictly correct, for the two wealthiest Townships are assisting Mr. McDonald to quash the $150,000 because illegal. The Reeve of Belmont is able to defend himself, and we leave him to do so, merely stating that he is not guilty of some of the accusations brought against him, especially in reference to a telegram. The Reeve of Dysart is unfortunate in having a gentleman directing the destinies of the Northern Townships largely whose aim is not so much the development of the new Townships as it is to carry pet schemes, where self interest is as strong as the desire to assist the people in the North. Nor need the people in these Townships hope to succeed in obtaining a road until they get clear of "Railway Rings," and join theirselves to men who are ready to forget self for the public welfare. Some men only favor the building of the road that promises most pickings.

SIR HUGH ALLAN.

It is understood that Sir Hugh Allan will leave England on the 13th instant, (to-morrow) for Canada. His friends say he has succeeded in his mission, his opponents say not. Time will tell.

On the second of July he will appear before the Committee on Mr. Huntington's resolutions, to answer to the charges of furnishing John A. with $360,000 of American Gold to bribe the electors at the late election.

The Conservative organs, especially the Montreal Gazette, say Sir Hugh merely subscribed liberally himself, but where did the money come from?

A correspondent of the Hamilton Times after recounting some of the incidents of the late Session says:

THE SHADOW OF A GREAT CRIME

has fallen upon the land, and formerly a movement passed of during the sitting of Parliament that its presence was not felt as something almost palpable. As time passed the shadow grew denser from day to day, until Mr. Henry Starnes appeared upon the scene, and documents, the existence of which was so frantically denied, became terrible facts. Then Sir John Macdonald said with quivering lips, to the Committee the following words: "If and I known what these documents were I would never have consented to the resolutions requiring their production." And why not? Is this the innocence that courts the fullest investigation? Or was there, after all, something that should be concealed—something that even the heavenly innocence of the Premier dreaded being brought to light? The skeleton hidden in the closet of the Metropolitan Bank should not have been permitted to stalk and grin in the sunlight of Barrack Hill, if the first Minister had known that it was its presence that was required. The Dominion of Canada is a wide theatre wherespon to play the dramas of with three millions for spectators. The first act has only been played. Let us wait for the next.

THE GAMBLER'S LAST STAKE,

In my first letter to you, about the opening of the session, I expressed my regret that purely physical causes were likely to remove from power forever the leaders of the Administration. A part of that painful prophesy has been fulfilled. I did not then dream that a worse fate than mere death would threaten them. Here themselves, then, in the proposition that a faction should raise a monument, in the name of the people, over a man whom one-half at least of the country regarded as a political enemy!

It is not denied by the partizans of those in power here, that Mr. Huntington had some grounds for the charges he made against the Administration; but they say, Ministers are not responsible for such "Commercial lies," as Sir Hugh Allan may have thought, proper to use in his negotiations with United States speculators. This is a very small hole to attempt to creep through and shows how gradually the fiery circle of evidence is closing around conspirators. Those people always take their cue from Sir John, and it is astonishing with what blind faith they accept his slightest words as the inspired utterances of a god. The Tom Whiter of the Ministerial press—literary Kleptolites of the lowest type—from whose personal vindictiveness to the members of the Opposition is only equalled by their abject servility to their masters catch up the hint of the moment with marvellous quickness and, forthwith, we learn from the crumbs and bones they greedily snatch from under the table of what sort are the viands upon which their lords are banqueting.

To John Carnegie, Editor of the Review and author of Articles on

Our Schools,

or Our Schools and the Review, or Our Schools and John Carnegie, or Our Schools and John Carnegie and his Man Friday, (N.B. Friday was a Black), or Our Schools and John Carnegie and his Man Friday and Gen, or Our Schools and the Review and John Carnegie and his Man Friday and Gen and Politics and everything else that would, in the nature of things, turn a dark visaged, sour eyed and disappointed editor into vinegar, gall and wormwood.

Dear John, allow me to query a little, and then I will make a few remarks. I hope you will oblige by answering every question in next Review, otherwise, I shall have to be under the painful necessity of searching the books and making out answers myself. I know you are "too good to be tempted and too wise to err," in education, election matters, a perpetually elastic field for illuminating the Town, and the duties of school Trustees. Your goodness and wisdom only led you in respect of such matters as Schools, Politics, Gen and School Boards.

Now for the queries:

1—Can you get any one in Peterboro to swear that you are the veritable John Carnegie? If so, where?

2—Can you believe statements 1, 3—Who is responsible for any present school system?

4—Is not the Rev. E. Ryerson, Chief Superintendent, and is he not a great political fetich?

5—Has not the School System of Ontario been admired and copied by almost every intelligent community of the more important states of the American Union?

6—Did you as a member of the Ontario Legislature support Sandfield Macdonald's Government in establishing High Schools and Collegiate Institutes?

7—Did the Review also support the change?

8—Do you believe you are capable of forming a correct opinion on all matters you try to discuss, and also, that the articles in the Review are always to be relied on?

9—If so, how do you account for the praise you gave our Schools and School System in the Review of Dec. 27th, 1872, and the attacks you are now making on these, through the Review? (See below.)

10—Are you and your man Friday aware that it is the duty of Teachers in our High and Public Schools to carry out the Programme of Studies prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction?

11—Are you aware, too, that the Inspectors of both High and Public Schools being complimented the Dixon system of the teachers on the efficient manner, consult manner in which they have carried out this Programme?

12—If so, and you know it is useless to ask imagination has taken possession of you, or, is it possible that you went insane in the former part of your life, and have just lately come to reason, or, shall I say the truth is vice versa?

Oh, dear John, if the latter case be yours, betake yourself, as speedily as possible, to quiet scenes and soothing baths, but, above all things avoid all exciting discussion, or be assured, your friends will soon find Rockwood still be the only place that will hold you and keep you from injuring yourself and others.

John, there is no use in either of us addressing the public on our School System, as the people know more about our Schools and School Systems than either you or I do. Why you have fallen laughing at you already, on account of your vain attempts to lecture them on "Shoes for the People," and "Our Schools," &c. I don't wish to show my ignorance by doing as you have done.

My object, John, is to open, if possible, your eyes, the people are wide awake, I'll guarantee. If you don't believe so, just try, or if you like, some one a little smarter than yourself, try and get out of them to pay a dollar more than he is entitled to, and I give you my word for it, you will be miserably sold.

I must now call your attention to some articles in the Review for which you may you are responsible. Here are your own words. In the Review of April 4th, 1873, after trying to vindicate the first attack on "Our Schools," you say: "Then Mr. Carnegie could not have written the article in question is equally without foundation, inasmuch as he is just as prepared to be held responsible and defend the article under consideration as any article which has appeared in our columns since his connection with the Review." You are surely becoming brave—More so now than at the time of your fight for life on Hunter Street, leaving your offspring at the mercy of the enemy. You were not courageous enough then to defend the article of the Review "under consideration." I'm afraid, John, your exhibition of bravery now proves that your judgement is becoming unreliable.

In the Review of March 28th 1873, I find you made the following statements: "We had from time to time in our Office boys of ordinary intelligence, who had spent several years at our School, whose spelling and writing were most execrable"..... "There is certainly some great defect in the system of education which produces such results as these"...." If a desire to maintain our higher institutions of learning should lead us to neglect our Public Schools: and, as things are being managed, this would seem to be the tendency."...." And yet there is no provision made for teaching so important a branch of education as Penmanship."

But, dear me! John, have you forgotten what you said three months before. Here it is:

In a Review Supplement of Dec. 27th, 1872, issued for the purpose of glorifying our schools, I find the following: "On Thursday, the public examination of the several departments were held in the respective rooms, GIVEN A NUMBER OF THE PUPILS OF THE SCHOOL ATTEND, AND SOME HONORARY WORK WAS DONE. The examination of the PRIMARY DEPARTMENT WAS WELL WORTHY A VISIT—not only to observe the general interest taken by the little folks in the work, BUT TO NOTE THE EXCELLENCE AND ACCURACY OF THE KNOWLEDGE IMPARTED. The Dime drawing, as usual, was a marked feature in Miss Lester's division, and those of the pupils seemed to have acquired a very correct idea of figures and their proportions. We would like to see this department of public instruction, to which so much attention is paid in the countries of Germany, receive more solicitude than it does in the schools of Ontario. There is no reason why a pupil when he leaves school should not be able to draw as readily as he can write.

Shades of Nature! what a change three months has either wrought on our Schools and School System, or on John's mind! Three months ago our Schools did "excellent work"—now they do "ensemble work"; then our schools exhibited "excellence and accuracy of knowledge"—now the pupils learn nothing owing to "neglect"; then, too, "drawing" and other higher studies, calculated to refine their tastes, were just as desirable as "writing"—now pupils should study nothing but reading, writing and arithmetic—just the "practical," in your opinion.

"O John, O John you'll get your fairin."

But I must close now, and I hope you will answer my questions in next Review, if not, I shall have to try and answer them myself, next week, and parse the subject further.

Yours, &c.,
IN PETTO.

Peterboro, June 9th, 1873.

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER.

Anaheim Cal., May 20th 1873.

DEAR EXAMINER:—When last I wrote I told you about the severe frost we had which did a great deal of damage to the vine crops. I believe it was general all over the State, and from what I see here, I think only one fourth crop may be relied on this year. Then two other crops suffered much; we had during the first half of April very cold blowing weather, the wind came from the North West and also sometimes from the East, it almost destroyed the grain crops, drying it up, and making it appear as quite ripe, especially where the grain was in an advanced state. A good deal of the barley had to be cut no hay which is scarcely saleable for $3.50 and $4.00 per ton. We had to cut the most of ours. When hay is cut here we rake it up the same day and put it into hand cocks where it remains until we have time or it is convenient to put it into stacks. No barns being needed here, or rather I should say none being used. Our barley crop will be short from the cause. A good deal of rye was sown this year which promises a fair yield although it was also much damaged. The latter part of the month was fine weather, a good deal of the time cloudy and threatning, rain, yet no rain fell. We had no rain since the last of March and—please, sir—we hope not here, into sown especially, has had no rain, and this year we have had no dews, which aided the crops much last year; neither have we figs this year so far. Yet had it not been for the winds and frosts we had plenty of moisture to have insured good crops. I think from 10 to 12 inches of rain fell last winter. This month so far has been favourable, generally cloudy days, and now as the date the weather is getting more summer looking; yet it is not warm, probably for a few minutes the sun will make it very hot particularly till about 10 o'clock, or three forenoons, then the ocean breeze begins to take possession of the land and moderates matters somewhat. Every morning we have the wind from the west, only a light breeze, then it dies away after sunrise, next it comes with more force from the S. W., regular trade winds, carrying the freshness of the ocean over the land, then sometimes the same until the rains begin to fall which is generally about December; so that you and we have a long summer season, and, again, the state I resided in, Illinois, is not to be compared to it.

We are now commencing the harvest, it is generally cut with headers and carried by waggons to a convenient place in the field and put into a small stack where the threshing machine, the implements are the same as used in Canada. When the grain is said about half a dozen men, two teams and three headers are required. The grain is then put through a fanning mill to clean it, then sent away to market. Some farmers have their own warehouses for storing their grain, others sell from the field. Wheat is the principal crop grown. Some farmers have their own threshing machines, others hire it done by contract. The grain is then put through a fanning mill to clean it, then sent away to market. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Influenza, and Consumption. Its wonderful cures of these terrible diseases are known in every part of the civilized world. Consumption, which fastens its fangs upon the Throat and Lungs, is the most dangerous of all the diseases to which we are liable. Its victims are numbered by thousands, and the annual record of deaths is appalling. Many of these deaths might be prevented by the timely use of a remedy which will cure the disease in its first stages. Such a remedy is Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Its composition is perfect, and its virtues are unsurpassed. Every family should have it in the house, and every person should carry it about with him. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.

Thanksgiving Sermon.

On Tuesday evening, and hence no meeting of the School Board.

The Cobourg Star

Understands the Orangemen of Cobourg will celebrate the 12th of July with their brethren in Peterboro.

The White-Wing

Has commenced her regular trips for the season. See the advertisement in another column.

Taxing of Bank Stock.

There are 14 appeals to the County Judge against the decision of the Court of Revision in reference to taxing Bank Stock.

The Potatoe Beetle

If said to be very numerous this season. In some places they can be gathered by the measure, and are doing a great deal of damage.

The Road Body

Lately found near Port Hope was that of the wife of Jas. Doyell of Millbrook, who left him about the 16th of February and was not heard of until the body was found near Port Hope. An inquest has been held and a verdict of murdered by some person or persons unknown, returned.

Body Guard.

John A. has sent the Governor General's Body Guards to the funeral of Sir George E. Cartier, at the public expense. This is his dernier resort to retain the support of the French Canadians. John A. Macdonald cares no more about the departed statesman than by what means he can turn even his last obsequies to his own advantages, and the more cute of the Lower Canadians know this.

Cary's Stump Machine.

The trial of this machine came off on Wednesday, in the field west of the Little Lake Cemetry. We learn from farmers and others who were present that it did its work well and very quickly. All appeared to be satisfied of its great utility. It will take out from 5 to 10 stumps an hour, according to size, &c. It requires one team and about 5 hands to work it to advantage.

Miss MacPherson

Addressed a large audience in the Music Hall on Wednesday evening on the subject of her mission, saving boys from the dens and courts of London, training them and bringing them to Canada. Her design is to enlist the sympathy and cooperation of the people of the Dominion in her work. But her address was especially directed to the ladies, whose sympathy she particularly solicited. She touched, somewhat, on the cause of the destitution, misery and wretchedness of the poor of London, ascribing it largly to the gin palace, ale houses, and dram drinking; in other words, to the use of intoxicating liquors. Is it not a stain on the christianity of England and English Statesmen, that this dark spot is allowed to cloud the homes and prospects of so many in merry England? Millions of pounds are gathered into the Treasury of the Empire yearly, for the right to trade in the blood, rags, degradation and misery of the people, and this awful crime is legalized by men who call themselves christians, who boast of the churches built, the altars decorated, the amount paid to Bishops, Presbyters and Ministers: by men who bow before the all seeing Jehovah and assume the right to call him Father and as a consequence must admit that all men are brethren, and yet, leave the altar, the sacrament, the prayer meeting, yea, it may be the closet, and go and sanction, by vile statute, or worse perhaps, by their example, the very thing which Miss MacPherson tells her audience is ruining thousands of the men, women and children of England, and we may safely add, of every Christian Land in Europe and America. If the sympathies of the people could be so aroused as to never cease till this was removed, the labours of love of Miss MacPherson and other kind ladies would no longer be needed. What number of ladies will undertake the work?

Tenders for the Nassau Bridge.

The contract for this bridge was awarded to Mr. John Cass yesterday, at $2,980. The contractor takes the cedar at cost and other material at a fair value, to be agreed on by the Warden and Engineer.

OTHER TENDERS.

Whyte & Davis $6,346. and to give 2½ cents per pound for all the iron which the County may furnish for said bridge. John Boyds tender, $4,200, and to furnish the necessary material himself. William Clarke's tender was $3,965, and to take everything at a fair valuation.

We have heard that Mr. Black, over whom so much trouble has arisen, denies that he sought to obtain terms by which he might retain his situation and drop the discussion, otherwise he would continue to write the school dogs if he could. Most reliable witnesses can be obtained to substantiate all we have said on this matter. What he has said or may say to the contrary is just so much in self defence, without regard to truthfulness, and which we don't care to notice.

The Circus

On 2nd inst. was well attended and the managers took away a considerable number of Canadian Bills and a large quantity of silver. Money is not tight among the Farmers, sons and daughters, nor yet among pleasure seekers. The drive and friendly conversation to and from the show was, we dare say, as highly prized by many as among the elephant, nor was old age unrepresented, not a few were there who would have been more appropriately preparing for a seat or standing place at a different assembly.

Burial Assistance on the Midland.

On Wednesday evening as Lang's Circus Train was on its way from Lindsay to Port Hope, a mile of rail in the Bargeman Concession was removed, causing the death of one man and the serious injury of others, and considerable damage was done to the baggage but unfortunately none of the animals were injured. The train will not reach Port Hope till 4 p.m. and the circus lovers of that town had the disappointment of not seeing one of the best performances of any circus that has visited Canada.

From the Montreal Correspondence of the Lindsay Post, we take the following:—"Mr. Campbell, proprietor of the Peterborough Examiner, passed through Montreal, on his way to Ottawa, on Thursday last. Mr. Campbell is a gentleman who has made a little money by his pen, and is now spending it in a way which will make him more friends than ever. He is building a fine block of stores in Peterborough, and is also erecting a handsome residence for himself. Mr. Campbell is a man who has the courage of his convictions, and who will not hesitate to say what he thinks, and to stand by what he says. He is a man who will make his mark in the world, and who will be a credit to the Province of Ontario. John Bright said, two years before his death, that he had passed and repassed the Atlantic twenty times, and that he had never met a man who had not a good word to say for Canada. We have met many Canadians who have visited Europe, and they all say the same thing."

A fire broke out Thursday night, or perhaps on Friday morning, about 12 or 12.30, in Mr. P. Ryan's Tannery, and before long it communicated with the sheds, stables, three horses and [illegible] in the block surrounding the Tannery and lying immediately behind the [illegible] of Geo. Stewart, Esq. The tannery was completely consumed, and the dwelling destroyed. The fire swept in front of the Dixon Block on Simcoe Street, the sheds and stables in rear of the Royal Canadian Hotel, and also in rear of Holtzhauer, White's, Blackwell & Elder's, Bent's, Bergmann's, Faulkner's, Clanton and Herkner's stores were consumed, and the sheds and sheds belonging to Cavanagh's Hotel and in rear of the new block lately erected by Mr. Hanlon, were all destroyed. Fortunately in all these cases the main stores and buildings are but slightly damaged.

Mr. Ryan will be the heaviest loser, as his tannery is entirely destroyed, nothing in it being saved. His loss is $50,000, insured for $6,000. Mr. Faulkner's loss is $800, insured for $300. Mr. Gunn's loss is covered by insurance, loss about $800. The sheds, stables and store house attached to Cavanagh's Hotel are all consumed, with their contents. The fire was discovered in time to save the horses in the stable, but everything besides was destroyed. Hannah, 71 tons of hay, 400 to 500 bushels of oats, in fact everything in the stables and sheds. Mr. Cavanagh also lost his stores and vinery [illegible] which he had opened [illegible] to the citizens. His loss is $2000, insured for $900.

Messrs. McDougall & Ledgate, and Messrs. Campbell & Hanlon had between $2,000 and $3,000 worth of harness, buggy-ropes, whiffletrees, neck yokes, &c., &c., also stored away in the same place, all of which is destroyed. The sheds lately occupied by Mr. Hanlon, and belonging to the Dickson estate were consumed, their loss is $800, insured for $400. At one time Messrs. Macdonald & Elder's bookstore appeared in danger, but it was saved. Macdonald's Hotel for a time was slightly on fire, but it was put out without serious damage.

The Firemen were on the spot almost at once, and did good service. The Steam Fire Engine saved her full value during the conflagration by confining and preventing the extraction of property. A fire wall in rear of the Chemist block also did good service in checking the progress of the fire towards the main stores on George Street.

No less than three streams of water were thrown, and the Engineer kept to it until there was no more danger. If the old engine had been in a state to be used it would have been useful on the North side of the fire, but it is now too late to more than urge the Fire Committee to action, lest something worse cause them to regret their inaction when it is too late.

There is one cause for consolation now that the fire is over, i. e. that no very valuable buildings were destroyed. The loss is considerable, but nothing to what it might have been if the stores on George Street had caught fire.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been caused by some drunken loafer who must have crept into some hole for the night, and in his drunkenness must have set fire to the place around him while attempting to light his pipe. This is the prevailing opinion at present.

FIGURES DON'T ALWAYS TELL THE TRUTH.

The editor or editors of the Review, in what it calls "No. 1," attempts giving results in figures, in reference to our school affairs. The figures are so little confused, and on examination show the evil design of the compilers.

Purporting to be taken from the Report of the Chief Superintendent of Education they are made to do service in a most unholy cause.

THE CRIMES OF THE BOARD.

1st—Peterboro with a population of 4,611 sends 1248 children to her public schools. Port Hope with a population of 5114, a larger population, sends only 1204; 40 less than Peterboro; while Peterboro has a large Separate School educating between 300 and 400 yearly. Port Hope has no Separate Schools.

Hence Peterboro with a population of 503 less than Port Hope, sends 380 to 480 more children to her Public and Separate Schools to be educated every year, than her sister town, Port Hope. The common sense people of our town must therefore see that our School Board must consist of a set of ignoramuses to be educating more children than our sister town Port Hope does.

Port Hope pays for education in the Public Schools, of nearly 400 less children than Peterboro, $3,095: Peterboro $8,716 in salaries, and hence the Peterboro Board gets the work done for $879 less than the Port Hope Board, and educates 400 more children; without calculating the Separate Schools, 40 more attended the Public Schools in this town than did in Port Hope. This is crime No. 2. WE PAY LESS in salaries and yet get MORE WORK DONE. What a crime! According to Review logic the fewer children attend our Public Schools, and consequently the more ignorance prevails, the better How many of the people of Peterboro will endorse these views!

PETERBORO VS. HAMILTON.

Population of Peterboro 4,611
" Hamilton 35,716

or the latter about six times the former. Yet Hamilton sends only 4,695 children to her Public Schools, against Peterboro's 1,248. Whereas according to population Hamilton should send 7,693. All these figures show that Peterboro sends a larger proportion of children to her population to school than the town and city selected by the Review for comparison. The writer will admit that in these cases "the end comparisons are odious," dropping on e from the quotation

Hamilton pays $26,915 for Public School teachers' salaries: Peterboro as above $2,716: to be in proportion to Hamilton, this should be about $4,700, according to population: according to children attending Public Schools, Peterboro ought to pay about $5,300 or double what we paid in 1871.

In other words we get our children educated in our Public Schools for one-half per pupil what the citizens of Hamilton do. This is another blunder of the Trustees, according to any neighbor's logic. What creatures we are!

HIGH SCHOOL HUMBUG.

Our School Board and Principal are naughty fellows, (that should be written knotty.) They are guilty of sending more children to obtain a High School education than even the City of Hamilton, with six times the population. Is not this monstrous. Think of it! The Review writer tells it with gusto. Peterborough sends one pupil more to her High School than the City of Hamilton, with a population of 30,716 inhabitants are we drifting

To people of Peterborough, come to the rescue of Mr. Hugh and the Review, and don't, pought this to continue, for if you educate the masses they'll all become goats. But we have neither time nor space to follow out this falsehood. We will just place the figures side by side and let the people judge of the villany of the writers of "No. 1."

Children in the High School
Peterborough 224
Hamilton 220
Port Hope 168

SALARIES PAID.

Peterborough $2,250
Hamilton 4,250
Port Hope 1,375

Thus Peterborough pays $771 less than Hamilton for the education of one pupil more in the High School, and Peterboro pays (according to the Review figures) per pupil, $10.04; [illegible] Port Hope pays $10.24 per pupil in her High School. Are not comparisons odorous? Observe of the nature of the duties, as well as of the unpatriotic spirit of the publisher of "No 1."

Let the Board go on educating our children! Educated and take to give our sons and daughters the best education our Collegiate Institute can bestow. If inferior teachers creep in, as did the one who is now teaching all this "tommyrot in a gay park," discuss them. No conflict attempting to destroy the school in which he is a teacher should be sustained one hour.

What must the citizens think of an newspaper that will lend itself for political purposes as is insinuated) to destroy the good name of one of the best educational institutions in the province. For we do not fear to assert that on comparison the pupils of both the Public and High schools [illegible] equal to those in any of the schools of the Province.

IT IS STRANGE

That the Editor of the Review cannot allow himself to place this Chester-Burnham outrage fairly before the people. Constantly from the very first, he has continued to misrepresent facts and lead the people astray. The action of the Chairman of the Committee at Ottawa was unwarrantable in raising objections, taking up the time of the Committee in idle and useless quibbles and in placing all possible obstructions in the way of Mr. Bertram's obtaining justice.

After the Committee had been sitting some days, he raised the question of Mr. Bertram's locus standi and identity, which no one else doubted. Questions which were admitted by Mr. Dennistoun at once were kept in abeyance for days, and not even the generous John Carnegie would admit at Ottawa that Mr. Bertram was the John Bertram, the Petitioner, nor yet that he had any standing or existence at Peterboro, and yet he would have his readers believe that everything was done by him and the Committee that could be done to facilitate investigation, but his statements are beginning to be looked on as, to say, with suspicion.

We have more than once convicted him of giving garbled statements, and in this case he even garbled the Statutes to suit his purposes. He started by insinuating that Mr. Bertram was not duly qualified. Why? Because he bought property to qualify himself. The Statute provides that the Candidate certify that he has not collusively or fraudulently obtained a title or become possessed of the Lands in question for the purpose of qualifying him to be returned. If the Land were purchased, in good faith, one hour before making the declaration, it would be just, right, legal and equitable. Now Mr. Treasurer and Mr. Bertram both swear that it was a bona fide transaction, are they not to be believed on each because John Carnegie has the impudence to say to the contrary?

Mr. Bertram has now proved his Locus Standi, and he has proved that the property was bought in open market, and further that it was worth more than what he paid for it. John Walton, a practical farmer, thinks it worth $4,000. Mr. Treasurer was willing to give $4,000 for it, and Mr. James Chalmers, who is as good a judge of the value of lands as any man round Peterboro, says it is worth from $75 to $80 an acre, or $4,640 to $5,000. The evidence before the Commission proves, therefore, that Mr. Bertram was duly qualified, and Mr. J. F. Dennistoun has admitted that he is himself—that is, that John Bertram is John Bertram; of course Mr. Carnegie could not do this, he did not know that much.

Mr. John Walton, Mr. R. Moir, Mr. Geo Edgecombe, Mr. J. Moloney and Mr. Dumble all of whom were on the Hustings at and during the Nominations to the granting of the poll, swear that they did not hear a demand made on Mr. Bertram, and IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE THAT A DEMAND COULD HAVE BEEN MADE WITHOUT THEIR HEARING IT.—Surely this settles the question of a personal or [illegible] on Mr. Bertram having been made for his qualification.

It is not true that the Returning Officer says he made a demand on Mr. Bertram for his qualification. The words as found in his report to the Clerk in Chancery are: "demanded qualifications from Candidates" and it placed on oath, we dare not believe that he would now swear that he made a personal demand on Mr. Bertram. Even the Review calls the Return of the Returning Officer THE WARPED STATEMENT (See Review of 6th instant) That Mr. Dumble on Mr. Bertram's behalf did not put certain witnesses in the witness box, must have been for reasons cogent, but not complimentary perhaps.

As to the "little tight" thrown on the "memo" used to obtained Mr. Bertram's majority, Mr. Bertram and his friends will accept an investigation of "memo," and decide the whole question on that issue. Will Mr. Clanton and his friends accept the terms?

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people of any length of time. One of them is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a proprietion of one of our best. Of the that we know, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines are made of several ingredients in order to [illegible] preparations of greater power and [illegible] others which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combination. Thus in the preparation of this we combine [illegible] a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination [illegible] Hence, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered.—Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S

SPECIFIC AND TONIC PILLS.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Nervous Debility, Spermatorrhea, Nocturnal Emissions, Weakness of the Generative Organs, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling, Sleeplessness, the effect of over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants and tobacco, &c. Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S Pills are the only effectual ones for the above diseases, and are never known to fail. They have already cured hundreds in this country. Robert Arthur, machinist, Hamilton, testifies to his recovery by their use. Safe, certain, and rapid in action, a short trial will prove their efficacy. No sufferer need despair of being relieved from the frightful effects of Self-Abuse. The Specific Pills are sold by Druggists at $1.00 a box, and the Tonic Pills at 50c. a box, or they will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, and securely wrapped from observation, on receipt of $1.00 for the Specific, and 50c. for the Tonic Pills, by

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of the kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With colds, anæmic women, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating disease or I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HAVE you a sore containing anything and healing properties, with no dangerous after-effects. A friend has tried for the cure of sores and cakes, wounds that refuse to heal, &c., and found it to be a sure cure. It is a sure remedy for sore nipples, never prescribed for a bad effect, but always relieving with a sweet cure.

It is prepared by MISS SAWYER, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, and for which this salve is recommended. [illegible] Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Bruises, Sore Breasts, Sore Throat, Piles, Chilblains, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Dandruff, Boils, Corns, Burns, Cuts, Bites of Insects, Chapped Hands, Fever Sores, Scaly Eruptions, Chilblains, Croup, Scrofula Sores, Salt Rheum, Bad Breast, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Chilblains, Frosted Feet and Ears, and Sore Nipples, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In every case it has cured patient thirty, for Piles it has, beyond a doubt, effected more cures than all other remedies put together. For Salt Rheum, Scrofula Sores, Fever Sores, Barber's Itch, and Dandruff, it never fails to cure. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Bruises, Spinal Affections, Sprains, allaying the Inflammation and relieving the pain. For Piles [illegible] Hundreds have been cured with this salve. For Sore Throat, Croup, Diphtheria, it never fails to cure. For Chilblains, Frosted Feet and Ears, it is a sure remedy, and they will find it invaluable. It is good to cure of Scrofula Sores. Persons have been cured with it. The best Salve ever presented the Public. For Cuts and Burns, No way injurious, but safe to afford relief. There are Medicines—Pills—that are to do this penalty, once or twice a day. Cures dangerous [illegible] Sores, apply the Salve on a piece of cotton. For Nursing Sore it operates to any thing known. For Piles (the only Salve a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve to cause and to have immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beautifying effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on head spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable ornament for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff, and cleanses both the head, and blossoms and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my household, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be soft, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family for six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Piano Box on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple for life if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a great many things that you have not, for I use it for everything I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send twenty-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

For sale by Dr. Taylor, and Messrs. Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unborn character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most powerful remedy that can be given for those of a more dangerous character. In the first stages of Consumption, and even in the last, it is certain to relieve, and cures, all short of the most confirmed and hopeless. [illegible] Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Although this remedy is generally used by taking Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses, it is also the best external application for the various known forms of pulmonary disease. Used in this way, it relieves the soreness and pain, and heals the parts more speedily than any other medicine. [illegible] Pectoral, and [illegible] Pectoral, and [illegible] Pectoral, and

When I ... the question of your coming it ... ? I went out on that road ... grant for taxes at Alexan... ... have been driving on it ... on it.

... Park Lots would you put the proper... ... $60 per acre for it? ... Park Lots and sell it by

... Park Lots would pay cost ... would depend on the wishes of the purchasers and the frontage, in 5 or 10 acre Park Lots.

Could this parcel be conveniently divided into 5 or 10 acre Park lots, would not the peculiar formation of this land have something to do with the manner in which it might be possible to cut it up? so that it would sell? The only way that I know to cut it would be north and south, so that each lot would have a frontage and access to the road

You would arbitrarily cut it then from north to south without reference to anything but the frontage on the road would you? That is my impression at present but not having seen the lot for some time nor ever having the idea of breaking it that way, am not sure what would be the best course to treat it in.

Is it not quite possible upon examination of this property you might find it would destroy it to cut it up in any such manner? It might make it less desirable than keeping it together or cutting it into large lots, but in cutting or selling you could suit your purchasers.

Well having cut it up into lots running from north to south what would be your next step? To turn it into cash as quick as possible.

By what means would you expect to attain that desireable object? By selling the land.

How would you expect to sell and on what terms? That would depend on circumstances, any lands that I have sold recently I have got 7 or 8 per cent interest I am not particular as to terms.

Have you known of any similar property to this cut up and sold in Park lots before 6th August 1872? I know one lot, an inferior lot, rough, I think as far from the centre of the town sold some years ago by Joseph Ford for $1000. I think it contained 8 acres, it was near the old Camp ground, I know of 20 acres owned by the late Thomas Hutchinson and sold at $3600 which is held at a much higher figure now those were both sold before this time I know of 9 acres bought by Wm Hall at $800 poor stumpy land a small chanty on it.

You have not mentioned any instances of lands used as farming lands being bought and cut up and sold as speculations as you propose prior to the 6th of August, near Peterborough, were there any such within your knowledge? The only large piece of property that I know of being cut up recently is the Buchanan property in Ashburnham, and which has been sold at the rate of $300 an acre, as far as it has been sold, I don't know of any farm which has been cut up into Park Lots and sold, but I know of a farm that has been cut up and sold in smaller lots "the Smith farm." I also know the Smith farm in Monaghan, that has been cut up into Park Lots prior to 5th August, last. There may have been others, but I don't remember.

Is not the Buchanan property spoken of within the limits of the village of Ashburnham? I believe it is.

Was not this property offered for sale in village lots, ¼ of an acre each, or thereabouts? The lots were smaller than a ¼ of an acre, they realized from $100 to $110 each—perhaps $100 is the best answer I paid $100 for some of them.

Is not this property close to the town of Peterborough, by way of the bridge at Dickson's dam across the river? There is no bridge at Dickson's dam that I am aware of.

Have you never crossed the river Otonabee at Dickson's dam? I have formerly crossed there on a temporary bridge made for use of owners dam, which bridge does not now exist to the best of my knowledge, it was always dangerous, it was of a most temporary character.

Do not people cross the river by this same bridge daily at the present time, and have they not done so for years? There has been no passage for a long time to my knowledge, and if there is now I am not aware of it, more than that, it is against the wishes of the proprietors that people should pass there.

What were your means of knowledge about this bridge? Observation, and statements of Mr. Hazlitt the manager, as to his wish that people should not cross it. There are no regular approaches to the bridge and to get to it you have either go through the saw mill or over the slide on which they draw up the logs and go up stairs over loose boards, I have many a time placed the boards in position so that people might not be thrown into the water.

You do not seem to have observed it very closely if you say people have not continually crossed for years. Do you still swear there is no bridge there, and that people have not used it for years? I did not say that, I said it hadn't been used for years—if it had it was not to my knowledge I have not been over for a considerable time, the last time I saw it there was no passage.

When were you last over it? I doubt if I have been over it since before Mr. Dickson's death, but I have seen it since.

The last time you saw it you say there was no passage, when was that? I can't fix the time, when I went to the sale of the Buchanan property, last fall, I went by the lower bridge being under the impression there was no bridge there.

Was that last spring or summer? I cannot fix the time.

What was it prevented passage that way at that time, was a span of the bridge removed, do you know of it of your own knowledge? During the high water two or three years ago a portion of the dam was carried away, before that the bridge had been getting out of repair, and if my memory serves me right, Mr. Hazlitt told me that it was not safe and had stopped the passage that way.

Do you wish it understood that what you know about the stoppage of the passage occurred several years ago and that you learned of it from Mr. Hazlitt? I am aware, of my own knowledge, that for a considerable time there was no passage over that bridge, and my impression is that there ceased to be a passage on account of the bridge getting unsafe and Mr. Hazlitt stopping the passage, as work on it as parried when the dam was carried away, of late I have seen very little of the bridge.

Where do you refer to? I don't know what the question refers to, I have given an answer that refers to two or three different times, and I don't know which it refers to.

Unpleasant Rumors

Are afloat in reference to Mr. Jas. A. Roseborough, who left here in a hurry about two weeks ago. Mr. Eyres followed him to Troy, N. Y., obtained $1000 of money and information that implicates others, a little ; but we prefer not giving rumors till after the investigation to-day, when the truth of the affair shall be elicited, and in the interests of all concerned, we shall do what we can to obtain facts, and only facts.

Excursion.

The Whistle-wing will run an excursion on Dominion Day to Harwood, and return, stopping at intermediate points to land and take on fishing and pic nic parties. This will be the most enjoyable way of passing the day, and we are sure that many will avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded. In the evening there will be a Moonlight excursion. The palace scow will be attached, and good music provided.

School of Telegraphy.

As will be seen by advertisement in to-day's Examiner, Mr. W. Givin has established a school in the City of Hamilton for the special purpose of giving instruction in telegraphing. In speaking of the establishment, W. K. Muir, Esq., Supt. G. W. R. says: "This company in selecting operators will give a preference to those graduating at your school, and to those possessing your First Class Certificate as good Penmen, Sound Operators, and who are otherwise reliable, we will give engagements of employment at graduating salaries, to be agreed upon from time to time, as the operators are drafted from your School of Telegraphy." Persons desiring to learn Telegraphy should send for circular.

Appointments.

T. N. Gibbs is sworn in Postmaster General in the place of Mr. Campbell, who is Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Masson is Minister of Militia in the room of Mr. Cartier, and Stewart Campbell takes the place of Mr. Howe.

South Ontario.

The nomination for a Member in the place of Mr. Gibbs will be on the 20th, and the election on the 30th inst. Mr. Holden, a popular lawyer, will oppose him in the Reform interest.

French Church.

A few Sundays ago, in St. Peter's Church here, a Committee was appointed to meet and confer with the French Church Building Committee to arrange to re-unite on the following conditions :—That there shall be a French Priest permanently for the French portion of the congregation, and that their language and their rights shall be recognized and respected. The arangement has been agreed to subject to the Bishop's approval. The French Church Building Committee take this opportunity of thanking all those who have subscribed towards the building of their church, and all the money will be refunded to all of the subscribers as soon as the French Priest arrives and assumes his duties.

Lakefield Correspondence.

On the 15th and 16th inst. the anniversary services in connexion with the Bible Christian Sabbath School took place. On the Sabbath divine service was conducted both morning and evening by the Rev. G. Webber, of Prince Edward Island.—A Soiree was held the following day, at which Mr. Sanders, Superintendent, submitted a report, from which it appears the school is progressing very favourably. Able addresses were afterwards delivered by Mr. Knight, of P. E. I., and the Revd's Hull, Clark and Webber, Rev. S. H. Rice being Chairman. A number of very appropriate pieces were sung by the children. Proceeds, over 60 dollars.

The Presbyterian Soiree will be held on the 24th inst.

"Small," Very

After agreeing to allow the Engine and Cars necessary for ballasting and completing the Cobourg and Mud Lake extension, to pass over the Midland Road from Port Hope to Peterboro, the President refused to do so on Friday last. He said that on more consideration he could not allow it. This cannot but be considered small indeed. It is true that the Cobourg road is a rival line to the Midland, and may not meet with the approval of the Midland Co'y., yet it is a fact, and men are forced to accept with as good grace as possible what they cannot prevent. This would have been the most graceful for the President of the Midland, and would have done him none the more injury, as Mr. Barber returned to Cobourg took his locomotive and cars to Harwood, put them on scows, and on Tuesday landed them safely on the road in the Village of Ashburnham. The delay of a day or two being the only inconvenience. Mr. Hugel cannot hope to avert the result of competition by want of courtesy.

The Lion and the Lamb

Have at length come together in Peterborough, but they chance to be a golden Lion and a golden Lamb. Messrs. Mason & Bradburn have got a very fine golden Lion "sign" and placed it over their door, which is the next to Mr. Cluxton's golden Lamb. The said Lamb looks puny beside his nobler brother, but they agree. The innocent Lamb merely hanging his head in the presence of the king of animals.

Personal.

We understand that Mr. A. Shearer of Otonabee, goes to Hastings to take the place of Mr. Earl, who has been appointed to a position in the Collegiate Institute here. Mr. Shearer is one of the best teachers in the County. The Trustees of the Hastings School are fortunate in securing his services.

The Twelfth of July

Will be celebrated in Peterborough this year in a grand style. The Lodges from Cobourg, Port Hope, Hope, Cavan, Omemee, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, &c., are all expected. About 50 Lodges and an immense concourse of people will be in town that day, and everything is being done to make the celebration successful.

Burned.

Mr. Bertram lost week met his fathey, mother and three sisters at Quebec on their way to Peterborough. They left their homestead on Tuesday the 27th of May and finished here on Wednesday the 11th, making the entire passage to Peterboro in 15 days. We are glad to be able to say that they are hale and hearty after the passage out, and we trust are pleased with Canada, which offers them a kindly greeting.

Burglary.

The residence of Mr. Roach Way, near the Douro Mills was broken into on Tuesday, during his absence in town, the perpetrators taking a $20 gold piece, a $10 gold piece, and about 35 to 40 cents of Canada silver belonging to his little boy who was at school at the time. Acts of this kind are rare in this section of the country, and this one must have been perpetrated by some one who knew Mr. Way was from home, and who also knew the way of his house. Suspicion must be on some one not far from the place. Nothing but the money is missing.

How Dangerous?

The Review or rather shall we say the Editor thereof has manifested the most dangerous and selfish spirit in the matter of Mr. Hourigan, a pupil of our school who passed at the late University College examinations in honors, in almost every branch of the of the examination. The Editor of the Review is a political character, all other consideration wane in proximity to this great object party. A job editor gets himself into a brawl, in his haste to the rescue, he has volens to write down our school system but especially the Peterboro Collegiate Institute, and so full of hate is he that after promising to notice the honors obtained by Mr. Hourigan he failed to do so. The cause of his not doing so is self evident ; he could not without admitting the efficient system of training under Principal Dixon, and that he could not be generous enough to admit. To admit the truth would damage himself and at any risk this must not be. What strange people we are ? He may attempt to conceal, for the most selfish ends, the prosperous state of the school as a whole, but he cannot hope to blind the eyes of the community to the fact that he is ready to give room to any false hood to injure the school, but unwilling to admit the plainest and strongest evidence of success under Mr. Dixon's management

Mr. Hourigan who passed so successfully his examination at the University College, has commenced the study of Medicine with Dr. O'Sullivan. He intends still to continue his University course, and hopes to succeed in both, of which we have no fear, as he has shown himself able to succeed so far, notwithstanding the unwillingness of the Review to admit deserved merit. Had he been the son of a Judge, instead of a poor boy, Mr. Carnegie would have awarded half a column to his praise.

Cavanville.

Two men got on a drunken spree at Cavanville, on Sunday last, when one of them found the other, name Jones, pretty low in a corner. For fun, he got coal oil and some other combustibles and daubed Jones' head over and set fire to it with a match. He found the joke going too far, and tried to put out the flame but could not. After burning his own hands severely, he got off his coat and wrapping it round the burning pate extinguished the fire, but not not until severe injuries were inflicted. Dr. Turner, of Millbrook, was sent for immediately, and did all he could for the unfortunate fellow, but on Tuesday morning he had no hopes that he could survive. This was carrying jokes pretty far, but the result is attributable to whiskey. Both parties were on the best of terms.

Norwood.

The Norwood High School Board have increased the salary of Mr. Moore, the Principal, to $1,000

Fruit Store.

Messrs Stone & Bailey have received the first Strawberries of the season from Rochester, and they intend to keep on hand during the season, all choice fruits, such as Strawberries, Raspberries, Grapes, Cherries, Peaches, Pine Apples; Apples, Oranges, Lemons &c. Having seen and eaten a sample of the Strawberries, we say they are splendid. Just give them a call, three doors notrh of T. Menzies bookstore and opposite W. Lech's fur store, George Street.

East Riding Agricultural Show.

The East Riding Fall Show will be held at Norwood this year, on Tuesday and Wednesday the 14th and 15th of October. This was decided at a meeting of the directors on Friday last. A revised prize list will soon be issued.

COUNTY COUNCIL—JUNE SESSION.

The County Council met on Tuesday. All the members were present. Jas. Miller, Esq., Warden in the chair.

The Clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, when they were confirmed and signed.

The Warden then addressed the Council.

WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN,—The June Session being the most important meeting of the year, according to custom, I have prepared an Address directing your attention to the matters which especially require your consideration.

The Equalization of the Assessment Rolls, at all times one of the most important duties of the Council, will this year be more than usually difficult. Portions of the Townships of Smith, Monaghan and Douro have been taken out of the County and attached to the Town. It will be your duty to see that while the townships aforesaid are fairly dealt with, the interest of the other municipalities do not suffer.

NASSAU BRIDGE.

A contract for the rebuilding of this bridge has been made with Mr. John Cain, for $3,900, his being the lowest tender

COURT HOUSE SQUARE.

The Town Council having granted $200 to improve and plant the Court House Square, conditionally, that the County grant a like sum. The Advisory Committee authorized the expenditure of $300 providing that the first expenditure be for a fence on the east side of the square.

Mr. Remnie, the Superintendent of the River Trent Works, came to Peterboro with instruction from the Government of Ottawa to insist on the removal of the slab abutment at the Buckhorn bridge. I had no opinon but to agree to remove the same in order to avoid litigation.

BURLEIGH BRIDGE.

When in Toronto, together with Messrs Fairbairn and Reed, we had an interview with the Commissioner of Public Works in reference to the rebuilding of the Burleigh Bridge. The Commissioner requested that plans and estimates of costs of the proposed bridges be forwarded to the Department. I am glad to state that we have so far succeeded as to induce the Commissioner to recommend the Government to assume one-half of the cost of the rebuilding of these bridges, the same being a part of a Colonization road.

BOBCAYGEON ROAD.

In company with the Warden of Victoria, I went over a considerable portion of this road. I am sorry to report that between the Village of Kinmount and Minden several crossways had been lately destroyed by fire. We made arrangements with Mr. Hartle to repair the same, which I understand has been done. North of Minden Village, towards the Junction, we found the road in a very bad state, the bridges nearly rotten and impassable. We employed Mr. Joseph Graham and Mr Hartle to go over the road and make an estimate of the cost of putting the road from Minden to the Junction in a fit state for travel, with a view to memorialize the Commissioner of Crown Lands to grant a sum that will complete the same.

KINMOUNT BRIDGE.

We have let a contract to Mr. Green to replank and redix the said bridge for $194.

In reply to your memorial relating to the price of lands in Galway, the Commissioner of Crown Lands informs me by letter, that he has reduced the price of land in that township to 75 cents per acre, with interest at 3 per cent.

LOCKS BRIDGE.

The suit of Westcott, vs. the County, was decided in favour of the County. I am told by members of the Town Council that they are now willing to pay half of the cost of rebuilding the Locks Bridge, and necessary repairs for all time to come. Should they pass a By-law to do so, I would recommend you to join them in building the same as it is much needed.

EASTERN BOUNDARY OF EMILY.

The Clerk of the County of Victoria has notified me that the Council of that County in January last granted $50 to improve the boundary North of Pigeon Creek, provided the County of Peterboro grant an equal sum. Having been threatened with an action if this road was not reopened, with consent of the Warden of Victoria, I inspected the road, I employed James Montgomery to hire men and teams to repair the same. I am sorry to say that I learn that the Warden of Victoria stopped the works before it was completed.

MONAGHAN BRIDGE

Dr. Burritt requested me to call your attention to the fact that the Monaghan Bridge over the Otonabee River, will be rebuilt by a Company, providing the County grant them a bonus for the same. His letter will be submitted forthwith.

THE PROVINCIAL TREASURER

Has directed my attention to Section No. 8 of the Act passed last session, To wit: The Act respecting shop and tavern Licenses, which makes it incumbent on County Councils to appoint an Officer to enforce the observance of the provisions of the said Act.

PIGEON CREEK BRIDGE.

The approaches to this bridge is badly in need of repair. This being a boundary work, I think application should be made by this Council to the Council of Victoria to join us in this matter as part of the Bridge is in said County.

Chief W. G. Paudash of Hiswatha, has written to me complaining that the dam at Hastings prevents the natural flow of the water, and has caused considerable damage to the road in the Indian Village, and he prays that aid be given to repair the same.

I have also received the following communications and petitions:

Petition of S. H. Rice, and others praying that part of the boundary of Douro and Otonabee now closed may be opened. From the President and Secretary of of the Agricultural Emporium Society requesting the council to take stock in the same. A petition from Thomas Eggleton relating to an illegal tax sale in the Township of Belmont, and also from Mr. Alexander Hamilton, on the same subject, and from the Committee of the Protestant Home Peterborough.

A letter from Ivan O'Beirne clerk of the assizes, who by direction of the Chief Justice of Ontario, has forwarded to me an extract from the presentment of the Grand Jury, relating to the want of ventilation in the Court House.

BOBCAYGEON BRIDGE.

The Warden of Victoria and myself examined the Bridge near the Forest House, and found the timbers partly rotten. We both considered it would only be a waste of money to repair the old one, and I arranged with Mr. Simpson, to repair and gravel the Bridge over the other branch.

MUD LAKE BRIDGE.

Some repairs will have to be made on this Bridge and Boom forthwith. I am sorry to say that the people are still in the habit of trotting their horses over said bridge contrary to law and greatly damaging it. I think it is the duty of the caretaker to enforce the law. He has not hitherto done so.

Since the January Session I was served with a writ to show cause why the By-law granting a bonus of $150,000 to the O. & Q. R. should not be granted, and in accordance with your instruction the same was handed to the representative of that Company, and the sum of $200 has been deposited in the Bank of Toronto, in the name of your Treasurer, as a guarantee that the Co'y shall not be called upon to pay any costs in respect thereof.

The papers and petitions above referred to, and other estimates of the current year, together with correspondence and documents relating to the business of the county are here with submitted, and to which I request your careful consideration.

Yours Respectfully,

JAMES MILLAR,

Warden.

Moved by Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Pearce.—That Messrs. Walton, Peck, J. P. Brown, Calcutt and Moher, with the mover and the seconder, be a committee on the Warden's address.

Moved by Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Mr., Moloney,—That Messrs. Pearce, Peck, McDonald, Choate, J. P. Brown, Blezard, Collins, McCarthy and the mover and seconder, be a committee to equalize the Assessment Rolls for the current year

Mr. Pearce asked the attention of the Council as a matter of privilege. A member of the Council, the Reeve of Dysart had charged him in the first paper in the Country with an Act, which if proved should drive him from public life, namely, that he had used a fictitious telegram to influence the members of the Council on the Lake By-law. No member of the Council had before been placed in such a position, and he believed that they would not allow one member to attack another unfairly and without just cause. He then read the portion of Mr McDonald's letter referred to.

Mr. McDonald could see no cause for Mr. Pearce taking this course. His character had suffered nothing nor was it attacked, he had understood there was a telegram and that Mr. Pearce had it in his hand, and he never knew to the contrary. Messrs Blizard, Sanderson, J. P. Brown and Collins, stated that the Reeve of Dysart had no grounds for his charges against the Reeve of Belmont, as the Reeve of Dysart must have known, and did know before the Council adjourned that Mr. Pearce did not say he had a telegram and that Mr. Sanderson had also explained to him (Mr. McD.) that Mr. McFairbairn had given the information.

After a little cross-firing it was moved by Mr. Choate, seconded by M. Parkey, that Messrs Peck, Calcutt and the mover be a committee to report a resolution touching the conduct of the Reeve of Dysart in a recent number of the Globe newspaper, the committee to report to-morrow morning.—Carried.

Mr. Peck gave notice that he would at the next meeting of the Council, to-morrow, introduce a By-law to repeal clause of the By-law No. 231 which forms Rule No. 41 of the standing rules of this Council.

Moved by Mr. Sisler, seconded by Mr. Blezard, that the petition of Peter Smith and sixty others, praying for the passing of a By-law by the Council for repairing the new travelling bursary for Science

Dewey and Glendye be referred to the local Bell Telephone committee.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Blezard,—That the petition of Thomas Eggleton praying for compensation for lands erroneously sold in Belmont, be referred to the committee on Finance.—Carried.

During the meeting, the Reeve of Dysart defended himself against the charge, that he had done his duty as caretaker of the Methuka Bridge.

The Council adjourned to 9 o'clock a. m. on Wednesday. It being understood that a Committee from the Town Council would meet the Council at that hour in reference to the Lock's Bridge.

WEDNESDAY SESSION

The Council met about half past eleven

All the members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Collins explained that in reference to the Committee of the Town, he had learned that they could not meet the Council till three o'clock.

Mr Fairbairn, M.P.P., being present was asked to address the Council.

Mr. Fairbairn said he wished to ask the Council merely to cause an inspection of the public roads of the County, not only the Government roads but their own roads, so as to afford information as to whether contracts were being carried out. He remarked that he had been informed that on the Buckhorn road last year there were reports not in favor of the Agent. He did not know that the Agent of the Government had not done his duty, but the report went in last year that work on Buckhorn road was not well done. He said he got the Commissioner last year, to grant a sum to repair that road, and rumor reached him that the work was not well done. It may have been well done considering the amount, but he thought it well that the Council appoint an Officer of its own who could give such information as would enable their representatives to know really what was done in reference to such matters. He wished this to be understood that this is not from the Government, not for political purposes, nor to be used for political claptrap, as it is a suggestion of his own in the interest of the people, and he believed would afford information to this Council that would be useful in ascertaining whether money was properly expended or otherwise.

Mr. Pearse favored the idea, and explained the course that had been pursued by the Council in the past.

Mr. McDonald said that he had ascertained that the money last year was expended in a way that it will be useless for future travel, and that more would have to be spent before the road could be used.

Mr. Calcutt thought the suggestion of Mr. Fairbairn a good one, and thought also, that the engineer could report when required.

Mr. McCarthy thought the Council had nothing to do with a contract let by the government.

Mr. Pearse was of a different opinion, as the people were interested, and ought to know what was done for their own information. He would be more inclined to trust to some member who lives near and must be interested in the road for travel. Mr. McCarty believed Mr. Fairbairn was honest in his advice, and thought it would be well to adopt the suggestion.

Mr. Peck was of opinion that the suggestion would have been better official. In the County of Victoria the County Council name the men who should be appointed to spend public money, and the commissioners confirms the appointment. If the County appoint a man then they are and ought to be responsible for the work, and the government should hold the Council responsible.

Mr. Fairbairn thought that Mr. Peck did not fully understand what he had advised. He did not wish to interfere with the expenditure of the County. What he asked was that an inspection be made that affords definite information, so that he as their representative, could state what the inspector thought of the work done, and based on this, more might reasonably be asked either to complete or make good what was required.

Mr. Wood in the County of Victoria had recommended appointments, but not in analogous cases. This was merely to secure the proper expenditure of public moneys, and by the Government. His (Mr. F's) intention is different; it is to obtain information independent of the Government, which he could bring before the Government of whatever party that Government may be, and so that if any contractor did not perform his duty, he could have such contractor removed.

Mr. J. P. Brown considered the suggestion of Mr. Fairbairn a good one, and deserved consideration. Mr. Fairbairn does not wish the person to interfere with a contractor, but merely to give his report of what he thinks of the work done for the money, and this he believed would be sure to eventuate to the advantage of the County.

Mr. Peck thought Mr. Brown's views would lead the Council on to the rock he (Mr. P.) wished to avoid.

Mr. Collins moved, seconded by Mr. Pearce,—That the matter submitted by Mr. Fairbairn be referred to the Road and Bridge Committee, with a request to report thereon.

In amendment, Moved by Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Parker,—That the propriety of appointing an Inspector of Roads and Bridges whose duty shall be to examine and report to this Council upon all roads being built or repaired within the County be referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.—Lost.

In amendment to the amendment,

Moved by Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. J. P. Brown,—That Jas. Bird, the County Engineer be instructed to report to the Warden, at his request, from time to time, as to the contract being carried out on the Buckhorn road.—Lost.

The original motion was then put and carried.

The Warden read a communication from J. B. McWilliams, County Master, asking the use of the Court House Green for the 12th of July.

This was granted on motion of Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. McDonald.

Mr. Peck wished that Mr. Fairbairn be heard on the Victoria Railway Bill and By-law before the Council.

Mr. Fairbairn explained that when this Legislature was before the House its best opponent in the Assembly was the railway land-jobbing, not that he was opposed to the northern people obtaining a railway, but he was opposed to the manner used, as wrong in principle. He had in the House opposed legislation affecting different railways without due publication in his absence, for a few days, some arrangement had been made with the Company. That he reversed the paper embodying the arrangement he had sent to him in writing, and he had not therefore to read those when the matter came before the Committee. He then stated the principal points of the agreement, one of the principal of which was that the Company should not sell their lands in the Township of Victoria for less than $2 per acre, and that the Government should receive 20 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of the lands in the Township of Victoria, in consideration of the Government granting the Company the right of way, as he had the land at present in his own hands.

Mr. Carnegie was there at the time, but understood that gentleman opposed the railway without some particular object; and he, although working for the County, represented the matter on his return. In future, if Mr. Carnegie should be sent on business to him, he must decline to act with him, as he has a double purpose in all his actions, and as in this case, afterwards, does not tell the truth as to what is done. He did not say this in any revengeful spirit, but merely to express his disapproval of the course that gentleman pursued. He paid a high compliment to the manner in which Mr. Read had acted towards him in all matters concerning the County, and to his gentlemanly behaviour towards him on all occasions.

The Warden then corroborated what Mr. Fairbairn had said in reference to the matter in Toronto, adding that both Mr. Fairbairn and Mr. Carnegie had done all in their power for the County, and he supposed that Mr. Cattenach had been merely seeking an opportunity, to back out of his agreement expecting to obtain more in parliament.

Mr. Fairbairn being asked his opinion as to the joining of Townships in groups, said : he thought it necessary for each Council to express its willingness to join as the clause in the Act provided, otherwise they must fall back on the general Act, which had different provisions. If they sought to avail themselves of this special Act, they must comply with it in every respect. If they had complied with it, the Council he thought should submit a By-law in accordance with the prayer of the petitions.

On motion of Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Brown, the thanks of the Council were tendered to Mr. Fairbairn for the interest manifested by him in County matters.

The Council then adjourned to 3 P. M.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Peterboro, June 17, 1873.

SIR,—In the last Examiner appeared a notice to the effect that Mr. Hourigan, a Douro boy, who for the last four years has been a student at our High School, had, at a recent examination at Toronto, succeeded in carrying off honors in English, Mathematics and Classics, and first standing in "Pass" German.

To make honorable mention of Mr. Hourigan's success is a pleasing duty, while it is at the same time an act of justice to the School which enabled him after eight days competition, not only to pass the examination required to entitle him to a standing as First Year's Man of the University of Toronto, but to carry off honors in several branches.

The Times notices the feat of Mr. Hourigan's success but makes no mention of the institution which fitted him to maintain more than a fair place amongst his competitors.

The Peterboro Review, although the matter was particularly brought to the Proprietor's attention, has failed to do justice to Mr. Hourigan and to our High School by even mentioning the fact.

To uphold and do justice to our Institutions and make mention of any honorable achievement of the young men of our County, is in my opinion, the first duty of our local newspapers.

The action of the two papers in this matter gives a key to the source respecting our schools lately pursued by them. The aim of the parties who write for these papers is apparently rather to gratify some unworthy spleen than to discharge honorably and fairly a public duty.

If, Sir, the papers supported and maintained by the community fail in their duty to the public, and permit their columns to be used as a medium for distortion, misrepresentation or suppression of the truth to gratify the morbid spleen or disappointed chagrin of the writers, they come short of that duty which the important influences they yield demand them to observe, and they thereby render themselves no longer entitled to that support which they not only look for but which is generally awarded them.

I am Sir, your obt. servant,

JUS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Havelock, 14 June, 1873.

DEAR SIR—Allow me to thank you for noticing in your last issue, (in your editorial remarks) on Mr. McDonald's letter to the Globe, that his statement with respect to a certain telegram which he says I read to the Council at its last meeting, was not correct, being present at the time, you are aware of the facts.

Mr. McDonald was told at the time that there was no telegram, and Mr. Sanderson explained to him how he obtained the information. He also states that I spoke against the Victoria Railway. How he could as an honorable man make such a statement, after my explicit declarations, that if the petition was in accordance with the requirements of the Act, I would support it, I am at a loss to conjecture. Very true, he wished the Council to adjourn until the next day to enable him to obtain another opinion on the subject ; but after the Council had passed a resolution to transact no business except the Railway, I remarked that after hearing the opinion just given, I would not be guided by any other that could be obtained in Peterboro on the question, but proposed that the matter be laid over until the next meeting of Council, and in the meantime let the Warden submit the petition to R. A. Harrison, Esq., of Toronto for his opinion, and if he found it all right we would submit a By-law. If it was not in accordance with the requirements of the Act, he would point out what was deficient, this would prevent further trouble and save costs to all parties.

Perhaps Mr. McDonald is not so much to blame after all. It is an old adage "between two stools you fall to the ground." On that occasion he at any rate found it hard work to obey two masters.

Yours, &c.,

PETER PEARCE,

Reeve of Belmont.

NO. 2.

To John Carnegie, editor of the Review and author of articles on Our Schools, Facts for the People, &c.

DEAR SIR—You have not attempted to answer my letter of last week. I must therefore conclude that you are unable to do so, as you are too unwilling to allow a good opportunity to show your knowledge and abilities pass without availing yourself of it.

As I told you last week, I desire to open your eyes. I will proceed to answer question No. 2, passing over No. 1, as the questionableness of your identity is of no importance. No. 2 Can you define education? My answer is :

"Education is the training up and drawing forth of the powers of mind and body for the duties of after life." Now, what are the duties of after life that may fall to the lot of boys and girls in Ontario? I answer the duties of fathers, mothers, merchants, mechanics teachers, clergymen, doctors, lawyers, legislators, inventors, artists, engineers, farmers, editors, miners architects, &c.

In any system of education, then, we must make provision for educating the youth of this Province, which will enable them to efficiently fulfill the requirements of these different vocations, as that each class may at least compare favorably with its respective class in any other Province, or in any of the neighboring States, or if necessary to compete, and if possible to excel.

Now to me complain this has been the case question above all others, which educationalists in Ontario, assisted by those most advanced in Europe and America have been trying to solve for the last quarter of a century. The result is our present system of education. Now, Sir, let me ask you, have you not studied the different systems of education that have been adopted in Europe and America, for one quarter of a year, instead of a quarter of a century, not to take into account the important fact that your assistance and learning may not be equal to that of the great men referred to? If such be the case, your attempt to write down "Our Schools" and "School System" in surely that which if done by a boy, would be called impudence' but in your case, it will, perhaps, be more in accord' ance with etiquette, to soften it down a. mewhat, and call it presumption.

There is one spark of hope even in your case, viz., your faith in the Rev. E. Ryerson, Chief Superintendent of Education. A few can therefore to call your attention to some passages in his last annual report of the High and Public Schools of Ontario.

On page 38, the Rev. Dr. quotes with approval the language of the Hon. Mr. Whitehouse, State Superintendent of Pennsylvania : "Many of our people seem to think that if they have their children taught simply to read, write, and cipher it is enough, others add to these branches a smattering of geography and grammar, and call their children well educated. This superficial education is blinding many our people to the necessity, amongst others, of good health, vigor, healthy and a habit of self-respect[illegible] manual labor. It is becoming the curse of society, subjecting us to the evils of ignorance, of demagogism, of high pressure competition in business and unprincipled politics." This is equally dangerous, and I can assure you, is equally true, as that of the "Pass" system. You have y

The following objection taken by Mr. Clanton's agent, was clearly outlined on the minutes: 'That as to some objections which passed between any of the parties named, and R. A. Harstone, Q. C., the same are performed as being between client and counsel, and that the Telegraph Company having been employed simply as the medium of communication between the client and counsel would, if examined as a witness

Submitted to Mr Bertram's behalf that any communication between the Returning Officer and the Counsel relative to the discharge of the duty, which is the subject matter of enquiry under this commission, is a proper question to be asked and answered.

Did any communications pass through your office, in the month of August last, about the time of nomination, between Clanton, Carnegie, or G. Burnham, jr., and Sir John A. Macdonald? If so, produce.—The only days that I remember were from the 29th to the 27th, and I found two telegrams, which I produce. The telegrams produced were addressed to the Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, Queen's Hotel, Toronto, and signed by William Clanton, and were in the following words: "Returning Officer has not sent certificate to Ottawa. Advise fully in morning" (August 23rd.) "Please advise this afternoon" (without date).

Mr. Dumble asked that the order to Mr. Clanton to produce telegrams should be enlarged so as to cover the whole month of August. Enlarged accordingly.

The signatures to said telegrams; whose are they? I can't answer that question; don't know the handwriting.

Do you know Clanton's handwriting? Yes. Is not the word "fully" interlined in Clanton's handwriting? I consider so.

(Telegrams admitted to have been sent, with Mr. Clanton's authority, by Mr. Dumble consent.)

Cross-examination by Mr. Dennistoun.—Please look at the papers now produced and say if they did not pass through your office, being telegrams from Sir John A. Macdonald to William Clanton? (Mr. Dumble objected.) The telegrams are in my clerk's handwriting; I am satisfied that they came through my office.

The telegrams were then entered, 'August 23rd, 1873. To Wm. Clanton—it is a difficult question to answer. Can you find out whether the qualification was delivered before the Returning Officer sent to Ottawa his his certificate of Bertram's election? John A. Macdonald.' And: 'August 24th, 1873. To Wm. Clanton—It is unfortunate that the certificate was not sent before qualification delivered to Returning Officer. Under the circumstances I would recommend the Returning Officer to take advice from Hillyard Cameron, or some other council of eminence. It would not be proper, considering my position, that he should act on my advice. John A Macdonald.'

MR. O'BRIEN'S EVIDENCE.

Examined by Mr. Dumble.—What's your occupation? Clerk of the County Court.

Did you at any time hear any conversation between Dr. Geo. Burnham jr. and his brother John Burnham, with reference to what he did on the Hustings? I over heard part of a conversation between Mr. John Burnham and a person whom I supposed to be the Returning Officer from the tenor of the conversation

When and where was this conversation? At my office door shortly after the election.

Was it after the nomination or after the election? After the election I think, I am not quite sure.

What was said by the parties respectively? The first part of the conversation I only caught a word occasionally, the door being shut, afterwards it opened a little, and I heard Mr. John Burnham ask the other person in substance if he had actually demanded, and the reply was after a little hesitation, "Well I didn't demand it fully" Then after a short time this person asked Mr. John Burnham whether what had occured amounted to a demand. Mr. John Burnham said he thought it did. I don't recollect any more.

Is the John Burnham spoken of a brother of the Returning Officer's? I have always understood so.

Did the second person state any facts upon which he asked Mr. Burnham to give his opinion? I don't recollect that he did, I only heard snatches of the conversation, the door being opened and shut

Who opened the door as you say? I think Mr. Burnham, as he was standing at the door.

Had you ever any doubts as to who was talking to John Burnham? I did not recognise his voice, otherwise from the conversation I had no doubts.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun. Were the parties referred to standing on one of the public streets of Peterborough quite outside your office? Yes, but close to the door.

Were you some distance from the door inside your office? The seat in which I was sitting and ordinarily sit, was about 6 or 7 feet from the door. Mr. John Burnham had just been in my office, and had just gone out and I think was standing with his hand on the door knob.

Had the desk at which you were sitting a high back to it to hold papers, and was his back between your seat and the door, and was there not also a counter between your desk and the door? There was a counter between my seat and the door, and on the counter two sets of pigeon holes with papers in them. The desk had no back, and my seat was elevated slightly on a platform.

Were the pigeon holes between your seat and the door? Yes.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE'S EVIDENCE.

Examined by himself.—Your residence and occupation? Peterborough, Barrister-at-Law.

Were you on the hustings on the 10th of August last, at the nomination already spoken of? I was.

Can you give us a history and description of all that took place on the hustings on that occasion? The hustings, as far as I can remember, were about 12 feet wide, and about the same length east and west. They were built on the slope of the Court-house hill; there was a railing made by boards nailed to the uprights, on three sides, north, west and south; the entrance to the hustings was on the east. The arrangement of the Returning Officer was that the addresses and proceedings should be from the west side; I suggested that as the wind was from the west and the land declined towards the west it would be better to address them from the east side; this suggestion was adopted. I think while in the act of changing fronts the floor of the hustings sank, sloping into the south-west corner, in which, thereafter, no persons were to my knowledge. There was a small table near the west side, with the south foot low on account of the declining floor; it was nearer the north side than the south. Between that table and the north side sat Mr. Joe Walton; Mr. Carnegie sat at his left hand, on the seat along the north side made by a bench or a board; on Mr. Carnegie's left was Mr. Clanton; I don't know who sat next to Mr. Clanton, Mr. Collins and Mr. Billard sat on that bench; on a similar seat on the south side sat, about the centre of the seat—a little east of the centre, but very near it—sat Mr. Bertram. After the nominations a poll was demanded by me on behalf of Mr. Bertram, and somebody demanded a poll on behalf of Mr. Clanton. Then the Returning Officer stepped from the east side, a couple of steps, up to Mr. Clanton, and stood in front of him, about four feet from him "I demand your qualification," at the same time making a motion with his right hand towards him, as if to receive it; Mr. Clanton half rose from his seat, put his hand to his inside breast pocket on some papers when he had there, and partially drew them out, sitting down again and speaking at the same time said "It is not sworn to"—There was also a remark made by him or Mr Carnegie from which I inferred that Mr. Henry Smith had it, and that he was not on the hustings. Mr. Clanton appeared to be in confusion about the matter, and he or Mr Carnegie suggested getting a magistrate before whom it might be sworn; Mr. Clanton said it would be better to go to the Court-house. I was writing on the south-east corner of the table spoken of, and seeing Mr. Clanton's trouble, in kindliness to him I made a remark to the effect that he "need not be in a sweat about it; you can put it in any time before the proclamation." The Returning Officer then spoke to me, and said there was no proclamation now, and used some other language that it ought to be put in then; he had with him a pamphlet with the election law; I asked him for it; he gave it to me, and I turned up the section shewing when the qualification was required to be put in. I read it to Mr Clanton and handed it to Mr. Carnegie; he also read it and conferred with Mr. Clanton; Mr. Carnegie whispered to him, but so that I heard it, "We'll put it in any way; I would not trust them." I laughed at the time at the latter remark. Mr. Clanton and Mr. Carnegie then appeared in great satisfied without doing anything more. The Returning Officer immediately stepped to the east and stood beside his poll clerk, who, from a printed paper read also proclamation granting a poll, stating the time, etc., of polling. After the Returning Officer demanded Mr. Clanton's qualification, Mr. George Edmison, who was a little south of me, said to the Returning Officer after "by what authority do you demand the qualification?" which in my remembrance of it, or as stated by him in his examination here; the Returning Officer's answer was, "Any elector can demand the qualification, and I can do it as Returning Officer." During all this time Mr. Bertram sat on the south side; the Returning Officer never spoke to him nor addressed himself to him; his host was Mr Jno. Bertram. The Returning Officer was within two feet of me; he made no demand of qualification upon Mr. Bertram, nor did he speak to him or look towards him while speaking. I heard every word that he said; I was nearer to the Returning Officer than anybody else; I was in contact with him more than any one else during this time. We had a little conversation with him as to the Act—as to the time of putting in the qualifications—at which time I told him he did not understand his business. I assuredly watched all his proceedings; it was impossible for him to have made a demand on Mr. Bertram for his qualification without my hearing it; when he spoke to Mr. Clanton, he spoke in low tone of voice. He did not appear very familiar with Returning Officer; he called him Mr Clanton in his address. After the nomination he came to read the proclamation, and instantly spoke up and said: "You have read that already," he replied, "I guess that don't it will do no harm to read it again;" it was accordingly read again; I thought it was a gratuitous proceeding to read it again. After the close of the proclamation, when nearly everybody was gone, it happened that Mr. Bertram, Mr. Edmison, the Returning Officer and myself were on the ground at the south-east corner of the hustings; Mr. Bertram said to the Returning Officer words which, I think, were "What about those qualifications? when do they require us to put in, any way?" Before the Returning Officer could answer, I turned to the Returning Officer and Mr. Bertram, but directing my conversation to the Returning Officer, said: 'A qualification only requires to be put in when a demand has been made to be granted; you never demanded Mr. Bertram's qualification, and we won't put it in at all;' he made no reply. I remember Mr. Hoar standing on a projecting board of the hustings, on the outside, at the south-west corner of the west side, with his arms leaning over the board; I remember, when Mr. Clanton's qualification was demanded, Mr. John Walton stood, and gave an explanation at this time of 'What meaning' nobody questions Mr. Clanton's qualification.' Mr. Clanton's qualification was not put in then; it was put in after the poll was granted. On account of the break in the floor and the table there were not many people, so as to crowd in any way the west end of the hustings. I did not, nor did anybody on the hustings on behalf of Mr. Bertram, demand of the Returning Officer his authority for demanding Mr. Clanton's qualification; Mr. Edmison was the only man who expressed himself to that effect with reference to it. I had no object, in speaking to Mr. Clanton about his qualification, but a kindly desire to save him from the uneasiness he was in from his qualification not being ready; I neither was spoken to, nor did I speak on behalf of Mr. Bertram, with reference to his qualification. It was a matter of amusement to me, and to others with whom I conversed on the hustings, the failure of the Returning Officer to demand Mr. Bertram's qualification in consequence of his not getting Mr. Clanton's; it was a matter of conversation during the proceedings on the hustings, and afterwards. When Mr. Bertram did put in his qualification, I advised him not to—that is, when he instructed its preparation—on the ground that it had never been demanded; he didn't know anything about the law, and thought it safer to put it in. I am valuator for the Canada Permanent Building and Savings Society, and have been for years, I dealt to some extent, in property in and around the town; am sometimes called to value property. I know the property on which Mr. Bertram qualified; I think on the 6th August last, I sold at public auction in park-lots, it would have realized $90 per acre; I know inferior properties which, I understand, were valued higher than that. I gave $50 per acre in cash, last fall, for an undivided half-interest in a farm at the Locks, a large part of which has never been ploughed; it is without timber without fences, and in an unimproved state; I bought it on speculation, and could sell it at $80 per acre all round. Young Mr. Rogers recently came to me and wanted me to buy, I think, ten acres beside Mr. Edwards' land spoken of, without buildings, a little nearer the town than the Bertram property, at $200 per acre. Lands in the proximity of Peterborough are held at larger prices. The Bertram property is very choice and is one of the best neighborhoods, and is in the best section of the surrounding country.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun.

Do you know Mr. Wm Hall of Peterborough Merchant? Yes.

Is he a man of large property and is he not interested in many lots in Peterborough and its neighborhood? He is.

Has he not had a very large experience in transactions concerning lands in this county? Mr. Hall or his firm have got possessed of large quantities of land which they sometimes sell, but they are not land dealers, and in my own opinion Mr. Hall does not realise recent advances in prices of land. I have known him in the last year sell some property which if judiciously sold would realize 50 per cent more next day. I recently saw him at a land sale surprised by the prices realised for lands some of which changed hands at an advance of 8 or 10 per cent before the deeds were drawn.

Has Mr. Hall the reputation of selling his lands or those he is interested in for less than their value? His firm have got the reputation of holding on to their lands and neither selling or improving, I have only actual knowledge of one sale having been made by him.

Is there any person in the county of Peterborough more competent to value lands in the Town of Peterboro than Mr. Hall? I think there are.

Would you be good enough to name the others beside yourself who you consider more competent? I think Mr. James Chalmers is.

Is James Chalmers known to have any occupation other than speculating in lands? I do not know that he has.

What leads you to think Mr. Chalmers' judgment on the value of lands superior to Mr. Hall's? Because he has had more experience as a valuator, he bought up all the right of way of the Cobourg & Peterboro Railway between Peterboro and Mud Lake, he has been buying or selling land all his life.

Do you think Mr. Hall not competent to value lands in the neighborhood of Peterboro? I think a great deal of his judgment, I think he would under value rather than over value.

You said that the firm of which Mr. Hall is a member own large quantities of land and do not make sales, is it not a fact that they do not make sales because they hold their lands for larger prices? I do not know anything about their land outside the town, I have always understood as to their town lands they do not offer them for sale. I have frequently known Mr. Hall to buy and I only knew one instance of his selling.

Is it not the fact that those they own are held at prices that hitherto they could no sell for? I am not aware of their ever putting a price on them

Do you know the properties that Mr. Hall spoke of being desirous of selling to Mr. Bertram to enable him to qualify? The Allan property I know, I do not know the other property.

Do you know what he offered the Allan property at to Mr. Bertram? No, I know what he gave for a portion of it.

Is not the Allan property within the limits of the Town of Peterboro? It may be within the recently extended limits, but I am not sure, the property across the road is not.

Have the limits of the town not recently been extended 30 chains nearer to the Bertram property than formerly? I think not, it has been moved nearer but I cannot say the distance.

Have not the limits been extended in that direction the length of the Park lots that lay to the west of the old boundary of the town? Yes, but I think the street forming the western limit is not parallel with the street now forming the western limit.

In the questions that you have been putting to witnesses who have been examined here as to distance from Peterboro, have not the extended limits been referred to? The answers speak for themselves, I cannot say, the questions show no distinction.

When the property is spoken of as being between a ¼ and ½ mile from the corporation what is referred to the west of the old or new boundary? I think the new boundary.

When was the extension of the limits effected? I think it became effected on 1st January last

Do you know John Walton, recently Warden of the County of Peterboro? I do.

Do you know of his being largely interested in lands in the neighborhood of the Bertram parcel of land? I believe he owns a very valuable farm in the neighborhood.

Do you consider him competent to value such lands? I do, I think though he would value it more from the stand point of a farm than a person familiar with town sales.

Do you know Wm Trousdale who sold the property to Bertram? I do.

Do you know of his having had several transactions in buying and selling lands on his own account? I do not, I have heard that he owns a farm on which he resides, of course I know of his sale to Bertram that is all I know of his transactions.

Do you know of his having recently purchased a farm on the boundary between Smith and Monaghan, known as the Tully farm? Only by hearsay.

Do you not also know of his having sold the farm to Smith, on which he formerly resided? No.

Is Mr. Trousdale competent to value such lands? I should think he was competent to value lands as to their farm values.

Then in the valuation, you place on the Bertram parcel it is in consequence of something outside the farm value that makes you say Bertram worth on the 6th of August $90 per acre? Lands of that character similarly situated with reference to the town, sell readily to persons desiring small parcels at much larger prices than some lands would bring if further from town though valuable for farm purposes.

What is the character of this land to which you allude? It is situated on a headland and on which its many valuable features, and on which has many very valuable points. It has the whole frontage of the entire lot, it has a commanding situation, and is good land, for many purposes it is so close to the town that it could be used for market purposes, &c., which Mr Bertram further than to it could not.

While did you fix on this $90? I don't think I have seen it for 2 years. I may have seen it but remember when driving out on that road but am not sure.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the People of any length of time. One of these is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

August 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you, I have been for two years solely largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic women, of whom we have so many and in cases of convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is a true remedy.

MISS LOWRIE'S

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir, no more quickly applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, in correct manner.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick. For twenty-seven years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Bruises, Sore Throat, Bunions, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Boils, Felons, Ringworm, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Crooked Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured paleid limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the pain. For Chapped Hands produces a cure immediately. Lay those with Sore Throat obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, as they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swelled Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious to cure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures done by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Bunions this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No family should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable ornamento for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and whitelies and purifies from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, D

Brunswick, April 4, 1873.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter inquiring, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my business, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours and we believe both found to be all and every thing you have recommended it to be. We have had it in the house five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Sore Nose and other parts for thirty years, and would be a cripple long ago if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does not burn like caustic. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me.

A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of sixty cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

For sale by Dr. Taylor, and Messrs Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tuberculous may be suddenly depleted in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its pre-race by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing the constitutional maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as these mild but efficient purgative Pills. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositon. We have thus learned upon the minds of our remarkable cures of its following, everywhere, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and constitutions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. The sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by purifying the blood and stimulating into healthy action the several organs of the body, restoring their irregular performance to health, as the same cause produces the same effect in all—what relieves one of a common derangement of the stomach, liver, bowels, or kidneys, will relieve them all, from whatever cause their disorder arise. Hence this cathartic is the best purifier of the blood yet discovered, and the best aperient medicine that can be employed for the cure of all diseases requiring the use of such a remedy. Its sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
